They had over one hundred cows, about sixty to milk. We went to Saratoga Springs from Greenwich. My Uncle had a nice camp on a lake and I spent some of my time there. It was fun to fish in the lake. I liked to row on the lake. My visit lasted just a month. We came back, crossing the Hudson at Poughkeepsie where I crossed on the ferryboat Gov. Winthrop that used to run between Groton and New London. I liked the farm and camp best.

Susie Was Generous

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you a story of a little girl who taught another girl a lesson in politeness. Marion was on her way to school. She was eating chocolate out of a bag. She met Susie a little further along the way.

Good morning, Marion.
Good morning, Susie.
It's a fine morning Marion.
"Yes its a fine morning," Marion replied. She continued eating chocolate all the way to school.

"My she's a selfish girl," Susie thought. Not that I care for her chocolate but it looks rather small of her not to offer me any.

But once in school Susie forgot all about Marion's selfishness. Some few days later Susie met Marion again. Susie was eating candy this time.

Won't you please take some of my candy, Marion?

"Thank you." Marion said guiltily 'It is very kind of you to offer me some of your candy, Susie. "Have you forgotten how selfish I was when I had candy?"

"Oh lets forget it," said Susie.

"But don't you know," Marion said. "That my selfishness bothered me a great deal. I have made up my mind to do unto others as the do to me."

My Playhouse

Dear Uncle Jed: I thought that I would write to you and the Wide Awakes and tell you about my playhouse that my daddy built for me. It has two windows in it.

Inside I have a large bench where my sister and I sit and play. I also have a doll carriage, two chairs, a cupboard where I keep my toy dishes and strawmatting on the floor.

By the side of the playhouse I have a sand pile where my sister and I make sand houses, sand tunnels and many other things. This is the first time that I have written to you.

SAW AN ACCIDENT

Uncle Jed: Last summer one day when we were going to Watch Hill in my father's truck we saw an accident on the road. An automobile came around a corner too fast and it slid on the road and bumped into a tree. The glass was all broken. a wheel was bent and the man who was driving it was hurt. He was cut on the face by a piece of glass. They had a doctor for him.

Making Brown Bread

Dear Uncle Jed: As I have nothing else to do just now I though I would write to tell you about my experience in making brown bread.

One day I asked my mother if I could try making a brown bread. She said I might. The recipe which I used was:

1 pint corn meal, 1 pint graham flour, 1 pint sweet milk, 1-2 teacup molasses, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon soda, steam 3 or 4 hours.

When it was cooked I tasted it and it was quite good although the next time I made one I was much better. I hope some of the other Wide Awakes can cook also.

Took Care of Puppy

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to you. One morning a friend of mine found a tiny puppy in her front yard and she took it in the house and cared for it until she went on her vacation. She asked me to care for it. His name was Snookums. He was a collie. I had lots of fun with him. Then Louise took him the yard and lost him. I wish I had home and one day she left him in kept him. I hope you will like my letters. I will be seven in October.

CLARK PRESBREY, Age 6.

Two Miles To School

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my school. It is quite a large building. There are three rooms. We have many trees on our playground. There are eight grades and three teachers.

I am in the third grade. I like to walk to my school and back. So to school although I have two home every day.

GRACE BITGOOD, Age 8.

School Days

Dear Uncle Jed: My vacation time is over and now I must settle down to my school studies. I am nine years old and I am in the fourth grade at school. I go to East Great Plains school and I like it very much. There are two grades in one room and three grades in the other room. There are twenty one children in one room.

I hope every boy and girl enjoys their school as much as I do. I am going to try hard to get a good report card every month, because my sister is going to give me a present every month if I have a better report card than my brother. I must close now and study my lesson for tomorrow.

Making Sugar

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to the Wide Awakes and hope they will all like it.

Come with me now in the great vat and see the half sugared molasses within it. It needs now only the drying machine to take out the sugar. In this process the mixture is whirled round at great speed and leaves behind only the white crystals of sugar. The coarser sugars are not so carefully cleaned. But what becomes of the molasses? Such molasses is different from that sold as syrup, which is made from the fine juice of the cane. The refuse molasses is so clear that it often brings as little as one cent a gallon.

A Visit to Mohegan Park

Dear Uncle Jed: My trip to Mohegan park, Sunday afternoon my little sister, my two cousins and I went for a ride to Mohegan park. First we went and saw the monkeys. There were four of them and we had great fun feeding them popcorn. We then saw the ducks, rabbits and all the birds.

We started for home at 5 o'clock and had a great afternoon of fun.

ARE YOU A VOTER?

Proper stress is being laid upon the importance of those who are eligible to be made voters giving attention to this matter before it is too late.

Inasmuch as October is the last month in which applications can be received by the registrars of voters there remains little time in which to act, but sufficient if prompt attention is given to it.

Those eligible are those who are 21 years of age and have resided in their present location the necessary time required by law. In case of foreign birth it is of course necessary to be naturalized, but no one can be made a voter unless his application has been filed with the registrars of voters.

Each year there are those who are reaching their majority. Each year there are those who have lived in a new community a sufficient length of time to get the right to vote there and each year there are those who have neglected to be made voters in the past who come to a realization of what such an abridgement of their rights means.

Attention is properly called to the large number of voters who fail to go to the polls on election day, but the same might be said of the many who have failed to become voters. There is a responsibility resting upon each and every one to participate in elections to give expression to his wishes regarding government and to have a voice in shaping it. That cannot be attained by neglecting to be made a voter or by refraining from voting after obtaining the franchise, and it cannot be attained by decrying government when no effort is made to support good government or to terminate bad government.

With the to-be-made lists closing October 7 those whose names should appear have a duty to perform to themselves, their neighbors and their community. Just why there are so many who fail to improve such an opportunity is hard to explain. Perhaps if it were something that cost more it would be more eagerly sought for.

ROAD HOGS.

Probably there is nothing that creates more ill feeling, if not actually anger, than the driver of a vehicle who refuses to give the other fellow half of the road. This is particularly true when fast moving machine and big trucks are concerned.

Road hogs there have been from time immemorial, and road hogs there will continue to be, but it is most unfortunate that there are such narrow minded or self centered individuals that they cannot understand that others have rights which they are duty bound to obey.

For the most part drivers are desirous of sharing the road, both to those going in the same direction as well as going the opposite way. That contributes to highway safety and good feeling. Occasionally there are those who refuse to yield. It may mean a test of speed in order to prevent a passing or it may mean an irritating delay for the driver in the rear, resulting in the taking of unwarranted chances in the effort to get by. With machines going in the opposite direction refusal to give half the road invites the collision of the cars or possibly ditching, and there is no telling what may happen to the would driver when the speedster insists on getting more than belongs to him.

These are all contributions of bad judgment and indefensible practice. They are in the class of the fellow who by cutting in is ready to involve three machines in a smash, or who by his insistence upon what doesn't belong to him invites others to pile up or go into the ditch. The road hog is one of the highways' great nuisances and it is unfortunate that more of them cannot be made examples of for the good of the army of vehicle drivers.

They serve no good purpose. They are a detriment to safe driving and there is not the first thing that justifies such conduct. The appellation of road hog is correctly applied.

THE INEVITABLE OUTCOME.

Reports brought from Russia by those who have been visiting that country have told of the deplorable conditions which were found in Leningrad. These showed the effects of the conditions under the soviet government. The city had no resemblance of its former self and the picture of it was a deplorable one. Neglect and filth were apparent on every hand.

Such of course made it a perfect place for terrorism and disease, and thus the further wrecking of the city by the bringing of the people to their senses. Disorganization and poor administration had brought a great show city to a sorry plight, and yet where the spirit of destruction prevails instead of the spirit of construction not much different can be expected.

The world was therefore prepared for the news that the horrors in Leningrad have been increased by spotted typhus. That is a disease which is most unwelcomed under any conditions. It is all the worse when it accompanies the conditions which exist in the former capital of Russia.

The floods which have occurred in that city have hastened the situation, but Leningrad, like the rundown person who is always more susceptible to disease, was in no condition to resist it. It has been a case of steadily going from bad to worse and now to have pestilence added to the other troubles makes that city a real menace. The time for the use of heroic measures for the upbuilding of Leningrad, and overcoming the effects of the wholesale looting has long since passed. Lack of attention and destructive methods have brought it to the position of despondency. What such methods have failed to do for the city, disease is now prepared to complete. It is a sorry and regrettable spectacle that is presented by that city where hundreds of new cases of typhus are appearing daily, and with the medical forces overwhelmed. Leningrad will of course get help, but will Leningrad and Russia realize that its present predicament is the very goal toward which the policies of those in control have been leading it?

WARNING THE PUBLIC.

None is probably better aware of the millions that are poured each year into worthless securities than the investment bankers. They know what frightful swindles are staged and what tremendous losses are sustained, and even though they are engaged in the business on an honest basis they are fully aware of what the other fellow is doing. Likewise they are conscious of the detrimental effect which such operations always have upon legitimate and straightforward investment banking.

It is therefore of no slight importance when the association of investment bankers in convention reached the decision to establish an information bureau and to undertake instructions. When one stops to consider the many who are involved in investments from which the bottom has dropped, if in fact there ever was one, it can be appreciated that this undertaking is not going to lack for a field to operate.

Many states have undertaken through legislation to surround the gullible with a certain degree of protection against the sharpers who are ready to sell anything to anyone so long as they get their profit. And they sell under most alluring promises of future returns and gilt edge ratings. These protective measures have not checked all the losses, but none knows better than the honest investment banker how much better it would be for all, himself included, if the people could be prevented from dealing with crooks and shysters. That day need not be expected. There will always be those who cannot resist the gold brick after knowing it to be such, but the bankers who endeavor to enlighten the public regarding the dishonest are engaged in a worthy cause. Let it be a thorough and persistent campaign against dishonesty.

SETTLING INTERNAL DISPUTES.

It is possible for much sympathy to exist among the nations banded together in the league of nations for the Georgians who have revolted against the soviet government of Russia. Whether there is or not it is noted that the league has authorized the council to endeavor to mediate between the opponents. The desire is of course to terminate a conflict and to avoid war, though it wouldn't appear that the Georgians could make much of a stand against the soviet government if it is as powerful as it thinks it is.

But if the council of the league is to become involved in civil wars in Russia, is it also going to do so in other countries? Perhaps there will be those who will want to know why it hasn't done something about the situation in China long before this, and others who will anxiously inquire as to what it is doing to prevent an outburst in the Balkans, where trouble is brewing in several quarters.

Whatever influence the league can exert for peace is to be heartily welcomed. There is no desire to see bloodshed and no hankering for the deplorable effects which always accompany war. But are the countries which may be engaged in putting down revolts, or those who are staging a revolution going to look upon such efforts as desirable. Few countries will consider that the revolutionists are entitled to anything but a drubbing, and it can hardly be expected that soviet Russia would be disposed to yield anything to the revolting Georgians.

Still if the council wants a chance to see what it can do, it will be possible to get first hand information by setting out on the task to which it has been committed.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

With old time socialists and von Steuben society members repudiating LaFollette, all is not plain sailing.

Those who have need of it should be making their plans to become regular attendants of the night school.

Of course everyone is anxious this month to see how much of a reduction he is going to get in his electric bill under the new rates.

MacMillan's discovery of coal in the far north is interesting, but that isn't likely to cause Pennsylvania to rescind its tax on anthracite.

The accidental shooting of a Worcester man in the woods is only a forerunner of the kind of reports to be expected soon from Maine.

Now that a miner has been acquitted in Chicago for stealing $772,000 because of his age the rest of the country is asking "What next?"

Just about as much credence is given to Gaston Means' statements now as was done at the time of the testimony which he undertakes to repudiate.

A New York optician is to give glasses to all schoolchildren who cannot afford them. Many a fortune has been squandered for far less worthy a cause.

The plan for paying off the public debt in 25 years indicates there is no disposition to make the indebtedness twice as large by stringing out the interest payments.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A combination of ginger ale and orange juice makes a good prohibition cocktail.

A small piece of dried orange peel in the tea canister will give an imported flavor to an inexpensive blend of tea.

A scrap basket and a clock are about as important as a stove in one's kitchen.

Celery should lie in cold water for about an hour before serving, so it will be firm and crisp.

Wrap the fish in wax paper before putting it in the refrigerator. Then the odor will not penetrate to the other foods.

Steamer rice makes an attractive border for the platter of chicken or lamb stew.

Use a piece of candle instead of a cork in the glue bottle and the glue will not dry out.

To keep lettuce fresh place in a tightly covered lard pail until wanted.

Salted meat requires longer boiling than fresh. Put it into cold water, quickly bring it to a boil, then let it simmer.

To keep yolks of eggs, put each one in a cup and cover completely with cold water. They will keep for two orthree days.

A little kerosene poured in the bottom of the garbage can on these hot days will act as a disinfectant. It will also keep away bugs and pests.

Leftover beef roast or otherwise may be served in a variety of ways, hashed or cut into cubes, creamed, served with tomato sauce, curried or made into a salad.

Do not throw away the leaves of the celery. Make cream of celery soup of them or dry them, keep in covered jar and use for flavoring.

If you add flour to your blueberry pies shake in a little salt with the flour. It will improve the flavor, as blueberries are naturally flat in taste.

Wash every pan and kettle as soon as it is emptied, while it is still warm and the food has had no time to stick and half the labor or dishwashing will be saved.

When making marmalade or jam, cut rounds of tissue paper the size of the jars. Soak each separately in vinegar and lay close over the top of the preserve. Then cover in the usual way. This will prevent it becoming moldy.

CLEAN WHITE SHOES

An excellent cleaner for white shoes: Mix one tablespoon of ordinary laundry starch with an ounce of water, make a rather thin paste and apply as you would any other cleanser, allowing the shoes to dry thoroughly before wearing.

To sterilize jars cover with tepid water and bring to a boil. Do not remove from water until ready to use. Covers should be sterilized and rubber rings should be dipped in boiling water first before using.

HANGING COMFORTS

Fasten curtain poles in the closets where you keep your quilts and comforts. The poles should be a foot away from the wall. Spread the comforts over the poles and cover the mass with a sheet of unbleached muslin.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

A paste of molasses and flour will take the fire out of a burn.

The housewife and the business woman will like to keep on hand a bottle of the following lotion to protect the skin of face and hands from such irritations as cannot be removed by washing with pure soap: Seven ounces elder flower water, one ounce glycerin, one-half teaspoon refined borax.

Infusions made from fresh parsley or horse-radish are useful in removing freckles of the lighter and less stubborn variety. Pour a cup of boiling water over a large bunch of parsley, add one teaspoonful of fine powdered borax and let it stand until cool. Pour off the liquid and use it on the freckles. The horse-radish infusion is made in the same way. Use a cupful of boiling water to two tablespoonfuls of the fresh grated vegetable.

The massage treatment for making arms beautiful is given as follows: Wash and rinse the arms first. Wring out a small Turkish towel in hot water and wrap it about the arm to open the pores. Dry and apply a massage cream. In the case of a fleshy arm, use plain cold cream; if the arm is thin, use almond food cream. Knead gently pinch and roll the flesh between thumb and first finger to stimulate the circulation. After the massage wipe off the excess cream and dash on some cold water to close the pores.

FINDING PARTNERS

At an evening affair where there were a number of guests, the hostess took this unusual method of pairing them off. Each man was given paper and a pencil, then was introduced to a lady, and told he could talk to her for five minutes; at the end of that time he was to retire to the corner and write a description of the lady's gown, hair and general appearance. After ten minutes these papers were collected; then when refreshments were served, the papers were passed promiscously among the men, and each was to find the lady of whom he had the description, and escort her to the dining room.

TO WATERPROOF SHOES

Children's shoes may be made waterproof in the following way: Melt together two parts of beeswax and one part of mutton fat and with a small brush apply a thin coating of it while hot. Give the shoes two coatings of this preparation and leave to dry.

MADE OF DAINTY LINEN

The most delightful frocks for little girls are made of handkerchief linen in pastel shades. These dresses have small white linen collars edged with real valenciennes and a band of the white forms a hem and runs from hem to neck line on one side of the dress. The colored linen and the white bands are joined together with entre deux.

TO CLEAN BRUSHES

Spirits of ammonia will clean your hair brushes without any rubbing. Put a spoonful of ammonia in a quart of water, either cold or hot. Dip the brush into it, without wetting the back. The grease is removed in a moment. Rinse in cold water and shake well.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Unbelted gowns continue to be the rage in Paris and they are very very short at the present time.

Flaring ruffles are a popular way of finishing the lace gown of this season.

Ostrich fringe in black and white mottled effect is used on black or white gowns with equally good effect.

Black satin gowns of the straight, tube variety are embellished with colorful embroidery in chenille.

Tiger and leopard are to be used extensively for bandings and trimmings on cloth dresses and coats.

Pleated lace is a novelty that is gaining much popularity. It is popular on both afternoon and evening gowns.

Jabot effects in lace, linen, net and georgette crepe are seen to excellent advantage on the coat frocks of the coming season.

Black and gold combinations are featured in fall millinery. Gold leather appliqued on black felt is very novel.

For young girls and women with slim figures the short boneless bandeau of embroidered net or lace is the popular type of brassiere.

A smart new touch is to have a tube frock button directly under each arm and have a close row of buttons clear to the hemline.

Gingham and chambray dresses are made on the straight boyish lines of the moment with bands or tucked sections of self material.

This is indeed a season of extremes. Either a gown is beltless or it has a very wide crush girdle and practically no other form of trimming.

Detachable chine collars consisting of a narrow band of fur edged with crene de chine or the material of the frock are shown for fall dresses.

Handsome costume slips in crepe satin are worth noting. Plain at neck and armholes they have several rows of scalloped little ruffles at the hem of the skirt.

To take the color entirely out of a cotton dress after it has become somewhat faded, boil the dress in cream of tartar water. A perfectly white dress results.

New and becoming are large hats of black felt that are trimmed with black velvet. One particularly attractive model has three small gardenias placed directly across the front.

The almost universal touch of red continues much in favor today. But it is only the woman with a good complexion who can successfully wear Venetian red.

FURS

Truly the designers and manufacturers of fur coats have more than are handled with consummate skill surpassed their previous efforts. Skins and lines reveal a grace undreamed of a decade ago when a fur coat was an affair of warmth and comfort but of no special beauty line. While a number of jackets are shown, the coat of longer length predominates both in the less costly furs as well as the most luxurious. A feature of the new coats is the sleeve, which frequently is bellshaped or formed so that there is a fullness from the elbows to the wrists. Seal, both Alaska and Hudson, black caracul, gray squirrel and Viatka squirrel, mole and leopard are used for daytime coats, while for those of sports type muskrat, racoon and opossum are chosen. Ermine is for evening and when bordered with bands of white fox is ravishingly beautiful.

LAUNDRY HINTS

When ironing a circular centerpiece follow the straight grain of the cloth and the edges will be perfectly flat.

If silk stockings are washed each time after they are worn they will last much longer. It is the perspiration that causes the formation of holes, and rinsing them eliminates that source of trouble.

Iodine stains will usually wash out when the garment is laundered. However should they prove obstinate, peroxide will remove the stains from white materials.

Voile requires careful laundering. Never rub soap on the goods because this will thicken the threads. This material should be soaked in soap suds, washed in warm suds and rinsed twice—first in luke warm water, then in cold water. It should not be put through a wringer, but squeezed through the hands. A very cool iron will serve for pressing.

ABOUT YOUR SHOES

Slip shoe trees into shoes when you take them off: it makes them keep their shape longer.

Alternate two pairs of shoes; they last longer.

Keep shoes clean and well-polished, a good dressing will rubbed in prolong the wear of leather and kid.

Clean canvas shoes on shoe trees to prevent shrinking. Sponge with a little water or soap that contains whiting or use a commercial cleanser.

SOFTEN SEVERE LINENS

Here and there today one sees fluttering long ribbon ends. They tie at the backs of necks, on an elbow, or at the beltless side of a skirt. In any case, their purpose is both to soften and to emphasize the severe, straight-line effect of the new modes.

WHEN SPACE IS NEEDED

For the person living in the small apartment and cramped for space, there is nothing nicer than one of the flat woolen chests on wooden wheels that can be kept under the bed. In it can be stored all the household linens.

GRAY HOSIERY SMART

Gray hosiery with a faint rose tint to it is smart for wear with either white or black shoes. Black shoes are distinctly in favor, especially when trimmed with rather small steel buckles.

TRIM NEW FALL HATS

Not so many flowers appear on the fall hats now. Here and there a large capelline may have a single bright blossom, snuggled against the brim. But for the most part the trimmings are bow ends and bands of silk or felt.

LEATHER BINDINGS

Books bound in leather should be taken out of the bookcase occasionally and dusted with a oiled cloth, to restore some of the oil that has dried out of the leather.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Women's hands are said to be growing larger. Whereas the average size of a glove sold a few years ago was 6 1-4, it has now increased to 6 1-2, while the gloves themselves are made slightly larger in each size.

The only girl in the field division of the United States air mail service—that's Miss Helen Bullis of Elko, Nev., who recently has been on temporary duty in Salt Lake City. Her work consists in checking planes in and out and sorting the mail as it arrives.

Miss Alberta Raffi of Chicago, who was awarded the medal of the American Institute of Architects, has been selected as instructor in the department of agriculture, school of engineering, at the University of Illinois.

Two women, the first of their sex to accomplish the feat, have scaled Mount Robson, 13,068 feet high and monarch of the Canadian Rockies. They were Miss Annette E. Buck of Brooklyn and Mrs. W. A. D. Mundy of Vancouver, B. C.

Mrs. Marion T. O'Connor, member of a wealthy Council Bluffs, Iowa, family recently underwent an operation in order that she might satisfy a lifelong desire to have shapely ankles.

KEEP THEM IN THE DARK

Preserves of all kinds, more especially if they are in glass bottles, should be stored in a dark place. They quickly deteriorate in flavor if kept in a light place.

A HELP IN MANY WAYS

A little vinegar or even lemon juice added to the water when boiling cabbage will improve the flavor and color and cause less odor to permeate through the house.

RECIPES

Orange Marmalade Sandwiches: Spread orange marmalade between fresh lady fingers; press them lightly together and arrange in a dainty basket or on a sandwich plate. Slices of sponge cake may be used in place of lady fingers; cut the cake in slices one-third or one-fourth an inch thick, spread half the slices with marmalade, sprinkle with fresh grated coconut, cover with remaining slices and press lightly together. Serve at afternoon tea.

Anniversary Sunshine Cake: Beat the yolks of nine eggs until thick and lemon-tinted and set aside. Beat the whites of twelves eggs until frothy, add one teaspoon of cream of tartar and continue beating until stiff and dry; add gradually one and one-half cups of fine granulated sugar, beating constantly; beat in the beaten yolks, add one teaspoon of orange extract and fold in one cup pastry flour that has been sifted before measuring and four times afterward. Fold in the flour, about one-third at a time. Turn into a tube pan measuring 10 1-2 inches in diameter and 3 1-2 inches deep and bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Remove from the oven and invert on a wire cake cooler, let it stand inverted until the cake is cool. Then carefully loosen the edges and around the tube, and remove the cake.

Rhodes Forced From Home by Ill-Health

One of nine children of an impoverished vicar in Bishop's Stortford, England, Cecil Rhodes, the sickly youth, fought his way to health and riches only to face harder battles.

Completing the grammar school courses, he prepared to enter Balliol college, Oxford, but was forced by an affectation of the lungs to leave home at 17 and work on his brother's cotton plantation in Natal.

Joining the rush to the Kimberly diamond fields a year later, he worked with a pick during the day and studied at night in the fever-ridden country.

Forming several claims into a syndicate, he acquired riches. His health returning, he entered Oxford. Within a year his health failed again and the doctor said he had only six months to live. In Africa again he became sufficiently robust to spend half a year there and half a year in Oxford, taking his degree at 25.

Elected to the Cape Colony parliament the same year, he dreamed of a British-controlled Africa, acquired vast Bechuanaland, then secured from the king of the Matabele exclusive right to search for minerals in another territory.

Controlling half of the diamond fields, he faced ruin during a panic, but formed the De Beers Consolidated mines, and became master of the world's diamond output. Through the Consolidated Goldfields of South Africa he obtained command of the African gold fields.

Prime minister at 37, he developed the British South Africa Co. in charge of his territorial acquisitions, which became Rhodesia. He quelled a Matabele revolt and took ore lands, then started the Cape to Cairo railroad and a tarns-african telegraph line.

With an income of many millions a year, he sought a world copper combination. Then came the Jameson raid. He was censured by England for permitting it, resigned from parliament and gave up his copper conquest. He had to quell the Matabele again, and two years later was trapped in Kimberly during a Boer attack and helped defend the town.

Rhodes became one of the world's richest men; he refused all titles, but was honored by Oxford, and he endowed a fund to provide nearly 175 scholarships to that institution.

Stories That Recall Others

Lawyer's Clients Defined

A group of lawyers were conversing on diverse subjects. They were joined by a young member of the profession who was bitterly denouncing the stupidity of his client who has just been cross-examined and become hopelessly confused by the opposition.

"Why the darn fool," the young man began, but was stopped by one of the older men in the group who said:

"Young man, did you ever stop to think that were it not for the darn fools, we lawyers would be without means of support?"

He Loved Them All

He was a clerk, to whose window many women called during each day as a matter of business. There was one who found him unusually agreeable and got to believe that he was especially interested in her. He always made pleasant little comments which to her seemed quite personal. But one day she was disillusioned. There were a number of others ahead of her. She stepped into line, and as she waited she had an opportunity to hear his conversation with the others. It was the same statement repeatedly smilingly to each woman as if freshly inspired by each one. Pretty and not so pretty, slim and fat, all alike received the gracious smile and pleasant words. When at last her turn came and the same remarks were addressed to her she said: "Well, I always thought you were especially interested in me, but now I have found out that you say the same to everybody."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Continue the Good Work

Mr. Editor: Without the splendid support which the editors of our New England newspapers gave to "New England Week" this movement could never have proved the success it did.

A great many new outlets have been developed for New England goods. New Englanders have become acquainted with the products of their own locality and both labor and capital have recognized the importance of making goods which meet popular approval.

This is a splendid beginning. It should be followed up and we hope that some means may be devised to continue the good work so effectively begun.

The general committee, organized for the purpose of developing New England Week, wishes to express to you their personal appreciation and also that of each local New England Week Committee for the assistance which you have rendered.

We believe that through out joint efforts a seed of sound economics has been sown which will grow and flourish to the benefit of New England.

Gratefully yours
JOHN S. LAWRENCE
Chairman, New England Week Committee

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Francis Alexander Anglin, whose appointment as Chief Justice of Canada is announced from Ottawa, has had a career of fifteen years on the supreme bench of the Dominion. Justice Anglin was born in St. John, N. B., in 1865. His father, the late Timothy W. Anglin, was at one time Speaker of the Dominion of Commons and a sister, Margaret Anglin, has had a distinguished career on the American stage. Francis Alexander Anglin received his education at St. Mary's College, Montreal, and at the University of Ottawa. Deciding upon a career in the legal profession, he took up the study of law and in 1888 was called to the bar of Ontario. His advancement in his chosen profession was rapid. In 1902 he was created King's Counsel and two years later was elevated to the bench of the Ontario court of justice. In 1909 came his appointment to the Supreme Court of Canada.

CHILD TRAINING

Persistent Misbehavior in Small Children

Zahrah E. Preble

The great Chinese philosopher Confucius says: "I am not concerned at not being known; I seek to be worthy to be known."

The reverse is often the case with children and at the bottom of much misbehavior. They are so mightily concerned about being known and noticed that this great desire motivates many of their actions, both desirable and undesirable. If one wants to understand a child and his motives, a little knowledge of how his subconscious mind directs his actions will lead to a correction to the undesirable actions which make a child what we term "bad" or "naughty," or "disobedient."

The feeling of being slighted is easily and subtly developed after the age of four and sometimes even younger when other children arrive in the family. Up to that time he usually is the center of the family plans because of his infantile state. Then that constant attention is gradually relaxed, and the child finds himself being neglected. If a new baby has come there is a sense of being pushed out of the center of the picture, and he resolves, quite sub-consciously, to become re-instated in that desirable condition of being "the whole show." Many times this results in persistently "bad" behavior.

Sometimes such unwelcome deportment is only a spasmodic outbreak, following an unthinking rebuke by an older member of the family. It manifests itself in either a "smarty" attitude or naughty and even vicious actions, in order to attract the desired attention.

Many times the parents are to blame for this more than the child because they refuse to recognize that the little individual has now reached a point where he can and does think things out for himself, and where he resents unfairness very keenly. If your child is persistently naughty, it might be wise first to investigate your own attitude toward him. Do you expect too much of him, or do you neglect to give due praise and attention to the little issues which to him are quite vital? Judicious praise is like water to a flower: it makes the plant bloom more beautifully.

That desire to be superior, to be given praise for good deeds well done, is not one to be destroyed. If directed rightly, it causes that part of the Chinese proverb, "I seek to be worthy to be known," to become the driving force. A child soon recognizes that he can command the attention he craves by being good instead of bad, if the parents will always notice and speak of his desirable qualities and actions instead of his faults and misbehavior. But how often do you enter a home and hear someone saying, "You are a bad naughty child!" And that subtle suggestion is repeated continually, during the years that follow, until the growing, thinking child begins to act out the sub-conscious suggestions given to it.

There are problems which exhaust the patience of both parents and child—when the latter will not mind or insists upon doing something he should not do. These problems cannot be ignored; they have to be solved at the time in order to prevent recurrence. It takes time, patience and understanding to do it. The trouble is that too often the parents fall down miserably on their end of the task by not sticking to it long enough to get at the bottom of the trouble. The child is thus left with a feeling of injustice which rankles and causes the nucleus of future naughtiness, so the difficulty continues to grow, until it appals both the child and the parents before it is overcome, if it ever is.

Misbehavior is just misspent energy; this energy needs directing into constructive instead of destructive channels—not an easy task but a satisfying one.

The Blackbilled Cuckoo

"It's going to rain," said the Farmer's Boy to himself, as he stood listening to a short mellow note that came from the lilac bush. "Yes, it's certainly going to rain. The Rain Crow is singing."

"Stuff and nonsense," laughed the Weathercock on the Big Red Barn, "there's not a cloud in the sky, and Billy Breeze is blowing from the south. What ails the Farmer's Boy anyway?"

"It's the Black-billed Cuckoo who is singing, not the Rain Crow," snapped Grandmother Magpie, who happened along just then.

"Ha, ha!" cackled Henny Jenny, the pretty white hen, "all the farmers call him Rain Crow just the same. But he doesn't foretell rain. Dear me, no. He's simply singing with joy because he is having a fine meal of tent caterpillars or cankerworms.

Henny Jenny was right. Lazily crouched in the lilac bush a long, slim-winged bird with drooping tail was slowly turning his head from side to side in search of caterpillars. He was quite a large bird, about a foot long almost two inches longer than Bobbie Redvest, and dressed in a grayish brown coat, shaded with olive green, the under parts whitish and the outer feathers tipped with white. His long, slim black bill was curved slightly downward.

"K-k-k-koe, koe-koe, koe-koe!" again came faintly from the lilac bush and then lazily and noiselessly winging his flight over to the orchard, the Black-billed Cuckoo settled in an apple tree.

"He and his mate are good friends of us farmers," said the Farmer's Boy, walking over to the lilac bush. "They soon clean out all the pesky caterpillars from the trees."

Then, stooping down, he saw a few feet above the ground, a poorly made nest of coarse twigs, so carelessly put together as to hardly hold safely the two young birds. Indeed, it was so flat that he wondered how they could keep from falling out.

"Gee Willikins!" he suddenly exclaimed, looking closer, "this is a funny nest. Why, it holds two nearly grown birds and another without any feathers and two eggs," and with a low whistle of surprise he thrust his hands into his overalls pockets. Just then, one of the nearly-grown birds rolled an egg out of the crowded nest.

"Hey, there, shouted the Farmer's Boy, picking up the egg, which luckily had fallen on a pile of leaves and was unbroken, "Don't do that again," and he placed the egg carefully back in the nest. Just then his mother called from the kitchen door, "Hiram Hiram!"

"Ha, ha!" laughed Professor Jim Crow, from a nearby tree, "Doesn't he know that the Black-billed Cuckoo after laying one or two eggs begins to hatch them, laying more eggs from time to time. That's why the little cuckoos are of different ages, and the wise old professor bird gave a "Caw, Caw!" and flew away into the next story.

WE HAVE JUST INSTALLED THE NEWEST LAUNDERING INVENTION — A

"Thermo-Vento Tumbler"

This machine dries flannels, bath towels, underwear, blankets and all woolens, by sterilizing them with warm air and then revolving them in a large cylinder in fresh air drawn from outdoors. Your clothes are dried and at the same time freshened and sweetened. In the case of bath towels, woolens and blankets the "TUMBLER" raises the nap and fluffs the fabric, giving it a downy softness, like new.

PILLOWS

With this new method we can launder your feather pillows and fluff them so that they will be sterilized and clean.

EVERY PILLOW should be STERILIZED—

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists call it "Joint-Ease" because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint-Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, back or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

Lee & Osgood Co. dispenses it daily for about 50 cents a tube, as do first class druggists everywhere.

Every rheumatic sufferer ought to send today for free book, "The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism" (just out). Address H. E. Clearwater, box 800, Hot Springs, Ark.

LARGEST CHURCH SCHOOL HOLDS RALLY DAY

Rally day was observed Sunday at the noon session by the school of the Central Baptist church with Superintendent James L. Case presiding at the special programme in the church auditorium.

The attendance report for the year, which was given by the school secretary, Miss Bessie A. Grimes, was the occasion for special comment, when it was shown that the membership is 819, making the school the largest in eastern Connecticut with the possible exception of the Methodist church school in New London. For the 38 Sundays up to Rally day the total attendance has been 11,434, largest day 447, smallest 128, average 301. In the previous year the total was 11,326, largest day 526, smallest 115, average 299.

The programme was carried out with reports by the department superintendents and exercises by some of the departments. These included the following: cradle roll and beginners, Mrs. C. Edward Smith superintendent; primary, Miss Alice M. Dean, superintendent; junior, A. F. Wyman, superintendent; intermediate, Miss Edith Ellis, superintendent; senior and adult, C. LISBON MAN'S AUTOMOBILE STOLEN IN NORWICH

Frank E. Bromley of Lisbon, who has only just got back to work after being laid up for five weeks with bloodpoisoning, had some more bad luck happen to him Saturday night when his Ford touring car was stolen from the parking space here at the New Haven station. He was gone from the car only about twenty minutes and when he returned it was missing. He reported his loss to police headquarters.

FUNERAL.

Mrs. William P. Adams

With relatives and friends attending, many from out of town, the funeral of Mrs. William P. Adams, was held Saturday afternoon at her late residence, 174 Broadway. Many beautiful floral tributes were testimony to the esteem in which she was held by her many friends.

MRS. WILLIAM P. ADAMS

The service was conducted by Rev. J. Eldred Brown, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, burial taking place in Oak street cemetery and was private. The bearers were Henry F. Parker, Alexander P. Williams, Dwight L. Underwood and Leslie L. Brewer. Relatives and friends were present from Springfield, Hartford, New York Brooklyn and other places.

Mrs. William Munroe.

Funeral services for Mrs. William Munroe were held Saturday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock at her late home, 110 Fourth street, relatives and friends attending. There were many beautiful floral tributes sent by loving relatives and friends. The service was conducted by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor of the Greeneville Congregational church, of which Mrs. Munroe had been a member for 40 years. Burial was in the family lot in Yantic cemetery where Rev. Mr. Ricketts read the committal service. The bearers were Henry Tensley, William Karkutt, George K[illegible], Levi Gorton, William Gordon and Dr. Clarence Capron.

Among those in attendance were relatives and friends from Montclair, N. J., East Pepperell, Mass., and other places. A delegation from the Woman's Relief corps of which Mrs. Munroe was a member, was also present.

George G Grant was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Ralph W. Miner.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ralph W. Miner were held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock from the funeral parlors of Church & Allen, No. 15 Main street, relatives and friends attending from out of town. The service was conducted by Rev. David A. Pitt, pastor of the Central Baptist church, who also conducted the committal service at the grave in Maplewood cemetery. Friends acted as bearers and there were many beautiful floral tributes.

Henry Brayman.

With relatives and friends and delegations from the local Painters' union and members of fraternal organizations present, funeral services for Henry Brayman were held Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the funeral parlors of Church & Allen, 15 Main street. Among the many beautiful floral tributes, testimonials showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by many friends, was a large floral piece from the Painters' union.

Prayer was offered by Rev. E. C. Dunbar, pastor of the First Baptist church. A brother and three sons of Mr. Brayman acted as bearers, Bernie, Stephen, Charles and Henry Brayman. Burial will take place in Charlestown, R. I.

First Birthday Party.

A birthday party was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Liepold in honor of the first birthday of their son, Ralph Gilbert Liepold and a number of little friends of the baby were present. During the afternoon refreshments of cake, fancy cookies and ice cream were served, Mrs. Liepold being assisted in serving by Miss Anna Robinson.

Wedding Flowers.

The handsome variegated asters used in the decorations at the Hitchon-Bailey wedding Saturday evening were from the Fanning Park Gardens on Oneco street.

WEEK-END PRODUCES MANY AUTO ACCIDENTS IN THIS VICINITY

The week end produced an unusual number of automobile accidents in this vicinity. They included the following:

A Ford truck belonging to Aleida St. John of Jewett City and driven by Eugene Maynard, Jr., of the same place, was in collision Saturday afternoon on Laurel Hill avenue with another truck of the same make, owned and driven by Axel Maki of Foster, R. I. The first named car had a wheel broken and mudguard damaged. The other sustained a bent wishbone and mudguard.

Herbert Hanson of 67 West Thames street received bruises on the knee and head when he was struck in West Thames street Saturday afternoon by an automobile driven by Arthur S. Block of 12 Alice street. There was some slight damage to the automobile. The injured man was attended by Dr. Harry E. Higgins and taken to his home.

The Cadillac phaeton of Walter Brokofski of Everett street and the Ford touring car of Fred E. Baker of 23 Winchester street, each driven by its owner, came together on West Thames street Saturday afternoon, doing damageestimated at $40 to the phaeton and $100 to the touring car.

Near the top of Broadway hill Saturday afternoon an automobile driven by Miss Esther Cote of 30 Windham street, Willimantic, and owned by A. W. Cote, received slight damage in collision with a Hudson touring car. Miss Cote was driving down Broadway just as a car that had been parked on the left side of the street pulled out from the curb to get on to the right side. In avoiding this car her machine collided with the other.

Federal prohibition officers acting on what they said was a tip that liquor was being sold by Herbert Campbell, 26, of Germania avenue, Taftville, found Campbell sitting in an automobile Saturday night about 10.30 on Boswell avenue, near a dance hall, and when they looked the car over they found in it a full quart bottle bearing a whiskey label. Two bottles of soda were also found. Campbell and Frank Krupinski, who was sitting in the car with him, were brought to police headquarters, where the charge of transporting liquor unlawfully was lodged against Campbell. Krupinski was discharged by Capt. D. J. Twomey. County Detective William Lewis, Federal Officers Joseph Fitzpatrick and Harry Avery and Sergt. Thomas Murphy of the local police force made the arrests.

About four hours later the Hupmobile touring car driven by Campbell was in collision on North Main street near the tannery with a machine driven by Joseph J. Capdeville, a sailor from the submarine base. The drivers blamed the fog for the accident. The Campbell car had a radiator smashed and mudguard damaged, an estimated total of about $65. The other car reported no damage.

An Essex coach with the registration N-5106, which the state register gives as belonging to John B. Borgeson of Plainfield, ran into a culvert near the Roland Barber place on the Jewett City road early Saturday night and had to be pulled out by a Jewett City wrecker. The car went from the right side of the road to the left, as shown by the marks in the road, plunging through a state highway fence. Its right front wheel went into a culvert and the car toppled over against a post that crushed in one door. The right rear tire was ripped off. A telephone message from persons unknown summoned the wrecker from the Jewett City Auto Sales Co., but when the wrecker arrived there was no one at the disabled car to claim ownership. After reporting to the state police barracks at Danielson and receiving permission to move the car, the wrecking crew towed it to Jewett City.

Early Saturday evening automobiles with the registration numbers N-1235, a Hupmobile touring car, and 92-729, a Ford touring, collided on the Willimantic road at its intersection with the road to Lebanon, a short distance north of Yantic. According to the state register the Hup belongs to Boleslaw Orlousky of Montville and the Ford to James S. Lamb of Franklin. The latter car was upset in the smash, had three wheels taken off, top smashed, windshield broken, steering wheel ripped off and mudguards damaged. The other car had its right wheel smashed and mudguard damaged. It was reported that one of the occupants of the Ford had been slightly injured.

State Policeman Alexander placed under arrest and brought to Norwich police headquarters Sunday evening Clifford Smith, 33, of New London, on the charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. The arrest was made at Trading Cove. Smith was later allowed to return to New London in custody of a doctor from that city and has been summoned to appear in a justice court in Montville at 6 o'clock this (Monday) afternoon.

KLAN MEETING INITIATES OVER 300 CANDIDATES

An "Old Home Day" meeting of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan Klanswomen and American Crusaders was held Saturday from 10 o'clock in the morning until midnight on an open lot on the Billings Wheeler farm in Stonington, located on a cross road between the Old Mystic road out of Westerly and the Norwich-Westerly road just north of Lugwank district, over a thousand automobiles bringing members of the order to the field.

The preparations for the Old Home Day meeting were in charge of the Mystic division of the Klan and upon the grounds were three speakers' stands, decorated with bunting of the national colors, three large crosses and three large K's.

During the morning various group meetings were held and at noon a fine chowder dinner was served. During the afternoon there was singing by a choir and at various times later in the day, three speakers were heard, addressing their remarks to the Klansmen, the Women of the Klan and the American Crusaders in turn. In every case appeals were made for true Americanism, law enforcement and the purposes of the Klan and its branches explained in detail.

The feature event of the program came when three large classes of candidates were initiated into the order, each group standing near one of the crosses while the ceremonial was conducted. In all, it was stated, over 300 candidates were initiated into the Klan, woman's order and the Crusaders.

The big ceremonial came to a close when the three crosses were lighted and the three K's were ignited.

Members of the order attended the meeting from New London county and from Washington county, R. I., in a body, but there were Klansmen present from many other cities in Connecticut and Rhode Island and visitors from other states. The Norwich Klavern was largely represented, several hundred from this city attending and participating in the ceremonial.

The meeting was one of the largest ever held in this part of the state, indicating a rapid growth in membership from a year ago when a similar meeting was held near Westerly.

DIPLOMAS ARE AWARDED ON RALLY SUNDAY

Members of the United Congregational church school observed Rally Sunday at the session of the school Sunday, with a programme announced by Ernest L. Latimer, superintendent of the school.

The service opened with the singing of a hymn after which the school joined in scripture reading. This was followed by prayer, offered by Herbert B. Cary, the singing of another hymn and the presentation of diplomas to the members of the Junior, Primary and Beginners departments, the diplomas being awarded by Miss Elizabeth Pullen, pastor's assistant.

The roll call of the school was the next number, led by B. F. Bishop who first called upon the officers and teachers of the school, their responses being a motto from Second Timothy, 2nd chapter, 15th verse. Each class was called upon in turn and each selected some motto taken from the New Testament.

Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, pastor of the church, then spoke briefly on Godliness, stressing the importance of doing good if one hoped to be good, suggesting this for the year motto for the church school.

Following the talk by the pastor, Mrs. Charles Tyler Bard, Gen. William A. Aiken and Walter F. Lester, judges of mottoes, announced the winners, selected for manner of presentation and attendance. First prize was awarded to Herbert B. Cary's class, second prize being awarded to the Primary department in charge of Miss Elizabeth Smith and her assistants, the Misses Dorothy Holden, Louise Ernst and Dorothy Rasmussen.

The distribution of quarterlies followed the teachers gave instructions for the lessons of the coming Sunday.

The Rally service came to a close following the report of Secretary Oscar Mosesian, a closing hymn and repeating the benediction.

URGES HIBERNIANS TO GAIN MORE MEMBERS

In his tour of the state on a visitation to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Michael Donohue of Philadelphia, national president of the order, spoke here Sunday afternoon in the Strand theatre before a county meeting that had an attendance of 150 to whom he emphasized the importance of the bringing the younger generation into membership in the men's divisions and the ladies' auxiliaries.

County President John Hourigan of Jewett City called the meeting to order at 2 o'clock and after welcoming words to the national president, who is a congressman from Pennsylvania, introduced John P. Murphy, a former state president, as chairman for the afternoon.

Chairman Murphy presented Mayor Milo R. Waters, who extended the greetings to the city, and this was followed by an inspiring talk by Rev. M. H. May, who referred to the great service that the A. O. H. had rendered in Ireland and in this country. John Donnelly of Bristol, state president, also spoke in an interesting way and there were solos by Edward T. Connelly and Warren Kane, with selections by the theatre orchestra.

National President Donohue was greeted with applause as he was introduced by Chairman Murphy and he opened his remarks with some words of appreciation of the brief talk of Father May who had preceded him. The national president told his audience that the time had come for the Ancient Order of Hibernians to increase its membership and this should be done by the members bringing in their sons and daughters. He declared that there had been a persistent propaganda directed against the Irish, who had been called ignorant, lazy, treacherous and undependable, and it was largely because of this propaganda that the young people had to be urged to join the organization. The very people who closed the schools against the nation for generations are the ones who have branded them as the "ignorant Irish". If the young people could only know the Ireland that had rendered such signal service to civilization, to liberty and to the cause of religion, their feeling would be entirely different. Membership in the Ancient Order of Hibernians has an educational value far beyond what we realize, said Mr. Donohue. Bring your sons and daughters for the sake of the old land that struggled so long for liberty and for the sake of the new land where liberty is threatened.

The American flag and the Irish flag of the First Division, A. O. H., were displayed at the sides of the platform and the meeting opened with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner and closed with America, led by Mr. Connelly.

PRESTON MEETING VOTES ON TOWN BUSINESS

About 40 voters of the town of Preston met in the town house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to act upon business matters to come before the annual meeting. Appleton Main was elected moderator and Town Clerk George V. Shedd was selected for clerk.

Following the reading of the warning, reports of the selectmen, town treasurer, town school committee and health officer were heard and accepted. It was also voted that abatement be made of certain taxes and voted that work be done on the highways during the coming year. The compensation of town officers was fixed at the same rate as of last year and the selectmen were empowered to borrow such moneys as were necessary to pay the current expenses of the town.

An itemized estimate of the current expenses of the town for the coming year was then given, showing them to be about the same as of last year, when expenses totalled $16,000 and the tax was 16 mills.

It was also voted to discontinue the following sections of roads; that section of road leading from the buildings located on the Bentley farm, so-called, running westerly and intersecting with the road leading from Norwich and Preston City highway to the Jewett City road so-called; and, starting at a point on the road near the buildings of Ernest Kennedy and running westerly and intersecting with the road running from Norwich to Preston City and past the house of Samuel Clark.

The meeting adjourned without date having been in session about one hour. The tax rate for the ensuing year is not laid until the meeting in March 1925 but it is likely to remain at 16 mills as estimates were about the same as last year.

WEDDINGS

Hitchon—Bailey.

Saturday evening at 6 o'clock at the parsonage, Norwich Town, Lucile Dudley, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Gurdon F. Bailey became the bride of Walter George Manley Hitchon, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. M. Hitchon, of 327 Washington street.

As the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by Charles Perry of Hartford the four ribbon girls descended the stairs. They were Janet Wright and Betty Hitchon, nieces of the groom, and Fannie and Charlotte LaPierre. Down the aisle of white ribbons the two bridesmaids, sisters of the bride, Miss Marion Bailey, in orchid chiffon, and Miss Louise Bailey in blue chiffon, both carrying tea roses entered the living room. Donald Wright, nephew of the groom as ring bearer preceded the bride and her father. The bride's dress was white satin and lace, and the veil was one worn by her aunt at her wedding. The bride's bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridal party was met at the arch by the groom, and his brother, Edward Hitchon, who acted as best man. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride using the double ring service.

The house was decorated with clematis, asters, hydrangeas, palms and ferns.

Following the ceremony a reception was held, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hitchon left for a trip to the White Mountains and Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will live in a newly furnished apartment at 43 East Town street, Norwich Town.

The bride is a graduate of Miss Wheelock's Kindergarten Training school of Boston and has been teaching in the Norwich Private Day school. The groom is a resident of Norwich and is associated with his father in the Glen Woolen Mills.

Guests from out of town included Mrs. Frederick Goodman of Cleveland, Mrs. Nancy Williams, Utica, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson, Gardner, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright, West Meadowford, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Bailey, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Falk, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Marquardt, Miss Madeline Marquardt, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Chapman, all of Groton, Judge and Mrs. William H. Williams of Derby, Miss Dorothy Bushnell of Newton, Mass., Miss Elsie Perkins and Miss Josephine Barbour, Collinsville, Thomas Murray, New York, John MacArthur, New London, Miss Maude Wilcox, Westbrook, Charles Perry, Hartford.

Allen-Phillips

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Walter Phillips, No. 422 Laurel Hill avenue, their daughter, Miss Lila E. Phillips, was united in marriage with Louis B. Allen, by Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church. The couple were unattended.

The bride was charming in crepe de chine gown and carried a bouquet of roses. Orchids and dahlias were used in the house decorations. A wedding dinner was served after the ceremony and the couple left for a tour of the New England coast. The bride's traveling gown was of navy blue canton crepe, with hat to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Allen will reside at No. 318 Laurel Hill avenue and will be at home after October 10th.

Mr. Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Allen. He was born in California and is a graduate of a Polytechnic Institute of California. For a time he resided in Groton and came here a short time ago, being employed as a clerk in the Thames National Bank.

The bride is a graduate of the Norwich Free Amademy, class of 1921, and studied art and designing at the Norwich Art school. She has been employed in the office of the American Thermos Bottle Co.

Boynton-Cochrane

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Cochrane, No. 302 Laurel Hill avenue, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, their daughter, Miss Helen Gertrude Cochrane, was united in marriage with F. Raymond Boynton of No. 124 Platt avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church.

The bride was attended by Miss Doris E. Waters, a niece, as maid of honor and the best man was John R. Boynton, brother of the groom. The bride was gowned in white satin taffeta with medallions of lace and buds and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her maid of honor wore a gown of coral crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Cochrane wore black satin trimmed with green and Mrs. Boynton wore black chiffon with trimmings of velvet and gold lace. Asters and cosmos were used in the house decorations.

The bride has been employed in the office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. She is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy.

The groom is the son of Drs. John and Marie Boynton and is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy. He is employed by Swift and Company as cashier. The bride received many beautiful gifts including silver, cut glass, china and gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Boynton left during the day for a wedding trip and on their return will reside with the bride's parents. The bride's traveling gown was of tan silk crepe, brown coat trimmed with fur, and brown velvet hat.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. W. Harry Jennings.

Following a short illness the life of Agnes B. Collins, wife of W. Harry Jennings, came to a close Friday night about midnight, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary C. Stanley, of 60 Washington street.

Mrs. Jennings was born in Norwich, the daughter of Jeremiah and Mary Coughlin Collins, and was educated in local public schools. In March, 1906, she was united in marriage with W. Harry Jennings, by the late Rev. Hugh Treanor in this city.

Surviving besides her husband are three sisters, Mrs. Mary C. Stanley, Mrs. James T. Carey, both of Norwich, and Mrs. G. F. McDonnough, of New York.

Mrs. J. B. Shannon.

Katherine C. Shannon, widow of James B. Shannon, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John K. Foran, in New London, on Sunday.

Mrs. Shannon was born in Norwich, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, and had passed almost all her life in this city. She received her education in the local schools and in Mount St. Joseph Academy in Hartford. Mrs. Shannon had taken special training in music and was an accomplished performer on the piano.

In this city on November 27, 1895, she was united in marriage with the late James B. Shannon; of this union was born one child, Valerie, now the wife of John K. Foran, of New London. Since Mr. Shannon's death Mrs. Shannon has made her home with her daughter and son-in-law in New London and the closing years of her life were made happy by the devoted love of her daughter, and by her interest in her three lovely grandchildren.

Mrs. Shannon was the last survivor of her parents' family, her only sister, Mrs. Jeremiah J. Desmond, and two brothers having passed away several years ago.

Mrs. Shannon's girlhood was spent at Greeneville, where she was a general favorite. Throughout her life she was an active church member and was a recognized leader in all parish activities. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Foran, who was the prize reader of her class at the Norwich Free Academy, three grandchildren, the children of Mrs. Foran, and a niece and nephew, Catherine G. and Thomas G. Desmond.

Jeremiah Moran.

Jeremiah Moran, 91, died Saturday evening at 10.45 at his home, 19 John street, after a short illness. He was a native of Ireland, but had made his home in Norwich for many years. For twenty-one years he was employed as a helper in Yantic cemetery. He retired from active work a number of years ago.

He leaves a son, Dennis J. Moran, and two daughters, Misses Mary and Annie C. Moran, all of Norwich, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Fenton of Norwich and Mrs. Ellen Quinlan of Ireland. He was a member of St. Patrick's church.

LAST WEEK IN MAJOR LEAGUE SEES ELIMINATION OF ONE PENNANT CONTENDER

New York, Sept. 28.—Baseball history was made in the final complete week of the Major league campaign when the Giants won their fourth consecutive National league pennant and established a new major league record.

Another historic event was almost added. The Senators assured themselves of at least a tie in the American league race and have to win one of their two remaining contests from Boston to give the city of Washington its first pennant.

Brooklyn clinched second money in the world series for the National league club by winning from Chicago today as the Pirates, certain at least of third place, fell before Chicago. The Yankees, if nosed out by Washington, will take second place, Detroit is anchored in third.

New York's triple victory over Pittsburgh, which eliminated the Pirates from the race and virtually insured the ultimate success of the Giants over Brooklyn, was the high spots of the week and probably the most interesting three day of the season. Pittsburgh, by taking two of three from McGraw's team, would have tied up the race into its final days but the Giants, with a patched team following injuries to Groh and Frisch that will keep the two infield stars out for the rest of the season, rallied to win the three games by decisive margins.

The situation in the American league, in which Washington led the Yankees by two games throughout a greuling five days took a sensational turn on Friday as the Senators lost to Boston and their lead was cut to one contest. Yesterday, however, the fading world champions were beaten by Philadelphia and apparently lost their slim chance of success as Washington won again.

Unusual pitching and slugging was again lacking. Walter Johnson, after winning his 13th consecutive game on Monday, was beaten by the Red Sox on Friday and left the game with an injured elbow which may effect the fortunes of the Senators in the world series if it does not round to shape. Dazzy Vance won his 28th game of the season today.

Babe Ruth, whose failure to add to his home run total during the last two weeks has been reflected in the faltering of his team which lost most of its games during that time by one run, was again blocked from his long hits by opposing pitchers. Only two homers were made in the American league during the week while 22 were made in the National. Four of these were delivered by the Giants at Critical moments in the Pirate series.

Detroit, although out of the race, won all of its games during the week and increased its winning streak to seven contests.

CARDS AND REDS DIVIDE LAST TWO GAMES OF SEASON

St. Louis, Sept. 28.—The Cardinals ended the 1924 major league season here today by breaking even with Cincinnati, winning the first game, 9 to 3, and losing the second, 8 to 2. A number of recruits were brought into the lineup by Manager Rickey, and in both games recruit hurlers were sent to the mound. Rhem held the visitors to seven hits in the opening game, while in the second game, Day, a recruit right hander, was batted freely. He was relieved by Dickerman, obtained recently from Brooklyn.

DODGERS CLINCH SECOND PLACE BY BEATING BRAVES

Brooklyn, Sept. 28.—Brooklyn clinched second place in the National league pennant race by winning its final game from the Boston Braves today, 5 to 1. To make the victory certain Dazzy Vance pitched out of his turn, and was invincible, holding the Braves to five hits, two of which came together in the ninth. Thomas opened the final frame with a home-run to deep center, saving the Braves from a shutout. Bancroft followed with a single and was quickly doubled up. It was Vance's twenty-eighth win of the season, and he added nine strikeouts to his record. Score:

CHICK DAVIS BLANKS BRISTOL WITH ONE-LONE SINGLE

"Chick" Davis was in rare form Sunday when he pitched Moosup to a shutout victory over Bristol only the visitors only one hit, this a single. Moosup piling up 9 runs. Tony West, who has been signed by Moosup for the remainder of the season, pitched the last two innings for Moosup and fanned five of the six men to face him in these stanzas.

Bristol was supposed to have Saunders of the Springfield Eastern League team to pitch but he was unable to appear and Palmer was sent to the mound. He was hit freely especially in the sixth and seventh innings when Moosup scored 4 and three runs in the innings. Errors by Bristol also contributed to their defeat. Eddie Burns led the hitting attack for Moosup with three bingles while Kendricks poled out a double and triple in five times at bat.

Next Sunday Moosup, with Tony West in the box, will oppose the fast American Thread team of Willimantic. The score:

TIGERS AND WHITE SOX PLAY TO TIE SCORE

Chicago, Sept. 28.—The Chicago White Sox and Detroit battled 10 innings today to a ten to ten tie and darkness forced a suspension of what was to have been the final game of the season here. A victory would have given the White Sox a chance to tie Boston for seventh place, if Washington should defeat Boston tomorrow.

Tonight Manager Cobb, of Detroit agreed to play the game over tomorrow, giving the Sox one more chance to gain at least a tie for last place in the league. Never before have the Sox finished in the cellar.

GIANTS LOSE TO PHILLIES BUT HAVE PENNANT CLINCHED

New York, Sept. 28—New York lost today to Philadelphia by a score of 11 to 6. Cy Williams hit his wtenty fourth homer in the sixth and O'Connell and Harper hit homers, Harper's coming with the bases full in the second.

Brooklyn beat Boston and gained a game on the Giants but they were too late as the New Yorkers already had clinched the pennant.

ACADEMY WINS FROM ALUMNI TEAM 3 TO 0

The Academy eleven in its first game of the season barely won a victory over the Alumni, Jack Hinrichs booting the ball over the bar for three points, the only score of the afternoon. The Academy team was almost powerless before the heavier and more experienced Alumni team but their line held well and their backfield played a good game although unable to make large gains through the Alumni line.

Coach Artken gave practically everyone on the squad a chance at the game and by so doing was able to get a line on the ability of his players under fire. From the showing made Saturday it would appear that the Academy is to have a much better team than last year but there is still ample room for improvement. Next Saturday the Academy gets a real test when they go against the freshmen team at Connecticut Agricultural College.

WINDHAM SWAMPS TEAM FROM STONINGTON HIGH

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, Sept. 28. — Windham High's football machine, Eastern Connecticut champions, opened its season with considerable adieu at Recreation Park Saturday afternoon by running roughshod over the Stonington High eleven to the delight of over six hundred followers. The score was 46 to 0 and would have been greater but for the fact that Coach T. A. Callaghan was continually inserting his utility men into the melee. Incidentally by whitewashing the invaders, the local lads maintained its unsmirched record, that of not having been scored upon since 1922 on their own ballwick.

The Crimson and Blue, as the score would indicate, outplayed her opponents in all departments. Tommy Meikle's play was the outstanding feature of the matinee. Scoring three touchdowns, Windham's right half back showed some remarkable clever broken field running and his second defense work not be excelled.

Windham registered thirteen points in the first period, 27 in the third and six in the finale. Only once did the visitors threaten to cross Windham's goal line and that was frustrated by a flying tackle made by Parker Smith.

The utility players for Stonington were Bryer, Cella and Dobson. For Windham, Coach Callaghan injected the following untility into the game: Buck, Ahern, Williams, Connors, Tomasko, Smith, Lariviere, Dawson and Day.

Friday afternoon Westerly, High comes here. Westerly was the only team that the locals failed to subdue last year. In the opening game of the year, the two elevens battled to a 6 to 6 tie in Westerly.

The lineups:

W. H. S.		S. H. S.
Usher	Right End	Kenyon
Johnson	Right Tackle	Cragan
Cohen	Right Guard	Squadrito
Hernberg	Center	Barstow
Sawicki	Left Guard	Pollard
Burton (Captain)		Cronin
Storrs	Left End	Cragan
I. Prater	Quarter Back	McCaffrey
Nichols	Right Halfback	Levanti
Wilkinson	Fullback	Duke

Referee, Guyer, C. A. C.; Umpire, O'Brien, C. A. C.; Head Linesman, Gallagher, Westerly; Timers, Benton of Windham and Zellar of Westerly; time of the periods, 10, 8, 10 and 8 minutes; touchdowns, Meikle 3, Storrs, 2, Smith, Usher; points after touchdowns, Storrs, Wilkinson, Nichols, Meikle; attendance, 600.

NEW LONDON RANGERS LOSE TO SO. MANCHESTER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

South Manchester, Sept. 28.—Although defeated for the second time in as many attempts to emerge a winner in the regular contested Connecticut Soccer league game the New London Rangers fell another notch in the team standing, losing to South Manchester this afternoon by 6 goals to none. The difference in the team play was not what the score would indicate, for while many shots for the goal by the Rangers went wild the trys for goals by the locals met with more success. The Whalers showed a good defense and offense tactics.

The New London team was not the least discouraged over the defeat, for once the team gets into real action the other teams in the state league will have something to think about. Hard luck followed every shot the Rangers made for the goal, while the last year's state champions scored two goals in the first half and added four more to its total in the second half. The forwards of the Manchester team were heavier than the visiting forwards and the wearing down process began to tell upon the forward line players of the Rangers. It made the line weaker in unit and allowed the locals to shift through the defense for goals which would have been more bitterly fought earlier in the game.

Ladkin Beats Epinard.

Aqueduct Race Track, N. Y., Sept. 28.—(By The A. P.)—In one of the most thrilling races of American turf history, Ladkin, Major August Belmont's brilliant 3-year-old, ridden by Clarence Kummer, yesterday won the second international special at a mile, before a crowd of 40,000. The time was 1.36 2-5, and the value to the winner $28,750. Epinard, continental champion again finished second.

WEST PITCHES BRILLIANT GAME FOR RIVERVIEW AGAINST J. B. MARTIN TEAM

Riverview club closed its 1924 baseball season Saturday afternoon with the best game of the year, Tony West Baltimore pitcher, shutting out the J. B. Martin team 1 to 0 and allowing the Velvetmen only two scattered hits. Shovac who pitched for the Velvetmen did not fare so badly as he let Riverview down with four scattered hits. The game throughout was pretty much of a pitcher's battle with West having the edge on is opponent, West fanned 14 men while Shovac accounted for three by this method.

Riverview's lone tally camein the sixth inning when Couillard was safe at first on a close play and was advanced by Burns and Mills scoring on Sank's hit. This was the only score of the game. The game was the best of the season, the Velvetmen getting only two men as far as second base during the game. Both teams played a fast game in the field. Score:

CHAPMAN LOSES TO ALUMNI IN OPENING GAME, 7 TO 3

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 28. — Chapman Tech's grid warriors struck a snag in the Alumni eleven at Morgan Park Saturday afternoon, losing the graduates by a 7 to 3 score. It was the opening game of the season for the Reds and Black and they did well considering the formidable array of football stars they opposed. It was the pick of some of the best football material from the elevens of recent years, who outweighed the under grads by a slight margin.

Rankin of the Alumni former Tech fullback tore through the Tech line almost at will and time and again tore off large gains through the center of the line. He was the most consistent ground gainer all afternoon, and Tech may attribute its defeat to Rankin's ability to crash through the line. Rankin scored the only touchdown of the contest early in the first period, after the Alumni had advanced the ball from their own 30-yard line to the under grads four yard mark, where Rankin took the pig skin over the final white line.

Tech several times had a golden opportunity to score but found a tough line to buck in the Alumni forwards. As a last resort in the third period after the line stabs were stopped, Johnny Brown, dusky Tech half back booted the ball over the cross bar from the 31-yard line and that from a difficult angle. It was the only three points that Tech scored and helped them to escape a shutout. Brown also got away to several runs averaging from eight to seventeen yards each time. The Alumni with proper training would have no doubt made the score much larger but as this game was arranged with them at the final minute so to speak, they quickly arranged their forces and played as good football as one would wish.

The lineup:

Alumni		Chapman Tech
King	Left End	Caruso
Gentellia	Left Tackle	Davies
Watterson	Center	Martin
Turrello	Right Guard	White
Sullivan	Right Tackle	McGuire
Bruno	Right End	Montgomery
Brewer	Quarterback	Courbois
Ruddy	Right Halfback	Hewitt
Rankin	Fullback	Kennenberg

Score by quarters:

Alumni	7	0	0	0—7
Chapman Tech	0	0	3	0—3

Touchdown, Rankin. Point after Drop kick, Brown. Substitutes, Chapman Tech: Hewitt for Davies, Miller for White Caron for Miller Hicks for Montgomery.

BULKELEY AND R. I. FRESHMEN PLAY TO A TIE SCORE

(Special to The Bulletin)

South Kingston, R. I., Sept. 28.—Demonstrating unusual ability both on the offensive and the defensive, the Bulkeley High School eleven of New London, Connecticut, gave the Rhode Island State College freshmen eleven one of the best battles for honors which has ever been witnessed by fans on University field, Satuday afternoon. Although the game ended up in a scoreless tie, the visitors possessing a fine functioning back field threatened to break through the forward line of the Blue and White yearlings on several occasions for a score.

Walter Rice, left half back for the visiting eleven came within two inches of giving his team a 3 to 0 victory, when he missed a drop kick from the 23-yard line, early in the second quarter of play. When the advances of the Bulkeley team were stopped, resortment to the overhead game and as a final resort, drop kicks were tried and while three of the latter failed, each tried by Rice, which varied in distance from the 20-yard mark to the 34-yard mark, the tide of the battle was for that time at least stopped. The visitors, however, were continually threatening to break through for a score, and except for the final two minutes of play when a complete forward pass gave the frosh their only first down of the game, the contest was forced to come to a standstill, due to the expiration of the time limit.

The forward line of Bulkeley was outweighed, from ten to eighteen pounds to a man, and at one end of the line, the frosh tackle tipped the beams at 215. Not with standing that they were fighting against heavy odds Bulkeley waded in the opposing line with a will and a determination to give a good account of themselves even though victory was denieed them This they did, and this contest between the high eleven and the college freshman, was considered better than the game that preceded between University of Maine and R. I. State College.

Opportunities presented upon a golden platter were Bulkeley's on several occasions. But the line of the College freshmen was impregnable, and chances for a touchdown were lost. No long gains were made by Bulkeley backs at any one time during the afternoon, but Rice upon catching a punt ran the ball back for 28 yards in the second half. Several forward passes were completed, with Daniels and Latham on the receiving end each time. The pass to Doniels was good for 37 yards, while the toss to Latham carried a little over ten yards. In both rushing and the air attack, the Orange and Black easily outplayed their much heavier rivals. In fact the defense of the visitors was so fgood that, no first downs through rushing the ball were made by the freshies. Only six running plays were tried out all afternoon by the sons of "little Rhodie", punting being their cheif method of attempts to advance the ball. But even in this department of the game, Bulkeley in Rice as its punter gained from ten to fifteen yards on every punt that was exchanged. It was here that Bulkeley's gain in yardage was made.

Only one formation was tried by the frosh, while Bulkeley used several straight and deceiving shift plays that netted them gains. Except for one pass being tried by the freshmen, the afternoon on their paft was playing a defensive game. The overhead game was rather successful from the visiting point of view, and a larger percentage were completed that grounded.

The State freshmen kicked to Bulkeley to open the game and Barry receiving the ball on his own oneyard line ran it back to the 28. Two first downs met Bulkeley efforts at hammering the line. But no more gains were made and punts were exchanged with Bulkeley profiting by poor kicking. Rice and Barry were doing most of the offensive ground gaining for

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

New York, Sept. 28—(By the A. P.)—A measure of business recovery was provided last week by the report on car loadings for the week ended September 13, the total of 1,161,000 cars setting a new high record for the year and coming within 36,000 cars of the best week in history. Heavy grain shipments, combined with increased consignments of general merchandise and less than carload freight swelled the volume of traffic.

Further encouragement regarding the railroads' position was derived from the first reports on August earnings while gross revenue was slightly smaller than in the corresponding month of last year, consistent with the car loading statistics, net income was slightly larger. As the roads earned 4.94 per cent. on the interstate commerce commission valuation in August 1923, and as the movement in the present month is heavier than in that preceeding, the outlook for the carriers was considered favorable.

Reports from the steel industry indicated that the change in quoting prices caused by the discontinuance of "Pittsburgh Plus" had created considerable confusion in the market. While the actual changes in the costs of laying down steel at different points varied little, many details had to be arranged in quoting according to the new system as a result, buyers showed a certain degree of hesitation.

Partly for this reason, no doubt, new buying of steel products during the first three weeks of September did not quite equal that of the corresponding period of August.

Nevertheless, it was sufficient to keep the country's mills operating at nearly 60 per cent. of capacity. Railroad buying seemed to be the most promising. Prices continued to show a weak tone, although concessions were small.

A sharp rally in cotton prices was the feature of the commodity markets. An unexpectedly low crop estimate by the department of agriculture was responsible for the advance. Meney remained cheap with rates at about the lowest of the year. Due principally to tax date operations, the earning assets of the federal reserve system showed a rather sharp drop. Discounts and circulation were little altered and the opinion prevailed that no sudden change in the character of the money market was probable.

WESTMINSTER

All the schools are to be closed today (Monday) as Supervisor Flood has a combined teachers' meeting for all the towns of which he has charge, at Jewett City.

Miss E. S. Johnson, Westminster Hills teacher, went to her home in Woodstock, Friday, after school, for her fortnightly week end visit.

Early in the present school year two choice framed pictures, matched were hung over the doors in Westminster Hill school house. One, "The Return of the Mayflower," the other, "The Mayflower and Settlers Going to Church." These were purchased by Miss Esther Kimball, teacher last year, with the money raised by the school at their Christmas entertainment and are either side of the picture of Ex-President Harding, bought during his administration by the school.

Carpet is sold by the yard and worn by the foot.

NORWICH CHURCHES BEGIN WEEK OF MEETINGS UNDER DR. F.A. AGAR

Church efficiency week opened Sunday with a union service of the Protestant churches at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening and will continue each evening this week, services being held at the Central Baptist and First Baptist churches. The leader of the church efficiency movement is Dr. Frederick A. Agar of New York, who preached the sermon Sunday evening.

There was a good sized attendance at the union meeting which was opened at 7.30 o'clock by Rev. J. Harlow Graham, pastor of the church. Dr. Agar read the scripture selection and the prayer was offered by Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church. Dr. Agar was introduced by Rev. Dr. Pitt who explained in brief the object and aim of the services to be held during the week.

The High Cost of Loving was the topic on which Dr. Agar spoke. Love is the most wonderful thing in the world, said Dr. Agar and consequently the most expensive thing in the world. Some of you think salvation is free. You haven't any of it if you think it is free. Love is free but if you appreciate it you immediately reciprocate by the cost of love. It is the same with salvation.

One of the most wonderful things is a Christian character. You don't get a Christian character as a gift from God. Well, you say, how do you get it? Where do you first see a building? In plans or perhaps in a vision of the completed building before the plans. Next you see it scattered around the sidewalk, in lumber, glass, nails, etc., piled up. Then the workmen come along, takes the plans and builds the house from the material.

God furnishes the plans and material for Christian character. You get a Christ-like character only when you use the materials God gives you. The hardest class of people to deal with are the people who have been rush into the church and then, bye and bye, have dropped out of the church.

Christ promises a full and free salvation but He says you have first got to sit down and count the cost. A great many people in the church have no sense of obligation to the church. You can't get into anything until you first face the obligation, the cost. Christ doesn't want us to lay a foundation and then fail to complete the building.

When it comes to a choice between Jesus and yourself or anybody else the choice must go to Jesus and not against Him. Jesus says you can't be one of His disciples if you choose anybody or anything as against Him. Does the average life of the average church member reveal a cross? They have time and money for everything else but the Kingdom of God.

I am not asking you to be a disciple of anything that is easy. What is it you like to do best? Something easy or something that kindles enthusiasm, real endeavor? What we have to do is to put back the cross, the cost of loving and kindle the enthusiasm to do the great stalwart things and then the church will begin to win in a real vital way.

Following the singing of a hymn by the congregation the benediction was pronounced by Rev. E. G. Crowdis, pastor of the Taftville Congregational church. This (Monday) evening the service will be held at the First Baptist church and Dr. Agar's topic will be Shepherding the People.

ADVISES TREE PLANTING ALONG STATE HIGHWAYS

As a result of a survey, the systematic planting of trees along the Boston Post road from the New York state line to New Haven is recommended in a report which P. L. Buttrick, consulting forester of New Haven, has made to the state highway department. Widening of this highway to a width of thirty-six feet, an improvement that is being rapidly carried out, has caused the state to inquire into the possibility of enhancing the scenic beauty of the road.

Mr. Buttrick's conclusions in the matter offer a number of alternate proposals, the character of the trees to be planted varying in accordance with growths already existing on the borders of the road in some localities.

An important feature of highway tree planting, the report says, is that it will ordinarily increase real estate values along the road, "since people will pay more for beautiful surroundings than for unattractive ones." It also will, to a considerable extent, decrease the encroachment of unsightly structures, since there will be less room for them, and since, with the establishment of a row of trees it will be easier to establish building lines. The mere presence of trees and the fact that they cannot be cut without permission will discourage encroachment, the survey declares.

"It will mask unsightly features of the scenery, such as tumble-down buildings and glaring billboards, Mr. Buttrick declares. The belief is also expressed that planting will tend to discourage speeding on the ground that a beautiful road is an incentive to slower travel. Another feature pointed out is that by reducing summer temperature the trees will make easier both pedestrian and horse-drawn traffic.

In connection with the presence of telephone, electric light and power lines along the highway, it is recommended that, as far as possible, these lines be carried through overhead cables, which do not interfere with tree growth as open wires would.

"Billboard advertising," Mr. Buttrick declares, "has aroused much public opposition in recent years. Whatever advantages the billboard may possess as an advertising medium, it detracts from the beauty of the road besides which it is placed and probably in the long run decreases adjacent real estate values. So far, no legal advice seems to have been hit upon to curb the nuisance when billboards are located on private land.

"Yet they are valuable to the advertiser only because of the road. Is it not fair, therefore, that they pay their share of the expense of road building and maintenance?"

He then suggests a state tax on billboards along state roads, the proceeds to go to tree planting and landscape improvement along those same roads.

In relation to the kind of tree to be used, the smaller types of soft maples, lindens or basswood and occasionally poplars, are suggested, except in localities where it is possible to plant large American elms in sections where future widening of the road is not contemplated for 15 or 20 years.

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY GROUNDS

Suit for divorce from William Verville has been brought by Delia Metiver Verville, both plaintiff and defendant being Norwich residents. She alleged intolerable cruelty since their marriage date which was May 28, 1922 and she asks the custody of their 15 months old son. On Sept. 17 this year the husband had his wife arrested in Arctic, R. I., and brought back here on the charge that she had abducted the child, but she was discharged and the complaint was nolled in the city court.

The divorce papers have been filed with the clerk of the superior court and the suit is returnable in October.

APPLEBY DISCHARGED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE

Two men were fined for intoxication in the city court Saturday morning. Robert Appleby, charged with breach of the peace, in pushing Officer Charles McFadden off the sidewalk and onto a pile of sand, was discharged by the court for lack of evidence. Judge Arthur F. Libby, however, stated that if evidence could later be secured the case would be reopened.

ALLEGE CRUELTY IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Alleging intolerable cruelty since Aug. 1, 1919, Ada Halley Collins of Groton has brought suit in the superior court for divorce from Arthur L. Collins of Amherst, Mass. They were married June 11, 1911 and have four minor children of whom the mother asks the custody. The suit is returnable in the superior court in October.

SAINT PATRICK'S CHURCH DEDICATED 45 YEARS AGO

Rev. Michael H. May, rector of St. Patrick's church, preaching at the 8 o'clock mass, Sunday, reminded his people that, by actual day and date, it was forty-five years since the dedication of the fine church—Sept. 28th, 1879. The cornerstone was laid in 1873, and the magnificent church property was solemnly consecrated to the service of God, entirely free from debt, on Sept. 24, 1911. Previous to the formal dedication, masses had been offered in the lower church.

In spite of losing numbers of its total by the creation by the bishop of the Sacred Heart parish, Norwich Town, and by the division of parish lines, several years ago, so that many families are now counted in the parish of St. Mary's, St. Patrick's continues to grow and thrive in an astounding way. The rector and his two assistants, Rev. Myles P. Galvin and Rev. Rocco J. Guerriero, are kept busy ministering to the spiritual needs of its upwards of 4,000 parishioners. There are nearly 500 pupils in the parish school, the eight grades taught by Sisters of Mercy and one lay teacher. Not a cent of debt encumbers the property, which is in the best of condition, the annual revenue going over $30,000 for a number of years. The weekly contributions for parish upkeep are most liberal, while special offerings are so easy and so generous as to indicate, in unmistakable proof, the great prosperity of its people.

Following his reading of the Scriptures for the day—the sixteenth Sunday after Pentecost—the epistle Ephesians III. 13-21 and the gospel Luke XIV. 1-11, Father May announced the opening next Sunday of a two weeks' mission to be given by Fathers of the Holy Ghost from Philadelphia, whose Connecticut novitiate is at Ridgefield. Father May's theme was the warning of the prophet, "Harken to the call of God—harden not your hearts," as he pointed out the needs of a mission for three classes—the just—who require grace to persevere—the sinner—who may not live to get another call to return to peace with his Maker—and the slothful—those who have grown lukewarm in the practice of their religion.

The first mission for Norwich Catholics was in 1860, in the old St. Mary's church. The pioneers of that era had not the modern luxury of present-day parishioners, big and swift motor cars to carry them to the modest little frame church; but the well-to-do had their farm horses and those who lacked the primitive conveyance of the like walked the many miles, to be present at the mission classes at 5 and 7 each morning and at the devotions every evening. The young men and women formed an inspiring choir, the organist being the late Miss Kate Rourke. Weather conditions were ignored, the little church being crowded at every service. That original mission unified and encouraged the pioneer band of Catholics in a manner which has left its impress upon their descendants today.

MONKEY FAMILY AT PARK GAINS MEMBER

The monkey family at Mohegan Park continues to grow, a fifth monkey being added to the family this past week, the third to be added during the summer.

The new member of the park family, which was christened Mollie, was presented to Park Superintendent F. W. Krohn, by Chester Glidden of Groton.

Mollie previously belonged to the state police, being a pet at the Groton barracks. When she took a notion to wander away and ravage private property, which included fruit trees and gardens, it was decided that Mollie needed closer confinement.

Mollie has a coat of brown and is of the same breed as Jim, a monkey which has been at the park for some time. Mollie is playful and with the others of the park family draws a large audience every day despite the nearness of fall.

Automobile Top On Fire.

Dr. Lore Heath Hills of Lebanon, who has an office in Willimantic, drove her automobile up to the Central Fire station at 12.40 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and the firemen quickly put out a fire in the top of the machine caused by a cigarette which had been carelessly thrown there by some smoker. The damage was slight.

SPOTTING RECKLESS DRIVING AT RAILROAD CROSSINGS

The names of nearly 1,000 Connecticut motor vehicle operators have been reported to the state motor vehicle department within the past year for approaching highway grade crossings at speeds which, in the opinion of observers, would have prevented stopping before fouling the tracks if trains were approaching or stop signals displayed. In every instance, investigation of the facts and circumstances has been made by the department and the proper record bearing on the driving qualifications of the operator involved, entered in his file at the department.

In an effort to reduce the number of grade crossing accidents, the department has, for some time, had a co-operative arrangement with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company, under which crossing watchmen, or uniformed patrolmen assigned to the work where crossing watchmen are not regularly engaged, make daily reports of what they consider to be dangerous driving over highway grade crossings. These daily reports are collected by the railroad company's supervisor of safety and examination, and forwarded to the motor vehicle department, on stock forms, as follows:

"For your information, Mr. Peter Blank, crossing watchman, reports that at 11.30 a. m., September 28, 1924, automobile bearing Connecticut license number 100,000 approached highway grade crossing known as Broadway, at North Havan, Conn., at a speed which would prevent stopping before fouling track if train were approaching or stop signal displayed."

The procedure of the department is to communicate with the person in whose name the car is registered, notifying him or her of the complaint, and requesting the name of the driver of the car at the time mentioned in the complaint, and an explanation of the incident from the driver. Unless the department is satisfied after investigation that a mistake has been made in the complaint, an entry listing it as an act of bad driving is made in the operator's file for future reference in case his qualifications to drive are called in question.

STATE POLICE WARN VEGETABLE VANDALS

The annual war on vandals who tour the country districts in automobiles, helping themselves to ripe fruit and vegetables in unprotected orchards and truck gardens has been begun by the state police department. On one day recently six persons were arrested in Somers for stealing quantities of apples. Chapter 139 of the public acts of 1921 provides penalties for people who use motor vehicles in the larceny of fruit and the department has announced that it will enforce this chapter rigidly. Many motorists are said to make a practice of starting out into the country with the deliberate intention of bringing back a load of garden truck and fruit.

Poquetanuck Boy In Maine.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Harry Rodgers, son of Mrs. Rodgers of Poquetanuck, was cleared up Saturday when a telegram was received from an uncle of the boy, living in Camden, Maine, giving the information that the boy was with him and was safe. The boy disappeared from home Friday and the local police after being notified conducted a search for him without result. He is 16 years of age and had not returned home from school, Friday, thus alarming his mother.

POETRY

MY TEMPLE.

("Know ye not that ye are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?"—1st Cor. III; 16.

What kind of a house have I builded
What style of a temple for God?
Is my handiwork proven and worthy,
Or careless, unstable and odd?
Have I fashioned on patterns inspired,
And wrought with the plummet of Time,
Or quite unconcerned in the planning
Have builded as poets build rhyme?

What kind of a house is my temple?
O Master, gaze not on my shame
The marble and gold Thou hast shown me
I doubted my strength at the quarries,
The hills seemed far, far away,
So I, like a fool, builded blindly
A temple to last but a day.

O Miracle-Worker of Ages,
Thou Light at Damascus to Paul,
Show me the way to refashion
My temple before it shall fall.
My will—I surrender, I'll follow
Whatever Thy word shall command;
Thou Builder of Temples eternal,
Forgive me the work of my hand
—Charles L. H. Magner

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Bread Theater

When one sees D. W. Griffith's masterful film spectacle The Birth of a Nation now showing at the Bread theater and learns from it the many facts and sidelights of American history that are not to be found in the school editions of history, the thought comes that the educational departments of the country are neglecting the real education of the growing children. It is a known fact that the histories studied by the children of the south give an entirely different version of the great struggle of 1861 than that which is given the school of the north.

Then comes The Birth of a Nation and in clean, impressive motion pictures, gives the real story of this great struggle and the spectator, be he a grown-up or a child, realizes that in his studies of the great rebellion he has learned but a small part of the actual history.

For instance, it was new knowledge to many to learn that after the states of the confederacy has signed a peace there were northern statesmen who wished and urged the president to treat the rebellious states as conquered provinces and to hang their leaders. This is but one of many things that are brought to light in The Birth of a Nation for the first time to millions of people who have always felt that they knew the better part of the real history of the Civil war.

Broadway Theater

Everybody's going to the Broadway theater these days and the program offered for the first half of this week is sure to draw the usually capacity house and it is advisable to get there on time for a good seat.

The Delphineers will open the program with a novel musical comedy offering.

The supreme mesmerist, James Thornton who is just a jester will keep you in convulsions of laughter. Inspiration is a clever novelty featuring Harry Pease and Ed G. Nelson, America's well known song writers, who is assisted by Miss Ora Dawson.

Sid Hall and Co., in comedy and songs offer twelve minutes of fun.

The Pyrotechnic sensation, The Nagyfa, the weird wonderists who defy natures laws close the program.

Thomas Meighan in Paramount picture is worth seeing. But Thomas Meighan in a Herbert Brenon picturization of James Oliver Curwood's gripping story, The Alaskan, is worth seeing, not only once but several times. And we honestly believe that many of the folks who were present last night at the Broadway theater, where this photoplay was shown for the first time, are going to see it again and again. It will continue through Wednesday.

The Alaskan is the first picture of the great Northwest that Meighan has ever appeared in. His personality suits the title role which he portrays and although mindful of his past performances, yet we have no hesitation in saying that it has done his best work in this picture.

Here is a story of a man who fights not only for a great love, but for a great cause—the preservation of Alaska for the native Alaskan. To most people Alaska is synonymous with gold and in this picture Director Brenon has reproduced scenes from the historic gold-rush of the late nineties when the eyes of the whole world turned towards the far north.

Mountain peaks, forests, rivers and glaciers form the majestic sets which appear in The Alaskan.

American—Uncle Sam has the finest constitution of 'em all.

Britisher—But badly broken by amendments, dontcher know.—Life.

ABSCONDING BANK GUARD RETURNS WITH $89,700

William J. Hanifin, Who Disappeared From Springfield Last Tuesday, Has Restored all But $300—Notified the Massachusetts Bonding Company That He Was Returning From Chicago—Placed Under Arrest and Released Under $10,000 Bonds.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 29.—William J. Hanifan, bank guard of the Union Trust company, who absconded with $90,000 in $20 bills Thursday morning, was brought back to Springfield late this afternoon.

Hanifan, it is said, informed the Massachusetts Bonding company of Boston earlier today that he was returning from Chicago with the money. The train was met at Albany by Springfield police and Hanifan placed under arrest. He was taken from the train at Westfield and brought to this city by automobile to avoid a possibility of a crowd gathering at the station here.

He was taken before police officials and quizzed regarding his disappearance. No further details were given out by the police.

All of the $90,000 with the exception of $300 has been returned to the bank.

Officials of the bank and the Massachusetts Bonding company of Boston, with Hanifan, at a conference in police headquarters following Hanifan's return to this city, declared that he had not spent any of the money he had taken, paying his expenses since Thursday out of his own funds. He said that he had sent the money back to the Union Trust company by express from Chicago Sunday night.

After leaving Springfield Thursday, Hanifan told the police and bank officials that he went to Hartford by train and then to Fordham, N. Y., by taxicab. From there, he said, he went to Chicago.

According to the bank officials, Hanifan declared he had no motive in taking the money and blamed his act to the drinking of "moonshine" whiskey.

Hanifan was released under $10,000 bonds for his appearance in court tomorrow morning. The bonds were furnished by William E. Gilbert, president of the Union Trust company.

Mr. Gilbert announced, following Hanifan's release, that the money which the bank guard had sent by express to the bank had been received tonight and that all except $300 of the original $90,000 was in the packages. The missing money will be repaid by friends of Hanifan, bank officials declared, thereby assuring the bank and bonding company against loss.

According to Mr. Gilbert's statement, Hanifan first notified the bank of his intention to return to this city through a telegram which he sent from Chicago Saturday night and received here Sunday morning. The telegram read as follows:

"Sent money by express. Will return Monday night. (Signed) Hanifan."

This was the first intimation of the whereabouts of the bank guard following the loss of his trail in New York city. Upon this information, the Springfield police department sent detectives to Albany, where they met Hanifan, and brought him to this city.

ON TRIAL FOR TARRING AND FEATHERING GIRL

Frederick, Md., Sept. 29.—The prosecution, when court adjourned today, was completing its testimony in the case of Harry Leatherm, the second person to go on trial in the Frederick county court in connection with the tarring and feathering of 20-year-old Dorothy Grandon of Martinsburg, W. Va., near Myersville, last July.

Mrs. Mary Shank, alleged principal in the mob which attacked Miss Grandon on a public road, and in the glare of automobile headlights partly stripped her and applied tar and feathers after the court had overruled a demurrer.

Another outstanding development of the day was a ruling by the court that the defense would not be permitted to inquire into the "past life" of Miss Grandon.

Leatherman, the first of 19 men indicted in connection with the attack, pleaded not guilty and his case was begun before a jury. Miss Grandon, as the first witness for the prosecution, was positive in her identification of him as the person who handled Mrs. Shank the bucket of tar and box of feathers, which the woman declared she applied to Dorothy's body.

Another witness stated he saw Leatherman with flour sacks in his hands before the attack was made.

The tarring and feathering episode was said to have been the result of charges by Mrs. Shank that the relations between her husband and Miss Grandon had been too intimate.

Miss Grandon, entirely recovered from the effects of her harsh treatment, appeared very cheerful. She said she had been treated well in jail, where she has been held as a state's witness in default of bail since July, and added that while there she had had offers of marriage from many men throughout the country whose sympathies were aroused by reports of the case.

VANCE HAD NEVER BEEN APPROACHED BY KLAN

New Britain, Sept. 29—Johnstone Vance, of this city, son of the late Congressman Robert J. Vance, and editor of the New Britain Herald, was unanimously nominated for congress by the democratic convention of the first congressional district held here today.

Mr. Vance in his speech of acceptance said he had never been approached by any Ku Klux Klan organizer and that if he ever was invited to membership that he would refuse to join. He declared that it was regrettable that the klan had become one of the greatest issues of the day, but asserted it had been brought on by the klan itself and rested upon its own shoulders. He told the convention that the democratic platform was one that every loyal American could endorse with freedom and paid tribute to John W. Davis for his accomplishments which Mr. Vance termed outstanding achievements for the nation.

122 CONVICTS HAVE BEEN PLACED ON HONOR SYSTEM

Sugarland, Tex., Sept. 29—Their shoulders squared and heads high under the influence of a new trust, 122 convicts of the Pat Neff honor farm today donned the blue denim which signifies that they are restrained and ruled by their honor only.

The honor men were released from their barracks at the Imperial prison farm near here by Governor Neff, who opened the lock, swung back the heavy door, and shook hands with them as they filed out. It marked the beginning of a new era in Texas penal institutions.

CREW OF A SINKING STEAMER WAS RESCUED

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 29—Sinking of the American Steamer Santa Theresa, off the Georgia coast last night and rescue of the crew of 23 men was reported in messages reported by coast guard headquarters here today. The rescue was made by the American tank steamer I. G. White.

An Egyptian archaeologist discovered a bunk used on the Nile boats 1,000 years ago. This bunk differs little from the stateroom berths of modern times.

HOOVER SHOWS PERILS OF GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

Washington, Sept. 29.—Government ownership of public utilities would require re-writing of the Constitution and loss to the American people of most of their democracy, Secretary Hoover declared tonight in an address broadcast from 14 radio stations throughout the country.

"What Senator La Follette proposes," Secretary Hoover said, "is far more than a transitory experiment in government in business—it is a change in our social, economic, and political principles that will react to revolutionize our government itself."

Government ownership plans of La Follette's adherents, the secretary asserted, call for the government's purchase and operation of railways, electrical, and other utilities valued by official commissions at about 40 billions of dollars, with 2,700,000 employes, requiring two billions of dollars annually for bond interest, with an operating budget of 10 billions of dollars a year.

"This is a financial transaction and venture of a magnitude never before undertaken by any man or government, democratic or otherwise—except in Russia," he added, and urged that the American people, before embarking on such a voyage, study the capacity of the "vessel to carry the cargo."

The project, the secretary said, would wreck our democracy, and would be a step backward by a country which has found that true road of advancement in these enterprises "through sustained initiative and equality of opportunity to our people with public control to prevent abuse."

LAFOLLETTE NAME BARRED FROM LOUISIANA BALLOT

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 29—Secretary of State Bailey late today refused to place the names of the LaFollette-Wheeler electors in the Louisiana ballot for the November election.

The attroney general's office held recently that only registered voters who had declared themselves independent of affiliation with any recognized parties legally could sign the petition necessary to place the names on the ballot. The petition as presented to the secretary of state, it was stated, contained largely the signatures of voters who had declared themselves democrats when they registered.

WEATHER BUREAU ISSUES HURRICANE WARNING

Washington, Sept. 29—The following hurricane warning was issued by the weather bureau tonight:

Advisory hurricane warnings ordered six p. m. St. Andrews, Fla., to Cedar Keys, Fla.: tropical disturbance approaching the coast between Cedar Keys and Apalachicola will cause dangerous and probably destructive gales tonight. Southeast storm warnings ordered six p. m. Jacksonville to Fort Munroe. Tropical storm will advance rapidly northeastward to cause strong easterly winds and gales tonight, shifting to northwest."

MILLER RESIGNS AS ALIEN PROPERTY CUSTODIAN

Washington, Sept. 29.—Thomas W. Miller, who submitted his resignation as alien property custodian to President Coolidge today, said in a formal statement issued later that he would return to Paris in the near future as head of the Inter-Allied World War Veterans' Association.

OBITUARY

Rt. Rev. Mensignor F. P. McHugh

Newark, N. J., Sept. 29—The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Francis P. McHugh, pastor of St. Patrick's Cathedral, this city, died late today in St. Michael's hospital where he had been operated on for the relief of an acute intestinal obstruction.

The monsignor was born in Luzene county, Pa., Nov. 2, 1872, and was ordained in the priesthood in 1901 in the cathedral of Savona, Genoa, Italy. For many years he was instructor in Latin and Greek at Seton Hall college, South Orange, N. J.

Pope Benedict XV created him a domestic prelate with the title of monsignor in April, 1921.

Automobile mishaps in or near New Haven over the week end resulted in fifteen arrests.

The Lotta Crabtree Estate Goes to Charity

Half of $4,000,000 Estate to Form a Trust Fund For World War Disabled and Their Dependents.

Boston, Sept. 29.—The $4,000,000 estate which Miss Lotta Crabtree acquired in a colorful career of song and dance, real estate investment and theatre operations, goes to charity under the terms of her will which was filed today—and half of the sum goes to form a trust fund for World war disabled and their dependents. Setting aside only nominal sums for relatives, the actress left hundreds of thousands for dumb animals, needy actors, and actresses, hospitals and discharged convicts, and the residue to graduates of Massachusetts Agricultural college.

The will establishes a trust fund of $2,000,000 for those men and women in the service of United States during the World war who were disabled, maimed, wounded or sick, and extends assistance also to their dependents.

"I thoroughly believe that in the making of this particular trust I have selected the noblest and most deserving philanthropy to which my estate can be put," the testatrix said in the will.

"I have great pride and admiration for the heroic and patriotic service rendered by our soldiers, sailors and women, who were in the service of the United States during the late World war and I have given great consideration to the sacrifices and sufferings that have come to so many of them in the performance of their duties and to the hardships and difficulties which they must continue to suffer in years to come.

"I am fully aware of the fact that they can never receive adequate compensation and reward for what they have helped to accomplish for the honor and well-being of their country and mankind."

The trustees—Major General Clarence R. Edwards, U. S. A., retired; Judge William C. Wait of Massachusetts superior court and William A. Morse, ttorney for Miss Crabtree—are empowered to aid also any hospitals or other organizations performing a similar service to veterans and are directed to use the income from the fund semiannually.

Inasmuch as at the present time and in the immediate years to follow there will be greater occasion and demand for aid and assistance than there will be as the years go one," the will directs the trustees further to use the principal of the fund if necessary to accomplish the purposes of the trust.

A life of forty years for the trust is set by the donor, after which the funds are to go as residue of the estate to graduates of the Massachusetts Agricultural college. As Miss Crabtree was most closely identified with the state of Massachusetts, California and New York, the will says, preference shall be given to veterans in those states, but this request is not mandatory.

A fund of $300,000, to be known as the "Lotta Dumb Animal Fund" is created for the care and relief of dumb animals and particularly for a continuous and vigorous opposition to opposition to vivisection. Under this trust drinking fountains for men, horses, birds and dogs are to be set up and maintained in New York and Boston as "Lotta Foundations."

The "Lotta Theatrical Fund" of $100,000 is set aside to help those members of the theatrical profession in need of help through sickness or misfortune. Part of the income of this fund may be used for the education of young women in the theatrical profession.

Christmas gifts of clothing, food, coal, medicine or small donations in cash to needy persons are provided for in a fund of $100,000 established in the name of Mary A. Crabtree, Miss Crabtree's mother. Convicts discharged in the cities of San Francisco, St. Louis, Chicago, Washington, Louisville and New Orleans will benefit under another $100,000 fund set aside as the Lotta fund for aiding discharged convicts."

The sum of $50,000 is set aside for a fund to be known as the "Lotta Hospital Fund" the income to be paid annually to hospitals in Boston to be used in providing free beds and medical attendance for the sick poor.

The sum of $25,000 is set aside as the "Lotta Education Fund," the income to be paid annually to four pupils of the New England Conservatory of Music, who are without means to obtain a musical education.

All the residue of the estate is to be held in trust as a fund, known as the "Lotta Agricultural fund," and from its semi-annual income, the trustees are empowered to loan, without interest, to such graduates of the Massachusetts Agricultural college who have received their diplomas there but who are without funds to engage in agricultural pursuits. In this particular case, no graduate shall be entitled to receive the benefit of the fund without first furnishing a certificate from the college authorities as to his moral character and as to his deportment while in college.

MORRIS ADDRESSED NEW HAVEN ADVERTISING CLUBS

New York, Sept. 28.—Charles G. Morris, democratic candidate for governor, speaking before the New Haven Advertising club, here this afternoon, explained to the members the results that are certain to follow from advertising copy that is honest and truthful. He made no reference to politics in his address.

Mr. Morris, who is head of one of the largest newspaper advertisers in the state, was one of the pioneers in the advertising movement in Connecticua. Today, he said, his company is cashing in on the confidence and good will of the people of the state, just as every other advertiser who builds a strong foundation on honesty is certain to do.

BANK OFFICIALS HELD UP BY AUTOMOBILE BANDITS

Crystal City, Mo., Sept. 29—Three automobile bandits held up two officers of the Crystal City State Bank, who were returning from the post office here late this afternoon, and escaped with mail pouches said to have contained $40,000. The money represented the semi-monthly payroll of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, which has a large plant here.

Clemency Denied Gaston B. Means

Pleaded For Three Months' Stay in Which to File an Appeal From Conviction For Bootlegging.

New York, Sept. 29—Gaston B. Means, who recently told a federal court jury that hundreds of thousands of dollars had passed through his hands in nation-wide bootlegging operations, asked Federal Judge Foster today to grant him a three months' stay in which to file an appeal from his recent conviction for bootlegging, pleading that he was "too broke" to produce the $900 necessary for a copy of the stenographic record of the testimony at the trial.

His plea was denied, but Judge Foster gave Means until Friday to appeal to the circuit court of appeals for an order in form pauperis, which would permit him to appeal in the guise of a pauper.

Means and his one-time secretary, Elmer W. Jarnecke, were convicted of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law. The former department of justice agent was sentenced to serve a two-year term in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, and pay a $10,000 fine. Jarnecke's sentence was to a two-year term in the same penitentiary, and a $5,000 fine.

Means gave much sensational testimony at the trial—testimony which earned for him the title of "master fictionist" from the lips of Hiram Todd, special government prosecutor. One of his witnesses stand tales was that the late President Harding had commissioned the late Jess Smith, friend of Harry Daugherty, to make a nation-wide prohibition investigation.

Means said that, working with Smith he got government authorizations for the release of hundreds of thousands of gallons of bonded liquors, which were diverted to bootleggers. Hundreds of thousands of dollars changed hands, he said, with him as the intermediary. The money, he testified, went to Jess Smith.

There were rumors around the federal building today that Jarnecke had "opened up" and told the real story of the gigantic conspiracy to a department of justice agent, Clifford H. Burns. He and Burns had held conferences lasting for hours every day for a week, it was learned, neither would discuss that the conferences were about.

Jarnecke and Means, with their attorney, Thomas B. Felder, await trial on charges of having collected $65,000 from officials of the Creager system, convicted of having used the mails in defrauding operations, on the representation that they would use the money in bribing the then Attorney General Daugherty to use his influence in their behalf.

CONTROVERSY OVER DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SAFETY IN PHILA.

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—Inability of Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler, director of public safety, to come to his office today, due to retarded convalescence from a severe cold, resulted in a postponement of the delivery to him of Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick's "communication" said to contain a request for the director's resignation.

The mayor stated that the document will be laid on the director's desk only when he is able to come to city hall, probably Wednesday. Citizens favoring retention of Director Butler tonight held a town meeting in the Academy of Musci, under the auspices of the Law Enforcement League. Applications for tickets far exceeded the seating capacity of the house, about 4,000.

Edgar Cole, an employe of the league, today admitted he had personally opened a letter from Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, addressed to Joseph M. Steele, the league's former president, who resigned Saturday in disproval of action of the secretary, William H. Nicholson. Mr. Nicholson, in a telegram asking President Coolidge to intervene to keep General Butler in office, stated the league would publish documentary evidence signed by a high government official charging "corruption" among federal officials here, should General Butler be dismissed. The telegram was turned over to Attorney General Stone, who asked responsible officials of the league to come to Washington and confer with him as to the basis of the charges.

Mr. Nicholson later admitted the charges were based on a letter signed by Mrs. Willebrandt addressed to Mr. Steele. Mrs. Willebrandt, passing through this city Saturday, denied she had made any remarks in it derogatory to the conduct of any federal official in the state.

MAN SLAIN DURING SERVICE IN SYNAGOGUE

Los Angeles, Sept. 29.—While nearly 100 horrified worshippers looked on, Solomon Ostraw, 35, walked into the Zion Synagogue during Jewish festival services here today and shot and killed his business enemy, Harry Denny, 55, and wounded a man and woman in the struggle that followed with the members of the congregation for possession of the gun.

Escaping the throng of angry worshippers who badly beat him and threatened to lynch him, Ostraw later was arrested by police.

In jail he said that the slaying was the result of business trouble between him and Denny but refused to divulge its nature.

TWO CARS IN COLLISION ON SHORE LINE RAILWAY

New Haven, Sept. 29.—Two cars on the New Haven and Shore Line railway came together in Foxon this afternoon but although several of the passengers were thrown from their seats, only one injury was reported. Mrs. Frank Stevens, of Mitrord, suffered injuries to her back when she was bumped against the corner of a seat.

Reports late in the afternoon that several persons had been killed and many injured resulted in a rush call for an ambulance from this city, but the ambulance returned at once when it was found that it was not needed.

Manager Walker, of the trolley company, said tonight that failure of one of the conductors to properly interpret an order was probably the cause of the accident.

SENTIMENT AT GENEVA IS FAVORABLE TO JAPAN

Japanese Envoys Disclose They Have Unequivocal Directions From Tokio to Maintain Their Opposition to the Proposed Protocol of Arbitration and Security—The Problem Has Been Referred to Sir Cecil Hurst of England, M. Loucher, France, and Signor Scialuia, Italy.

Geneva, Sept. 27.—(By The A. P.)—The swing of sentiment to Japan was the outstanding feature of the critical situation in Geneva tonight. After laboring all day, the leaders had to confess that they had not yet discovered the formula, which, while satisfying the aspirations of the Japanese, would keep the proposed protocol of arbitration and security strong enough to win not only the support of the delegations assembled at Geneva, but what is more important, the ratifications of the world parliaments.

There is no weakening in evidence among the Japanese, who say they have unequivocal directions from Tokio to maintain their attitude of opposition to any protocol plan which would make Japan an aggressor if she failed to abide by a world court decision based on the interpretation of matters supposed to be within the exclusive jurisdiction of the party to the dispute.

The entire Japanese difficulty was threshed out today at a private meeting of the league council, when Viscount Ishii, at the request of the council, made a frank exposition of the Japanese viewpoint. This examination was followed throughout the day by repeated private conferences between the principal delegates, all desperately striving to find light on the issue raised by Japan.

Eventually the problem was entrusted to the study of three men, Sir Cecil Hurst, of England, M. Loucheur France, and Signor Scialoia, Italy.

This committee will meet tomorrow morning.

M. Loucheur said tonight: "We are all assuming that this Japanese amendment is not aimed at American or the British dominions. If we thought so we would have voted against it immediately."

In the meantime the British delegation did not have an easy day with the representatives of the British dominions, the dominion statesment held four conferences and discussed the possible effect of the Japanese amendment to cancel the clause of the aggressor article in th eprotocol, which forbids nations from going to war in contempt of world court decisions. Their attitude was distinctly that of urging a stiff stand against the Japanese demand.

The last word tonight was that the British and French viewpoints are absolutely in accord.

EXCERPT FROM LETTER BY DEFAULTER CHRISTIAN

New York, Sept. 29—An excerpt from a letter in which George R. Christian, missing treasurer of the $2,500,000 bankrupt stock brokers, Day & Heaton, is alleged to have confessed huge defalcations, was made public today by Assistant District Attorney Gibbs.

The letter, unsigned but allegedly in Christian's handwriting, was turned over to authorities by James H. Wuterbury, a member of the bankrupt firm. He received the missive some days after last August 15, when Christian, announcing he was going to Canada on vacation, disappeared.

Mr. Gibbs declined to make public that part of the letter containing the alleged confession of defalcations. He did, however, give out this excerpt:

"It is not only best for me but all hands concerned if this thing is hushed up and no effort made to touch me. I have nothing and it will do no one any good to touch me. But my knowledge and testimony would be harmful to many and would be just what the district attorney is looking for.

"My escape is not only best for some around here, but also from the viewpoint of the New York Stock Exchange authorities, for I have been compelled to put it all over their much-bragged about questionnaire system, ever since it was first inaugurated as a safeguard against just this very thing.

"Think this over well before you allow anyone to put up any howl or start a quest to be made for me."

When authorities disclosed several days ago that Waterbury had reported receiving such a letter, it was explained that he, believing "things could be smoothed out," had not communicated its contents to other members of the firm until bankruptcy became inevitable.

Alfred C. Coxe, Jr., receiver for Day & Heaton, today mailed questionnaires to 1,000 trading concerns in an effort to learn with whom Christian may have dealt and through what transactions the firm suffered the $2,500,000 losses that broke it. None of the firms whose replies had been received tonight had had dealings with Christian.

COOLIDGE OPPOSED TO RESTRICTION OF VOTERS

New Orleans, Sept. 29.—La Follette headquarters for Louisiana here gave out today the text of a telegram from President Coolidge with reference to the situation in this state where La Follette-Wheeler electors have been barred from the ballot in the election in November because of a state law relating to party affiliation.

The message which La Follette leaders said was received today follows:

"Replying to your telegram it is my desire that full and free opportunity be afforded under the state laws of our country for an expression of the popular will in the election of all public officials. To my regret there are states in the Union where the law is such that this is not possible and it is too late now to change such laws. While I am heartily in favor of party government I believe that when a contest is made in a primary which is open to participation of all the people it should go far to determine what candidates are to be presented at a coming election.

"Nevertheless, I recognize that it is the privilege of our voters to support anyone they wish at the polls and feel that the laws should not be drawn for the purpose of preventing such action. I would apply this rule not only to our complaint about Louisiana but to all the other states of the Union.

(Signed) CALVIN COOLIDGE."

SEEKING A SUITABLE NAME FOR DIRIGIBLE ZR-2

Washington, Sept. 29—A suitable name is being sought by the naval air service for the dirigible ZR-3, German-built sister ship to the Shenandoah, which is expected to sail for Lakehuret about October 6. The word "Shenandoah" is Indian, meaning "Daughter of the Stars," and it is hoped to find a name for the new air cruiser which will continue the same idea.

Trained squads have been sent to Boston airport, Mitchell Field, Langley Field and Paris Island, to serve as emergency ground crews should unfavorable weather prevent landing at Lakehurst. The three ships selected for weather observations off the North Atlantic coast have received orders to take their post.

The democratic national committee announced that Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton, and Dr. William C. Thomoson, president of the Ohio States university had made it known that they would support John W. Davis, for the presidency.

MRS. FERGUSON IS LEGALLY QUALIFIED TO BE GOVERNOR

Austin, Tex., Sept. 29 (By the A. P.)—Brushing aside all the old common law barriers against the right of women to hold office, Judge George C. Calhoun in Fifty-third district court here today ruled that Mrs. Mariam A. Ferguson is legally qualified to be governor of Texas.

In an apinion which Mrs. Ferguson's lawyers said was a thorough exposition of the law and a complete vindication of the position of the first woman nominee for governor, Judge Calhoun declared that neither the constitution of the state nor the statutes of the legislature bar women from office. He refused to grant a temporary injunction to restrain election officials from placing her name on the ballot.

The trial court's decision clears the way to bring the case up for final adjudication by the supreme court. The plaintiff's attorney gave notice of an appeal to the court of civil appeals in order to get the matter before the supreme court without arguments in the court of civil appeals. It will be necessary for the latter tribunal to certify the questions to the supreme court. The parties have practically agreed that this procedure will be followed. The supreme court meets next Monday for the term and it is expected this case will come before it during the coming week.

Judge Calhoun went immediately into the heart of the question as to whether women have the right to hold office under present laws. Going back into the common law of England on the principles of which the plaintiff had grounded his suit, the court explained that women were not allowed to hold office under the old common law, principally because a custom that effect had grown up. It was based on the assumption that women were to delicate for the arduous duties attendant upon office and were not educated to the point where they could fill executive positions as well as men. It showed, however, that these conceptions of a woman's position had gradually changed as women had become more educated and general enlightenment spread until the old ideas had given way to the modern conception that women are in all things the equal of men.

COOLIDGE LETTER TO THE AMERICAN MINING CONGRESS

Washington, Sept. 29.—Unremitting encouragement by the government in the development of water power, reclamation, and the rehibilitation and expansion of the metal mining industry, was pledged by President Coolidge in a letter today to the convention of the American Mining congress at Sacramento, Cal.

Mr. Coolidge said it was time to consider the larger of these projects in the west which are of the more difficult and expensive engineering character, and called attention to proposals now under consideration by congress and other government agencies.

Criticism of such a programme of encouragement on the ground that there already is an overproduction in agricultural products, the president declared, "lies in the lack of understanding that these projects that many years for development, that they furnish but a small portion of the total increased food supply required even by our increase in population, that the situation of their supply lies in the development of the west itself.

"It is my purpose, to unremittingly stimulate and encourage th edevelopment of these great projects by every authority of the federal government.

"A country growing so fast as is our own," the president added, "cannot limit its considerations to immediate necessities. Many people now living will see this a country of 200,000,000 inhabitants. The national interest will be served by promoting the widest sufision of population. The national security, the best social development, the wisest utilization of natural resources—all demand this."

ELECTED DIRECTOR OF THE S. N. E. TELEPHONE CO.

New Haven, Sept. 29—John J. McKeon, senior member of Charles W. Scranton and company of this city, was elected a director of the Southern New England Telephone company at a meeting of the board of directors today, filling the vacancy in the board caused by the death of Judge A. Heaton Robertson. It also was announced that Major Dennis A. Blakeslee, former lieutenant governor of the state, who was elected recently to the directorate, had been chosen a member of the executive committee of the board. Major Blakeslee takes Judge Robertson's place on the committee.

Arthur Anderson of 99 Russ street, Hartford, a salesman for the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flakes company, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal advertising, in the Mansfield town court on Saturday afternoon and was fined $25 and costs, amounting to $39.15. The case was one of the first to be heard in this vicinity. State Policemen Hardisty and Hulburt of the Stafford Springs barracks placed Anderson under arrest after complaints had been registered with them that Anderson was pasting up signs on barns, sheds and other building without the necessary permit from the state police. The officers caught the salesman in the act of putting up a large lithograph on the side of a barn owned by James Sullivan, of Storrs. Anderson said that he did not know it was necessary for him to have a permit. Justice of the Peace George H. Andrews held the court session and Grand Juror Frank W. Millard prosecuted.

If Ban Johnson is looking for a crack umpire, Willimantic Lodge of Elks No. 1311, has one to offer him in John Nelson Gilman, erstwhile dash slinger and baseball referee. Gilman displayed ability as an arbiter at Orient Point, L. I., Sunday, where he presided over a hard fought diamond engagement between Willimantic and New London lodges which culminated in a victory for the locals, 12 to 3. Members of the local outfit who circled the bases for homers were Rod Jodoin, Patsy Crane, Bill Anderson and Joe O'Brien. Gene King banged out three hits for as many times at bat. The lineup: Bill Anderson c, Rod Jodoin p, Gene King 1b, Dinny Haggerty 2b, Patsy Crane ss, Rick Downer 3b, Joe O'Brien lf, Louis Peters cf, Arthur Marrotte rf, Frank Lombardo and Ernie Melody, pinch hitters. Jake O'Rourke was the manager of the team and with Conrad Dubeau comprised the local committee in charge of the affair.

The stage is set for the onen house and reception of the Y. M. C. A. this (Tuesday) evening when the board of directors will receive their friends and the friends of the association at the opening of the fall and winter activities at the "Y" building at 7.30 o'clock. The visitors will be taken through the various departments and their attention will be called to the several improvements. Dr. R. Bullock Jones is in charge of the entertainment committee. The Peerless orchestra will play. The services of George Channing Darling of Providence have been secured. Mr. Darling is a monologuist, clay model artist humorist and an all round entertainer. Both men and women are being invited to the reception.

Four aeroplanes, presumably of the army type, hovered over Willimantic shortly before 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and their antics in the air indicated that the planes were off their course and were battling against strong winds. Swerving off from the regular Boston-New York route which points northeast, the air machines took a southeastern course until nearly out of sight of Willimantic when all again swooped about in unison and re-crossed the city, disappearing toward the north. All the planes were flying very low.

Mrs. Nora McCarthy presided at the first fall business meeting of A. Tyler Auxiliary, No. 14, U. S. W. V. held last week with an excellent attendance. Mrs. Minnie A. Flynn, department president, stated that she would make her official visit to Fitch Soldiers' Home at Noroton Heights Nov 2. At a whist party to be held in October the hostesses will be Mrs. Hoss, Mrs. Sweet, Mrs. Snow, Mrs. Connors and Miss Laura Snow. The annual Hallowe'en masquerade will be held in October. The Mary B. Cheney auxiliary of South Manchester has been invited to attend. A beautiful national flag will be presented A. C. Tyler Camp.

The marriage of Miss Helen Winton Herrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Herrick of 106 High street, and Arthur J. Vegiard, of this city, took place in Hartford Monday morning. The newlyweds have gone on a two weeks' journey to New York and Washington, D. C., and upon their return will reside in a newly furnished home on Mountain street. Up to recently Mrs. Vegiard was employed in the office of the American Thread company and Mr. Vegiard is bookkeeper for O. L. Willard of this city.

Funeral services for Cyrille Joseph Houle were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from his home, 399 Valley street. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. Arrangements were by the Hurteau-Bosse Corp.

The Willimantic Thread Makers under Manager John P. McQuillan, will play in Moosup Sunday afternoon. This comes more or less as a surprise as it was generally believed that the local season was closed but the Moosup management was dickering for a game and Manager McQuillan came to terms Sunday. The local lineup has not been announced yet.

A large house owned by Mrs. Amelia D. Knowlton of Ashford was destroyed by fire along with its contents, Saturday afternoon, while the owner was away. Neighbors discovered the blaze as the fire broke through the roof. Men from the countryside were summoned by telephone and all responded promptly. All that was saved was a piano. Included in the loss was a very valuable life size painting of General Nathaniel Lyon of Eastford, the first Union general to be killed in the Civil war. Nathan Lyon, husband of Mrs. Amelia S. Knowlton, was the owner of the painting. Aside from the painting the loss was estimated at $3,000 with insurance of $500 on the house and $600 on the furniture.

Postmaster Walter R. King announced Monday that the changing of the time table of the New Haven railroad would result in later morning deliveries of mails in this city, in some cases as late as one-half hour. This is considered excellent time, however, by the postmaster, who states that the receiving and despatching of mails has not been excelled in many years.

A contest is anticipated in the republican town caucus in Mansfield on Oct. 14 to select two candidates for representatives to the general assembly. Alfred Oden, a retired grocer of Mansfield Center, has thrown his hat into the ring and he is out making a canvass for votes at the caucus. Judge Lewellyn J. Storrs and Mrs. Annie E. Vinton are the present representatives. Judge Storrs is the logical candidate for the first representative and it is understood that Mrs. Vinton is in a receptive mood for the nomination.

Miss Bertha Gaudreau was recently tendered a birthday party at home. The Byer and Boudreau orchestra of Pawtucket, R. I., played popular music. The guests were Docina Bertrand, Alme La Plante, Beatrice Bertrand, Emile Allard, Agnes Bertrand, Clarence Choquette, Agnes Deblois, Joseph Byer, Eva Leclair, Harold Katy, Alice Chamberland, Arthur Boudreau, Margaret Krozel, Hormisdas Gaudreau, Eugenie Lussier, Anthony Chasse and Ernest Tessier.

Read How Mrs. Walsh Was Helped by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mannington, W. Virginia—"I took the Vegetable Compound when having the turn of life. I had been sick for seven years. I would get a little better, then I broke down again. It would be hard for me to describe how I was, for I was a perfect wreck. I suffered with a pain in my left side, then I would have numb spells, and I would think I couldn't live. I would have hot flashes, then would come weak spells. I was so weak I would think I couldn't ever get a meal ready. My work was a burden to me. I was not able to do my housework half of the time. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has given me strength and health. The hot flashes left me and I got better of the numb spells. That summer I could do my housework and worked in the garden a good bit. I tell all sick women what your wonderful medicine did for me, and will always recommend it. I am known to all my neighbors, and you can publish this statement because it is true."—Mrs. JOHN W. WALSH, R. No. 1, Box 86, Mannington, West Virginia.

KNOWLTON MEMORIAL BUILDING DEDICATED IN ASHFORD

(Special to the Bulletin)

Warrenville, Conn., Sept. 29, 1924—Saturday the 27th, Sept. 1924, will long be remembered by the people of the town of Ashford, and by the hundreds who came to share the joys and felicitations of the day, on the occasion of the dedication of the splendid new town building and Knowlton memorial, as recently given to the town by Charles Clark Knowlton, native of Ashford, of the Hammond-Knowlton Company of New York and Putnam, in honor of his father, the late Jonathan W. Knowlton and of Ashford's illustrious sons of Revolutionary fame, Colonel Thomas Knowlton and Lieut. Daniel Knowlton.

It was a gala day, old-home day and historic day, all in one. The spacious auditorium, with normal seating capacity of over 300 was augmented for the occasion by 100 special chairs and beyond that the entrance hall was crowded by another hundred, for the afternoon programme and for the evening the crowd was still larger. Allowing for the different attendants, it is estimated that not less than 800 persons enjoyed the meetings.

The afternoon session was opened at 2:30 with a concert by the Babcock Cornet Band, said to be the only endowed local band in the United States and direct successor of probably the oldest band in the country, as reorganized 62 years ago when the late Archibald Babcock of Providence left a bequest of $6,000 jointly to the band and to the local public library, which each then assumed his name. In recent years this band has developed that native talent to an excellent degree, under the lead of A. E. Lyman of Hartford. Orin P. Durkee of Ashford and Worcester, chairman of the celebration committee, presided, and after a brief address of welcome, and of appreciation to Mr. Knowlton for the wonderful gift, turned over the conduct of the programme to Allen B. Lincoln of Westford.

Mr. Lincoln briefly reviewed the historic perspective of the day as covering 214 years from the organization of the town of Ashford in October 1710, and deriving inspiration even unto this day from the spirit of the founders of the republic, and especially its defenders with the illustrious name of Knowlton among the foremost.

He then introduced as the first speaker Attorney Thomas J. Kelley of Willimantic, as one who had been "the orator of the day" on many similar occasions for the dedication of public or civic buildings in his home city, also for many years town clerk and corporation counsel, and well versed in the historic significance of the New England town. Mr. Kelley spoke in part as follows in appreciation of the gift to the town:

"The lesson of the day teaches higher and better citizenship. It may be practiced in an effective manner by the prompt payment of taxes the liberal support of schools, the protection of public health, a reasonable appropriation for the care of roads and bridges and a broad administration of public affairs. If every citizen performs his duty in this respect, your town meeting will continue to be the ideal form of government for a free people.

"Let us consider some of the uses of this building. The town of Ashford is a probate district in itself. When one considers the important jurisdiction of this court, it is evident that proper consideration of these matters can be best accomplished in a judicial atmosphere amid dignified surroundings. A hall of records is of equal importance. The constant increase of compulsory recording of all conveyances, of registration of births deaths and marriages, the filing of various documents and maps for public inspection; the necessity of proper facilities for the selectman—and no office in the state calls for greater confidence of the people or has higher responsibility and from earliest history these officials have proved faithful to the trust of this precious gift to New England, facilities chiefly by voluntary taxation and partly by state funds; all these are matters that vitally affect every household. Important, too, is the proper housing of your library.

"It is claimed that the true American's ideal is that his children be given a better start in life than he had. In that spirit, procure the ablest educators you can afford, and if retrenchment in town expenses at any time becomes necessary let the support of your public schools be the last to feel its effects.

Brief addresses of congratulation and gratitude were delivered by A. N. Hammond of Woodstock Valley, a former resident, Rev. B. C. Bugbee of the Warrenville Baptist church, Rev. William Dunn of the new St. Philip's Roman Catholic parish, the venerable Allen Jewett of Hampton who at age 86 was at pains to be present and express his pleasure in the good fortune of a neighboring town. The closing address of the afternoon was by the Rev. H. A. Coolidge of Union, who in a happy combination of wit and practical suggestions voiced the spirit of New England and the growing spirit of civic cooperation in those later days.

One of the most interesting features of the afternoon was the singing of the school children and especially the new song-words composed for the occasion by Miss Emily J. Chism, member of one of the oldest and best-known of Ashford families, and herself a teacher in the public schools for many years.

Mr. Lincoln paid tribute to the memory of the old-time public hall now superseded by the Knowlton Memorial, erected many years ago as "Mathewson's Hall," later "Baker's Hall," as the scene of so many important meetings, happy events, school graduations, a place ever to be held in affectionate memory by those who had shared its conveniences and with appreciation of the generous spirit of the Mathewson and Baker families. He also spoke with feeling of the late Mrs. Knowlton, who had joined with her husband in the enduring memorial planned for his native town.

Gift of Piano

A very interesting incident of the afternoon, after the chairman had called attention to the need of a piano soon, I don't know who or how soon, but the need is so apparent that some one is sure to respond." a message was sent to the stage for Father Dunn, asking him to see at once the person named therein. It developed that Mrs. George Thomas Platt desired to present a piano for the hall in memory of her son Earl Philip Platt who died six years ago, soon after giving a valuable player piano to his mother, and she had decided to make the gift in response to the call. The generous offer was announced and the audience expressed its grateful appreciation in hearty applause.

Old-Time School Teachers Present

Another incident of special interest was the presence in the afternoon audience of the venerable Stephen R. Tifft, now over ninety years of age, an old-time district school teacher for forty or more years in Ashford and neighboring towns. Mr. Tifft was also a charter member of the Babcock Cornet Band, and after the meeting treated the present members with delightful reminiscences. Out of this meeting grew a suggestion, on invitation of Mr. Tifft's son, Ransom B. Tifft, that in the near future the band give a concert at the Tifft homestead in the north district, near the Union town line, and it is likely that this event will follow soon. Another old-time schoolmaster was present, Albert E. Potter of Woodstock, formerly of Ashford. Reference was made during the meeting to still another of the veterans among the "thorough" schoolmasters of earlier days, namely, the late Harvey Morey, whose son, Frank D. Morey, now the town tax collector, was present.

At the close of the afternon program, it was announced that the ladies of the town would serve a bountiful collation to which all were cordially invited. The luncheon consisted of abundant sandwiches, cake, coffee and ice cream. As it was served the band struck up a lively fox trot, and the people fairly gasped as the venerable "sage of Hampton", Allen Jewett, suddenly led his daughter Viola (Mrs. Clapp) across the front of the hall and back in tight "fantastic step," and when warned that he took some risk to do a thing like that he cheerily replied, "Well, when the music starts, I have to vibrate".

Gift of Drums

The interval hours were enjoyed in an old-fashion "visit" and tongues and smiles were busy with reminiscence and inquiry, and many took the opportunity to inspect the entire building. At 7:30 the band gave another concert, including several fine selections and was heartily applauded. It was announced earlier in the afternoon that "the fine new bass and snare drums used today by the band for the first time" were the gift of Mr. Odell Chapman of drum-corps fame, who resides at Willimantic, and Mr. Chapman was given a lively round of applause. Following the band concert, Mr. Lincoln led in "community singing by all present," and the audience entered in lively manner the strains of "Old MacDonald Had a Farm," "Lil, Liza & Jane", etc. An address had been expected by Prof. H. A. Seckerson of Connecticut Agricultural College, but it was announced that he was not able to come. Very fortunately, Chairman Durkee had been able during the day to secure the attendance of Mrs. Albert E. Anthony and Mrs. Theron Swift of Echo Grange, Mansfield Centre, who each gave two readings or character sketches to the delight of the audience. Then "the band played on" and a large company of the young people danced until about eleven o'clock, many of their elders remaining to enjoy the scene, and not a few also joining the dancers. The large room on the second floor was available for the dancing, and with Alexander Bassett as "prompter" a genuine old-time "country dance" was enjoyed, with a degree of action and pleasure that some of the city folk found it hard to keep up with.

The absence from the day's exercises of Mr. Knowlton, the donor of the building was deeply regretted, but he was detained by a severe cold. He observed his eightieth birthday Monday Sept. 22nd. There was a general wish that he might have been present and consented to allow the throng of townspeople and all others in attendance to show their gratitude by personal expression. It was also expected that Mr. Knowlton's fellow townsman and counsel, the Hon. Charles E. Searls of Putnam, would be present to respond for the donor, but he, too, was detained by a severe cold.

Great surprise was expressed by many who had not realized what a magnificent and enduring memorial Mr. Knowlton has provided and it was freely predicted that the ample facilities for assembly will tend to make this auditorium a center of influence for many miles around.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman to Lecture.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman is to give three lectures in Norwich this fall, under the auspices of the Women's College club. Mrs. Gilman is considered one of the greatest women in the world today. Her name was inevitably included in every list, in the recent discussion of America's twelve greatest women; and she was chosen by the New York Tribune as one of the four women meriting the designation "great." Alexander Black, the novelist, writes in the Century Magazine: "Mrs. Gilman is one to whom the women of America owe a special debt, and to whom all well-wishers of humanity will owe the acknowledgement due a brave, utterly honest and ever stimulating champion of a larger humanism." By her clear thinking on practical problems, her originality and brilliancy of expression, she has brought to all, who have been privileged to hear her, a delight and stimulus well worth while. The place, subjects and dates of the lectures to her fellow townsmen of Norwich, will be announced later.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre.

Capacity houses are sure to be the rule at the Broadway theatre today and tomorrow judging by the turnout of Norwich theatregoers yesterday.

The Delphinos opened the Keith vaudeville programme with a novel musical comedy that is as entertaining as it is unique.

James Thornton, the jester, kept everyone in roars of laughter.

Inspiration featuring Harry Pease and Ed. G. Nelson, America's well known song writers, assisted by Miss Ora Dawson, offer a very interesting ensemble of songs.

Sid Hall & Co., offered a fine comedy and singing act.

Nagyfy, the pyrotechnic sensation closed the programme with defying nature's laws.

If ever a novel deserved screen immortality, if ever a story was written that was worthy of all the time and energy and effort that was spent in transferring it to the silver sheet, that book and that story was "The Alaskan," James Oliver Curwood's epic tale of the far north, which Herbert Brenon produced for Paramount, as a starring vehicle for Thomas Meighan, after an adaptation by Willis Goldbeck. The picture opened a three days' run last night at the Broadway theatre.

With such a combination of writing, acting and directorial genius it is little wonder that "The Alaskan" is being hailed as one of the motion picture masterpieces of the year. It has all the vital, compelling, red-blooded drama that we have come to expect in all of Curwood's writings; it has all of the consummate acting for which Meighan is noted; and it has all of the fine finish and dash which only such an experienced producer as Brenon could give it.

Breed Theater

D. W. Griffith's spectacular production, The Birth of a Nation now showing at the Breed theater beginning Sunday enjoyed the most phenomenal run ever made in the history of the stage. The run at the Liberty theater, New York, continued for 45 weeks without a break. The total number of consecutive performances there was 620. During the summer months there was a supplementary engagement at Brighton Beach. This engagement was for 14 weeks with 183 performances, making a total of 803 consecutive performances in New York.

In addition to this there have been 84 performances of the spectacle in theater in Brooklyn and the Bronx. These, however, are not counted in the consecutive run. In round numbers 816,000 people saw the production at the Liberty theater, 196,000 witnessed it at the seashore and approximately 60,000 people have attended performances of it in the outlying theaters making the total attendance for New York alone 872,000. New York alone paid more than $600,000 for this entertainment. The production is now being re-presented in Chicago to the greatest attendance figures in the history of the Windy city.

Palace Theater

The Rockett Lincoln Film Company, producers of Abraham Lincoln, now playing at the Palace ran across a streak of luck when they sent location scouts back to Illinois to size up the site of the village of New Salem, now imperishably famous as the home of the youth Lincoln, from 1831 to 1837—years fraught with many activities, romance and sadness for the Man of Destiny.

A few years ago the state of New Salem was brought to the notice of a well known journalist, who purchased the site of sixty two acres for $16,000 and presented it to the Lincoln League of Petersburg, with the stipulation that the League should restore the hamlet as it was in Lincoln's time.

This work has been faithfully carried out and the New Salem of Lincoln and Anne Rutledge once more nestles among the elms, hickories, oaks and wild cherries on the heights above the lordly Sangammon, so beloved by them both.

And this town in its entirety was reproduced in California for use in Abraham Lincoln.

Palace Theater

Marie Prevost, May McAvoy and Ronald Colman, three well known film players, portray the leading roles in the George Fitzmaurice production, Tarnish, a First National picture sponsored by Samuel Goldwyn, which is to be shown at the Palace theater Thurs., Fri., and Sat.

As Nettie Dark, the gold digging manicurist, Miss Prevost will be seen in a part that is distinctly unusual.

Tarnish is a comedy drama of everyday life, principally that of youth. It reveals certain issues in life, with a sober, simple, yet sweeping, grasp, bringing to light the fact that tarnish can be cleaned away.

Other prominent players in the cast include Norman Kerry, Harry Myers, Priscilla Bonner, Albert Gran and Mrs. Rusa Whytall.

New Telephone Girl story No. 10, Pathe news, Sport Light.

James J. Jeffries, former world's heavyweight champion, has followed the example of his hard hitting successor, Jack Dempsey, and gone into the movies. He is enacting the role of a blacksmith in a film comedy nearing completion in Los Angeles.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Chief A. P. Woodward of the fire department called attention Monday to the fact that Oct. 5-11 will be Fire Prevention week. Chief Woodward has procured some posters picturing firemen at work on blazing buildings and carryingthis admonition: "It Is Cheaper to Prevent It! Fire Wastes Life, Health, Wealth. Be Careful With Lighted Matches and Cigarettes. Clean Up Rubbish. Repair Chimneys and Correct Other Hazards. Don't Wait Until Fire Occurs." These posters will be distributed at points in the borough with a view to suggesting to people that the advice given by followed wherever required in Danielson.

Another suggestion of Chief Woodward is the use of non-combustible roof coverings when replacements are made or new construction undertaken. Scores of towns and cities throughout the country, including Torrington in this state, have banned the use of wooden shingles as a precaution against the spread of fires, as it has been shown upon hundreds of occasions that they contribute to the spread of fires from one building to another and are largely responsible for conflagrations that have destroyed scores of buildings at one time.

While it is not within reason to assume that anyone here will remove wooden shingles from their buildings as a boost for Fire Prevention week, there is another thing property owners can do. Chief Woodward points out to make their property more secure against visitations from fire, and that is to have chimneys of their homes cleaned before the cold weather season arrives. The majority of the fire alarms to which the department here responds in the course of a year are caused from dirty chimneys. Chimney sweeps are now at work about the borough and their services easily can be procured at small cost per chimney.

A successful board of directors operating a successful bank of 102 years of existence, without any loss to its depositors, is the record of the Windham County National bank of Danielson, Connecticut. Another continuance of two weeks has been requested by counsel representing the De Luxe bus line that started to operate a big motorbus between Providence and Hartford via Danielson, during August, in an action pending in the town court of Killingly. It is believed that this continuance is desired in order that a decision in a similar case heard in the superior court for Hartford county last week may be rendered, this decision having a bearing on the case depending here, inasmuch as the grounds of the action are similar. The local case has to do with allegations that the bus in question was being operated without full compliance with motor vehicle regulations of the state of Connecticut.

A brook that makes its way through Danielson and from time to time causes more or less difficulty is receiving further attention at the present time at a point where it crosses under Cottage street at a point opposite the residence of J. Carl Witter. The street has been torn up and the brook opened, that certain repair work may be done under the direction of Engineer W K Pike. Recently the borough did some good repair work to the house of the brook at the rear of the central fire station. After all the attention it has received this year, it is not anticipated that the troublesome stream will cause any trouble during the coming winter and spring seasons.

Placing three small advertisements one of which appeared in this column, a local business man sold 1,100 cigars in a very short time during the past week—another of innumerable proofs that advertising pays.

The contests for places on the board of selectmen in Killingly will be further complicated and made additionally interesting by reason of the fact that Selectman George Alvord of Dayville, defeated for renomination in the democratic caucus recently, will get independent support, his boomers writing his name in the blank column reserved for such purposes.

PUTNAM

The speed was turned on for the first time Monday morning at the new mill of the H. K. H. company on Providence street at the head of Main street. It is the beginning of operations of this large silk thread plant in its purpose to consolidate its machinery, now in several mills, under one roof. It will be some time, however, before the whole plant is functioning in the newly acquired property of the company. Before this is accomplished a dye house is to be built, bids for the construction of this are being received.

The new mill into which the company is to move all its machinery is what was formerly the Powhattan mill of the Nightingale-Morse Mills, Inc. It is a four story brick structure, the largest factory building of the former cotton manufacturing concern. Since the silk company acquired the property it has been remodeled and renovated and new hard wood floors have been laid throughout. It stands today as one of the finest mill interiors in Putnam and probably the largest single building devoted to the manufacturing of silk products in New England.

The H. K. H. Silk company's chief product is sewing silk and button hole twist in its Putnam plant, but it is understood that the knitting of silk stockings is to be added. Its other mills are in Watertown, Conn., and in Haverstraw, N. Y.

Putnam has for years been one of the chief silk manufacturing centers of New England with mills of Hammond, Knowlton & Company, John A. Dady Corporation, the Putnam Silk company and the Euraka mill formerly operated here. The Hammond, Knowlton company was combined with the Hemingway Silk Manufacturing Company, under the head of the H. K. H. Silk Company and this also included the Eureka plant formerly purchased by the Putnam concern. While the volume of business is as great as heretofore the business is now in the hands of two concerns, the H. K. H. Silk Company and the John A. Dady Corporation, the latter being what is known as a throwing mill. It does not finish the silk thread but manufactures the gum silk for other mills.

Until it purchased its new mill the H. K. H. Silk Company has for years occupied a mill leased of the Harris estate on South Meadow street. This mill will soon be abandoned by the company in favor of its new mill.

Patrons of the Putnam line of the Connecticut company have had two days' experience with one man trolley cars. The new order of things does not greatly discommode the public but the motorman-conductor was having his troubles in breaking into the new double work. It takes more time to collect fares, make change and give out and receive the zone tickets and due to this the cars were running off schedule, some 15 minutes behind time Sunday, and were still a little late in their running time, Monday.

As the system is worked the passenger enters at the front of the car, the rear end being closed. The motorman has in front of him a box divided into little compartments in which are red pasteboard checks. As the passenger enters, the motorman takes a check from the compartment denoting the proper zone number, say 5, and hands it to the passenger. When the passenger is ready to leave he presses the warning buzzer, the car stops and the motorman-conductor collects the check, notes the zone and thereby knows the amount of fare. Thus, if the passenger enters and holds a check zone 5, and leaves at zone 7, ten cents is collected, or rather deposited in a receptacle resembling a ticket chopper. The conductor has to make change for a passenger who does not have the exact amount. The transactions take more time than a two-man system and with normal traffic the running time is thus a bit slower. This may be overcome, however as the system becomes more familiar to the employe and the public.

Albert Hazen, arrested Friday evening on a charge of assault on a minor female child, was found not guilty by Judge Geissler, at an adjourned session of the city court, Monday afternoon.

The case was tried in the morning. A thirteen year old girl testified to the assault having taken place at 7.30 in the evening of Thursday, September 11th at the doorstep of the defendant's home. A woman and a young girl, who live opposite Hazen's house testified that they saw Hazen go by their home afterwards saw the girl pass their home. Neither testified to the assault.

Hazen's defence was an alibi and general denial. He accounted for his time all the afternoon of the 11th as being at Woodstock fairgrounds with Henry Osler, training the latter's horse for a race. They left the fair ground and returned to Putnam about dusk and Hazen supper in a north end and remained in a pool room all the evening talking horse. Osler corroborated defendant's testimoony and several other witnesses testified that they saw Hazen in the lunch room and pool room as he claimed.

Judge Geissler said he would reserve his decision until two o'clock in the afternoon. At that hour coure reconvened and Hazen was exonerated and liberated.

Hazen spent Friday night in a cell at the police station but Saturday afternoon was able to get the required $2,000 bond

SEN. C. H. CHILD RENOMINATED AT REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

Putnam, Sept. 29.—Senator Clarence H. Child of Woodstock was nominated to succeed himself as republican state senator from the 28th senatorial district at the district convention held in the Putnam Inn, Monday afternoon. All the towns in the district, including Putnam, Thompson, Woodstock, Eastford, Ashford and Killingly, were represented.

The meeting was called to order by the retiring chairman of the district committee, E. L. Darbie of Killingly. John A. Dady of Putnam was elected chairman of the meeting and Omer Loiselle, of Thompson, clerk.

Miss Clara Witter of Woodstock made the nominating speech. Judge Child's name was the only one placed before the convention and he was nominated by acclamation. The nominee was escorted to the room and made a speech of acceptance, thanking the delegates for the honor conferred upon and the confidence shown in him.

The new district committee elected is composed of N. L. Greig of Killingly, chairman; Henry R. Woodward, Ashford and John F. Reardon, Jr., or North Grosvenordale.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing the national and state tickets and platforms. The gathering was entertained at luncheon by the senatorial nominee, Judge Child.

WESTERLY

The new local accommodation train of the fall and winter schedule of the New Haven road arrived in Westerly Monday morning at 8.53 for the first day of its run, with two coaches, combination car and light engine, running to Stonington, to turn on the "Y" there. Returning it was scheduled to leave for Providence at 9.35 but was delayed and departed from the Westerly station 15 minutes late, going east on the west-bound track. At the Westerly station an express messenger for the American Railway Express company is taken on to make the trip to Boston. The Westerly branch of the express company shipped east for the first day of the service a full truck load of express matter.

We Ask You To Say Which Is Best

IT IS CONCEDED by the most eminent authorities, that this Rickenbacker "Vertical-8-Superfine" is one of the three best cars in America—and that is the same as saying, in the world.

OF COURSE EACH of the makers of the three outstanding examples of sound engineering and fine workmanship, would claim that his is best of all.

NATURALLY WE BELIEVE that this Rickenbacker product is entitled to that distinction.

BECAUSE WE BELIEVE, it represents the broadest experience and most advanced ideas in design, while the shop-practice under which it is made is second to none.

MATERIALS and workmanship that go into the fabrication of this "Vertical-8-Superfine" are the best the world affords. That is a fact easily proven.

BUT THE FINAL RESULT of all the engineering, all the progressive ideas,—of all the care in selecting, testing, proving, is to be found in performance.

THAT IS THE ULTIMATE result striven for—that the only real proof as to whether we have achieved that which we sought.

WE CLAIM—and others claim. How are you to know whose claims are justified?

WHEN YOU CONSIDER that there is a great difference between prices of Rickenbackers and other Vertical-8 cars—with the margin in favor of this product—you are, perhaps, inclined to doubt that this car can outperform all rivals.

AND THERE IS ONLY ONE way for you to prove to your own satisfaction whether that is so. Drive this "Rickenbacker-8" yourself.

SO WE LEAVE IT TO YOU. We invite you to drive this wonderful "Vertical-8-Superfine" and then drive other fine cars for comparison.

WE STRONGLY ADVISE that you take the word of no one else—the experience of no one but yourself—in this.

FOR YOU CANNOT SENSE what a car is doing—even when you sit beside the driver—as well as when you hold the wheel yourself. Insist on doing that.

YOU WILL EXPERIENCE an entirely new sensation when you first drive this Rickenbacker "Vertical-8-Superfine."

WE DO NOT ATTEMPT to describe that sensation—simply because it is indescribable.

WORDS WILL NOT do it—you must feel the marvelous smoothness of this motor; you must feel the swift acceleration; you must feel the softness of the 4-Wheel Brakes—and their wonderful retardation.

YOU MUST FEEL these springs to realize what strides have been made in the science of spring making.

SPEED—more than you will ever use. Power—always a surplus.

HILL CLIMBING—there are no hills!

NO USE COMPARING this car with ordinary cars. There is no ground for comparison.

ONLY CARS of the highest class are worthy of comparison with this "Vertical-8-Superfine."

WE ASK YOU to do that—and then say, without reference to price, which is the best automobile you have ever had your hands on.

EARNING AN EDUCATION.

Where there's a will there's a way, is an old saying, but it is susceptible of proof and is being proved every day. Perhaps there's no better illustration of it than is to be found in the report of the director of the bureau of appointments at Yale university which shows that students earned the sum of $382,206 toward their college expenses during the last year.

The desire to go through college stirs many a young man who neither has the funds available with which to meet the expense nor can he actually see his way clear to getting the money. It is a case where ambition and a willingness to knuckle down to hard years of hard work came to his aid through this bureau of self help that is so satisfactorily maintained at educational institutions. Many there are who would not have received a college education if they had not been willing to work for it as well as study for it.

Such work is without restrictions. It covers almost every conceivable field as is shown by the fact that there were 64 different types of work engaged in by the students, three of whom managed to earn $2,000 a year while the others varied in accord with the nature of it and the time devoted to it. There were 360 who were able to eliminate their boarding expense, the largest single item of expense during the year. How important a factor this bureau renders is indicated by the fact that 32 per cent of the entire enrollment registered for employment during the year.

Yale has experienced a healthy growth. What others have done has served as the guide for others. They have not only done it well, but in many instances have done better than those in whose footsteps they were out. The spirit of being willing and wanting to make the most of the available facilities has developed new opportunities and there is no question but what those who have or are working their way through college are in a manner have a keener appreciation of what they are getting. It is not improbable that because of what their education is costing them that they will make all the better use of it.

PLACING THE BLAME.

In California the effort has been made by the third party to have its electors placed on the ballot for the November election without having observed the formalities that are required by the law of the state. It doesn't appear that any serious hardship will be worked upon the party or the socialist electors are committed to LaFollette and through them there will be no denial of a vote for that candidate.

But there is a great fuss being raised over the fact that the supreme court of California had a majority of only one in reaching its decision concerning this matter. Because it was a 4 to 3 decision there has been talk about recalling the four judges who made up the majority, as if the majority ought to yield to the minority when it comes to interpreting the laws of the state. If judges are to be recalled for doing their duty it is a pretty state of affairs to which that commonwealth is coming. If judges and courts are going to be decried for interpreting laws as they are instead of as some people think they ought to be it is certainly a strange conception which some people have of the duties of a court.

What seems to be the real seat of the trouble in California is that the legislation dealing with this matter has been so poorly drawn that it is exceedingly difficult to draw a clear interpretation. That is too often the real reason for the decisions where there is a majority of one. When such a situation exists it is not the duty of the court to interpret the law as it believes the law should be, but to define it as it is produced by the lawmakers. When such decisions have been made and it becomes evident that the trouble lies in the manner in which the law was made there is then shown to be work for the lawmakers. It is time for them to make over, and make over right, what was loosely done in the first place. The disposition to rail at the courts because of decisions is borne of the impression that the courts are makers rather than interpreters of the laws.

RECOGNIZING RUSSIA.

According to Foreign Secretary Tchitcherin of soviet Russia he thinks there is nothing insurmountable standing in the way of a thorough understanding between the United States and Russia. He has issued a fresh statement to this effect in which it must be said that while he seeks such an understanding, and particularly the recognition of soviet Russia by this country, he uses very poor diplomacy in referring to the policies of Secretary Hughes of the state department.

Secretary Tchitcherin bases his latest remarks on a recent restatement by Secretary Hughes of the foreign policy of this government. There is nothing different from what has already been said. It is simply a restatement and was not intended as anything else or for the purpose of special consideration from Russia.

It is well known that Secretary Hughes has said that there will be no recognition of the soviet government until it has had a house cleaning. Russia has been told that there must be adequate guarantees for safety of life and property, that there must be a reestablishment of economic bases of production, that international obligations must be recognized as binding and that soviet repudiation and confiscation must be abandoned.

Secretary Tchitcherin says that the countries are not far apart and an agreement could be reached but he knows very well that soviet Russia hasn't complied with the requirements set forth by Secretary Hughes. He aims at having the countries come to some agreement regarding recognition and then Russia will endeavor to meet the requirements. He should know that he is wasting his breath in talking any such plan. He is in fact making no progress toward a conference between the nations such as he seeks. Knowing what this country requires before recognition of soviet Russia there is no reason to expect that it will be brought about until there has been complete compliance therewith. The idea of making an agreement based upon promises will get nowhere. Soviet Russia must first show a house in order before there'll be any agreement or recognition.

ACTIVE PAY FOR PERSHING.

Efforts were made during the last session of congress to make an exception in the case of General Pershing to the operation of the retirement law. The purpose was to have him continue to hold his office, to remain in active service and to continue to receive the pay that he has been getting.

The legislation did not go through. Since that tie, at the suggestion of the secretary of war a study has been made of the act of congress passed some years ago reviving the rank of general. Judge Advocate General Bethel of the army has held that the law entitles General Pershing to full pay for life but requires him to retire the same as others on reaching the age of 64. This decision has been confirmed by the controller general of the treasury and means that General Pershing is continuing to draw his pay without reduction though retired. It was clearly the purpose of congress to do this under its action.

Inasmuch as General Pershing has been placed at the head of the Battle Monument commission he has been accorded his old office space in the war department by Secretary Weeks, who has taken occasion to say that he intends to consult him and make use of his advice whenever it is required. This means that while he is on the retired list General Pershing is not entirely shelved, and inasmuch as there is to be no reduction in pay the retirement law does not work as much harm as was feared. Thus it would appear that the situation ends in a manner which must be regarded as satisfactory without establishing any precedents to bother in the future.

GOING TOO FAR.

Probably there is nothing much more aggravating than the losses suffered from and the damage done by raiders of farm products. There are those who are provoked to take drastic measures, and it is recognized that there are instances where the irritation is so great that these measures are more severe than actually justified.

It was within a few weeks that a farmer shot a boy in the highway who had driven to the location of his orchard with his mother and another boy. The youths had left the car to get part of the farmer's crop. He had experienced similar visits before and was watching for them. Unfortunately he considered it necessary to back up previous warnings by the use of firearms and a shooting, probably fatal, was the result.

A Pennsylvania farmer is in jail because he shot at and wounded four boys, one possibly fatally, while they were being chased from his truck garden. He had driven them off earlier in the day and brought a gun into use as a last resort, firing to let them know he meant business, but claiming that he tripped when the shot that went home was accidentally fired.

The position of the farmer who is being subjected constantly to the loss of his property can be readily understood. He is frequently driven to desperate measures but that doesn't justify him in actually taking life. There's no condoning the raiding offense but it doesn't call for punishment of so serious a nature. It is going too far when he shoots to kill.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is time to say au revoir to September, and hope for a delightful October.

The government is seeking homes for starving deer. Don't mistake the spelling.

HAMPERING ATTIRE

"I think it is just terrible!" stated the fussy woman. "I went into Mrs. Butterfat's just now and that dear little baby of hers was creeping around the floor in horrid old faded blue rompers and his face and hands were dusty. I could cry to see a child so neglected!"

"What do you mean neglected?" demanded the man who always knew better than any one else. "From your description I should say that little Horatio Butterfat stood a grand chance of weighing 200 when he is 6 feet tall and maybe of being president or something like that! Nothing so peeves a youngish child as having some misguided person grab him up every five minutes or so and apply soap and water to his hands and face. Clean hands do not contribute in the least to his happiness and most always interfere greatly with whatever he is doing.

"Nothing else brings tears to my eyes so quickly as the sight of an innocent cherub lookin- like a rosebud in glittering white array all tabbed over with little pink bows and such, with a huge, smashy, pink satin bow on his buggy cover all embroidered in daisies and lilies! He might just as well be canned goods in a glass case for all the fun he gets out of life.

"In the first place he had to sit there and listen to eleven hundred and forty nine women coo and shriek how adorable that child does look and how beautifully his mother dresses him! Doesn't he look good enough to eat, the sweet ums! You can fairly hear his proud mother purr, feeling thus repaid for all her hours of slavery getting him ready for his public appearance and if little Josiah so much as chews one chew on his bonnet strings there are shrieks and wails and the nice string is grafted away and fluffed out and he to keep his hands at home where they belong and stop mussing up his lovely fresh bonnet!

"When my cousin, Rosina Beanhammer, who was a girl of wonderful intellect, was raising her first child the neighbors had all they could do to refrain from sending a committee to call on her and tell her a few things. Rosina would give luncheon and tea parties without any help and all the several hours her lady guests were there little Henry would amuse himself very nicely and completely on the big woolly rug Rosina would spread down in a corner.

Henry would be dressed in blue or brown or gray rompers and in those days babies didn't wear such things. They were sentenced to ruffles, frills, ribbons and lace because they looked so sweet and cute in them. Henry, in his somber attire, could roll around and kick his heels in the air. He could pound his playthings onto the woolly rug and nobody worried about his denting the floor. He could chew his paintless rubber dog if he liked.

"The women worried about it. They said it didn't seem natural for a child to take care of itself and it certainly showed that the poor little like had been neglected from birth and had so learned to look out for himself.

"Henry was allowed to play in the dirt in the back yard and the well-brought-up infants of the neighborhood would hand over the side fence longingly and watch him stuff the soil down his ears and rub it into his hair if he was so inclined and go into the house looking like a Digger Indian.

"However, Henry rarely had colds and chickenpox and measles and such things, and he so enjoyed 'like that' when he grew up he became one of those men who sit behind plate-glass desks without a smidgin of anything on them but a paper cutter and he still persists in the notion that his mother is the most wonderful in the world. So after hearing this I hope you will stop worrying about little Horatio Butterfat and casting aspersions on his mother which no doubt she doesn't in the least deserve!"

"H'm!" sniffed the fussy woman. "You men just don't know anything at all! It just isn't natural!"—Chicago News.

Lovett on the Construction Gang.

From boyhood Robert S. Lovett wanted to be a lawyer, and he had to leave home and battle for an education in order to attain his ideal.

Born in little Cold Springs, Tex., he early helped his father on the farm, the Civil war having stripped the family of most of its wealth. The elder Lovett decided that the boy was to be a physician, but Robert demurred and when his father insisted, he ran away from home at 15 and hired out to a farmer nearby.

When the contruction train of the new Houston, East & West Texas railway pushed its way to a point near where he was working, he got a job cutting and hauling ties. Saving his money, he accumulated $200, then attended school in Houston.

Running out of funds, he became station agent at the little town of Shepard. Keeping books for a general store at night, he worked 19 hours a day until he was able to go back to Houston as a bill clerk.

By studying after hours he won his admission to the bar at 22, then returned to Cold Springs as attorney for the Houston, East & West Texas. Seven years later he became general attorney for Texas for the Texas & Pacific railway.

At 28 he was married to his former teacher in the Houston schools and later became a partner in a law firm having the Southern Pacific as a client. Soon afterward he was made general attorney for all Southern Pacific lines in Texas. Populism then was rampant in that state; railroads were a favorite target, and attorneys had legar and political knots to unravel.

In 1901 E. H. Harriman took control of the Southern Pacific system. Three years later he called Lovett to New York as general counsel, vice-president and vice-chairman of all Harriman lines.

honest, open countenance, Lovett attracted much attention, and soon was recognized as Harriman's righthand man. When Harriman died Lovett succeeded him as head of the Harriman lines.

Judge Lovett, at 63, is the head of the Union Pacific system, is well-to-do and is respected as a man, a railroad executive and a lawyer.

The Trapped Crow

Well, here we are, little reader, you and I, all ready for a story. Now what is it to be? Oh yes, I remember now. Professor Jim Crow had just flown out of the last story into this one. Well, that ought to help matters. Yes, indeed. Professor Jim Crow is such a wise bird that we ought to know just how he looks and acts, and talks,—for he can talk in bird language, although no singer.

Early in April he had built his home, a large collection of sticks, lined with moss. After it was finished Mrs. Crow had laid five eggs, beautifully mottled with olive-green.

After the eggs were hatched, there was very little noise around the place. No loud "Caw, caw!" was heard. Professor Jim Crow knew better than to inform the Farmer's Boy the whereabouts of his nest. He and the Farmer's Boy were not very good friends. No, sirebus. The Farmer's Boy had not forgotten how in the springtime, after the corn had been planted, Professor Crow and his friends had pulled up many of the yellow kernels that were sending up their tender shoots through the earth.

Although there had been placed in different parts of the field several scarecrows [illegible] tattered coats, trousers and old hats,—the crows soon found out that these were only bugaboos and chosing one from their flock for a sentinel went on pulling up the corn.

But today as the wise old bird flew across the field, things had changed. There were row on row of ragged shocks, for the corn had ripened and the withered stalks had been stacked up like Indian tepees.

"Ha, ha! Caw, caw!" shouted Professor Jim Crow, calling to his family. "Here is a feast. The yellow ears of corn have burst through the crisp husks!" In a few minutes all the crows for miles around were in the field. Then, perching himself on a post the old professor bird kept a sharp look-out for the Farmer's Boy with his gun.

But, dear me! His sharp eyes had not discovered a steel trap, carefully set and so well hidden and baited that no one would have suspected that it was there. Yes, sir, there he set, this wise old bird in his suit of black, fully nineteen inches from the tip of his black bill to the tip of his tail, never thinking for a minute that there was a hidden danger in that field.

Hopping about among the big yellow pumpkins that grew between the rows of yellow corn, now cut and stacked like tents over the field, the crows picked out the yellow kernels to their hearts' content, when, all of a sudden, "Snap!" went the trap. Away flew all the crows but one, who set up a great outcry as he tried to free himself. The next minute from under one of the corn stacks jumped the Farmer's Boy, and in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

AMERICAN PHYSICIANS ENDORSE FRENCH SCIENTIST DISCOVERY FOR REDUCING FAT

DR. J. J. RUDOLPH, Former Health Commissioner Considers "SAN-GRI-NA" a Remarkable and Safe Help for FAT PEOPLE.

Up to now, reducing had been an almost unsolvable problem. It was either a question of losing a few pounds and ruin your health with dangerous drugs or remain fat. To-day a French physician of unquestionable reputation has to his credit a discovery called "SAN-GRI-NA," which quickly dead away with most obstinate cases of obesity and at the same time improves the health and appearance and rejuvenates the entire system. "I consider 'SAN-GRI-NA' not only a remarkable fat reducer," says Dr. Rudolph, former health commissioner, but I advise it as a general tonic and health-builder for fat people." Physicians have used "SAN-GRI-NA" themselves, and have prescribed it to their immediate family and patients, thus proving that it is absolutely harmless and effective. "SAN-GRI-NA" is a small tablet which should be taken three times a day. It does not contain any dangerous drugs, and has been used by the discoverer in his own practice with most remarkable success. It is now recommended and sold in America by reliable druggists only, with guarantee of satisfaction or money refunded. "SAN-GRI-NA" dead not reduce fat people over night. There is no miracle about it. It is a safe, gradual loss of flesh which varies from 4 to 6 pounds a week, leaving the patient stronger and healthier with every pound of fat lost. No flabby cheeks or wrinkles will follow the use of "SAN-GRI-NA."

NOTE—Since "SAN-GRI-NA" has been introduced in America, it has created such a sensation that imitations cannot be avoided. If you want results, make sure that YOU ASK AND GET "SAN-GRI-NA." On sale at SAN-GRI-NA is now sold at Lee & Osgood's, McLaughlin's, re Bray's drug stores.

Today's Birthdays

James A. Drain, the new national commander of the American Legion, born in Warren county, Illinois, 54 years ago today.

Wilton Lackaye, long a prominent actor of the American stage, born in Loudoun county, Va., 60 years ago today.

Dr. John Henry MacCracken, president of Lefayette College, born at Rochester, Vt., 49 years ago today.

Samuel E. Cook, representative in congress of the Eleventh district, born in Huntington county, Ind., 64 years ago today.

Allen F. Moore, representative in congress of the Nineteenth Illinois district, born at St. Charles, Ill., 55 years ago today.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Today is the fifty-fourth birthday anniversary of James A. Drain, the new commander of the American Legion. Warren county, Illinois, was Gen Drain's birthplace. He has practiced law in Nebraska, Washington state, New York and Washington, D. C., of which last-named city he is now a resident. He began his military career in the National Guard of Washington state, rising from private to general rank. He was a captain in the Spanish-American war. In the World war he was an ordnance officer with the tank corps and was a member of the Anglo-American tank commission. He has served as chairman of the National Board association and as president of the National Rifle association of America. Gen. Drain has taken a prominent part in the affairs of the American Legion since its first organization. He has been a member of the national executive committee and department commander of the District of Columbia.

Stories That Recall Others

"Peanuts."

The other day Harry took his new dog to a ball game with him. The little dog was led by a chain and sat beside the youngster. He seemed contented until a boy with a basket began calling, "Popcorn, sweet chocolate and peanuts," with emphasis on the peanuts.

Then the dog almost went mad. He jerked at his chain, stood up and howled. The crowd was in laughter until the boy bought some peanuts and fed them to the dog. That evening it was found that the former owner had called the dog "Peanuts" and every time the boy shouted he thought he was being called.

New Birds Discovered.

New birds are being discovered almost every day if descriptions by children are to be relied upon.

On a bulletin board is a poster bearing the picture of a tree. There are 35 different birds on its branches and beside it a list of the names and the dates. This was devised to interest the children in bird study.

Each child seeing a new bird identified it in the bird book and has the honor of having the picture of the bird put on the tree and his name under it.

One little girl made the announcement that she had seen a beautiful gold and silver bird. She searched through the book and produced as its likeness a picture, below which was written: "The golden pheasant—native of China."

A boy reported that he had seen a mocking bird, because "My friend Andy was with me, and when I called to him by the bird sat there and said, 'Andy, Andy, Andy,' after me."

The home of former Supreme Court Judge Donald Warner of Salisbury, was destroyed by fire, the loss being estimated at $30,000. The family was away at the summer camp at the time of the blaze and its origin is a mystery.

Thousands Recommend it

THEY have learned from experience that no matter how many other treatments have been tried without success Resinol Ointment is often the one that brings speedy relief from chafing, eczema or similar itching, embarrassing eruptions.

Its soothing healing action is brought about by qualities which cause it to sink deep into the pores and reach the very root of the disorder. It is absolutely harmless and does not smart or burn when applied to the most irritated surface.

To keep the skin healthy many people have adopted the daily use of Resinol Soap. Unsurpassed for toilet and bath. All druggists sell Resinol products.

SAW DAHLIAS WHICH ARRIVED BY AIRPLANE

Waterman F. Brown, who was in New York attending the American dahlia show which was held at the 71st regiment armory on Park avenue and 34th arteet, has returned home. He also visited some of the largest dahlia growers on Long Island and in western Connnecticut. Mr. Brown brought back as usual some of the blue ribbons for his dahlias which he exhibited. Among them were Our Country, a purple tipped white, a monster; the Head of the Nation, a hybrid cactus variety, purple with magenta overcast, one of the rarest dahlias; Premier George Clemenceau, another novelty of Mr. Brown's introduction, a true cactus of a clear lemon yellow with tips of petals pure white; the Robert Fletcher, the G. A. R. and over 50 California varities.

While there Mr. Brown had the pleasure of seeing a box of dahlias arrive from the California Dahlia society of California, sent by aeroplane. The dahlias were mailed in Oakland, Cal., Sept. 23, at 6 a. m., and arrived at the 71st regiment armory, New York, Sept. 24, at 8 p. m. In transit 14 aeroplanes were used and the postage was $18. These were the first cut flowers to arrive in good condition from California by aeroplane and among them was a native of Mexico, a small single flower. From this flower, by hybridizing, the first double dahlia originated about 100 years ago.

Mr. Brown, who is the largest grower in eastern Connecticut, has 1,500 different varieties from giant blooms of over 12 inches in diameter down to the smallest pompoms of about one inch in diameter. They are of all colors, shapes and shades, even to a green one, and the entire field is in bloom now.

Other Women's Teeth

are whiter, clear, glistening—why not yours?

Remove the dingy film that's clouding them—you'll be surprised that your own teeth are as pretty as anyone's—make this unique test.

THAT most of us have pretty teeth without ever revealing them, is the remarkable assertion of many high dental authorities.

This is why:

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film. A film which you cannot see with your eye, but which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty. Maybe you have really beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film is charged too with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So, besides loss of tooth beauty, film is a serious danger to healthy teeth. You must remove and constantly combat it. It is ever present, ever forming.

Old-time dentifrices were unable to combat it successfully. So most people had unattractive teeth no matter how often they cleaned them. And tooth troubles were a serious problem.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John A. Brady

After two weeks' illness the death of Jennie Corcoran Gordon, wife of the late John A. Brady, occurred Monday. Mrs. Brady was born in Norwich, the daughter of the late Michael and Annie Moore Corcoran. She has lived here all her life. Her first husband was Frank Gordon of this city who died two years after their marriage. Several years later she was united in married with John A. Brady and for many years resided on West Town street. One son was born to them, Charles Arnold Brady, who was a lawyer in New York city at the time of his death. Mr. Brady passed away several years ago and since that time Mrs. Brady has lived on Cliff street.

She was a member of the Catholic Women's club of St. Patrick's parish. Surviving her are two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Hartnett of Erie, Pa., and Mrs. Anna Northrup of Texas, a half-brother, Jeremiah J. Corcoran of Norwich and several nieces and nephews. The sympathy of many friends has been expressed to her relatives in their bereavement.

Mrs. Brady's husband was senior member of the manufacturing firm of Brady & Saxton and during their residence at Norwich Town he served as a member of the school board and was otherwise prominent in town activities.

FUNERALS

Timothy O'Leary

Funeral services for Timothy O'Leary, who died in Providence, R. I., Sept. 27th, were held here Monday morning at 8.30 o'clock at 353 Main street, followed at 9 o'clock by requiem mass in St. Patrick's church, Rev. Rocco Guerriero, officiating. Burial was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Miss Helen Robinson

Funeral services for Miss Helen Robinson were held at 2.15 o'clock Monday afternoon at her late home at 59 Sachem street followed by a service at Christ Episcopal church with Rev. J. Eldred Brown officiating. During the service at the church the vested choir rendered two hymns, Jesus Lives and Through the Night of Doubt and Sorrow. There were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends were present from Middletown, New Haven, Hartford, Detroit and other places.

Burial was in the family lot in Yantic cemetery where Rev. Mr. Brown conducted the committal service. The bearers were Carl W. Brown, Arthur F. Libby, Charles T. Bard, Frank Richards, Archa W. Colt and Hibberd R. Norman.

Arrangements were by Henry Allen & Son Co.

Mrs. John Murphy.

The Westerly Sun says;

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Murphy, widow of John Murphy, who died Wednesday, was held Friday morning at 8.30 o'clock at her home on Thompson street. Requiem high mass was sung at St. Michael's church at 9 o'clock by Rev. J. J. Keane. During the service Miss Theresa McMahon sang Thy Will Be Done.

Burial was in St. Michael's new cemetery, where the committal service was read by Fr. Keane. The bearers were Michael O'Connell, John Sullivan, John Shugrue, Timothy Sullivan, Edward Devine and Patrick Shugrue.

Mrs. Murphy was born in Ireland but came to this country when 16. For about two years she resided in Norwich and then came to Pawcatuck, where she was a resident for over fifty years. She was one of the oldest members of St. Michael's parish.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. William Foran of Pawtucket and Misses Margaret and Mary Murphy of Westerly, and a sister and brother in Ireland.

MAPLEWOOD TROLLEY LINE AGAIN UNDER CONSIDERATION

Three new members were voted into membership at a meeting Monday noon of the directors of the Norwich chamber of commerce at the Wauregan hotel. The new members are Peter Sellas, Connecticut Belting Co., and the H. H. Allyn Rubber Co. The meeting discussed plans for the annual election of directors and the financial statement for August was considered and approved.

The meeting accepted a report of progress regarding the proposed development of the Thames river, and also regarding the proposed state park for this county. Efforts are being made to have the 1925 auto markers issued from an office in this city. This will save a trip to New London by local auto owners for the new registrations.

The meeting voted approval of the Eastern Connecticut Civic association and voted to take out a membership in the association.

The matter of extending the West Side car line to Maplewood cemetery has again been taken up with President Storrs of the Connecticut Co. This extension will have to be authorized by the state legislature. The board also voted its appreciation to President Benjamin Marshall of Connecticut College for his acceptance on very short notice of the invitation to address the membership meeting of the chamber last week.

A report of progress was made on the Armistice day celebration by President H. M. Lerou, general chairman of the soldiers memorial dedication committee. President Lerou was authorized to appoint a special committee to go to New York in an endeavor to interest a large manufacturing concern to locate in this city.

Boy Missing From Home.

The police were on the lookout on Monday night for Walter Supliki, a 13-year-old boy, after his mother who lives at 125 Cliff street notified police headquarters that the boy had not been home and she did not know where he was.

CONTINUING THEIR EFFORT TO HAVE THAMES RIVER DEEPENED

There is to be yet one more review of the arguments for and against the effort that the citizens of Norwich have been making to induce the government to have the Thames river channel from Allyn's Point to this city deepened and kept at a depth that will not cut Norwich off from the freight rate classification of a seaboard city.

The September membership letter of the chamber of commerce which has been distributed to the members states that the United States Board of Army Engineers has granted permission for another review of Colonel Newcomer's arguments against the project for deepening the channel and a committee is soon to go to Providence for that purpose.

The membership letter is as follows:

Soldiers' Memorial—The dedication exercises of the war memorial erected by the town on Chelsea Parade will be held on Armistice day, Tuesday, November 11th. Arrangements are being made to have the dedication exercises celebrated with all the pomp and ceremony that the event deserves. The memory of the time when our Norwich boys departed to enter the service in defense of our country may be somewhat dimmed, but the reason for their service cannot and should not be forgotten. It is for this patriotic reason that the general committee having this matter in charge is making plans to have this celebration in Norwich one to be remembered and well worthy of the event.

The plans comprise suitable dedication exercises, a parade including United States naval and military companies; the American Legion posts from Eastern Connecticut; the various civic and fraternal organizations of Norwich; together with music and decorations. A serious effort is also being made to have our white way inaugurated that evening.

The urgent request is made to each and every member of the chamber to take an active interest in this celebration. The patriotic cause of this celebration is one that should appeal to every citizen or resident of Norwich. Certain the civic spirit of our members should be aroused to a degree of great enthusiasm for this civic celebration.

Thames River—Permission has been granted by the United States Board of Army Engineers to review the arguments made by Colonel H. C. Newcomer, division engineer, against the proposed deepening of the Thames river channel. A committee will soon go to Providence to the district engineer's office to see Colonel Newcomer's report and prepare additional arguments to be presented before the board of army engineers in Washington.

It is possible that there are those in and out of the membership of the chamber who are totally apathetic or at least lukewarm to this activity of your organization. To those we submit a fair question—do they believe in the fullest development possible of all the transportation facilities of our community? Is Norwich satisfied to permit a most valuable means of transportation to be relegated to the scrap heap because of the difficulty in securing modern boats to navigate the present channel? It is safe to assume that if Norwich had not the Thames river to the sea, that strenuous effort would be made to provide a channel by means of a canal to create another revenue of transportation. Yet we have this great asset at our doors and the only need is the deepening of the river channel. Other cities throughout this country would not dream of permitting such a benefit to them to deteriorate to the extent that it would, in time, become useless causing Norwich to be classed as an inland city with its consequent inland freight rates established.

In the July membership letter it was stated that away back in 1805 the Norwich Channel Company was created to keep the river channel in good navigable condition. Those farsighted civic citizens of those early days in the history of our community realized the value of the river and we of this day should carry on and maintain the results of their efforts. We cannot lie supinely and dream that progress will merely happen—we must work for it.

Fire Prevention—Fire Prevention Week will begin this year on October 5th and end October 11th. According to prepared statistics the average number of daily fires show that churches have 5; hotels 15; hospitals 3; schools 5; warehouses 4; theatres 2; dwellings 359; farms 96; department stores 6; public garages 8; dry goods stores 3; printing plants 3. The per capital fire loss of the country last year was $4.50. It is estimated that 75 per cent. of all the fires are caused by carelessness. The object of fire prevention week is to impress upon the community at large the necessity of conserving the resources of the nation by preventing fires. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Annual Meeting—The annual meeting of the chamber will be held Tuesday, October 21st in the Wauregan hotel. Plans are being prepared for an interesting program. The chamber is fortunate to secure as our speaker, Mr. George C. Smith of Baltimore who will address the members on the necessary elements for industrial expansion. The speaker is well qualified to address the members on this subject as he was instrumental to a large extent in the recent industrial growth of Baltimore.

It seems appropriate at this time to say a word of appreciation for the fine civic spirit shown by President Marshall of Connecticut college in addressing the member and friends at the monthly meeting last Monday. Because of the illness of Bishop Freeman just prior to the day of the meeting a request was made to President Marshall to substitute. Notwithstanding the fact that the day of our meeting was the opening day of Connecticut college and that the time was so short that an opportunity was not afforded President Marshall to prepare an address. Nevertheless he accepted our request and came here at great personal sacrifice of time and comfort. Under the circumstances the members of the chamber fully appreciate the able address delivered by the speaker and another strong link in the chain of friendship that President Marshall enjoys in Norwich was forged. His was a noteworthy example of unselfish civic endeavor.

Annual Election—The annual election of directors and officers will be held during the next few weeks. Our members are urged to give the election of nominees for directors their serious consideration. Every member should attend to this important duty by using the primary and final election ballots.

A revision in our by-laws was adopted at the last membership meeting. Hereafter four directors will be chosen at each election so that eight of the twelve directors will be chosen by direct ballot. The eight elected directors will elect four others in order that the board of twelve directors will be completed. The purpose of this change, and it is one that is being adopted by many chambers of commerce, is to make the directorate as thoroughly representative as possible of the citizens of the community. We again urge our members to exercise their duty by making use of the ballots in the coming election of our board of directors.

Program of Work—Another important duty of our members at this time is to suggest to your directors, through the use of the suggestion sheet that you will receive, what activities should be undertaken by the chamber during the coming year. A successful chamber of commerce needs the stimulus of a program of activities and that can only come from individual members. Your officers need to know the things that are in the minds of the members for the advancement of Norwich and this can only be ascertained by the members making known, through the program of work sheet, what activities ought to be engaged in.

"ABRAHAM LINCOLN" SHOWN AT PALACE THEATRE

The life story of that most famous of all Americans, Abraham Lincoln, is told in a manner serving to bring out the qualities of this great man, in the screen masterpiece, Abraham Lincoln, a First National Picture, now being shown at the Palace Theatre.

Al and Ray Rockett in their picturization of the life of this immortal American have given to this country a story serving to show the great human side of Lincoln to an idealising public more clearly than it has ever been pictured before.

Beginning with the birth of Lincoln in the log cabin at Hodgenville, Ky., during a raging blizzard when it seemed that the life of the child was soon to be snuffed out, carefully selecting many of the crucial moments in Lincoln's life, the story concludes with the tragic death of the martyr president, killed by the the hand of a fanatic whose distorted mind led him to believe he was doing the south a great favor. Americanism, the type personified by Lincoln, that which will ever kindle the spark of patriotism and love of country in all loyal citizens, is not for a moment lost sight of in this wonder picture and is showing throughout the length and breadth of the land, for which Lincoln gave his all, will serve to bind a nation closer, ever remembering those immortal words of Lincoln preaching honesty, fairness and kindness, personified by Lincoln who was ready to die for a great principle.

Although the greatness of the "Big Heart," as Lincoln was known to many, forms the theme for the entire production, the authors have brought in many touching events of his life. Perhaps the most tender of all is the story of Lincoln's love for Anne Rutledge, known as one of the love idylls of American history. The bigness of Lincoln is shown as he faces the coming loss of Anne, and then again, later in his life, his parent love is tenderly pictured at the death of his son, when at the same moment laughter and joy run riot in the big hall below the bedroom, where a ball is being given to keep up the spirit of the Union.

As Abraham Lincoln, no better choice could have been made than that of George Billings whose impersonation of Lincoln seems inspired. Ruth Clifford as Anne Rutledge. Lincoln's first and great love, is also splendid, in fact, the selection of the entire cast has been wisely made, every player putting into the story of Lincoln something of the real thing.

The story is well balanced, a touch of mirth here, then a swing to some tragic or important happening in Lincoln's life, always keeping before the mind the presence of Lincoln, makes this picture the masterpiece if is, one that will go down in history, and puts the story across in a manner that often brings a tear to the eye.

Scenes of action in the Civil War, fore and after the war and glimpses supendous parades in Washington before of historic happenings of those days completes the picture that one must see in order to appreciate its true worth.

GAVE PRETTY SHOWER FOR MRS. NELLIE MOORE

A pretty shower for one of its members, the sixth that Division No. 54, Ladies' auxiliary, A. O. H., has recently given, made a delightful social evening Monday in A. O. H. hall for the division. Mrs. Nellie Moore had been notified to attend a meeting of the auditing committee, and when that business was concluded the affair resolved itself into a miscellaneous shower for her in honor of her approaching marriage to John McHale of Hartford. The many gifts were presented in a beautiful decorated basket.

Solos were rendered during the evening by Miss Eva Hartie, Miss Sarah Boyd, Mrs. Margaret Peterson and Mrs. Nora Nadolny and accordion solos by Miss Mabel Turley, with square and round dances by the members. Refreshments were served by the committee, Miss Katherine Coughlin, Mrs. Annie Bellaws, Mrs. Nellie Fitzgerald, Mrs. Bridget Williams, Mrs. Margaret McCarthy and Miss Anna Connell.

SECOND ARREST IN LIQUOR SELLING CASE

Another angle in the liquor transportation case brought against Herbert Campbell of Taftville in the police court Monday morning was disclosed when Armand Bazinet of Taftville was arrested and presented in court by federal officers on the charge of sale of liquor. It is understood that Bazinet's arrest followed when Campbell told the officers that the bottle of liquor found in Campbell's automobile Saturday night was bought from Bazinet. Both men asked continuances in order that they might secure counsel and the cases were continued for a day.

Other cases in court before Judge Arthur F. Libby were the following:

Velois E. Fields, charged with parking his machine on Main street all night in violation of the motor vehicle regulations, paid $5. A man charged with intoxication and breach of the peace was fined $5 and costs for intoxication, the breach of the peace charge being nolled. Four other men were fined for intoxication and a fifth, charged with intoxication and breach of the peace, had his case continued for six months. For passing to the left of the traffic beacon at Norwich Town Joseph Tetreault was fined $10 and costs.

MOTORCYCLE TRIP TO SHETUCKET RIVER CAMP

Under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. A. Markey, the American Redskin association of Motorcycle Drivers made a trip to Baltic on Sunday and as guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Heibel were taken up the Shetucket river in Mr. Heibel's launch, "Solid Comfort," to the camp on the river, where a chicken dinner with all the fixings was served. After dinner the party went further up the river to Sandy Beach, where bathing, fishing and other sports were enjoyed. On return to camp supper was served and a moonlight sail down the river was enjoyed.

Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tummicki and son John, Mr. and Mrs. A. Markey and children, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Cavanaugh and son Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Morse and son Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tubbs and daughter Bertha, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Willett and daughter Eleanor, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Atchinson and sons, Albert and Reginald, Mr. and Mrs. John Heibel and Marie and George Heibel.

SUES FOR COMMISSION ON PINEHURST SALE

In a suit which was filed in the superior court Monday, Archa W. Colt, a real estate agent of this city, sues for damages of $2,000 in a claim against Arthur W. Libby, executor of the will of the late Mrs. Charles W. Gale, for services which Mr. Colt says he rendered at the executor's request in the sale of Pinehurst, the beautiful home of Mrs. Gale on Washington St.

Previous reports of the sale of Pinehurst have not disclosed the name of the purchaser, but it is understood it was a New London man who subsequently declined to complete the purchase and the executor still has the property in the market.

HELD PRESTON REPUBLICAN CAUCUS IN A SHED

A republican caucus in Preston that had to be held out doors because none of the five persons present had a key to the town hall recently nominated the party ticket for the coming election. In the absence of the key the caucus was held in the shed across the road from the town hall, with Arthur Smith chairman and William Mitchell clerk.

The following were nominated: First selectman, Albert Benjamin; second selectman, George Mansfield; assessor, Clark Woodmansee; board of relief, Clifton Dawley; school committee, Rossiter Willett, Mrs. Isabelle Main; town clerk and town treasurer, George V. Shedd; auditor, John H. Richardson; constables, Michael Nolan, Thomas Morrison.

Claims that the caucus might not be legal because of its size or place of meeting were denied by those present who said they were satisfied that there were enough present to constitute a quorum for the transaction of the necessary business.

WASHINGTON WINS ITS FIRST AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT AFTER 24 YEARS

New York, Sept. 29. (By the A. P.) —Washington today clinched the first pennant it has had since breaking into big league baseball exactly forty years ago and, as the flag-bearer of the American league, will fight it out with the New York Giants, four time National league champions, in the world's series starting next Saturday at the Capital city.

By defeating the Boston Red Sox this afternoon, the Senators brought to a climax one of the most spectacular diamond campaigns in history and accomplished the downfall of the New York Yankees, once-proud world's champions, who tonight repose irrevocably in second place, two and a half games behind the leaders.

The Yankees have two games to play with Philadelphia tomorrow while Washington has one more with the Red Sox but regardless of the outcome of these, Miller Huggins must step off the American league throne after a three-year reign in favor of Stanley Harris—pilot of the Senators and the youngest manager who ever led a major league club to victory.

Washington's rise this year under the aggressive leadership of the 28-year-old Harris, a major leaguer only five years and experiencing his first managerial test, is one of the most dramatic achievements in baseball annals. This fighting youngster will meet one of the greatest strategists of the game when he takes the field against John McGraw, gray-haired "master mind" of the Giants.

Sharing the glory of Washington's triumph with Harris are Walter Johnson, one of the greatest pitchers of all time, and Clark Griffith, now president and former manager of the club, in his eighteenth season. Johnson has been the mainstay of the team's twirling corps and now will realize a lifelong ambition to pitch in a world's series. Griffith, "the old fox," is credited with being the "man behind the gun" in the Senator's campaign and having had much to do with the club's successful strategy.

Washington's first flag in the 24 seasons the club has been in the American league was won after a terrific closing fight in which Harris and his men came through to victory on foreign fields. It is taking no credit from the Senators' victory however, to say that they were friendly fields. Baseball has had few more curious spectacles than the fact that nearly everywhere Washington appeared in its final drive, fans, anxious for a overthrow of New York, cheered the Senators on. In Boston spectators today accorded the victors an ovation of only slightly less calibre than that which might have been expected in their home city.

Though the club showed it possessed consistent strength throughout the last part of the campaign, Washington nevertheless is one of the dark horses" to triumph since the Boston Braves leaped to the front a decade ago. New York had been generally picked to repeat on the basis of its brilliant world's series exhibition with Detroit, Cleveland and Philadelphia "doped" as the most menacing opposition. The Tigers hung on until near the finish and dealt what proved the knockout blow to the Yankees when they took three in a row from the champions on the latter's western trip.

Washington climbed slowly but surely to the top. From seventh place the first month of campaigning in May, rose to fourth position by the middle of June and to second on July 4. Shortly afterward they had a brief experience at setting the pace when they have the Yankees sweep back into the lead. The Senators clung to second position until August 20 when they dislodged the Yankees with an 11 to 6 victory over the Hugmen. Thereafter Washington was never headed although earlier this month the Yankees managed to pull up into a brief tie.

The last series with New York here, in which Washington took three out of four games, proved the turning point of the race. It gave the Senators the added bit of confidence they needed for the final dash and took something of the edge off Yankee hopes.

Washington had had clubs in four leagues since 1884 but never has been able to finish higher than second. A year in the Union association, two in the American association and 12 in the National league preceded the club's entry into the American league in 1901, a year after that circuit was launched. Under Clark Griffith, now part owner and president, the club did its best work in 1912 and 1913, when it finished second, behind Boston and Philadelphia respectively. Otherwise Washington has been a chronic tail-ender, getting into the first division in only four other seasons outside 1924, and all told, finishing 11 times in last place and nine times in next to last position.

SENATORS CLINCH FLAG BY TROUNCING RED SOX

Boston, Sept. 29.—Washington won its first American league pennant by defeating the Red Sox here today, 4 to 2, and earned the right to meet the New York Giants in the world's series which is to open in Washington on Saturday. When the last Boston player was out in the ninth inning and victory of the Senators was assured, a crowd of 15,000 Boston fans cheered the visiting team as it came in from the field. Clark Griffith, the veteran owner, Stanley Harris, the "boy manager", and Walter Johnson, famous pitching ace who will take part in his first world's series after 18 years in the leagues were applauded in turn.

Fred Mayberry, relief pitcher of the Senators, who held Boston scoreless for the last six innings today, will be named the hero of this deciding game. He as acted as relief pitcher in all three games played here in this series and has worked in 50 games for Washington this season. Lefthander John Zachary was none too effective in the first three innings, but Mayberry stopped the Red Sox.

Washington made its bid early for the victory that would give it the pennant regardless of what the New York Yankees do in their double header against Philadelphia tomorrow. Off Curtis Fullerton in the first with two out Rice singled through short, stole second and went all the way home when O'Neill's wild throw caromed off Lee's glove. In the second the Senators made two runs. Peckinpaugh singled and scored on singles by Ruel and Zachary. Ruel scored from third on Liebold's single to right. These three runs off Fullerton were enough, as the event proved, but the Senators added a fourth off John Quinn in the eighth inning, Stanley Harris doubled against the left field fence and went home on a clean single by Rice.

Boston had all its chances early in the game. Singles by Williams and Wambsganss let the former home in the first. Veach scored in the third. He singled, Boone was hit and Joe Harris bunted. Ezzell's harsh grounder off Zachary's glove let Veach in.

Throughout the game Peckinpaugh and Stanley Harris played wonder ball. In the last half of the ninth with one out Harris picked up Pinch Hitter Clark's grounder, tagged second, and with a quick pivot and throw, almost without looking, got the ball to Judge in time to double up the batter and retire the side. NEW JOCKEY MAY RIDE EPINARD IN NEXT RACE

New York, Sept. 29.—(By the A. P. —Epinard, great French thoroughbred which was beaten by an American rival by the proverbial eye-lash on Saturday for the second straight time when he lost the international special to Ladkin, may have a new jockey up in the third race of the big series at Latonia, Kentucky, October 11.

It is known that Pierre Wertheimer, owner of Epinard, was keenly disappointed in the way Everett Haynes, his American rider, handled the French four-year-old.

Despite the second straight defeat, M. Wertheimer is convinced that Epinard is superior to any of the horses he has yet encountered and will prove victorious in the third race, which is to be at a mile and a quarter. If Epinard loses the Kentucky race, he will be shipped back to France without delay, M. Wertheimer said today.

HUGGINS WISHES SENATORS THE BEST OF LUCK

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—"I wish them all the luck in the world against the Giants," said Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, when informed by the Associated Press that Washington had cinched the pennant. "They have played fine ball all year, and I wish them the best of luck."

Cooney-Zivic Fight Postponed

Newark, Sept. 29.—Rain tonight caused a second postponement of the scheduled 12-round bout here between Danny Cooney, of Trenton and Jack Zivic, of Pittsburgh. The promoters announced the fight would go on tomorrow night. It was originally set for Monday, Sept. 22.

Giants-Phillies Game Cancelled

New York, Sept. 29.—The New York-Philadelphia National league game was cancelled today because of rain. As this is the last playing day of the National league the teams will be unable to play it off. Inasmuch as Brooklyn has also completed its program, the Giants close the season a game and a half ahead of the Dodgers.

How It's Done In the Majors

By Frank Frisch, Fordham Star and New York Giants

Score 7 to 2 in favor of the team in the field. Ninth inning. Team at bat has runner on first with none out.

How should third baseman play?

A great many third basemen play in on hits until they have two strikes called on them, but in this case the third baseman should always play deep in order to prevent the batter hitting through his position. Then again, by playing back, he can always handle hard hit balls with more ease and be in a better position to start a double play.

ROSSI A. A. DEFEATS THE PIONEER HOSE CO.

The Pioneer Hose Co. of Groton, with a great record and a pitcher with a no-hit game, was beaten on Rossi field by a score of 10 to 4 before a crowd of over 300 on Sunday their vaunted pitcher being touched up for three singles, two doubles and a triple in the eighth.

The visitors scored in the first on a three bagger and a wild pitch and three in the fifth on three singles, a double and a put out.

The Rossi team scored one in the first on Foote's double, a putout and on Chappell's long fly. They added four in the next on two singles, two sacrifices, two putouts and two errors and added five in the eighth when they hammered Henry's pitching to all parts of the field. Score:

MOOSUP SWAMPS TAFTVILLE, TAKING THREE STRAIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Moosup, Sept. 29.—The Moosup Five continued its heavy slaughter of the maple pins in the Eastern Connecticut Bowling league when the team took three straight from the Taftville five. Moosup was never in danger, beating out the visitors by an average of 50 pins per string. Taftville was decidedly off form with the exception of Chip Dugas, the only man among the visitors to top the 300 mark. YANTIC SPLITS WEEK END BILL WITH COLCHESTER

Saturday Yantic took a trip to Colchester with a makeshift lineup and in spite of the fact that Lamphere struck out 19 of the opposing batsmen was beaten 10 to 1.

Sunday Colchester came to Yantic and was beaten, 13 to 2, but owing to the fact that Colchester did not have their regular lineup they were not satisfied with the result. As the two teams have won two games each they will play the deciding game Sunday, Oct. 5th at the Norwich fairgrounds, game to be called at 2.30, as this will be the last game of the season, both teams will be out for blood with a strong lineup. A good game can be expected. Lamphere pitched good ball in the Sunday game retiring 14 of Colchester's batters by the strike-out route.

Yantic has played 30 games, winning 17, losing 12 and forfeiting one, and is in hopes of making it 18 next Sunday, but realize they must play ball, as Colchester will have a strong team in the field.

ONE MEMBER OF HARVARD SQUAD RETURNS AFTER ILLNESS

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 29.—Joseph McGlone, one of the Varsity quarterback candidates on the Harvard football squad, returned to practice today after several days' detention as a diphtheria carrier. Henry T. Dunker, under quarantine as a diphtheria patient, was said to be getting along well, and crimson coaches now expect to have him back in time to play in the Princeton and Yale games.

Yale Squad in Scrimmage

New Haven, Sept. 29.—The Yale football squad started its third week of practice with a 20 minute scrimmage. The lineup of the varsity showed Weinicke back at quarterback. In the line Wortham was given a try-out at right guard. During the end of the practice Cutler took the place of Cottle while Kline went in for Pond. The varsity scored two touchdowns over the scrubs.

BULKELEY WILL HAVE BASKETBALL AS MAJOR SPORT THIS WINTER

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 29.—Two popular sports, track and basketball are in line for revival at Bulkeley this year. Both sports being discarded last year will be included in the athletic bill of fare which will be served up for the discriminating fan, a delectable dish of mid-year sports that will help the local institution actually buzz with activity, literally speaking. All doubts that basketball would not be included as a major sport at Bulkeley this season culminated in the announcement that a basketball manager would be appointed shortly with the help of the student council.

No duobt the decision of Head Master Homer K. Underwood that basket ball will be resumed, will be met with a clamorous approval by Bulkeley students, and especially by those who have waited patiently since last season for that announcement. There is an abundance of material that bids fair to make Bulkeley take its place at head of the High school teams in this state in this form of athletic competition as well as in baseball and football. Head Master Underwood has always been in favor of resuming basketball and likewise track activities which were dormant last season. A place to hold practice has been found and the local fans who have held hope against hope that the indoor court game be included in the sports program will no doubt welcome this announcement.

In taking up the subject of basketball, Head Master Underwood, while being heartily in favor of it, was handicapped to carry out the course of his convictions, by the absence of a man capable to coach a basketball team. However in discussing this matter, it was understood that although a new athletic director and coach has been engaged by Bulkeley this season for football and baseball, in the person of William R. Canty, that he would not coach basketball this coming winter. While no definite announcement has been made as to the selection of a basketball mentor, yet it is almost a certainty that Ernest Falconer, former Boston University player and instructor at the local institution would coach the team. The coaching question will be left to take care of itself, for there are several men of ability to step in and take the squad in hand. The question which is only holding up the drawing up of a schedule is the announcement as to who will be the manager. A schedule must be drawn up first, before the revival of the sport can even be contemplated, and the sooner the student council which in this case will do the selecting of a basketball manager, mets and names a manager, the situation at Bulkeley will be the same as last year, with no definite action taking place.

Bulkeley will go in for track on a more extensive scale than in previous years of this sport and basketball was allowed to go unnoticed last season. The annual track meet which was a perennial school activity that dates back to 1900, was abolished last season and track made little headway. However as announced in the Bulletin previously, a manager has been selected for this sport and October 17 will be the first day that the track athletes at the school will assemble for the first time in more than two years.

As far as could be ascertained, Frank Hamlen, head of the English department will act as coach. Mr. Hamlen's experience on the cinder path is varied, and includes success in this special line of athletic endeavor. Fermentation at the local school is running high, and can be directly be traced to the announcement that both the above mentioned sports would be included in the program at Bulkeley.

A big year is expected in all Bulkeley athletic activities, for the present the Senior class will hardly be improved upon, furnishing the material that it has for the past three years. A line on the track possibilities at Bulkeley will be made possible with the entrance announcement that Bulkeley would enter the New England Prey and High school track competition at Yale next spring. A glorious year is Bulkeley's if all sports are conducted in the proper manner, for it is now or never and it is the school's belief to strike while the iron is hot, and in order to strike all must be in readiness. The watch word which is general, composes of but two words and those, "Watch Bulkeley".

SENATORS TO BE WELCOMED HOME BY PRES. COOLIDGE

Washington, Sept. 29.—Debonaire Washington celebrated tonight in Main street fashion its first American league pennant.

A pouring rain throughout the afternoon found the usual crowds in front of the half dozen score boards.

A wild outburst of cheering and shouting greeted the flash that told of Washington's victory over Boston—and the pennant umbrellas were tossed in the air, traffic cops forgot traffic, and the White House stopped the wheels of the government to send a telegram of congratulations to the Washington team.

All over the city tonight baseball talk was humming. Cigar stores, Hotel lobbies, fashionable cabarets, everywhere it was baseball.

Washington, excited and happy, gurgled like a two year old over his first toy. Since the day when Ban Johnson organized the American league a score of years ago, the capital city has waited and hoped for today.

Word of today's victory flew over the city and Mrs. Coolidge was one of the first to hear it at the White House, and gave the tidings to the president.

The telegrams from the executive mansion, which was signed by C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to the president, read:

"Heartiest congratulations to you and your team for your great work in bringing Washington its first pennant. We of Washington are proud of you and behind you. On to the world's championship."

Plans are being pushed to add the finishing touches to the welcome the city will give the team when it returns Wednesday. An elaborate program has been worked out, including among other things, a welcome address by the president.

The weather bureau also added more cheerfulness to the city tonight by forecasting fair weather for the week-end, when Washington on Saturday will clash here with the New York Giants in the first game of the world series.

PEERLESS FIVE WINS TWO FROM PALACE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 29.—Taking a firmer hold on second place in the standing of the teams in the Eastern Conn. Bowling league by winning two games from the Palace quintet of Norwich, the Peerless Five of this city just about settled down for business of working their way to the top of the circuit. Except for Mike Morin, whose two spares in the last two boxes of the second game spoiled all chances for a Peerless clean sweep, the Rose City bowlers were never really dangerous.

The Peerless realized that their place in the standing was in danger by the Palace Five.

The first game which went to the locals by a seven pin margin was won in the final frame by the last four Peerless bowlers. Coming into the home stretch 19 pins down each bowler spared in one of his final two boxes a victory snatched from what seemed an almost certain defeat. This game was the only close game, the remaining two games being captured by the rival teams by comfortable margins. In the final game New London hit 524 for a total. It was in this game that they showed their best bowling. Henry Sistare again led the locals with high single, getting 118. Both Simcox and Mike Morin were close behind for high single with 117. Simcox was high bowler of the evening with 319 for three strings. Belcher hit 31. Ferrell, substituting for Lodge, hit well for his first attempt this year. The scores:

FRANKLIN SQUARE NORWICH, CONN

LEROY HILTON HELD AT NEW LONDON FOR SLASHING LUTHER MOSE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 29.—A murderous assault was made this evening upon Luther Mose, fireman first class aboard the submarine N-2, stationed at the submarine base. Mose was slashed with a knife by Leroy Hilton, a member of the crew of the tug F. M. Chappell, of the fleet of tugs of the Thames Towboat company, undergoing repairs at the plant of the towing concern on the Thames river. Mose suffered an ugly wound on the left arm, so deep that it was necessary to have the wound treated by a surgeon. Hilton made his escape.

According to Mose, he was walking in company with a young lady on Main street. When near the corner of Pierce street, it is alleged, Hilton, who was standing along the curb, passed a remark uncomplimentary to the girl. Mose resented the alleged insult and harsh words were exchanged by Hilton and Mose. Finally Mose attacked Hilton and during the fight the latter pulled a jack knife and dealt Mose a powerful blow on the left forearm, the blade sinking into the flesh. A resident nearby notified the police and Patrolmen George Laboue, Thomas Lyden and John Foley were speeded to the place. By that time Hilton had made his escape, but Mose's wound was bleeding. He was taken to the office of a surgeon, and after the wound had been dressed he returned to the base.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Hilton appeared at the plant of the Thames Towboat company, in a taxicab. As he alighted he was taken into custody by Patrolmen Foley and Lyden. He was locked up on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Hilton was unable to secure a bond and will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning.

The city council this evening decided to make changes in the highway and sidewalk at the west corner of the two streets by the acquisition from Francesis Ferino of land that will cost $500. For the land the city is to make improvements in the sidewalk and the curbing, etc., at a cost of $900 so that the expenditure will be some $1,400. The council balked at installing a new system of indexing public records at a cost of more than $9,000 and sent the proposition to the budget committee. The council hesitated about obligating the incoming council to the extent that will be necessary to install the new system. The new council meets next Monday evening, when a mayor and director of law will be chosen and a town clerk will be elected.

A report was received from the state health officer on the public dump on Broad street at Morgan and Learned streets. Several changes are recommended and the council is to consider them. They provide for the separation of vegetables from the dry garbage, the burning of such refuse as can be destroyed in that way and the employment of a caretaker there who shall regulate the dumping and the sort of material deposited there. Complaint was made by Lina Beckwith of the dreadful odor arising from the dump and that brought the inspection by the state health officer.

Permission was sought to erect a few houses, which is more than has been asked at recent meetings.

An automobile owned by Sidney H. Miner, 15 Post Mill place, and operated by Mrs. Miner was damaged this evening when side-swiped by a car owned and driven by Joseph Porsini, 53 Smith street. Mrs. Miner, whose car had been parked along side the curb on State street, north of Union street, started the machine and extended her hand as a signal. As the car left the curb the machine driven by Porsini whizzed by and grazed the Miner automobile, disfiguring it.

An automobile owned and operated by Allen Maynard, 28 Linden street, and a New York automobile bearing New York registration 92485, were in collision Saturday night on Square street. Maynard's machine sustained the greater amount of damage.

Richard Lawrence, residing at 10 Pearl street, is a patient at Home Memorial hospital as a result of injuries he sustained early this evening, possibly a concussion of the brain, by falling from his bicycle on Howard street. When in front of the residence of Peter Vime he suddenly pitched forward and fell to the pavements, landing upon his head. A passing autoist had the lad conveyed to the hospital. Later it was stated that the boy had sustained bruises and that he would be kept there under observation a day or two for the purpose of determining whether the more serious injury existed.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Geraldine McIntosh, daughter of Mrs. Helen McIntosh, 203 Huntington street, to David J. Keatley, 6 Arcadia Park, Somerville, Mass.

Roger Farrell, former physical instructor at the Y. M. C. A., who tendered his resignation recently to go to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Miss Helen Kellogg, daughter of Mrs. Addie Kellogg, were married Saturday at the residence of Clarence M. Shay, 19 Mott avenue, by Rev. Myron E. Geuter, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in the presence of relatives and intimate friends. Lyle Farrell, of Manchester, N. H., brother of the groom, was best man and Miss Grace Nelson, this city, attended the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Farrell will make their home in Niagara upon the conclusion of a wedding trip.

Miss E. Louise Loosley has returned to her home, 25 Brainard street, having visited Col. and Mrs. George H. Goeman in Brooklyn.

Miss Jean Blaine of West Coit street and employed as operator at the local exchange of the Southern New England Telephone company, is in Dallas, Texas, to remain a month, the guest of relatives.

Seven cases claimed the attention of Judge Cornelius C. Costello in the Groton town court this morning.

Joseph Arsenault, Denison avenue, was presented for failure to abide by the court order to make stipulated payments to his wife, who had caused Arsenault's arrest for non-support. The case was continued a week. Arsenault is the father of five children.

Frank Merritt, Fort Hill, Poquonoc, and Edward Morgan, Noank, were arraigned on a charge of breach of the peace. Morgan was fined $5 and costs, the latter amounting to $10.87, and the charge against Merritt was nolled.

Joseph Rose, Poquonoc road, on a charge of vagrancy, having been arrested Saturday night by State Police Officer Giles Watson, was fined $5 and costs, the latter amounting to $5 and was given 30 days in which to pay. If Rose fails to pay the fine and costs he will be committed to jail for 30 days. The prosecution of Rose was brought about because he refuses to work and lives off the support of his mother.

The continued case of James Phillips, 150 Taft avenue, New Haven, charged with reckless driving, was nolled. Phillips' car was in collision with a machine owned and driven by Giuseppi Buldrighini, Groton, corner of Thames and Allen streets, three weeks ago and the prosecution was not in possession of facts that warranted prosecution until today.

The case of Carl Landrum, charged with non-support and which was continued from last week, was disposed of by nolle as Landrum had agreed to take care of his wife and family. Landrum is a sailor stationed at the submarine base.

Steve Bagnell, of Noank, arrested by Deputy Fish and Game Warden Christopher Culver, was fined $10 and costs, the latter amounting to $102.02, upon a charge of having in his possession short lobsters.

Frank Smith, Noank, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Culver, was charged with failure to return from the waters from which they were taken, five female lobsters. A fine of $10 and costs was imposed, but Smith, through counsel, gave notice of an appeal.

Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney today forwarded to City Manager William A. Holt the charges of Lieut. Benjamin Beebe against Patrolman Charles P. Hammond, who was stated by Sergeant Samuel Hick to have reported for duty in a partially intoxicated condition Saturday night. City Manager Holt, who has been absent from the city a week returned to New London today and will assign a date for the hearing without delay. Hammond, it has become known, has retained counsel, asserting that he was not intoxicated and that a drive is being made to obtain his removal from the police department.

Miss Boleslawin Podhielska, 16, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Podhielska, 38 Ashcraft road, died at Home Memorial hospital Sunday.

In the police court this morning ten of the accused men were crap shooters, or spectators while this favorite game of the colored man was progressing. Five of the gang were fined $5 each, while the rest were found not guilty of "rolling the bones" as one player described it. There was a tremendous scattering when the police officers were called to the Central Vermont wharf to put a stop to gambling. One of the shooters climbed a pole to get away from the property, but his squirrel-like act did not prove to be a means of escape. Another ran along a joist under the wharf in danger of going overboard.

A negress, who long ago passed the admiration stage, was charged with being a street walker, but she represented that she was only drunk. Her statement appeared to be true so she was fined $25. Three drunks were disciplined with fines. The case which involved a collision of automobiles was not brought to trial as the parties concerned seem to have reached an agreement.

James Santangelo was fined $10 for striking at a young man who, he claimed, was jeering at him. The blow did not reach the point it was aimed at, but it carried Santangelo through a plate glass window in the store of McMahon and Sexton. He emerged with a lacerated hand that may be a bit expensive to him in addition to the fine and costs paid in the court of $20.

Perfectos Anoyna and Raymond Richards went to jail for a fight on the street Sunday morning. They were fined and had no money to settle.

There is no change in the strike situation at the plant of the Edward Bloom Silk Company, Garfield avenue, the 100 weavers who have been on a strike a week because of the refusal of the company to grant them an increase in wages of three cents a yard, remaining firm in their demand for more money.

The condition of George Haven, former captain of police, who has been seriously ill at his home, Bilnman street, for a fortnight, does not improve.

Joseph Reaves of Tenth street; Mrs. Earl Russell and infant daughter, Golden street; Joseph Gordon, Brooklyn; Frank Sammataro, Shaw street; Mrs. Herbert Cook, Williams street, and Stephen Stefenski, Westerly, patients at Lawrence hospital, were discharged today.

Mary G. Williams has sold a house and lot on Warren street to Marion E. Capwell. Carry Monroe has sold a house and lot on Crystal avenue to Frank Bucko.

Anna L. M. Lee has sold a building lot on the north side of Hillside avenue to Frederick W. Mercer.

Miss Edna Green, Home street, employed as stenographer in the office of the city clerk, resumed her duties today after her vacation of a fortnight.

The funeral of Mrs. Charlotte Rasmussen, widow of Andrew Rasmussen, was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at her home, 10 Burrows court, the services being conducted by Rev. Horatio Chase, pastor of Montauk Avenue Baptist church. Members of the church acted as bearers. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

The funeral of Alphonse Cappello, World war veteran, whose death occurred Friday at Lawrence hospital took place this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, the mass of requiem being sung by Rev. Raymond O'Callahan. W. J. Tracy, W. T. Hanna, F. Villiano, F. Delaporte, P. Drago and M. Baldelli, World war veterans, were bearers. A firing squad and a bugler from the submarine base, acted as an escort, fired a volley and sounded taps at the committal in St. Mary's cemetery.

Ensign Joseph P. Carney, U. S. N., stationed at Pontiac, R. I., came to New London today and his visit here was a costly one for in passing through State street he lost his wallet containing between $78 and $79. Carney reported his loss at the police station.

An automobile owned by the government and a part of the motor equipment used by the United States Coast Guard Academy, and operated by Fred Dunn, a sailor, was struck by an automobile operated by Mrs. Ruth I. Connor of State street, this morning on Bank street. Both cars were damaged.

JEWETT CITY

The annual town meeting was held at the town house in Pachaug Monday afternoon. Eleven women and nine men from Jewett City and two women and five men from the rest of Griswold were present at the opening of the meeting. Four more women and eight men from Jewett City arrived too late, as the meeting opened at exactly two o'clock, and was over in ten minutes. Had everyone arrived on time there would have been thirty-nine present, and thirty-two of that number from Jewett City. Dr. G. H. Jennings was elected chairman of the meeting, John Welsh was clerk. It was voted to accept the report of the selectmen and town officers. Arba Browning was appointed a member of the Daniel S. Anthony Trust Fund. It was voted to authorize the selectmen to borrow money for temporary use, and to pay any part of the town debt that can be paid. It was voted to grant pay or salaries to town officers the same as last year. The selectmen were given charge of the repairing of the highways of the town. It was voted to employ and pay physicians as before and to purchase a road scraper, the cost of which will be thirteen hundred dollars. First Selectman Maxcey Seymour said it was very difficult to get teams to work and that the road scraper would pay for itself in a year. It was voted to discontinue that portion of the highways leading from Woodward school house to the residence formerly of Charles D. Babcock; also to appropriate nine hundred dollars towards the support of a district nurse, and that the selectmen appoint a committee of seven to supervise her work, the selectmen to secure the nurse. Last year the town appropriation was seven hundred and only two hundred was used. It is considered advisable to get a new automobile this year, as the present one has been in use for two years.

The value of this nursing work cannot be estimated in money. The total number of visits to the sick is 2238. Total expense, $1857.09. The committee had on hand September 1, 1923, $270.-73; received from Red Cross $500, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., $927.-06; town of Griswold, $200.00, other sources $160.30, total $2058.08; leaving in the hands of the treasurer $200.99.

The funeral of Peter Tallon was held at his home on North Main Street Monday morning. Requiem mass was sung at St. Mary's church by Rev. John J. McCabe. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery. The bearers were Felix McMahon, George Bryant, Lawrence Olson, Napoleon and William Raill and Moses Salois. Hourigan Bros., were in charge of the arrangements.

The dahlias at the Baptist church Sunday were given by William Knox; among them was the Beatrice Knox.

One of the numbers at the Baptist Rally Day service was a trio sung by Florence Quinby, Evelyn Gardner and Agnes Franklin, members of Mrs. D. L. Phillips' class.

The asters at the Congregational church Sunday came from the gardens of E. L. French.

The Jewish stores in town are closed for two days on account of their New Year's holiday.

Friends of Mrs. William Chamberlain are sorry to learn that she is not improving as fast as could be wished.

Miss Bertha Gallup of Voluntown and Henry C. Congdon of Moosup were married by Rev. J. P. Richardson at the Congregational parsonage in Pachaug Saturday afternoon. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Armstrong.

Mrs. G. H. Prior goes to Chicago, Ill., today (Tuesday) to attend the Illinois state convention of The King's Daughters. She will give two addresses one on Our Order, given Wednesday evening and Thursday evening The Broad Vision of the King's Daughters. She also leads the consecration service when the convention closes.

The trapping season will open officially in a few days, which fact will give the south part of the town hunters an opportunity to see how much of a revenue they can make this year, in the following of a rugged and particular job, which for a long time was focally classed with the lost arts. When it is known that two years ago, one man made $480 on his peltries, some of the younger country trappers are saying that it is not such a bad way to earn a few dollars on the side. Some years ago, a man named Hicks, living in this village, used to get around 200 skins in a season. The Darwinian theory seems reasonable, when one observes how many tadpole muskrats become river mink, and to what extent the every day Stone Hill skunk, is transformed into Hudson Bay sable.

Information that stands to the credit of the electric light commission shows that when George J. Moeller was first appointed chairman of the board, the cost to the consumer was twelve and one half cents per kilowatt. Today it has been reduced to 10 cents. Efficient management is correctly stated, when applied to the borough ommission.

The annual report of the selectmen of Griswold, Maxcey Seymour, Arba Browning and Harold F. Geer, will be distributed to the voters at the polls next week. The following figures will show the expenditures for the year ending Aug. 31.

Highways $7740.24; bridges $309.65; town officers $1805.00; assessing and collecting taxes $2114.25; town farm $1767.61; outside poor $2469.56; medical attendance $194.39; care of insane and imbecile $1108.58; damage done by dogs $122.00; town hall, Jewett City $8702.61; town hall, Pachaug $142.20; vital statistics $244.25; election expenses $826.10; interest $7820.-89; taxes $5176.76; loans and bonds $43,000.00; miscellaneous $1328.21; $78,-302.50; deduct taxes $5176.76; deduct bonds and loans $43,000.00; $48,176.76; current expenses of the year $30,125.74.

Three outlays which have always had more or less showing among the current expenses of the town, that are not to be seen in the present report, are damage done by deer, cost of removing snow and the maintenance of water troughs.

Not many years ago these public watering places for horses and oxen were an absolute necessity in carrying on transportation within the town.

It used to cost from $60.00 to $75.00 each year to break out the back district roads.

One year the amount paid for damage done by deer, was over $50.00, mostly to budding orchards and string beans.

The following scores were shot on the Voluntown Rifle Club Range. Ed Wyatt put up the high scores in the 50 shot match and in the ten shot match for the Edmond Medal, Harry Sargent and Clarence Gaudette were close seconds.

50 shots at 100 yards: John Kaufmann 480.

Winchester Junior Rifle Corps at Kaufmann's Range, all these boys made their possibles, offhand at 50 feet, for their gold medals donated by the Winchester Arms Co: Louis Strand 50, Nelson Nigran 50; Floyd Magrey 50; Charles Strand 50; Euclide [illegible] 50.

MYSTIC

A Boston paper Friday had an account of the exhibition of oil and water color paintings by contemporary New England artists which Robert C. Vose has got together and exhibited in his galleries in Copley square, in connection with the observance of New England week. Of special interest is the mention made of the Mystic artist, Charles H. Davis, N. A.: "The color, spirit and luminosity of New England in summer are beautifully and simply expressed in 'Over the Uplands,' by Charles H. Davis. You feel the fleecy clouds blowing across the deep blue sky and over a typical bit of upland pasture in Connecticut." Another exhibitor of local interest was J. Eliot Enneking, an annual summer visitor here, whose exhibit, 'Stony Brook, Hyde Park,' is spoken of as 'a charming bit of winter painting'."

In the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends, Mrs. Jennie B. Dodge and Lloyd C. Moore were united in marriage at the home of the bride Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ, New London.

Mrs. George W. Wallace returned Friday from a visit of several weeks with her parents in Fairfield, Canada.

A good many from here attended a gathering to the Ku Klux Klan Saturday in the vicinity of North Stonington.

The Dinty Moore Whist club had an enjoyable session Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sarah Barstow. Refreshments were served by the hostess following the game. The prize went to Mrs. Truman A. Jewell and the consolation award to Mrs. Ruth Newell.

Sixteen were present at the meeting of the Sewing society of Charity chapter, No. 61, O. E. S., Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Beret Jansson in Noank. Whist was played. Mrs. Inez Carville, worthy matron of the chapter, of Poquonnock, received the first prize and Mrs. Bertha Burrows of Poquonnock the consolation award. The next meeting of the Sewing society will be held at the home of Mrs. Moses W. Wilcox.

The September meeting of Fanny Ledyard chapter, D. A. R., is to be held Wednesday afternoon, with the following committee in charge of the program and refreshments: Mrs. Minnie E. B. Phillips, Mrs. Elsie H. Lathrop, Mrs. Katherine A. Fairbanks, Mrs. Mary B. Denison, Mrs. T. Aletta Holmes, Mrs. Ellen H. Noyes, Mrs. Martha B. Stinson and Miss Emily F. Denison.

At the meeting of Mystic Country club this week the committee in charge of the arrangements will be Mr. and Mrs. Alfred O. Coley, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Wilcox, Mrs. Eli Gledhill and Miss Alice McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Merrill and Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Merrill were visitors here Friday night on their way home to Pittsfield, Me., from an automobile trip to Virginia, their journey covering about 1,400 miles.

Mrs. Frank Burrows of Burlington, Vt., a former resident here, was a visitor here last week, renewing acquaintances.

Philip Harris of New Haven spent the week end in the village.

Miss M. Geneva Rathbun has returned to Milford after spending the week end at her summer home in Quinnhaug.

Miss Martha Jones of Pawtucket spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Jones, who also had as their guest Miss Caroline Nachtive of Boston.

Miss Constance Fort, who ended her engagement Sunday as organist at the Methodist church, is to be organist at Calvary Episcopal church, Stonington, and will begin her new duties Sunday, Oct. 5th.

Sunday was a day of readjustment for residents of the village, for the churches went back on standard time and the railroad also ran on the old time, with some changes in schedule.

The Rossie Velvet company plant was closed Thursday because of the funeral of Robert B. Hirsch.

Mrs. Ida Frink of Ekonk is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. K. Bucklyn.

The work of pouring the cement for the 23 steps which are to form the main entrance to the Union Baptist church is being pushed, and the trustees of the church are contemplating as early beginning of the work of renovating and overhauling the interior of the church. In addition to the front entrance, there will also be an entrance from High street and from Liberty street.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Stoddard have returned after an automobile trip of several days.

Mrs. George V. Grinnell entertained the whist club Friday afternoon.

The deed was passed Friday for the sale of the property at 26 Denison avenue, belonging to the Mary E. Brown estate, to Simon Curlonjik, who has taken possession of the property, and who will thoroughly renovate it.

A new chimney has been built on the house occupied by R. K. Burrows, and other repairs have been made to the property.

Misses Jessica and Rachel Burnet are soon to move into the house recently purchased by them on High street. Their house on Cliff street will then be occupied by E. E. Church and family, who will move there from the Evans house on High street.

Miss Ethel Burdick is having her vacation from her duties at the Southern New England telephone exchange and is on a trip which includes the Mohawk trail. Her mother, Mrs. Eva Burdick, is accompanying her.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rippel went to New Haven Friday for a few days' stay.

Constipation can ruin your health—get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

When clean and clear, the intestine is converting wholesome food into vigorous health. But when clogged by constipation, it generates poisons from the obstructed food that can lead to many serious diseases.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It has a natural, healthy action. It works exactly as nature acts. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

Results with Kellogg's Bran are sure, for Kellogg's is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is endorsed by doctors everywhere. Eat it and you need never take another habit-forming drug or pill.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, should be eaten regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will enjoy eating it. Kellogg's Bran has a wonderful flavor, a delicious nut-like flavor. And this flavor is an exclusive Kellogg achievement.

There are many ways to enjoy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Eat it with milk or cream as a cereal. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Look for the recipes on every package and try it in muffins, griddle cakes, bran bread, etc.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS ACTIVE

New York, Sept. 29.—Stock prices turned reactionary in today's market after an early period of firmness, and was featured by the active buying of several railroad shares. Except for the marking up of the call money rate from 3 to 3 per cent. which was generally believed to be temporary and due to the usual shifting of funds at the end of the month, there was nothing in the day's news to account for the selling movement. While trading was somewhat restricted by the absence of many traders over the Jewish holiday, total sales ran well above 800,000 shares.

Standard Industrials were sluggish throughout most of the session. U. S. Steel common opened 6-8 lower at 109 7-8, advanced to a new high on the movement at 109 1-2, slipped back to 107 3-4 and closed at 10 77-8, off 1 3-8. Losses of a point or more also were recorded by American Can, Anaconda, Baldwin, Dupont, Kennecott Copper, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Dozens of other issues.

A thin market existed for some of the high priced public utilities and industrial specialties, with the result that drastic declines took place when those stocks were pressed for sale. American Water Works common broke nearly nine points to 116 1-4, and net losses of three points or more took place in the General Electric, General Baking, American Tobacco B and Nash Motor.

Oil shares continued to reflect the depressing influence of further crude oil price cuts. Cosden was hammered down nearly a point to a new low for the year at 32, while net losses of a point or more were recorded by Atlantic Refining, the Barnsdall issues, Houston, Mexican Seaboard and Producers and Refiners.

Standard Oil of New Jersey, Superior and Shell Union were the only issues in that group to close above Saturday's final quotations, the net gain being fractional in each case.

Atchison was in good demand in the early trading, touching 109, the highest price since 1916, on rumors of special dividend developments, but it eased later to 107 3-4 Chicago and Alton, Chicago and Great Western and Peoria and Eastern were active and firm on merger reports. Atlantic Coast Line was heavy, dropping nearly three points to 134. Frisco preferred touched touched a new hight at 30 3-4 but forfeited part of its gain in the late trading.

Consolidated Gas of Baltimore continued its sensational climb, touching another new high at 149 and then slipped back to 148, up to 2 1-4 on the day. Public service of New Jersey also touched a new top at 63, but most of the other public untilities lost ground on profit taking.

A firmer tone prevailed in the time money market with some 90 day funds being quoted with no change in rates.

Foreign echange rates were reactionary, presumably in reflection of the unfavorable political developments at Geneva. Demand sterling dropped near 1 1-2 cents to below 4.45 and French francs were again quoted below 5 1-4 cents.

BOND MARKET

New York, Sept. 29.—Stiffening, money rate turned bond prices reactionary today. After an early period of firmness in which several foreign and railroad issues established new 1924 high prices, the market yielded to offerings included by the scarcity of time funds and the rise in call money from 3 to 3 per cent.

Liberty bonds, as usual, were the the first to react to the tightening of money rates. Although the situation was believed to be only temporary due to the shifting of funds to meet monthend requirements, it checked industrial buying on government obligations. With the absorptive capacity of the market thus limited, prices eased off.

The unexplained accumulation of Mexican government issues, revived today, established several 1924 high records in this list. Other features of the foreign dealings were the buying of Brazil Central Railway 7's and New Belgian 6 1-2's, which again eclipsed their previous high mark.

Railroad liens, which were strong in the early dealings, declined late in the day as money rates were marked up. Frisco Income 6's led the entire market in activity, but after selling up to 76 3-8 fell back to 75 for a net loss of more than a point. Similar movements took place in the variety of other issues, including Seaboard, "Katy", Northern Pacific and Pere Marquette bonds. Profit-taking caused recessions of 3 and 5 points in the Brooklyn Union Gas issues.

Offering of a $20,000,000 loan for the Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean Railroad, the largest system in France, will be made by bankers tomorrow. Priced at 93 1-4 the 7 per cent. bonds will yield 7.75 per cent. to maturity, September 15, 1958. Proceeds of sale will be used to retire floating indebtedness and to pay for improvements.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Greatly enlarged foreign demand for breadstuffs resulted today in an all-around advance of wheat and rye to the topmost prices yet this season corn values underwent a setback, despite frost. The wheat market closed firm, 2 1-4 a 3c net higher; December 1.40 7-8 to 1.41 and May 1.46 1-2 to 1.46 5-8 to 1 3-8 down, oats 1-4 to 3-8 1-2 off and provisions unchanged to 10c up.

With export buying of wheat today estimated as reaching the huge total of 2,500,000 bushels and with evidence plain that Europe was also purchasing future deliveries on a big scale, the wheat market showed a strong upward tendency from the outset.

The fact that the United States visible supply of wheat showed an increase of but 740,000 bushels today also construced as a bullish factor. Liberal selling here to realize profits acted as only a temporary check to the upward swing of the market.

Widespread frost and predictions of more tonight served to bring out such a volume of profit taking sales that the corn market underwent a sudden break of three cents and failed to recover in full.

Oats were easier owing to sympathy with corn and as a result of 9,808,000 bushels enlargement of the oats visible supply total, higher quotations on hogs withheld the provision market.

CURB MARKET

New York, Sept. 29.—Reactionary tendencies prevailed in today's curb market with trading somewhat smaller in volume. With the exception of a break of 12 points in Standard Oil of Nebraska and one of five points in Magnolia Petroleum, each on a small turnover, the oil shares showed little effect of a further downward readjustment of crude prices. Ohio Oil and Prairie and Indiana Pipes each closed a point higher.

Public utilities were decidedly mixed. Middle west utilities was run up more than 3 points to 84 1-2 and United Light and Power, class A, common, closed 4 3-8 higher at 53 1-2 while Commonwealth Power dropped 1 1-2. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore (new stock) the most active feature, touched a new high at 37 3-4, closing slightly below that figure.

National Tea broke eight points to 245 while Gillette Safety Razor, Radio Corporation preferred (new stock) and Yellow Taxicab closed a point or so higher.

Speculative interest in the mining group was limited to a few issues, Hawthorne Mines showing a net gain of three points and Jib Consolidated dropping 5, these, with West End Extension which was unchanged, being the most active features.

She Threw Away Calomel and took Beecham's Pills

"I felt so miserable," said the young woman cashier in a fashionable New Jersey hotel. "A friend suggested calomel and I was about to take it.

"Another friend noticed the calomel on my desk and cautioned me against it. She said her sister took calomel and ate some fruit and the combination 'salivated' her—loosened some of her teeth and made her very sick.

"Fearing that my stomach might be in an acid condition, I bought a 25c box of Beecham's Pills and took a dose. The next day I felt fine and I haven't needed anything during the three weeks since.

"I wouldn't take anything but Beecham's now. Some of the other girls here take Beecham's and all say they are wonderful."

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

Building operations in Norwich continued to make satisfactory progress during the past week. The house for George Charbonneau at the corner of West Thames and Nelson place is well along, the interior being nearly ready for the plasterers and the exterior has been boarded in and the shingles put on.

The garage being erected on North Main street on the site of the old Shetucket Mill club house is well along. The foundations have been reinforced and the brick walls that are being erected are about one-third completed.

At the Norwich State Hospital the new ward buildings are fast nearing the completion stage, the exterior work having been practically completed.

The walls for the Nurses Home at the Backus hospital are all up and work is being rushed on the interior.

The building on Main street occupied by the Brooklyn Outfitters is being remodeled and a new front is being put in. The ground floor front will have two large display windows of plate glass set in copper.

The two-apartment house for John Bellone on Division street is practically completed and will be ready for occupancy about the middle of October. Each apartment contains five rooms and bath.

In other parts of the city good progress has been made on buildings now in progress of erection. Several houses started earlier in the year will be completed before the cold weather sets in. At the office of Fire Marshal Stanton several permits for small buildings and garages were issued and several applications were received.

New London

The contract has been awarded for the proposed residence on Hillside avenue for Frederick W. Mercer, Huntington street. From plans prepared the house will consist of a main structure, 50x35 feet, with a service wing. It will be of hollow tile and cement stucco construction, with green tile roof. There will be tile baths, hot water heat and every convenience. The dwelling will be arranged for twelve rooms.

The permit has been issued for the synagogue for Temple Isreal, Inc., on Park street, Ocean Beach. The construction is in charge of Max Maislen. Plans for the building call for a frame edifice, 30x45 feet, with a balcony. The construction will be done largely by day labor.

Total of Building Permits Larger

The report of building operations for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 to be submitted to the council shortly by Building Inspector Benjamin Lincus, will show that building operations in New London have increased substantially over the preceding fiscal year. For the eleven months ended Aug. 31, 407 permits were issued for construction estimated to cost $1,280,000. This compares with a total of 365 permits issued during the fiscal year ended a year ago when the total cost of construction started during the year was $1,280,957.

Local architects are preparing new plans for a two-story building for the Charles H. Klinck estate. The building will be of reinforced concrete construction with a terra cotta front. There will be four stores on the first floor and factory space on the second floor. The frontage on Bank street will be 72 feet, and the depth will be 75 feet.

Applications for Building Permits

Mrs. Joseph Migillo, concrete garage, 862 Bank street, $350.

George N. Chapin est., addition and alterations, 48 Perry street, $600.

F. W. Mercer, dwelling, Hillside avenue, $40,000.

Laury Quintilliane, garage, Squire street, $500.

Silas Maxon, Jr., garage Dell avenue $200.

F. J. Silva, garage, 156 Bayonet street, $300.

John C. Austin, garage, 52 Gorton street, $200.

Agnes Janerzinski, 16 Clover court, $200.

Number of permits issued for the week, 12; estimated cost of buildings, $42,750.

LYME

Plans for a residence in Lyme for William G. Burt of Chicago, are being figured. The house will be of frame construction, arranged for 10 rooms. It will be 30x56 feet, with an ell 30x21 feet. A two-car garage will be erected in the rear. The proposed dwelling will be of Dutch colonial design, and will have tile baths, hot water heat and all improvements.

Niantic

Plans and specifications are being prepared for a church at Niantic. The building will be one story high, of frame construction. It will be 30 x60 feet, and will have a steam or hot water heating system. Other improvements will be provided.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich during the past week there were 13 sales of real estate as compared to 21 sales for the corresponding week in 1923. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $35,900 and $28,450.

There were 11 sales of real estate in New London during the past week as compared to 4 sales for the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $52,500 and $57,025.

State Building Operations

The building situation for the week remains on about an equal footing with the corresponding week of last year. It is too early for work planned for winter to be felt, and the fall work does not show any material increase over last year. For the current week in the leading cities of the state 392 permits for new construction work were issued as against 388 in 1923 and 235 in 1922. The cost of new construction work this year amounted to $1,427,741, comparing with $848,431 last year and $1,281,232 in 1922.

Opening a "women for congress" campaign, Alice Paul, vice president of the National Women's party, pointed out in a statement in Washington, that only six states have nominated a woman for congress.

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

The following is taken from the files of the Norwich Courier:

September 25, 1849—Notice has been given out and a call issued by the whig town committee for a meeting of the whigs at the town hall, Friday evening, for the purpose of nominating town officers. Attention has been called to the activity of the Locofoco agents in various towns and whigs are urged to get into action.

James H. Beckwith was injured immediately following the Firemen's parade Saturday afternoon when the tongue of the machine of Company No. 1 was broken and he was precipitated under the wheels. The wheels passed over him and it is feared that there is small chance for his recovery.

According to New London figures on divorce cases pending before the Superior court in that city, numbering twenty-two in all, marriage in this part of the state is evidently a contract on time.

Over fifteen ships and schooners are now in the port of Norwich with cargoes of rail iron, cotton, coal, corn, flagstone and horns. A like number of ships sailed from the port Saturday.

Park Benjamin is to deliver three lectures at the town hall during the present week, as follows: The Age of Gold, The Stage, Before and Behind the Curtain and The Utility of Popular Diversions. Tickets for three persons for all lectures cost one dollar.

E. Z. Webster has opened his new Daguerreau gallery in the Hubbard building over Ireson's shoe store and is ready to take the pictures of Norwich great men and "big boys."

At the present time there are plenty of rents in Norwich, some being as follows; 3 stores on Union street at $75, 2 stores on Main street at $250, 2 stores on Market street at $225. For tenements there are 2 on Union street for $200, one on Main street for $80, one in West Chelsea for $65 and one at Grove street for $50.

September 27, 1849—Backus & Barstow of the "Round White Sign" have advertised American brick ovens and Commercial parlor air-tight stoves for sale. Cylinder coal stoves are also offered in new patterns.

The Long Island Express train to connect with steamboats from Norwich and New London is to go into operation on the 1st of October. This route via Long Island was found to be the shortest and quickest between New York and Boston, but was discontinued because of loss through poor management. It will certainly add to the accommodation of the public in this quarter, therefore we wish the enterprise success.

Judge Hinman is sitting at New London in the Superior Court trying a case which has attracted considerable attention, being that of breach of promise by a well known Stonington gentleman.

News of England and the continent received by magnetic telegraph to the Boston Atlas, seven days later from Europe, tells of the arrival of the Steamship America at Halifax and contains news of the spread of Cholera in England and the fight for Italian liberty.

September 29, 1849 — Henry B. Downer, agent for the American House advertises Messrs. Waterman & Buckley's well known established lines of Four Horse Coaches leaving the hotel for Hartford via Colchester every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 7 a. m., arriving in Hartford in time to take the 2 1-2 p. m. train of cars for New Haven. Passengers for this line and Lathrop's old established line to Willimantic, Stafford Springs and Somers, will be called for in any part of the city.

E. A. Bill announces a fare reduction to 75 cents by the Steamer Angelina to Bradford's Island, Stonington Point and Watch Hill, daily. Announcement is also made of the regular packet for Albany, sailing schooner Mary A. Lovell, Joseph H. Lovell, master.

The whig ticket for town officers has been selected as follows; assessors, Arthur F. Gilman, Benjamin Huntington and Nathan Scholfield; board of relief, William E. Clark, Jedediah Huntington, Joseph A. Perrington; Select Men, Sanford B. Meech, Edward Y. Thomas, Benjamin D. Dean and Charles Bliss; treasurer, Lyman Brewer; town clerk, Othniel Gager; first constable and collector, Zebulon R. Robbins. The town committee named was Samuel H. Grosvenor, William E. Park, Thomas L. Stedman and James D. Mowry.

WESTMINSTER

The departure of Walter Jones for New York makes four of the six sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. A. Jones, who have gone away to make good in earning their independent living. The three older are married and in New York and New Jersey in railroading business and were visitors at the home of their parents and sister with their families, this summer.

Mrs. Frank Pettett is another of the new voters

Raymond and Archie Green, and Axel Heldstrom are among those working in Arthur Bennett's lumber camp, now near Frank Smith's and Little Rivers.

It is a matter of regret to many friends that Mrs. Axel Heldstrom plans to leave Westminster, with her children to spend the winter in New York. They will go within a week, probably.

Russell Hubbard Nevins accompanied by his aunts, The Misses Nevins and Miss Perkins all of Shaw Farm Waterford, were recent callers at the parsonage; expressing great admiration for the national scenery of this region and the opposite for its main road.

Peaches are plentiful and handsome in this region, this fall.

Trial of four women and 16 men arrested in a raid on an inn in East Haven will be held on Wednesday night.

POETRY

THE EVERGREEN TREES.

Look with me on these trim autocrats
Of our New England woods.
Somewhat lack-grace, say you,
In their being—
Fashioned not in leafy curves
And fluttering boughs
Of other growths about them,
That graceful sweep, and wide,
Stirred by the passing breeze;
These splendid sentinels of the woods,
In ever-greenness, defying icy fingers
That pluck their neighbors
Stark and bare.
Forms grotesque and grim, in truth,
When skies are dull,
But, sun above, what more of grace
Than these same sombre shapes
Picked out in lacy tips and bunches
Against the ether blue or airy cloud?
The rain has passed, but see
Where it has left myriad tiny tokens,
Sparkling in sun-kissed varied hues
All through the evergreens—
Christmas trees, glow-touched by fairy wands.
See winter take each separate twig and needle,
Embedding them in crystal sheath,
Then turn a sun search-light
Upon the glittering towers,
And comes the day when snowy whirls
Sink down all noiselessly
On outstretched arms of green,
Till piled in fleecy mounds,
Then stand the evergreens
Full giant plumes of white,
Straight pointing to the sky,
Or nodding in a shower of starry flakes.
And who, with pen or brush, can catch
The beauty of New England woods?
—Suzanne W. Muzzey, in Boston Transcript.

THE SELF-SAME SONG.

There sang a nightingale within an English wood
Two moons ago.
Throughout the isles and o'er that narrow sea,
Thousands on thousands heard the song
Borne on ethereal waves immediate.
How many now remember?

There sang a Bird from out a beech's bower
A hudred years ago.
Keats heard it, and his song
Will live as long as nightingales shall sing;
As long as any read the English tongue;
As long as any men love loveliness—
As long as memory lives,
Or song.
—Douglas Hurn, in Christian Science Monitro.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Poets are born and not made.

Is that a boast or an alibi?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

" 'Most everybody sympathizes wif de poor," said Uncle Eben! "for he reason dat 'most everybody feels kind o' poor hisself in comparison wif somebody else."—Washington Star.

What has become of the tin locomotive and train of cars I gave you on your birthday?

"They're all smashed up," replied the small boy. "We've been playin' government ownership."—Good Hardware.

She (gushingly)—Let me see, I am sure we met somewhere before. Were we at school together?

Young Man (tactlessly)—Yes, you were my teacher.—Exchange.

Wife—I don't see how we can go for a holiday this summer.

Husband—You know it's on the children's account.

Wife—Yes: but have they that much in the bank?—Answers, London

Did you read Cicero's orations when you were at school?

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "And I happened to be looking them over the other evening. It struck me as remarkable good stuff without any league of nations or Ku-Klux to talk about.—Washington Star.

KALEIDOSCOPE

A plague of locusts brought a new industry to Bocholt, Germany. The insects have been gathered by the ton and oil extracted from the bodies. The oil is intended for airplane motors and is said to be particularly adapted for winter flying because it does not congeal in low temperatures. Good, fat locusts retailed at about one-fourth of a cent a pound. After the insects passed through the oil extraction process the refuse was used for fertilizer.

We have all come to believe that the cows are all in the country and that they have no city cousins, in spite of the fact that any day Washingtonians can see one of the finest herds of Holsteins in the world grazing in the Soldiers' Home pastures, says the Washington Star. As a matter of fact there are 1,200,000 "city" cows in the United States, as against 25,556,000 "country" cows, according to a survey by the United States department of agriculture. The combined production of the "city" cows and the "country" cows in the United States last year was 110,000,000,000 pounds of whole milk, or an average production a cow of 4,260 pounds. The effect of city life on the producing capacity of a cow is not shown.

Of the twenty commonly known varieties of parrots, the most talkative ones, according to George Bruce Chapman, head of a London house that has imported and sold the birds for more than a hundred years, are the Brazilian Amazon and the African Gray. The former has bright blue and yellow feathers and red tips to the shoulders and flight wings. The African Gray has a red tail. In Brazil natives watch the nesting places and when the fledglings are a few days old, the feathers of one of the wings are trimmed. Later these birds are easily captured, placed on perches and taken to the nearest village. Fanciers say that the birds should be fed twice a day, and with proper care will live thirty years.

RED PIMPLES ON FACE AND BODY

Itched and Burned. Could Not Sleep Well. Cuticura Heals.

"My face and lower part of my body began to itch and burn, and large red pimples broke out, that festered and scaled over. The irritation caused me to scratch and the scratching caused the trouble to spread. I could not sleep very well at night. The trouble lasted two or three weeks.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased more and in a short time I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Gertrude B. Sterling, 294 Pleasant St., So. Weymouth, Mass.

Cuticura Soap to cleanse and purify, Cuticura Ointment to soothe and heal and Cuticura Talcum to powder and perfume are ideal for daily toilet purposes.

Sample Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. X, Malden 48, Mass." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Try our new Shaving Stick.

GALES FERRY

A court was held in the Country club house here late Friday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Walter M. Buckingham, upon complaint of Mrs. Clara Moran, teacher of the Cider Hill school, Ledyard, charging seven youths between 17 and 18, of Mystic, with creating a disturbance outside the schoolhouse and trapping on the windows while the school was in session. Mrs. Moran telephoned state police of Groton and Fred T. Caron responded and placed the boys under arrest. They gave their names as John Mosco, Livio Cini, Daniel McGinnis, Peter Shniden, Morris Monosin, Floyd Watson and Anton Ostigney. They were ordered to apologize to Mrs. Moran and were placed on probation for six months and charged with the costs of the case, $19.52.

There was no afternoon session of the schools of the town Friday, as the teachers met for the September conference at the Ledyard Center school with Supervisor of Schools S. Hussey Reed.

Miss Frances C. Kingberger, school nurse, visited the village school and the Long Cove district school last week to inspect the children's eyes.

The Best Seller, The Bible, was the theme of Rev. W. D. Woodward when he spoke to the young people Sunday morning in the Methodist Episcopal church. His sermon was from St. John 16: 7, "Nevertheless, I tell you the truth: It is expedient for you that I go away." The offertory hymn, "As One His Mother Comforteth," was sung by a double quartet of women's voices. The Epworth league evening service had the pastor, Rev. W. D. Woodward as leader. The league observed Rally day, and as the president, Miss Jennie G. Prekins, called the roll, the members present responded with a verse of scripture. Rev. Mr. Woodward spoke on the topic for the evening, The Outlook. The junior league sang a selection. The altar flowers were voted to be sent to Noyes B. Allyn and Rufus W. Hurlbutt, whose birthdays fell on on Monday, Sept. 29.

Mrs. Frank A. Aplin, of the Aplin dahlia farm in Preston, joined her guest, Mrs. Sarah Sill, of Chicago, who, accompanied by Miss Laura A. Perkins of Gales Ferry, arrived from the farm, at the residence of Mrs. Aplin here last week Friday and spent the week end and Sunday, returning to Preston Monday.

Nelson Parker, accompanied by his brother-in-law, J. Edmund Norman, left here Monday on an automobile business trip to Buffalo, N. Y., by way of New Rochelle, Tarrytown and Troy, returning by way of Albany, through the Berkshires to Danbury and West Haven, where they will meet Mr. Parker's mother, Mrs. Richard Parker, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bushnell, who will accompany them home.

Mrs. David J. Post of Hartford, a summer resident at Eastern Point, a former parishioner of Rev. W. D. Woodward, attended morning service at the M. E. church on Sunday, to greet Rev. and Mrs. Woodward.

Mr. and Mrs. John Coman of New York were recent guests of Mr. Coman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Coman, leaving here the last of the week to visit relatives in Putnam.

Miss Mary J. Birch attended the wedding of Miss Lila Phillips of Norwich and Louis Allen of Groton at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Phillips, Laurel Hill, Norwich, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Postmaster D. R. Povey and his sister, Miss Grace E. Povey, assistant librarian at New London public library, returned Saturday from Chatham, Mass., where they have been making their headquarters while touring Cape Cod by automobile for two weeks.

Mrs. George W. Frost of Montclair, N. J., was a visitor one day last week at the summer cottage of the family on the Bluff.

Mrs. Edward H. Latimer and daughter Enid, with Miss Alice Ramage, attended the wedding of Miss Marion M. Hewett of Montville and Harold L. Talbot of Norwich in the M. E. church at Uncasville Thursday afternoon.

Miss Jennie G. Perkins of Gales Ferry and Charles A. Gray, auditors of the town account of Ledyard, met at the office of the town clerk, William I. Allyn, at Ledyard, Saturday afternoon, where the selectmen, Frederick W. Burton, Calvin R. Main, J. Edmund Norman, were in session, to audit accounts.

Mrs. Ellis Stoddard returned the last of the week from a visit at the home of Deacon and Mrs. Isaac G. Geer at Ledyard.

David Gouin of South A street has resigned his position with the No. 1 Carding Department of the Ponemah company.

Miss Margaret Shugrue of the Willimantic State Normal School was a guest over the week end of Miss Lillian Molleur of Providence street.

Mrs. Peter Bruette and Mrs. John Lavalle of Norwich have been spending a short time with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trudell of the Canterbury Turnpike.

The local plant of the J. B. Martin Co., Ltd., is idle this week.

Joseph Beetham Entertained Friends

Joseph Beetham who recently moved into his new house on Baltic road entertained a few relatives and friends at a roast pig supper with all the fixings and a plum pudding, all of which Mr. Beetham cooked himself. After supper the evening was spent with cards at which James Graham, exsenator of Lisbon, took first prize and John Macht of Versailles second. Those present were Jake Beetham, Fishers Island; Robert Beetham, Wauweeus Hill, William Beetham, Norwich, Cornelius Beetham, Lisbon; James Graham and Charles Gunderman, Lisbon and John Macht and Dell Rondeau, Versailles.

You Poor Kid, Why Are You So Skinny?

Don't your mother know that Cod Liver Oil will put pounds of good healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that you won't have to take the nasty, fishy-tasting oil that is apt to upset the stomach.

Tell her that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are chock-full of vitamines and are the greatest flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly, thin kid, aged 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

She must ask Lee & Osgood or any good druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—60 tablets, 60 cents—as pleasant to take as candy.

"Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet."

PROPOSING HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT IN THIS PART OF CONNECTICUT

The highway committee of the Eastern Connecticut Civic Association held a meeting Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the office of the Norwich chamber of commerce, Shetucket street. The meeting discussed highway improvements which would be beneficial to this section of the state. The committee's aim is to prepare a programme of highway improvements to be submitted to the Eastern Connecticut Civic Association and in turn to be submitted to the state legislature by the association through its legislative committee. An effort will also be made to have direction markers erected in the various villages and towns and also to interest the selectmen of the towns in eastern Connecticut to clear away underbrush, etc., at curves to provide for free vision for automobile drivers. Another meeting of the committee will be held in the near future.

Those on the committee are J. H. Lathrop, Canterbury, chairman; W. H. Bromley, Jewett City, George L. Ingalls, Norwich; A. P. Woodward, Danielson; J. F. Reardon, North Grosvenordale; T. N. Lathrop, J. P. Bath, Willimantic; F. O. Brown, Colchester; Joseph T. Cruttenden, Niantic.

NOTABLE ARTISTS SHOW PAINTINGS IN NORWICH

The Converse Art Gallery presented a most brilliant sight on Monday afternoon on the occasion of the opening of the exhibition of paintings by Lyme and Mystic artists, under the auspices of the Norwich Art Students' association.

The approach to the gallery was decorated with huge jars of marigolds and asters and with large branches of gorgeous autumn foliage, most artistically arranged, which gave a cheerful note of welcome.

In the gallery proper, a large number of enthusiastic visitors were unstinted in their praise of this most interesting and very high class exhibition.

Here are 37 canvases, many signed by painters who rank foremost in their profession and whose pictures are purchased by some of the finest museums in the country.

The room is fairly aglow with the vivid color of the paintings, many giving unmistakable evidence of having been painted "en plein air."

The sketches, 52 in number, in the two smaller rooms, are exceedingly clever, varied and attractive. The names of the exhibitors are:

From Lyme: Frank A. Bicknell, Thomas Watson Ball, George M. Bruestle, Charles Ebert, Will Howe Foote, Harry L. Hoffman, William H. Howe, Wilson Irvine, Henry Bill Selden, Gregory Smith, R. Curel-Sylvestre, Will F. Taylor, Carleton Wiggins, Guy Wiggins.

From Mystic: Ernest H. Barnes, Charles H. Davis, Frances D. Davis, G. Victor Grinnell, Carl Lawless, Stephen Macomber, Arthur Meltzer.

From Norwich: Ozias Dodge.

Directly opposite the entrance are hung two canvases by Charles H. Davis of Mystic, one of the best of American landscape painters. The Edge of the Wood is quiet and low in key, and reminds one of the masterly canvas which he showed last year entitled The Great Oak. On the north wall, Will Howe Foote's A Bermuda House, is dazzling in color, and splendid in drawing. To one familiar with Bermuda, the color is not exaggerated. One connects Foote's work at once with that of the French impressionists, and feels very strongly the influence of Monet. From a painter's standpoint this is one of the most interesting pictures in the exhibition.

In the Hill Country, by Henry Bill Selden, shows his usual skill in portraying cloud effects. One is especially impressed by the crispness of his work and purity of color. The spirit of the old ship is wonderfully shown in the stunning canvas by Thomas Watson Ball entitled Bon Homme Richard, while his In Days of Old shows a ship of the line of the navy in the glorious sailing days. This has a very decorative quality. Roger Curel-Sylvestre has certainly rendered Laurel in a very able manner. It is evident that he has tried to make one feel the anatomy of the laurel, by giving strength to the trunk, as the support of the bush. Here is atmosphere, and air vibration. The snow scenes of George A. Thompson are very well handled, with nice composition. They are somewhat realistic and very pleasing.

Frances D. Davis' La Petite Mathilde is an extremely poetic conception and a very nice bit of color, qualities, which her sketches have, in a marked degree.

The scenes in a New England country village shown by Ernest H. Barnes have a quality so pleasing and so familiar as always to elicit favorable comment. The work of Arthur Meltzer and Carl Lawless have so much in common that one wonders if they do not influence each other because of proximity in working. Both have a strong decorative quality. In the work of Lawless there is exquisite color harmony, and also splendid design. One cannot help predicting for him a great future. It is impossible to mention all the canvases in so brief a review; some must have their meed of well deserved praise at another time.

As a whole, the exhibition is an unusually good one and it is earnestly hoped by the art association that it may be well patronized. If this be not the case, the art association will not again attempt this exhibition which is always given the Norwich public at a decided loss.

The tea was in charge of Mrs. Frank S. Bunnell, general chairman, and was most attractively served at daintily appointed small tables, with sandwiches and delicious home made cakes. The decoration in the large gallery was of brilliant hued autumn leaves and berries in masses, divided by a bit of interesting lattice work. For this the association is indebted to William F. Habekotte.

The exhibition will be open to the public every afternoon through the week, and on Sunday, Oct. 5, from 2.30 to 5.30, with the expectation that the opportunity to see these beautiful pictures will not be neglected.

Father Tyler Celebrant

When a solemn requiem month's mind mass for Rev. James B. Nihill, P. R., was celebrated in St. Augustine's church, Bridgeport, Friday morning at nine o'clock, the officers of the mass were: Celebrant, Rev. James J. Tyler, of Jewett City, nephew of Father Nihill; deacon, Rev. Peter H. McClean, S.T.L.; sub-deacon, Rev. Richard Moore, LL.D.; master of ceremonies, Rev. Robert J. Bowen.

Death of Mrs. John Quinlan

Word has been received by Norwich relatives of the death in Detroit, Michigan, on September 23 of Bridget Hanley, widow of John Quinlan S. J., of Creighton College, Omaha, Neb. About forty-five years ago the family moved from Norwich to the west.

Bishop William F. Anderson of the Methodist Church, Boston area, will preside at an all-day session of ministerial and lay delegates of the Norwich district, to be held in Willimantic, Nov. 6.

FIELD DAY HELD FOR PALMER BROS. FORCE

The second annual field day and clambake for the employes of the Palmer Brothers Co. was held on the grounds of the company at the Fitchville mill Saturday afternoon with sports, speeches and an excellent bake prepared by a committee of Fitchville operators, headed by Randall Palmer as chairman. Palmer Brothers company embrace the plants at Montville, Fitchville and New London in the order of their inception. The company was organized over 45 years ago. George S. Palmer is president of the concern, which employs approximately 300 men and women.

The men were called for at their homes and returned in company's automobiles, spending a delightful afternoon of recreation and play. Last year the picnic was held at New London, the first of its kind to be held and was promoted by R. W. Fistere, industrial secretary of the New London Manufacturing association. This year a committee of men employed by the company worked out their own plans and deserves much credit. This is an evidence of a friendly feeling and cooperation existing between employer and employe. A. W. Dawson, physical director of the New London Y. M. C. A., had charge of the sports and very soon after his arrival every man was lined up in some kind of game, enjoying the fun like 'teen year boys instead of men, many who had spent 25 or 30 years in the factories. Not only were the men and boys, 150 in number, lined up for the games, but the officials—superintendents and foremen as well.

The first game, in which members of all three mills took place, was called Newcomb, and served to introduce the men to each other. The first half was played between Montville and Fitchville with a score of 36 to 54, the second half being played between New London and Fitchville, in which the former scored 4 points over the latter, the score standing 31 to 27. L. Rosano featured for New London while B. Allen played a fine game for Montville. This was followed by the dizzy-izzy race with B. Goss of New London, P. Moresky of New London, P. Sullivan of Fitchville and F. Doucharm of Montville. The finals found F. Doucharm first and P. Sullivan, second place.

The results of the sack race were: E. Smith, Fitchville, first; P. Moresky, New London, second; and J. Sullivan, Fitchville, third.

H. Hanson and P. Moresky of New London came in first in the three-legged race, with R. Goss and T. Terry of New London second place, and R. Allen and F. Doucharme of Montville in third place.

The last game of the afternoon was cage ball, with Montville playing against New London with a score of 0 to 1 in the first half and Fitchville scoring 4 over New London in the second half.

The judges in these contests were M. H. Kerr of the firm, Rev. J. F. Speerli of Fitchville and Rev. R. B. Day.

Fully 160 men sat down to dinner which was served under the great trees of the estate of the late Asa Fitch, now the property of the mill association. At the conclusion of the meal M. Henry Kerr, acting as toastmaster, spoke briefly to the men, voicing his appreciation of their fine spirit and presenting the prizes won in the sports of the afternoon. These consisted of fun-provoking awards and were accompanied by fitting remarks concerning each recipient. George S. Palmer, president of the company, after addressing the men along conditions and cooperation as it existed now and 45 years ago when the business was started, presented a silver trophy cup to Peter Neuriski, captain of the New London baseball team, which had won 10 games, losing but one during the season, the best game being between New London and Fitchville, played at New London, with a score of 5 to 4. The names of the winning team follow: L. Romano p, R. Goss c, J. Brown 2b, P. Moresky ss, M. Brown 2b, W. King 3b, I. Gillam c, F. Wood lf and T. Terry rf.

Among those present were George S. Palmer, president; Ralph Meicer secretary, and General Manager William Reaves, Treasurer Howard Palmer, Frank Palmer, William Joseph Littlefield, M. Henry Kerr, C. A. Lathrop, superintendent New London mill; J. Reed Johnson, assistant superintendent New London mill, A. W. Bidwell, superintendent Fitchville mill and Randall Palmer, assistant superintendent Fitchville mill.

Eighth Birthday Pary

A delightful party was held Saturday afternoon from three to five o'clock at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Peck in honor of the eighth birthday of her daughter Alice. The dining room was prettily decorated in Hallowe'en colors and cut flowers to harmonize. Games were played and prizes won by Mildred Potter, Frances Shelley and Helen Lichwell. After the games a luncheon was served to the fourteen little guests present, which consisted of sandwiches, olives, pickles, fancy cakes, ice cream, candy and punch. There was also a large birthday cake decorated in orange and white upon which were eight small candles. Alice received many pretty gifts. The guests were Barbara and Elizabeth Main, Francis and Rita Shelly, Ruth Fitzgeraid, Ruth and Mildred Edmonds, Helen Lichwell, Bella Barber, Mildred Potter, Mary Amato, Gertrude and Martha Thumm.

Claim is Dismissed

A workmen's compensation claim of Thomas Lyons of 443 Main street against the J. B. Martin Co., has been dismissed and disallowed by Commissioner J. J. Donohue because the burden of proof of the injury arising out of and in the course of employment has not been sustained by the claimant.

GIRLS GIVE FAREWELL TO MISS GERTRUDE AVERY

On Saturday afternoon some ninety girls and their leaders gathered in the Hanover church and Community house, for a farewell party to Miss Gertrude Avery of Norwich Town, who sails this week for Ahmednagar, India, where she is under appointment as a missionary of the Woman's Board of Missions, to teach in the girls' boarding school.

An interesting program was carried out, beginning with chorus singing and ending with a social hour and picnic supper. During the afternoon Mrs. William M. Zumbro, of Norwich, the new junior secretary of the Eastern Connecticut Branch, was introduced and gave a most interesting cause. Miss Abby G. Willard, of Colchester, president of the Eastern Connecticut Branch, also had a message for the girls, while the speaker of the day was Miss Avery, who told something of her joy in going to the new work and about the school and life she expected soon to take part in. At the close of this talk Mrs. J. Beveridge Lee of New London, as spokesman for the girls of this locality, presented Miss Avery $70 in gold.

The meeting, which was arranged for by the Branch Junior Committee, Mrs. W. M. Zumbro, Miss Helen Beadle, Miss Gertrude Ladd, Miss Marion Bailey and Miss Elizabeth F. Pullen, dispersed at sunset time, all present voting it a most delightful get-together.

WILL HAVE POTATOES DUG AT PRESTON PLAINS

For the past two years considerable interest has been shown in the digging of the potato demonstration at Shedd & Dawley's fields on Preston Plains. Enough interest was shown last year to warrant the holding of a similar meeting this year. This will take place on Saturday, October 4 at 1 p. m.

There are eleven strains in the test and they are as follows:

Rich, Maine; Olson, Wisconsin; A. Reeves, New York; Reed Brothers, Maine; Jones, Vermont; Esterbrook, New Brunswick; Corina Seed Farm, Maine; New York Potato Seed Ass'n; Dimock Orchards, Vermont; Windsor County, Vermont; Home Grown.

Each strain is planated in separate rows, side by side and will be dug, weighed and yields per acre computed. Those present will have a chance to guess the yields and compare their estimates with the yields computed. Besides the strain test there is to be on Irving Foote's farm a comparison with sprayed and unsprayed, which is bound to be interesting and show some difference in yields.

B. A. Brown of the Storrs Experiment station will be present and say a few words about the potato seed situation at present. Mr. Brown has spent some time in Main, Vermont and New Hampshire, looking over potato fields and has some first hand information on where to buy seed for next year. There will be a small amount of disease free seed from Maine next season, as they have been unable to get a great many fields certified.

JAMES BUSSEY TAKES POSITION IN HARTFORD

James W. Bussey is to sever his connections with the Reid & Hughes company at the end of this week to become assistant merchandise manager for Alfred Steiger Co., of Hartford, assuming his new position next week. News of his leaving Norwich will be received with regret by his many friends here but he will leave with well wishes for his success in his new occupation.

Mr. Bussey entered the employ of the Boston store 21 years ago and at the time of his resignation was manager of the men's furnishing and boys' department of the store. He has served the local company most faithfully and through his efforts his department has been most up-to-date.

His activities were not alone confined to the store for both he and his wife have been members of the church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist where Mr. Bussey is treasurer of the society and assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. He will be greatly missed, as will Mrs. Bussey by members of that church. With his wife and two children he will move to Hartford the first of next week to take up his residence.

FORMER NORWICH WOMAN DIES IN SPRINGFIELD

(Special to the Bulletin)

Springfield, Sept. 29—Mrs. Mary Waite Bush, the wife of William H. Bush of 111 Florida Street, died early Friday evening at her home after a lingering illness. She was born in Norwich, Conn., being the daughter of Norman and Eleanor (Gordon) Noble and she was for many years a resident of Pittsfield, but for the past 15 years she had lived in Springfield. She was a member of the Park Congregational church. Besides her husband she leaves one daughter, Miss Grace N. Bush, a sister, Mrs. Frank Wright who lives in Brooklyn, N. Y., and a brother, Gordon Noble of this city. The funeral was held at the parlors of the Dickinson Streeter Company, today at 2.30 o'clock. Rev. Orville T. Fletcher officiated and the burial was in the Springfield Cemetery.

Sang Offertory Solo

At the union service held Sunday evening in Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, those in attendance were favorably impressed with the pleasing manner in which Miss Maida Wright rendered the offertory solo.

NORWICH TOWN

After spending the summer abroad Miss C. C. Bacheler was at her home on East Town street for a few days before returning to Dobbs-Ferry-on-the-Hudson, where she is a member of the faculty of Miss Masters' school.

Mr. and Mrs. Baynes and family are moving the first of October from Harland's Corner to an apartment on Washington street in the city.

P. G. Cabeaud of Canterbury Turnpike returned last week from France where he passed the summer with relatives.

Ever Ready circle of the King's Daughters is to hold the first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Frederic Ross on West Town street this (Tuesday) evening.

Miss J. G. Bonney of Harland Road spent part of last week with relatives in Westfield, Mass., and Whitneyville, Conn.

Ever Ready circle of the Kings Daughters, is to meet Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Frederick Ross of West Town street.

Mrs. Mary Smith, who resided in Norwich Town for several months having returned to her home in East Walpole, Mass., during the spring, was a caller last week at the home of Mrs. Benjamin L. Kennedy of Town street.

Much admired is the woodbine on the residence at 15 Town street, which during the summer was a rich shade of green; now since being touched by the frost, has changed to a handsome shade of red, especially attractive when the sun is shining on it.

Several dandelion blossoms were picked last week by a resident on Town street.

Mrs. Charles F. Gee recently had on display at her home on West Town street, a full bloom rose, cut from one of the rose bushes in the yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Hitchon, of Washington street, entertained over the week end, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ha— Wright and children, Donald and Janet Wright, of West Medford, Mass., who were in Norwich to attend the wedding Saturday evening of Mrs. Wright's brother, Walter G. Mr. and Mrs. William E. House and William Kinney motored to Providence Saturday and spent the week end, at the Kinney home, Mrs. Elizabeth Kinney returning with them to Norwich Town.

Miss Esther Bixby who has been the guest for several days of Miss Louise Jones of Williamstown, Mass., has returned to her home on Bliss Place.

Mrs. George S. Beebe of Scotland road and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lucian Beebe, of New London, have returned from a few days' stay in Hartford, where they attended the graduation of the 1924 class of the Hartford hospital training school for Nurses. The exercises were held Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the South Park Methodist Episcopal church, followed by a reception and dance held at the Nurses' home. The principal address was by Miss Sally Johnson superintendent of the Massachusetts General Hospital, who mentioned emphatically the special need of a nurse acquiring a finished education, necessary not only in the profession; but in the various homes to which a nurse is called to minister to the sick and helpless.

Thursday evening a banquet was given for the class, which numbered 40.

Of this number, Miss Gladys Beebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Beebe was a member and though Miss Beebe completed her course in January, having graduated from the Connecticut College for Women, in 1921. Miss Beebe who is taking up her duties at the Hartford Hospital was credited nine months for major training. She received her title of R. N. after successfully passing the state examination since which time she has had an important assignment at the hospital, recently receiving a promotion.

Miss Beebe accompanied her mother and sister-in-law to Hartford Wednesday, after passing a vacation of four weeks at her home on Scotland road.

HARTNETT THOUGHT HE HAD STOMACH OF CAST IRON

Ate Any And Everything Until It Finally Gave Way Bringing Misery and Suffering.

"Well, sir, I used to be one of the fellows who think they have a stomach that can be abused any old way and will last forever, but I found out different," recently said Francis H. Hartnett, a Boston & Maine Ry. brakeman, 22 Lincoln Square, Worcester, Mass.

"I kept on with my irregular eating until a year ago and then stomach trouble hit me hard. My liver became sluggish, I lost my appetite, had bad dizzy spells and got so I could hardly eat anything substantial. I felt worn-out and my weight kept dropping so fast I knew serious trouble was ahead.

"But Tanlac has made me feel fine from tip to toe. I eat anything and plenty of it, am never bothered with dizziness, and I had a 15 pound gain to show what a fine digestion Tanlac has given me. I'm strong for Tanlac.

DAMAGE CAUSED BY GALE IN ATLANTIC COAST STATES

In the Danielson-Putnam and Moosup Division 700 Telephones Were Put Out of Service and the Town Was in Darkness—In Various Cities Throughout Connecticut Trees Were Blown Down and Telephone and Lighting Systems Were Crippled—In New York and Vicinity Damage Resulted From 60-Mile Gale—At Greenwich One Yacht Was Swept Ashore and Several Others Were Swept From Their Moorings.

New Haven Sept. 30.—One of the ... est wind and rain storms of the season swept over Connecticut late this afternoon practically every town and city in the state reporting trees down, the streets covered with branches telephones out of commission, electric lights out, signs blown down and windows shattered.

New Haven reported 700 telephones out of commission, Willimantic 400, Danielson 700, Middletown 200 and several other places a smaller number.

Falling limbs carried down many electric light wires and several cities and towns were in darkness tonight. Several minor injuries were reported and a number of persons were hurt in automobile accidents, due to the slippery pavements and falling limbs.

The country roads outside of the cities were choked with debris and many roads were reported almost impassable.

Damage was especially heavy along the Long Island sound waterfront. The storm swept in breakers 15 feet high sending them over many of the breakwaters, several piers were demolished and many small boats were swept out to sea.

STORM WAS SEVERE IN NORTHEASTERN CONNECTICUT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, Sept. 30.—In the Danielson-Putnam and Moosup division of the Southern New England Telephone company, 700 stations were put out of service by the wild southeast gale of Tuesday night. Of this number, 300 stations are out in the Putnam division, 200 in the Danielson division and 200 in the Moosup division. At 10 o'clock Tuesday night the entire Moosup division which switches through the Danielson office, was cut off from service with this place by reason of the fact that a large tree had toppled over in Central Village, carrying all the telephone wires down as it fell. Other trees had fallen across the telephone lines at Attawaugan and Allenville, cutting off service from scores of subscribers in that region. Only one circuit was working between Danielson and Jewett City. The telephone company, fully aware of the havoc wrought to their lines, have made arrangements to have a large force of linemen at work this morning, that services may be restored as rapidly as possible. The electric light service and the fire alarm telegraph service also suffered in the big blow. Falling limbs carried down wires in various parts of Danielson, which for a time was without street or house lights. The West Side was without lights as late as 41 o'clock Tuesday night. Flags from the siren from time to time indicated that trouble was being experienced with the fire alarm telegraph system.

CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE DONE IN WILLIMANTIC

Willimantic, Sept. 30.—A terrific wind and rain storm swept over Willimantic late this afternoon, leaving a path of wreckage and considerable damage. Many telegraph and electric light poles were blown down by the wind and 400 telephones were reported out of commission. The streets were in darkness tonight and several minor injuries were reported as pedestrians fell over the curbs and stumbled over fallen limbs. Many persons used flashlights to see their way home and headlights of automobiles were used for illumination. George Guay was injured when a large limb fell on his automobile parked at the side of the road. He was unconscious for several minutes.

The country roads leading into Willimantic were blocked in many places by limbs and trees. A large ivy which covered the front of the Methodist church and which has been growing for 25 years was ripped from the building and hurled to the middle of the street. The fall of rain was heavy and water a foot deep covered the business streets for a time.

R. I. DEMOCRATS NOMINATE GOV. FLYNN FOR U. S. SENATOR

Providence, R. I., Sept. 30—Rhode Island democrats at their state convention in this city today nominated Governor William S. Flynn for the United States senator, Lieutenant Governor Felix A. Toupin for governor and Senator Robert E. Quinn of West Warwick, democratic floor leader in the senate, for lieutenant governor. The convention nominated Mr. Toupin by acclamation. Mr. Flynn won the nomination for senator from a field of four contenders on the second ballot. He had 129 votes and Mayor Joseph H. Gainer of Providence, his strongest rival, 67.

For congress, Alfred H. Jones of first congressional district, Charles M. Jamestown was nominated from the Hall from the second district, and Congressman Jeremiah E. O'Connell from the third district. Attorney General Herbert L. Carpenter and State Treasurer Adolphus C. Knowles were renominated. Miss Susan Sharpe Adams, selected for secretary of state by a small majority margin two years ago was again named for that office.

The convention was marked by a bitter attack on the republican party in both the state and the nation by Senator Quinn and eulogy of his own party. The nominee for lieutenant governor attacked republicans as "rotten" "calamitous" "dissolute and mercenary" "spineless" "unscrupulous" "vicious" and as an "orgy of demoralization and venality." The democratic party he said, offers "the splendor of a new day," as the representative of intelligent forces of the nation." He claimed for the party, when in power, a record of achievements resulting in an unprecedented era of progress and prosperity."

In its platform the convention assailed the record of the republican party denounced the Ku Klux Klan by name, promised renewed efforts to bring about a constitutional convention to abolish the property qualification for voters, to reapportion the senate and to extend more powers to the governor; criticized the republican senators who left the state house after the planting of bromine gas bomb in the senate chamber last June; pledged strict enforcement of national and state prohibition law and advocated the modification of the Volstead act to allow light wines and beer.

APPOINTED MEMBER OF DENTAL COMMISSIONERS

Waterbury, Sept. 30—Governor Templeton this morning appointed Dr. J. W. Borchardt, of Waterbury, as a member of the board of dental commissioners of the State of Connecticut, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. John D. Herts of Stamford. Dr. Borchardt's name was one of the first on the list submitted to the governor by the State Dental Association, as agreeable to it to fill the vacancy.

COOLIDGE SENDS LETTER TO AMERICAN BANKERS

Chicago, Sept. 30—President Coolidge, in a letter to the Bankers' Association today, said there are multiplying evidences of improving conditions thoughout business structures of the world.

The letter was addressed to Walter W. Head, of Omaha, president of the association, and stated that the president has "a strong feeling that the bankers of the country deserve generous recognition of their services."

The president's letter follows:

"My dear Mr. Head:

"You have been kind enough to ask me for a brief message to the American Bankers' Association at the time of its fourthcoming annual convention. I am glad to comply because of my strong feeling that the bankers of the country deserve a generous recognition of their services. There will, I think, be general agreement that the attitude of the public toward the bankers and likewise that of the bankers toward the public, have both become more sympathetic and appreciative in recent years. We may attribute this in no small measure to the extension of interest in economic and financial problems in recent years. It is in part a consequence of the increasing insistence of these problems, and in part, also, a result of the establishment of the federal reserve system. Even so great a calamity as the war has had some good consequences, and among these we must include a greatly increased attention to matters that are fundamental to the line of the community. It is not so many years since banking was a good deal of a mystery, even to the majority of business men. Nowadays, thanks to the policy of leading banks in taking the public into their confidence and discussing their problems in simple and understandable fashion, the mystery has largely disappeared.

PETITION OF EVELYN NESBIT TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

New York, Sept. 30.—Supreme Court Justice O'Malley today took under advisement the paper in Evelyn Nesbit's petition to set aside the interlocutory decree of divorce granted her husband Virgil James Montana known to the stage as Jack Clifford.

Miss Nesbit gave illness as the reason for her failure to appear when the trial was called in June. Counsel for Montani declared that she was able "to flaunt herself on June 4 in the proceedings of her former husband, Harry K. Thaw, to gain his release from an insane asylum.

ITALIAN AVIATOR WAS RECEIVED BY PREMIER

Rome, Sept. 30.—Lieutenant Locatelli, the Italian aviator and his aide, Lieutenant Marescalchi, were received today by Premier Mussolini. The Premier embraced the aviators and talked with them for a long time on their experiences in flying from Pisa to the position in the North Atlantic where their plane was forced to descend on account of the fog and afterwards was so badly damaged that it was impossible for them to continue their trip with the American army fliers to the American continent.

NORTHERN NEW ENGLAND SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKE

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 30.—The quake that shook up northern New England early today originated in the maritime provinces of Canada, probably, and was the latest of a series of ancient disturbances, in the opinion of Harvard university scientists.

Their observations indicated that the shock was a mild one. This fact, together with the theory as to distnace and direction that was based on seismograph records, led one geologist to say that the rumbling probably grew out of disturbances in the St. Lawrence valley that began with the formations of the paleozoic age, millions of years ago.

The Harvard seismograph showed that the quake occurred at 3.52.02, lasting several seconds, and centering at a point 437 miles from Cambridge, Prof. Jay B. Woodworth said. Direction was in doubt, but indications pointed to northwest, which would bring the possible location in the Northumberland Straits country. This is a region well known to geologists as the source of great disturbances. W. M. Davis, Stugis Hooper professor emeritus of geology, said these disturbances go back to very ancient days, and slight movements of the earth along that fault are not unusual.

New Englnad has had no shocks from that part of the continent within his memory. Prof. Davis said, most of the minor quakes coming from a local point in the vicinity of Concord, N. H.

The scientists were at a loss to account, except by coincidence, for the reports of an electrical disturbance in the skies simultaneous with the shock.

IRISH BOUNDARY BILL DEBATED IN COMMONS

London, Sept. 30 (By the A. P.)—The bill intended to put the Irish boundary commission into force was the subject of a ten-hour debate in the house of commons today, but the house adjourned at 11 o'clock tonight and the bill will be taken up again tomorrow.

The prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald moved the second reading of the bill, and there is little doubt that the motion will carry. At the outset he said the government was convinced that there was nothing else to be done about this ever-present Irish situation except to make Article XII of the Anglo-Irish treaty operative, as every effort by the government to have the premiers of northern and southern Ireland agree between themselves had failed.

H. H. Asquith, the liberal leader, announced that he and his political friends would give the bill their hearty and undivided support. Stanley Baldwin, as spokesman for the conservatives, promised that his clans would not oppose the second reading, although they intended to offer some amendments when the bill got into the committee stage. If these were rejected, he declared, the responsibility for the bill would rest upon the labor government alone.

PLANES IN IMPROMPTU RACE OVER AN 80-MILE COURSE

Brockton, Mass., Sept. 30.—Although a high wind and low cloud banks prevented most of the expected planes from reaching here, where they were to take part in an aviation meet today, an impromptu race over an 80 miles course was arranged for five De Havilands. Captain Harrison W. Flickinger of Mitchel Field won with an average speed of 137 miles an hour, after the planes had "bumped" their way against a 55 mile gale through clouds which often obscured them at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

The planes from Mitchel field were the only ones to arrive. Lieut. J. C. Kennedy, the last pilot to land, said that a some times during his flight, it seemed as though the wings would be blown from his plane. Lieut. James E. Doolittle, in a Curtis pursuit plane did stunts over the fairgrounds but the parachute jumps and other events were postponed until tomorrow in the hope that better weather conditions will prevail.

The all-New England race which was to have taken the planes over each of the six states was cancelled, as was the scheduled 90 mile race. Army officials declared conditions too dangerous for an official test.

SACRIFICED HIS LIFE IN QUEST FOR TREASURE

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 20—A tale of a lone man's quest for treasure, said by folk lore to have been buried by Indians many years ago in the mountains of Kanawha County, is believed by authorities to have been unfolded by the finding of a man's skeleton yesterday in a section of the mountains where rocky cliffs and deep caverns abound.

A weather-stained newspaper containing an account of the treasure legend was found near the skeleton and led authorities to believe that the man met death either through a fall, exhaustion or starvation while scouring the mountains for the mound which in the story that has been handed down from generation to generation, covers the hidden treasure.

Physicians expressed an opinion that the man had been dead many months. Nothing was found that would aid in solving the mystery of his identification.

Mrs. Henry Hayden and Alderman William F. Moher, were unanimously nominated as candidates for representative from the 16th district at the democratic town convention in Waterbury. George Culhane was the unanimous choice of the delegates at the senatorial convention.

Japanese Difficulty Settled at Geneva

Protocol of Arbitration and Security Will Be Presented to the Assembly Today.

Geneva, Sept. 30 (By the A. P.)—With Japan satisfied and the British dominions seemingly content, the delegates to the league of nations assembly are tonight congratulating themselves upon the successful completion of the stupendous task of drafting a protocol of arbitration and security, which, when ratified by a sufficient number of states, will be followed next June by a general world conference for the reduction of armaments.

The final act of the historic negotiations will come tomorrow, when the protocol will be presented to the assembly, but as practically all the delegations are represented on the commission which today accepted the final clauses and solved the Japanese difficulty, it was generally expected tonight that the assembly will approve the text and vote for the transmission of the protocol to the home governments and parliaments for ratification.

In the discussion today prominent delegates took pains to emphasize that the solution of the Japanese difficulty through the revision of the protocol strikes no blow at the sovereign rights of states. They also took special pains to allay any misapprehensions of the American people when they resented the charge made during the last two days at Geneva that the amendments presented by the Japanese were aimed at certain other powers.

Concretely, the Japanese solution was found by making two amendments to the protocol. By the first it is provided that when a question in dispute is held by the world court or the league council to be a matter solely within the domestic jurisdiction of a state, this decision shall not prevent consideration of the situation by the council or by the assembly, under Article XI of the league covenant.

The other amendment provides that a country shall not be presumed to be an aggressor if a juridical sentence has been pronounced against her unless she fails to submit the question to the council or the assembly under Article XI of the covenant.

Under the original text, when hostilities break out, a country which has disregarded a juridical sentence, declaring that the matter is of purely internal jurisdiction, would be presumed to be an aggressor. By reason of the amendment this presumption does not hold good if the state again submits the matter to the council.

Everything therefore goes back to Article XI of the covenant, which declares that any war or threat of war is a matter of concern to the entire league, and the league may take any action it may deem wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations.

Jurists explained tonight that Japan or any other disappointed nation merely gets the right of an additional hearing after its case has been thrown out of court but that the council has no right whatsoever to impose or even suggest any decision.

The jurists consider this amendment valuable for the peace of the world, because they believe that a state whose case has been thrown out of court would come before the council in a humbler mood and be less likely to resort to war over a question previously judged to be a purely domestic matter.

It is clear, however, that the revised protocol permits new discussion of domestic problems and those of a political character.

The Japanese tonight seemed greatly pleased by the outcome of the day's work.

POLITICAL REPORTS GIVEN TO PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Washington, Sept. 30.—The political situation in middle and northwestern states was under discussion today at the White House as President Coolidge received various reports on the outlook there.

C. S. Yost, St. Louis editor, told the president democrats apparently are in the lead in Missouri now and a strong fight would be necessary to carry that state for republicans. Nebraska and Iowa also are doubtful, he said, with republicans holding the edge. Mr. Yost, who was a guest of Mr. Coolidge at luncheon, said John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, had made little gains in the west as a result of his recent trip.

Governor Louis F. Hart, of Washington, pictured a bright outlook for the party in that state, declaring Senator LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, would not get a higher vote than the defeated farmer-labor party in 1920.

Pennsylvania politics were talked over by Mr. Coolidge with W. Harry Baker, chairman of the republican state committee, who assured the president of an overwhelming majority in that state.

Mr. Baker expressed the hope the national committee would permit Senators Pepper and Reed of Pennsylvania to spend much of their time in the campaign speaking in Pennsylvania in a fight by the party to regain the six seats in the house lost to democrats in the last election.

It was announced today by the republican national committee that Secretary Hughes will deliver an address in Cincinnati next Saturday night.

MEN CHARGED WITH CONCEALING HOLDINGS

Bridgeport, Sept. 30.—On charges that David E. Seide and George Ulrich of Hartford had concealed holdings to avoid attachment in a $20,000 damage suit, Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin today granted an injunction in favor of Gilbert H. Chaplain of Bridgeport, preventing the defendants from transferring holdings in the New England Filling Stations company or Hartford Securities company, and ofrom movin contents of safety boxes in Hartford banks. When officers went to serve the attachment originally they could locate valuables worth but $300. Chaplain was the plaintiff in the damage suit.

Contest Promised For Crabtree Estate

Scores of Letters Claiming Relationship Received by the Executors.

Boston, Sept. 30.—Scores of letters from persons claiming relationship with Lotta Crabtree, the actress, whose will, made public yesterday, provided a trust fund of $2,000,000 for disabled veterans of the World war and their dependents, set aside as great a sum for other philanthropic purposes and bequeathed $100,000 to relatives, were received today by the three persons named as executors and by the clerk of the Suffolk county probate court. The letters were from all parts of the country and every mail added to their number.

While legal action to contest the will on behalf of relatives of the actress not named therein impended, Judge olan in probate court late today appointed as special administrators of Miss Crabtree's estate the persons named in the will as executors and trustees—Major General Clarence R. Edwards, U. S. A., retired, Justice William C. Wait of the Massachusetts supreme court and William A. Morse, who acted as the actress' attorney for many years and who drew the will at her instructions. The duties of the special administrators will be to deal with any emergency that may arise in connection with the estate pending the allowing of the will, which will be presetd about November 1.

At the same time, Mayor James M. Curley directed Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan to tender the good offices of the city to Attorney General James R. Benton to the end that the interests of the disabled veterans of the World war may be adequately protected in the event of a will contest. In his his letter to the corporation counsel the mayor said that the city had expended more than $100,000 a month during the year 1922 to aid soldiers who were deprived of their means of livelihood and so had a vital interest in seeing the provisions of the Crabtree will carried out.

Attorney Morse estimated the real estate owned by the Crabtree estate to be worth more than $2,000,000 and the personal property to exceed $1,000,000.

Threat of a will contest came when Mrs. Robert Glenn of New York, Maud Louise Crabtree of Boston, Mrs. Charlotte L. Beitmuller of Newark, N. J., Mrs. Ethel Harmon of Scranton, Pa., and others sent attorneys here or notified Attorney Morse of their intention to take proceedings.

The residue of the estate after creation of the trust fund for disabled veterans and provision for other specific bequests, was left to aid graduates of the Massachusetts Agricultural college to enter farming.

TROUBLE MAY DELAY FLIGHT OF DIRIGIBLE ZR-2

London, Sept. 30.—The dirigible ZR-2, which was soon to have started on her trans-Atlantic trip to Lakehurst, N. J., has developed unexpected trouble, according to a Fredrichshaffen despatch to the Daily Express. This will necessitate postponement of the start.

The date fixed by Dr. Eckener, director of the Zeppelin company, for the start of the ZR-2 on her trans-Atlantic voyage is October 5, or October 6, provided the weather over the Atlantic is favorable at the time. The ZR-3 was built by Germany for the United States and has already successfully completed various tests, including duration.

One of the United States supply ships is now on the way to take up a position where she can give aid to the dirigible on the voyage in case of emergency.

ONLY FEW BUILDINGS LEFT IN ONCE GREAT MINING TOWN

Goldfield, Col., Sept. 30.—Goldfield, once the premier mining camp of the west, today has left standing only two big buildings erected when it was a prosperous and busy city of 30,000 people.

The Goldfield hotel, which cost half a million dollars, and the buildings of the Deep Mines company, in which the 700 present inhabitants of the town center their hopes of a revival of its former prosperity, are the only business structures which survived yesterday's $250,000 blaze, the second big fire the old camp has experienced in fifteen months.

The postoffice, burned out, is doing business in the billiard room of the hotel. The Goldfield Tribune, once the possessor of a four-story building, is being published at Tonopah, 35 miles away. Tucked in the corners of the Goldfield hotel lobby are other businesses prepared to carry on until new quarters are provided.

WOULD MAKE COLUMBUS DAY WEST. HEMISPHERE HOLIDAY

New York, Sept. 30.—An international campaign to make Columbus Day, October 12, an annual holiday celebrated throughout the United States and all Central and South American countries, was launched today.

The drive was inaugurated by the International Pan-American committee, composed of North and South Americans interested in developing closer Pan-American relations. Their objective is the celebration annually, beginning with next October 12, of a joint Columbus Day and Pan-American Day. John Barrett, chairman of the committee, said President Coolidge had endorsed the plan.

BRIDGEPORT MAN HELD ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

New Haven, Sept. 30.—James E. MacFarland, of 1485 Wood street, Bridgeport, a collector for the Duteo-Wilcox Paint company, was arrested at the offices of the company here tonight charged with embezzlement of about $4,000. Attorney for the company said that the exact amount of the alleged shortage had not been determined but that it would be between $3,000 and $4,000. MacFarland has been in the employ of the company for some time as a collector of overdue accounts. An examination of his books today, according to officials of the company, disclosed a shortage. MacFarland is held under bonds of $5,000 and will appear in city court tomorrow morning.

NEW ENGLAND BUSINESS CONTINUES TO IMPROVE

Fact Substantiated by Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston—Woolen Industry is Reviving to an Unusual Degree—Cotton Industry is Sharing in General Improvement Although Still Depressed—Industries Generally Are Revising Their Schedules Upward.

Boston, Sept. 30.—Continued improvement in New England business with employment in Massachusetts increasing for the second time in a year and a half is reported by the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston in the monthly review of industrial and financial conditions made public today. The woolen industry is improving to an unusual degree, the report says, boot and shoe production shows seasonal growth, and the cotton industry, although still unsettled, shares in the general improvement.

"New England business continues to improve," the report says. "The upward trend is not rapid, to be sure, but there is no doubt that the general movement is upward and not downward. Conditions are irregular, and some industries still report poorer trade. The majority, however, have obtained more business, and are no longer planning on further curtailment in production but, on the contrary are revising their schedules upward.

One of the most encouraging improvements is that in the employment situation, though here again the change has not been very extensive nor predominatingly general. Nevertheless the number of persons employed in representative establishments in Massachusetts during August showed an increase over the previous month. This is the first indication of an increase in employment in Massachusetts, with one exception, since March last year.

"It is only natural that, with a larger number of persons employed, production should also be greater. According to preliminary reports from the woolen industry of New England, wool consumption during August was approximately 30 per cent greater than in July. This is an unusually large increase in any one month.

"Output of boots and shoes by New England manufacturers also was considerably greater in August than in the previous month. Although a seasonal increase in activity is effected at this time of the year in the shoe industry, it is nevertheless encouraging under existing circumstances to note that it has occurred to approximately the usual extent.

"The cotton textile industry has been one of the most depressed of any, and, due to considerable uncertainty regarding the ultimate size of the cotton crop, it remains in a somewhat unsettled condition. Nevertheless the consumption of cotton by New England textile mills in July was larger than in June, and in August was larger than in July. Production in these three leading industries of New England has therefore had positive results from the general business improvement.

"Retail trade has not yet shared the improvement which [illegible] industries have experienced. This may be because of the cumulative effect of so much unemployment. Part time working schedules in leading department stores in New England have not been increased in the past few months as they were during corresponding months last year.

In spite of the poor business [illegible] there has been a sharp collection [illegible] of failures in this district in August and [illegible] number. The total [illegible] was the lowest in any month since ... year."

A SLIGHT INCREASE IN FACTORY EMPLOYMENT

New York, Sept. 30—Production in basic industries in the United States was maintained during August at ... the same level as in the two preceding months and factory employment showed a slight increase ... ing to the monthly review of business and business conditions issued today by the federal reserve banks of New York. Wholesale prices especially those of agricultural products, showed a further advance.

Loans and investments of member banks in leading cities, the report states, continued to increase during the four-week period ending September 10, and on that date reached a record figure about $1,000,000,000 above the level of three months earlier. The largest increase was in loans on stocks and bonds, and commercial loans also increased during partly to seasonal demand for credit.

Imports of gold in August totalling $18,000,000 were slightly smaller than the previous low figure of the year, reached in July and as exports of gold increased to over $5,000,000 the import balance fo the month was approximately $16,000,000 — the smallest since April 1923. During the first four weeks of September figures at the port of New York alone indicated imports of only $538,000 as against exports of $2,600,000, the first excess of gold export at this port since 1920.

Sales of 63 leading department stores in the second federal reserve district were 7 per cent. smaller in August than the year previous, which was attributed to one less selling day in August this year than last and reduced employment and wage earnings.

BANKERS OPPOSE CONGRESS DOMINATING SUPREME COURT

Chicago, Sept. 30—(By the A. P.)—Walter W. Head, president of the American Bankers' Association, quoting in turn from John W. Davis and Calvin Coolidge today pledged the association to oppose "all efforts to give congress the power to override decisions of the supreme court."

Mr. Head told the opening general session of the association convention that a return to common sense was "what the bankers stand for regardless of political partisanship."

Mr. Head later called to the rostrum Sir John Aird of Toronto, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, who said:

"I would only wish that the trade and commercial relations between our two countries were as satisfactory as the financial relations. That as you probably know and as the Canadian people know, is not a question for bankers but one for our politicians; and it is dangerous for bankers to interfere very much in political affairs."

The convention adopted the report of the executive council. The report included the unanimous opinion of that body "that it seemed unfortunate for the senate of the United States to take such action as might lead to the termination of the gentleman's agreement established between Japan and the United States, thus releasing the Japanese government from any responsibility as to what its nationals may do and thereby transferring the whole burden of exclusion upon our government."

MRS. SHANK GIVES DETAILS OF TARRING AND FEATHERING

Frederick, Md., Sept. 30.—Mrs. Mary Shank, who yesterday pleaded guilty in circuit court to tarring and feathering 20-year-old Dorothy Grandon, at Myersville, last July, took the witness stand for the state at her own request today, and testified that Harry Leatherman, now on trial on the same charge, was the man who organized the mob which attacked the young girl.

"I'll get the mob." Mrs. Shank said Leatherman told her when the attack was planned. He then left her, Mrs. Shank said, returning in a short time with six automobiles filled with men.

Describing the episode, Mrs. Shank said it had been her intention to beat Miss Grandon, who she alleged was too intimate with Lloyd Shank, husband of the witness. She admitted striking the girl three times with a club, but participated in the tarring and feathering only after being threatened by the men, Mrs. Shank testified.

It was Leatherman, she declared, who handed her a bucket of tar with orders to put it over the body of Miss Grandon, who had been partly stripped.

The prosecution rested its case today, and defense testimony was begun.

TENDERED A QUART OF WHISKEY TO A JUDGE

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 30—A. Stanley Copeland was arrested today when he attempted to present Judge John R. Hazel with a quart of whiskey on the bench in federal court.

"I have some tolerably good whiskey here," Copeland said as he laid a bottle before the judge in open court. Judge Hazel's gavel came down with a bang and Copeland and the bottle left the room in the custody of two United States marshals.

DEFENSE ON CHARGE OF RUM PIRACY ON THE HIGH SEAS

Brest, France, Sept. 30 (By the A. P.)—Charged with piracy on the high seas, for which the penalty is death, Max Jerome Phaff, a German-American who gives his address as 219 East 126th street, New York, this evening emerged smiling from a nine-hour encounter with French maritime justice.

Phaff was today given his first official examination before Commandant Fournier of the French navy. The piracy charge is in connection with the boarding of the French steamer Mariposa off the Canadian coast last July when it is alleged 36,000 cases of whiskey were removed by armed raiders to schooners which stood by.

Phaff pleaded not guilty and in his examination declared he could prove an alibi. He also invoked the argument that it was not necessary for him to commit a piracy because he had unlimited credit with a big Canadian bank which enabled him to purchase contraband whiskey without the use of "Captain Kidd" methods. He said he was prepared to produce documents which would show that on three different occasions the Canadian bank supplied him with letters of credit for 25,000 pounds the object being to buy whiskey in England for smuggling into the United States.

That a man now in jail in Montreal awaiting trial on a charge of rum running or piracy—Phaff wasn't quite clear which—was the prime mover in his arrest, was the burden of the defendant's plea today. He declared that the man in jail "pirated my boat, the Lutzen, with 20,000 cases of whiskey aboard." He told the commandant that "this was just a little matter between rum-runners and I don't see why French justice should bother about it."

As to being an instigator of the alleged piracy, even though he were not actually present, Phaff told the court:

"You will know all about the instigators before this case is finished. I am not going to be made the goat."

The interpreter had some difficulty in translating "goat" to Commandant Fournier.

BALLOONS ATTEMPT TO BREAK WORLD'S RECORD

Washington Courthouse, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Three giant balloons took the air here late today in an attempt to break the world's air endurance record. The "Goodyear," piloted by Wade Van Orman and W. K. Wollam, was the first to leave the ground. The "Detroit" and "Washington C. H." followed in succession.

A strong wind was blowing in a southeasterly direction, indicating that the bags would be carried over Kentucky and perhaps Tennessee. The pilots expect to remain in the air until late tomorrow.

Olive E. Jenkins

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 30—Olive E. Jenkins, division passenger agent for the New York Central Railroad in Syracuse for more than a quarter of a century, died at his home in this city today after an illness extending over a period of three months. He was born at Vineyard Haven, Mass., 66 years ago.

WILLIMANTIC

C. E. Fannon of the Sherman Service, Inc., Boston, production engineer, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of Willimantic Rotary club Tuesday noon. The attendance was high in spite of bad weather. His subject was "The Seventy-Five Cent Dollar in Industry," and he opened his talk by the statement that foreign competition can only be met by co-operation of labor in industries. Guests of the club were Walter B. Knight, agent of the Quidnick-Windham Manufacturing Company, H. C. Lathrop, president of the Windham National Bank and Christian A. Zappe, of Dedham, Mass., who is engaged in placing the cement for the new reservoir in Mansfield.

James P. Bath, chairman of the programme committee introduced the speaker. Mr. Fannon spoke convincingly, displaying a close knowledge of his subject and he left much food for thought with the members. He challenged the good judgment of his auditors in spending time and money in the study of plants and equipment without giving enough thought to understand their employes and getting their viewpoint. He declared that in order to maintain in any business the maximum efficiency in conjunction with minimum outlay every force in industry must co-operate to the fullest and this cannot be accomplished until the attention that it merits has been given to the firm's heaviest investment, the payroll. As long as these conditions continue, asserted the speaker, the 75-cent dollar, which has already become a tangible thing with many firms, will become general and 100 cents on the dollar will be an unknown factor in business and industry.

Mr. Fannon explained a yearly deficit in business of approximately $3,500,000,000, by lack of good will and understanding between employer and employe. The result of this loss is that production in this country remains about 25 per cent. under what it should be. This constitutes a menace, especially at this time, when Europe is fast reaching a point of industrial peace and the driving power of European labor and industry running at high speed will be keenly felt in America which is likely to remain hindered by its own industrial conditions. The great power of newspaper advertising was mentioned by the speaker and in giving a word of advice to newspaper men, he advised them to keep in touch with plants and products about which they write, rather than try and write selling advs from what they have been told. "Here is a plan by which the employer can gain the confidence and support of his employe," said Mr. Fannon. "Find out what he thinks of you. Find out what he thinks of the place he works in. Find out what he thinks of the product. Find out what he thinks of his wages. He is your biggest investment. Whenever labor and capital fail to co-operate labor meets with disadvance in the open market. They must realize that it is not a question of how many dollars they get, but of what they can buy for a dollar in the open market." After getting the employe's viewpoint and co-operating with him a simple programme of education should be undertaken in pointing out to the worker the best way to get the most for his dollar, a few lessons and in economics a 100 per cent. a the road to elimindollar and to establustrial peace.

In the several changes from daylight saving to standard time schedules announced by the Connecticut Company trolley lines terminating in Willimantic are mainly affected on the South Coventry branch. The 2.15 p. m. trip will be omitted during the winter schedule on week days. There is a curtailment of all after-supper trips, the last car for South Coventry on week days leaving here at 6.15 p. m. instead of 10.15 p. m. On Sundays there will be two extra trips, one at 7.15 a. m. and the other at 7.15 p. m. On week days the first car out of the barn leaves at 5.45 a. m. direct for Coventry with the first return trip to this city at 6.10 a. m. Morning trips for Coventry from the Main street terminal are at 7.15, 8.15, and 9.15 a. m.; afternoons at 12.15 and 1.15 p. m., the 2.15 p. m. trolley going only as far as the car barn on upper Main street. The remaining trips on week days are at 3.15, 4.15, 5.15 and 6.15 p. m. Sunday trips to Coventry at 8.15, 9.15 and 10.15 a. m.; 12.15, 1.15, 3.15, 4.15, 5.15, 6.15 and 7.15 p. m.

Windham High's gridiron warriors will face their first real and probably hardest test of the season Friday afternoon, when Westerly High's formidable outfit will invade the local grounds in a gridiron contention. The Larkin Rhody boys had an enviable reputation in this section of the state until they bucked up against Coach Callaghan's championship machine last season and were held to a 6 to 6 tie. During most of the conflict Windham held the ball on the Westerly territory.

Preparations for the annual Manchester Fair to be held at Hawley Armory, Storrs, would indicate that the event will surpass anything of its kind ever undertaken by the association. There will be a large entry of exhibits from the college farm and by many individual farmers. An athletic programme will be an added attraction. The second day of the fair will be cattle and live stock day, with a Barnyard Golf tournament.

The junction of Prospect and Jackson streets has the appearance of a lumber camp, on a small scale the past few days. Men in the employ of the city have sacrificed three immense trees to make way for concrete sidewalks.

Miss Celanice Coutu was given a pleasant surprise Monday evening when a number of friends gave her a party in honor of her birthday at the home of Miss Leona Bullock. Miss Coutu was presented a large birthday cake. A luncheon was served by the hostess and music and games were enjoyed.

JEWETT CITY

After threatening all day Tuesday, a man-size southeaster got down to business at sundown, with pouring rain and a half gale.

Trees thrashed, and broken branches with every thing that was not made fast were blown about the streets.

Before seven o'clock the telephone lines and electric lighting system began to suffer from short circuits and lines down.

At 8 p. m. forty telephone lines showed the steady light of "out of order," on the local board. The borough electric light force, early in the evening had trouble enough ahead to keep them working all night, in the second stiff storm, which acted like the equinoctial.

Between five and six o'clock the big 2300 volt, high tension wire, parted near the textile plant on upper East Main street.

Superintendent Hiscox, of the local system notified the high tension substation at Danielson, meanwhile temporarily handling the trouble. Later in the evening two of the Danielson company's poles were either blown over or forced down by the weight of broken wires and limbs. All night the men of the Danielson, as well as the home system, fought an unequal battle, in their attempts to beat the storm.

The benefit for John O'Shea held in Finn Opera House Monday was attended by several hundred people. John O himself was there, several men helping to carry him to the Barnett automobile and into the hall, as he is still unable to walk. Joseph H. McCarthy expressed thanks to everyone who had assisted in making the benefit a success, speaking for those who had the matter in charge. He also stated that a subscription paper was at Carey's store. Mr. Carey was the prime mover of the project, and has been ably assisted by members of the American Legion Post who offered their help. The post commander himself sold seventy-seven tickets. Over one hundred and seventy-five dollars was the net proceeds.

Monday evening, Mrs. John T. Stewart gave a dinner in honor of the 18th birthday of her daughter, Irene. When the latter arrived home she entered the parlor which was in darkness and was surprised to find waiting several girls of the Aspinook Office Force. To add to the surprise, Miss Estelle Jodoin, in behalf of the girls, presented Miss Stewart a beautiful silk umbrella.

A dinner of roast chicken, potato, pickles, olives, cranberry sauce, rolls, ice cream, cake and coffee was served by Mrs. Stewart assisted by Mrs. Carl Benjamin and Mrs. Elizabeth Kingsley. A large birthday cake with lighted candles formed the centerpiece and favors and snappers decorated the table.

Those entertained were Clara Adams, Annie Gorman, Edna Sharkey, Marjorie Leyden, Bessie and Sadie Thompson, Irene Havey, Estelle Jodoin, Vera Tarbox and Doris Myott.

Early in the season Corey and Golden Bantam corn brought 50 cents a dozen, and a hungry man could eat two dozen as a side dish. A local farmer says it is time thrown away to raise sweet corn and sell it for less than four cents an ear.

A conference on art education was held in the assembly hall of the Riverside Grammar school, Monday, beginning at 11 o'clock and lasting until 4 o'clock. This was under the direction of Joseph Wiseltier, state supervisor of art education.

All the teachers of Griswold, Canterbury, Lisbon, Voluntown and Sterling attended. The meeting was arranged by Superintendents Floyd and Clement in conjunction with Mr. Wiseltier.

It was the purpose of the meeting to clarify aims, give demonstrations and to instruct in methods of teaching art and hand work in such a way as to link it closely with the other subjects of the curriculum.

This purpose was certainly accomplished by Mr. Wiseltier and the meeting will mean a great deal to the fifty-five teachers who attended.

Later Mr. Wiseltier will meet the same group for a follow-up conference.

Dr. G. H. Jennings, health officer of the town of Griswold, is never tiring in his efforts to keep this section free from smallpox, and announces his views on vaccination in no uncertain tone. In his letter to the people of Griswold, and in view of a recent small scare here, he has this to say.

From one case in Danielson it was carried to Plainfield. The same carrier was daily visiting a place of business in Jewett City, fortunately there was no case in this town. One other case from Plainfield visited his family here No one in this family had been prejust previous to showing the disease, tected by vaccination. Many children and some adults have been vaccinated during the year; however, there is a large number not protected by vaccination.

Mrs. Catherine Remick has begun her work as assistant to Mrs. Johnson at the Riverside Grammar school. The 8th grade now has fifty pupils.

The Griswold town court, ground out $1,718.52 for the town last year.

During the recent dog licensing period, $512 was paid to the town clerk by dog owners. The state treasury got $482.37 as its part of the canine revenue.

Supt. F. H. P. Clement is authority for the statement that 20 per of the pupils of the town, 175, deposited in the school thrift banks, during the last school year $536.20.

The September business meeting of the Epworth League was held at the Thornton home on Taylor Hill Monday evening.

Work for the coming year was discussed and many plans were decided upon.

The business for the evening being done the meeting was turned over to to the social department of the chapter.

Although an out-door dog roast was planned for it was necessary to roast the dogs in the house. Coffee, doughnuts and cheese followed the dogs to their doom. There were twenty-two present.

The monthly business meeting of the Men's Class of the M. E. church, was held in the vestry Friday evening.

After business was disposed of the evening was turned over to the chairman of the social committee who presented the question for discussion on: "Which is the most beneficial to mankind, Iron or Wood?" It looked as if the discussion would be one-sided until one of the members who is a traveler and a speaker of reputation put most of the iron men in the back seat.

In the end it was agreed that it would be hard for the people of the world to do without either.

Doughnuts, cheese and coffee were the refreshments for the evening.

Palace Theater

In exceptionally large groups of celebrated screen players are to be seen in the George Fitzmaurice production, Tarnish, which was made by Samuel Goldwyn for First National Pictures, and which will be the main attraction at the Palace theater Thurs. Fri. and Sat., Oct. 2-3-4.

Tarnish is an adaptation by Frances Marion, well known scenario writer, of Gilbert Emery's Broadway stage success. It is a story about youth, dealing with the tragedy that threatens young love when a young manicurist intrudes upon the blissful courtship of two lovers. In its structure there is revealed a fine, neatly woven drama, in which the past of the young man turns up and shakes and illumines the young girl.

How the tarnish is finally cleaned away forms the basis of a devastating chain of relationships, poignant, highly dramatic and entertaining. The leading roles are portrayed by Marie Prevost, May McAvoy and Ronald Colman, who scored so heavily in the leading male role opposite Lillian Gish in The White Sister. Also prominent in the cast are Norman Kerry, Harry Meyers, Priscilla Bonner, Albert Gran and Mrs. Russ Whytall.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Rickenbacker Name and Fame.

All that E. R. Patterson & Co., agents for the Rickenbacker at 34-36 North Main street, want is a chance to prove the performance of this peerless car. Drive the car yourself and you will sense its superiority over all rivals, the marvelously smooth motor, swift acceleration, the smooth four-wheel brakes, the easy springs, the speed and power. When you have made this test they have no doubt you will declare the Rickenbacker the best automobile you have ever put your hand on.

Breed Theater

The Birth of a Nation, David Wark Griffith's masterpiece, which still remains his masterpiece in spite of all his later efforts, the most momentous film ever made, embodying a story which has thrilled millions, and which more than any other screen effort served to make the motion picture a thing of artistic effort, will be revived at the Breed theater for the last two times today.

To this heart-throbbing story of human love, passion, strife and the eternal battle of the races, written by Reverend Dixon David Wark Griffith then a young man filled with naught but altruistic ideals and a steadfast and enthusiastic devotion to his art brought the full force of his youthful energy.

Sparing no expense, heeding no precedents, mindful of no example, guarding no reputation, he succeeded in making a production which electrified three continents, and made his name resound wherever screen art is discussed.

Its problems so forcibly set forth have aroused discussion; its moral lessons have been the subject of fervent prayers and numerous sermons; its unequalled love story has been justly placed in the same category with that of Dante and Beatrice.

Now being represented in Chicago The Birth of a Nation, there proved far more popular than any later Griffith film. It approved itself greatest of them all. It will be given an elaborate production here with a special Birth of a Nation orchestra.

Palace Theater

The cast of characters for Abraham Lincoln, the First National picture, at the Palace theater, was not completed until the last week of the big photodrama's production, when the character of Allen Pinkerton, President Lincoln's chief of secret service, was added to the long list.

The casting of this picture was different from any ever filmed for the reason that the characters represented so many different periods of American history and that only three have long-sustained roles, Lincoln, Mary Todd Lincoln and Anne Rutledge, played respectively by George A. Billings, Nell Craig and Ruth Clifford, carried the burden of the action; the character of Lincoln alone running through the entire length of the picture, and from the age of twenty-one to his assassination the role is played by Mr. Billings.

But the bits are important, each one absolutely essential to the whole for they are all historical characters. This unusual photoplay closes it's Norwich engagement at the above theater today.

Broadway Theater

Monsieur Beaucaire, the new Paramount picture directed by Sidney Olcott, which marks the return of Rudolph Valentino to the screen, will begin a four day's run at the Broadway theatre, starting next Sunday. The world and his wife—particularly his wife—will see in this simple announcement visions of a film feast for which their movie appetites have been hungering these many months.

There is something vital and appealing about the character that Valentino portrays—the brave hearted, impetuous Duke, who defies the King of France and goes to England disguised as a barber. It is a part that brings into play all those robust dramatic qualities that Valentino possesses and which have made him one of the most fascinating and compelling screen stars of today.

We realize the painstaking care that went in the making of this production when we consider the supporting cast with which Director Sidney Olcott has surrounded Mr. Valentino. Bebe Daniels, as the Princess de Bourbon-Conti; Lowell Sherman, as King Louis XV; Lois Wilson, as the queen; Doris Kenyon, as Lady Mary Paulette Duval, as Mme. Pompadour; John Davidson, as Richelieu; Ian Macclaren, Oswald Yorke, Flora Finch and about fifty others equally well-known.

And here's a parting word of suggestion, come early if you want to avoid the rush!

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Attorney E. L. Darbie is holding out against a proposition that he be renominated for representative on the republican ticket from Killingly this the town who might be nominated on other candidate in the First district of fall—holding out to make way for any the republican ticket. And this in the face of the prospect that it is more than likely that he will be named republican house leader if he is sent back to Hartford. Killingly republicans may throw away a chance like they have this fall, but only those who are extremely credulous will believe it. As for Attorney Darbie, he is honestly unconcerned. Attorney Darbie has made a good record in two terms in the legislature as a representative from this town. In the meantime he has attained the prestige that counts in legislative halls. Republicans of most towns would hesitate a long time before throwing such prestige into the discard. In the opinion of many, they will do ill-service to Killingly if they overlook this fact.

Over in Brooklyn, Killingly's nearest of kin among the townships of the county, the republicans are talking Sherwood E. Potter as their candidate for representative. Indications Tuesday were that Mr. Potter will be unopposed for the nomination. Mr. Potter needs no introduction to the people of Brooklyn. It is his old home town. He has the requisites for capably filling the office for which he is mentioned as a candidate. People like him over there, much as do the thousands who know him all through eastern Connecticut.

Auction Notice by Witter Bros., Auctioneers, 42 Main street, Danielson, Conn.: We will sell the entire contents of the workshop at the former residence of T. D. Tuesday, as a day, acted very much like a person suffering with indigestion, or bad temper, or a desire to regulate somebody or something like that. In fact, Monday acted more or less the same way. There was a threat of rain out of the south'ard Monday afternoon and night that did not develop the looked for storm. Tuesday morning followed up this lead. Heavy wind, lowering clouds, promise of rain and all that was followed by fitful showers. The day was like a sick person striving to be rid of some distressing inward trouble. Tuesday's drizzle made the roads slippery, inviting automobile accidents; caused postponement of the plans of many persons as to how the day would be spent and held up various enterprises. It was a day when the average person was inclined to sputter and proclaim an opinion that it should either rain or clear off. It so happens, however, that opinions do not count for much as to regulating the weather. And probably it is just as well that they do not.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Arrigan left on Tuesday afternoon to spend a vacation with relatives and friends in Providence, where they formerly lived.

At a hearing in a justice's court at Brooklyn, Monday night, George Breton of Moosup was fined $25 and costs on a reckless driving charge. He was the driver of the car that injured, Saturday evening, a horse belonging to George Kimball of Wood's hill so badly that it had to be shot. The accident happened on the West Side, near Elm street.

Those who have not paid their borough taxes by today, October 1, may expect to hear from Collector Edward S. Carpenter about being delinquent. All taxes not paid by this time are considered as overdue and subject to the usual interest charges assessed in such cases.

Score of baseball fans opposed to a permanent All New York world's series were whooping things up Tuesday, because the Washington team of the American league had come through victorious. And they will be shouting for them to drive the Giants to the woods when the series gets underway next Saturday.

There is not an owner of a hunting license in the town of Killingly who isn't counting the hours between this moment and daybreak of next Wednesday morning as the time that must elapse before he will be free to go afield with dog and gun to enjoy the opening of the hunting season. The coming fall days in the open are prized beyond all others by scores of residents of Killingly. There is promise this year of good bags of partridge and pheasant, some squirrel and a few rbabits. And that is much to look forward to, not counting an occasional quail, in this advanced day and age.

Officials here who happen to be in touch with the consequences of the wrecking of the First National Bank of Putnam are expressing their sympathy for those who will for years suffer the consequences of the untoward happening. The most serious penalties will fall upon the stockholders of the institution, and some of them can ill afford to meet them. Danielson may well sympathize in an hour of trial it has so many business and social with a sister community with which connections.

As for years past, frugal people with the time to do it have accumulated considerable quantities of coal against the coming of the winter season by picking up lumps of the fuel that has rattled off cars along the right of way of the New Haven road through Danielson. In getting this coal they have served a double purpose, i e, provided themselves with comort producing material for the cold weather period of the year and prevented what otherwise would be waste.

Officers of Rose of Lima council, K. of C., were installed Tuesday evening. District Deputy Henry P. Dubuc, officiating in his present office for the first time in Danielson. Following the installation there was an informal reception in honor of Mr. Dubuc, a member of the council. Guests of the council included the Catholic clergy in this parish and Dayville and grand knights of the councils in Wauregan, Putnam and North Grosvenordale. Entertainment during the smoking period was furnished by Bodo brothers of Danielson and Albert LaForge of Moosup.

Attorney Louis A. Wolsard, personal tax collector, gave out another warning Tuesday that those who have not already paid the taxes he is charged with collecting may expect to hear about the matter in no uncertain way in the very near future. The delinquents are due to be subjected to pressure to obtain the money due for such taxes. If necessary court action will be resorted to, and paying under such circumstances make the personal tax item such an expensive one that a person is not likely to forget about the matter another year.

Selectman George Alvord of Dayville requested Tuesday afternoon that publicity be given the fact that he is not a candidate for re-election. Selectman Alvord said that he will abide by the caucus decision and not go into the race independently. He desires that his feeling of appreciation for the friends that would support him by writing in his name be conveyed to them, but asks them to refrain from voting for him under the circumstances. Selectman Alvord has many friends in the town, many of them his before he came into public office and many more gained since that time. Mr. Alvord is the democratic member of the Killingly board of selectmen and has served for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eaton will come here today (Wednesday) from Stafford Springs to spend a part of their honeymoon with Officer and Mrs. Edward J. Stephens of Spring street.

TWO ACCIDENTS TUESDAY DUE TO SLIPPERY ROADS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, Sept. 30.—Two more accidents were added during the storm of Tuesday afternoon to the long list of those that have occurred on the hills of the Providence road, east of here. In the first collision, early in the afternoon, Miss Margaret Battella, of Rye, N. Y., received a cut on the head and other injuries that warranted sending her to the Day Kimball hospital, in Putnam, after she had been given attention by Dr. F. P. Todd. Miss Battella was riding in a Durant sedan with her father, Seavey Battella, who was driving, the other passengers being her mother and two sisters, Bettie and Susanna. Mrs. Battella received a cut on the hand but the others escaped without any injuries of a serious nature. The accident happened near the foot of Hall's hill, near South Killingly. The right rear wheel of the car broke when the car skidded and the steering wheel snapped off in Mr. Battella's hand. The wrecked car was towed here, the family going to Putnam to spend the night.

In another accident, Maxwell Connelly of Boston, received a cut on the head and other slight injuries when a machine which was being driven by Maurice B. Riordan of 21 Whitten street, Dorchester, skidded and overturned on Dark Lantern Hill. Mrs. Riordan and another woman in the car, like Mr. Riordan, escaped with little more than a shaking up. The Riordan car, a Nash sedan, landed upside down with all the wheels in the air. None of the persons in the car required hospital treatment. The accidents were due to wet and slippery road surfaces with which the drivers were unfamiliar. State Officer Edward Stevens checked up the accidents.

PUTNAM

In carrying on its campaign for healthier babies in this state mothers of children under six years of age are being asked to cooperat with the State Board of Helath, department of hygiene, by bringing their children to the Well Maby conference to be held at the Putnam high school this (Wednesday) afternoon. This is not a place to bring sickly babies, for as its name implies, only well babies, or apparently well babies, are examined. These examinations are to determine if there are any latent troubles not appearing to the parent. The conference this afternoon has to do especially with the care of children's teeth. A dental hygienist from the state department of health will be present and deliver an address on this subject. Clean, sound teeth are essential to health and recent progress along this line has traced many diseases to teeth trouble. The conference offers an unusual opportunities to mothers to inform themselves and to be better able to care for their children.

A Polish baker in the north end of the city sought the help of the police, Tuesday noon, in trying to locate a young man 17 years old employed at the bakery. The last seen of the young man he was leaving the bakery. The proprietor told the police that the boy had been acting queerly and he feared that he had wandered off somewhere. The young man took a dollar and a half from the cash drawer but there is no suspicion that he had any intention of stealing. At his home on Mechanic street he had not been seen nor were the police able to get any trace of him during the afternoon.

All graded schools in Putnam will be closed today (Wednesday) for teachers' visiting day. Teachers will visit schools in Providence, Willimantic and Webster, Mass. Next Friday the high schools will be closed to give the teachers a chance to visit other schools

The teachers for Putnam evening school, which opens in the high school building next Monday nigt, as as follows: Louis F. Battey, principal; Ruth M. Elliott, teachers of beginners' English; Emma J. Dutton, teacher of advanced English; Emma J. Dutton, teacher of advanced English; Elsie Gallant, teacher of snort hand and typewriting; Minnie G. Macdonald, teacher of bookkeeping. Principal Batty will again conduct classes in naturalization and Americanization, but these will not begin until later.

The Putnam Coolidge club is to conduct an information bureau for newly made voters at the community room of the Putnam Savings bank, Friday and Saturday afternoons, October 3rd and 4th from 2 to 5 o'clock. While the bureau is being opened primarity for new vofers any one desiring information regarding the marking of ballots at elections or any technicalities of the balot will find members of the club at the community rooms to give information and instruction.

The Coolidge club, formerly the Putnam Woman's Coolidge club, now embraces men in its membership. The club his a total enrollment of 400 members of whom 60 are men. The club when first formed as a woman's organization was active in enrolling women voters and it was not until recently that the club was expanded to embrace men republicans. This accounts for the comparatively small number of male members.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, Tuesday afternoon, there was a fair sized gathering of members of the Putnam League of Women Voters at the home of Mrs. W. J. Bartlett. The speaker was Miss Julia M. Hicks of Hartford, who confined herself to a non-partisan talk on Fall Elections. She urged the women to attend the caucuses as well as to go to the polls on election day. She spoke on the effect of the three presidential candidates and party tickets and the possible effect at the November election. Her talk was one of enlightenment as regards matters pertaining to elections and politics, rather than views of any particular party or platform. Following the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Bartlett, assisted by Miss Jennie Willis and Miss Rosamond Danielson

The town of Pomfret is one of the few towns in the state free from debt. The recent report shows a balance in the treasury of $4,722 and no liabilities.

MRS. W. C. VAN DER LAAN DIES ON OCEAN STEAMER

(Special to The Bulletin)

Putnam, Sept. 30.—A wireless from shipboard announces the death Monday of Louise Payson Grosvenor of Pomfret, wife of Wilhelm C. Van der Laan. Relatives of Mrs. Van der Laan do not know on what steamship Mr. and Mrs. Van der Laan sailed for home, but the message stated that the vessel would dock in New York some time Wednesday.

The death of Mrs. Van der Laan came as a shock to her relatives for it was not known that she was ill until a message telling of her serious illness on shipboard arrived a short time prior to a second message announcing her death.

Mrs. Van der Laan was Miss Louise Payson Grosvenor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Grosvenor of Pomfret, where she was born, January 9th, 1879. After graduating from the district school in Pomfret she prepared for college and spent one year at Smith. She left college to take up art and for a number of years studied in the art schools of Boston.

In 1915 Miss Grosvenor married William C. Van der Laan, then living in Pomfret and they have made their home there ever since. Mrs. Van der Laan, besides her husband, leaves her mother, living in Pomfret, and a sister, Mrs. Julia Proctor, wife of George Proctor, of Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Van der Laan left last June to spend the summer abroad and part of the time during their stay visited relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Van der Laan. Theye were not expected home quite so soon. Their early sailing leads to the belief that Mrs. Van der Laan has been in poor headth while abroad. The body will be brought to Pomfret upon the arrival of the steamship in New York.

PUTNAM STATE TRADE SCHOOL GIVES PRACTICAL WORK

While the manner and means of training in the trades and vocations may vary somewhat in different schools and educational systems, this work is best carried on along the lines of actual performances in accordance with the quality of technical knowledge, workmanship, and skill demanded by the standards of the art or trade being taught. With this principle in mind the State Trade school recently adopted a plant in its textile department whereby students would not only participate in the fullness of the trade by planning and taking up the operations and processes, but would receive this training on a quality of work equal to that required by the best established mill practice. A large shirt manufacturing company was approached and asked to give the school an order for 500 yards of its best quality stock. The officers of this company felt that it was impossible for the school to attempt work which, they stated, was the highest grade and quality they could purchase from the best mills in the country. However, after some assurances on the part of the school that this work would be done satisfactorily, otherwise the company would be under no obligation to take the cloth, they placed an order for 500 yards.

After the order was received at the school, consideration of the work by the class was begun, in the form of a general classroom talk, the instructor taking up points in the work for general consideration. Then came the analysis of the sample by the students. This revealed the kind of weave, quality of stock, sizes of yarn, twist, weight of finished goods per yard and calculations were made also to determine the amount of stock required, weights, drafts and other technical data required in the various processes. This outline constituted an academic survey of the work and provided a plan and specifications to be followed throughout. The plan requqired approximately 300 lbs. of raw stock to be made into combed yarn no. 30s warp and no. 14 filling. The filling to be bleached and mercerized and wrap dyed indanthrene blue.

The raw stock was ordered in accordance with quality and quality as shown by the analysis, when received this was weighed, examined by students for length of staple and grade. These being found o. k. they proceeded to make mechanical adjustments at the picker for running this particular length of cotton. Records were kept of the amount put in the machine and what the delivery was. This to determine the percentage of waste.

After the processes at the picker the material was brought to the card and the students were acquainted with the practices, adjustments settings, as well as general method of operation. As the work progressed, instruction was given in the proper method of handling and marking work in process for efficiency and quality. As this material was to be combed the next subject considered was the theory and practice of Noble lap machines. Calculations were made at this machine to check up with the plan previously laid down in the class room survey.

At the comber the instructor took up general methods of operation, actual setting and timing of the machine for running the staple and attention was called to the amount of short fibers being removed from the cotton and also the foreign matter that the carding process had failed to remove. This operation included calculations in draft and percentage.

At the drawing frames, the object and principle of operation was described together with the setting of machine for the straightening of fibers Instruction was also given here in draft, calculations and adjustment of stock to obtain the correct weight per yard of combed stock.

Next came the roving frame. The same instruction in operation object and principle was taken up, the method to be employed in operating frame for quality and quantity of product was explained. The roving frame part of the work involves calculations and gear ratios for required weights, twists and tensions. After the roving frame operation stock was carried on to the spinning frame, the yarn being carefully watched and tested for strength and eveness. Academic subjects worked in on this operation involved math to determine weights, twists and gearing required, and also included technical knowledge on data relative to the proper operation of the machine.

Material was then carried to the spoolers, put on spools in the proper length to be run off on the beam for warp. The warping was then done and the yarn run on beams with the proper number of ends and a sufficient quantity to make up a warp beam.

The slashing was done at a local mill. This was taken up in the class room as an academic subject. After the warp was received from slashing proper arrangements were made of heddles in accordance with the cloth design, warp drawn into the harness and prepared for weaving.

Then came the big subject of instruction in the weaving to produce first quality cloth. It is in this part of the work especially the student finds that there is vast difference in having the theory and principle of the work in mind and in being required to actually produce results. The necessity for keen observation of the cloth as it is being woven, care to renew filling and the removing of mispicks, methods of stopping and starting loom and all the details necessary to get good work were insisted upon. When the 500 yards were completed the cloth was given a final inspection by students under strict supervision of the instructor.

During all the processes it was brought to the attention of the students that machinery should have the best possible attention with an eye to cleanliness and care should be taken in handling of stock from one process to another.

The cloth was then sent to the finishing plant where it was put through the proper fiyishing processes and returned to the school. This cloth was delivered to the company for whom it was made and the students later were informed that it compared very favorably with anything that the company could purchase in the market. This does not mean of course, that the work was done with the same degree of efficiency that would apply in the mill but as an educational proposition it sets up specifications so difinite that at all times the instructor must impart the very best practical methods to the student in order to secure the results desired.

Students of the school feel in the accomplishment of this work that they have established a reputation for themselves and the school, which must be maintained at all costs.

The same company has given the school an opportunity to make short lengths of special madras patterns, also some quantity of oxford cloth in the grey.

All this is of interest to those concerned with the idea of training hand and mind in the arts and sciences of a practical 20th century industry.

We Ask You To Say Which Is Best

IT IS CONCEDED by the most eminent authorities, that this Rickenbacker "Vertical-8-Superfine" is one of the three best cars in America—and that is the same as saying, in the world.

OF COURSE EACH of the makers of the three outstanding examples of sound engineering and fine workmanship, would claim that his is best of all.

NATURALLY WE BELIEVE that this Rickenbacker product is entitled to that distinction.

BECAUSE WE BELIEVE, it represents the broadest experience and most advanced ideas in design, while the shop-practice under which it is made is second to none.

MATERIALS and workmanship that go into the fabrication of this "Vertical-8-Superfine" are the best the world affords. That is a fact easily proven.

BUT THE FINAL RESULT of all the engineering, all the progressive ideas,—of all the care in selecting, testing, proving, is to be found in—performance.

THAT IS THE ULTIMATE result striven for—that the only real proof as to whether we have achieved that which we sought.

WE CLAIM—and others claim. How are you to know whose claims are justified?

WHEN YOU CONSIDER that there is a great difference between prices of Rickenbackers and other Vertical-8 cars—with the margin in favor of this product—you are, perhaps, inclined to doubt that this car can outperform all rivals.

AND THERE IS ONLY ONE way for you to prove to your own satisfaction whether that is so. Drive this "Rickenbacker-8" yourself.

SO WE LEAVE IT TO YOU. We invite you to drive this wonderful "Vertical-8-Superfine" and then drive other fine cars for comparison.

WE STRONGLY ADVISE that you take the word of no one else—the experience of no one but yourself—in this.

FOR YOU CANNOT SENSE what a car is doing—even when you sit beside the driver—as well as when you hold the wheel yourself. Insist on doing that.

YOU WILL EXPERIENCE an entirely new sensation when you first drive this Rickenbacker "Vertical-8-Superfine."

WE DO NOT ATTEMPT to describe that sensation—simply because it is indescribable.

WORDS WILL NOT do it—you must feel the marvelous smoothness of this motor; you must feel the swift acceleration; you must feel the softness of the 4-Wheel Brakes—and their wonderful retardation.

YOU MUST FEEL these springs to realize what strides have been made in the science of spring making.

SPEED—more than you will ever use. Power—always a surplus.

HILL CLIMBING—there are no hills!

NO USE COMPARING this car with ordinary cars. There is no ground for comparison.

ONLY CARS of the highest class are worthy of comparison with this "Vertical-8-Superfine."

WE ASK YOU to do that—and then say, without reference to price, which is the best automobile you have ever had your hands on.

SUMMER VACATIONISTS.

It is a well understood fact that New England is the magnet for millions of summer visitors. Every state feels the effect of it. There are real attractions here which cause those outside to come, visit, linger and when the chance presents itself come again. There are its shores, its hills, its lakes, its rivers, its country and its mountains with various combinations of each. There is enough of all of them to satisfy a large number of people, but it is often questioned whether there is the thorough appreciation on the part of the New Englanders of the real importance of the charms in this neck of the country that permits them to get out of it that to which they are entitled.

Someone has kept tabs somehow so that it was possible for the estimate to be announced before the association of hotel men in New Hampshire that there had been over a million and a half summer vacationists in that state this summer. Some stayed a short time and some stayed all summer, but while they were there they were contributing to the vacation income of many who are in the business of catering to summer vacationists. There are a thousand ways in which the effects of this summer trade are felt. It is an important adjunct to the other enterprises of the state.

While New Hampshire is entertaining its million and a half, it is certain that the other states are doing the same thing. Each of them [illegible] the mountains of the Granite state, but neither has New Hampshire the shores of Massachusetts, Island or Connecticut, to say of the cooler Maine coast. business of catering to the visitors is growing. SPEEDING AT CROSSINGS.

When the state motor vehicle department reports that there are nearly 1,000 names of operators reported to it who have been observed to approach highway crossings at speeds which would not have permitted them, in the opinion of the observers, to stop had a train been coming, it represents just as serious a situation as the department, in calling attention to it, presents.

It is to be realized that at guarded railroad crossings, where signals of one kind or another, gates or flagmen are known to exist, that there is little disposition to reduce speed unless there is evidence of reason for it. The crossing in itself doesn't serve as a reason for slackening speed. Dependency is placed upon the human or mechanical agent at that point to provide the warning. For that reason it may not be possible to correctly rate all those who speeded across railroad tracks as reckless. Had there been no chance to put reliance in the signals or guardians at the crossings the criticism would be even more convincing.

The department's effort to prevent crossing accidents through such a method of keeping tabs on the auto drivers is nevertheless commendable. When drivers have their attention called to such matters and get a demerit for bad driving they are likely to give greater consideration to wasting a few seconds in the interest of safety.

It is speed and the failure to respect the danger at such points that account for too many of the crossing fatalities. No one can afford to take chances at such points and then insist that they ought to be given greater protection. In these days of speed there is much that needs to be done to preserve the safety of the highway and the users. Too much attention cannot be directed to the importance of respecting crossing perils, and when the habit is formed of trying to avoid such dangers instead of ignoring them there will be fewer accidents. The motor vehicle department is doing an excellent service.

THE COMING DIRIGIBLE FLIGHT.

Just as the people of this country have seen the finish of that highly successful flight around the world by airplane, and when interest has been whetted to a fine edge over this phase of aviation news from abroad indicates that during next week the start will probably be made with the ZR-3 for its delivery to this government. That means that interest will for the time being be turned to the dirigible.

There have been some excellent performances by the Shenandoah. It has undergone some hard tests and covered much ground from first to last, but in bringing the ZR-3 here it is to be realized that there is involved more than has been accomplished by the Shenandoah. If it were simply a question of distance there might be no question but what the ZR-3 would be promptly and safely delivered. As it is there must be crossed the Atlantic, a test which will demonstrate the fitness of the big airship.

This will not be the first attempt to cross the ocean by dirigible, or the first flight of the kind if it succeeds, for back in 1919 a British airship made the round trip to this country with safety.

Tests of the ZR-3 which have been made have shown good results. A contiuous flight of 33 hours covering 1400 miles, or about half the distance to this country was entirely satisfactory. It is because of the preliminary performances that there is created a confidence among those who have watched the construction of the ship that there will be no trouble in making the flight.

Even though it is not the first of its kind that doesn't decrease the interest in the forthcoming trip. Naturally it is desired that any such addition to the equipment of the navy of the country should be well constructed, stable and well tested. Rigid as the tests have been before fixing the date for delivery there is no denying the fact that the flight to this country is certain to be a stiff test of the construction and capabilities of the craft as well as of the skill of those who will handle it.

CLASS RUSHES.

Hazing has come in for much justified opposition, and the ban has been placed upon it in a number of educational institutions. It is an old practice, which no doubt has been made worse as changes have taken place. It may never have been a pink tea affair but when practices are resorted to that result in killing or crippling those being hazed it has gotten out of bounds and gone beyond the limit of toleration.

The Yale News hasn't yoked up hazing and the class rushes, but it has expressed the opinion that the class rushes are too rough and should be abandoned. Just what the specific instances are that prompted this declaration is not disclosed. It attracts attention because it strikes at a long established custom in which more or less roughness has prevailed, and from the very nature of the affair must be expected.

So far as known it cannot be claimed that there is anything educational about the class rushes. They stimulate class interest and pride and maintain a college tradition. It can be realized that such demonstrations are difficult to hold to any particular regulations as to roughness. If they have continued to increase in violence until they have gotten to the point where they cannot be permitted, it is one thing. If the situation is such that the mollycoddle stands no chance in the test it is another.

The Yale News has advanced the suggestion. The college authorities are not as yet interested in the matter, and the impression hasn't been created that the undergraduates will be.

BREAKING A TRUST.

Some few days ago a trusted bank messenger disappeared with $90,000 of the funds of the bank which he was transferring. He had been warned to get aid to help him protect it, but instead of doing that made off with the money.

It was one of those affairs which even the institution's officials could not explain. There was a gross breach of trust so much in contrast to past conduct that it was shocking. Up to that time there had been implicit faith in the man. That he should be entrusted with such a responsibility indicates it.

After the fellow had made his getaway and had a chance to realize what he had done, he recognized the folly of his course and, following a battle with his conscience, sent back the money by express and gave himself up. He attributed his act to the use of too much "moonshine."

His sober second thought has apparently put him in a position to get the best possible consideration before the court. While full restitution has been, or will be, made it is impossible to overlook his act, and certainly prosecution cannot be ignored. He is unquestionably not a criminal at heart, to judge from his past conduct, but he has blackened an otherwise spotless career and caused himself and others much needless trouble, regardless of his repentance and even though he gets lenient treatment from the court. He isn't the only one who should take a lasting lesson from his experience.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Now comes the struggle for seats at the world's series.

"Kill the Umpire!" is probably more popular than ever in Chicago these days.

The man on the corner says: Every southeaster prompts thankfulness that it wasn't snow.

Germany mustn't expect if it joins the league of nations that it is going to be allowed to run it.

One gets the impression that the return of Capt. MacMillan is responsible for the cool September.

Even the rains indicate that the filling of the brooks so that winter can set in is already under way.

There are to be torchlight parades in 52 Massachusetts cities and towns. Possibly there'll be some banner raisings also.

Getting the country out of debt in 25 years is a good idea but how can interest in such things be aroused to individuals?

Should a new sign be erected for each crossing fatality not a few would be kept busy and place to erect them at some crossings would soon be entirely utilized.

Theodore Roosevelt seems to be following in the footsteps of his illustrious father. There are some things he can wisely copy, some he will do well to skip. New York will make no mistake in making him governor.

FROM LUCILLES DIARY

I took occasion while father and mother were in New York last week to have Miss Barker come to the house to make a white flannel frock for me, and the first morning she was here I received an invitation to the Midsummer's Night ball at the Wayfarers' club.

"Oh, dear, Miss Barker," I said, "the man who has asked me to this very smart affair cares a tremendous lot about dress, and I do feel I should have something new and stunning to wear. Could you possibly stay tomorrow and next day and make me one of your lovely evening gowns? You're a real artist, I think."

"I am engaged to go to Miss Moore tomorrow. So I don't see——"

"Not Ursula Moore?" I cried.

"Yes, Miss Ursula Moore," replied Miss Barker. "Perhaps if she is a friend of yours, she would be willing to give up her time, and I could go to her later."

"Of course, I'll just telephone her, and I'm sure it will be all right," I assured Miss Barker, who appeared to be delighted to stay and make a gown for me. I suppose she likes to see one of her charming creations on some one who has the style and carriage to wear clothes well.

"Have you any old family lace?" asked Miss Barker when we were discussing what I should have. "You know lace frocks are very good this year. I thought perhaps your mother had a lace shawl or——"

"She has," I said quickly, and I ran right up to the attic to look for it in what I call mother's treasure trunk. I found the shawl, which had been my grandmother's, in not very good condition. It had been pulled and snagged, and I really felt annoyed with mother for having been careless with such a choice heirloom. Just as I was regretfully putting it away I suddenly saw a box which was new to me. To my joy and surprise it contained some exquisite lace flouncing. Miss Barker was enchanted with it, and we immediately planned to get a delicate corn colored charmeuse satin to go with it.

"What a perfectly beautiful gown!" exclaimed Ursula the moment her eyes lighted on me the evening of the ball. "What wonderful lace!" Your Cousin Fannie certainly is marvelous."

"Cousin Fannie had nothing to do with this costume," I said smilingly, though I felt that her remark was really "catty." "She is in the country for a month. Miss Jessica Barker made——"

"Why, Lucile, does she sew for you? She promised to come to me for two days last week, and she never appeared. I'm really vexed, for I intended having something new and chic for tonight, but she didn't come near, and I wasn't able to get her on the telephone."

"No, after she left our house she went out to Lake Bluff."

"Why, Lucile, did you have any days?" asked Ursula indignantly. "I think the least you could have done would have been to consult me. I was just dreadfully disappointed. I don't see how she——"

"Oh, Ursula, I did mean to telephone you, but you see in all the hurry in shopping and getting this dress done for tonight, I'm afraid it slipped my mind. You understand, don't you, dear?"

"Yes, I understand exactly," answered Ursula with heavy emphasis.

Mother came home today, and when she saw the new dancing frock she actually gasped in horror. She asked me where I got the lace.

"In your old treasure trunk, dear," I answered. "Were you saving it for a surprise for me?"

"Indeed, no! It belongs to your Aunt Rachel. When she left for Glacier park she gave me a few things to take care of—things she didn't wish to leave in her trunks stored at the hotel. Oh, Lucile, you have torn one of those flounces! How careless of you." This from mother who had just about ruined the old lace shawl!

I think it most unkind of mother to make me remove the lace.——Chicago News.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

CHINA'S GREAT WALL

Two armies reported marching on the Great Wall of China from the north threaten to make that "eighth wonder of the world" once more the front line trench of China. Built in the third century before the birth of Christ, to be a barrier between civilized China and barbaric Mongolia, the Wall has been the scene of hundreds of conflicts for the Dragon Throne.

"The 'Wan-li-chang-cheng,' or Myriad Li Wall, as Chinese call it, extends over 1,250 miles, while its turnings and windings make its actual length almost 2,000 miles. This means that it would stretch from Portugal to Naples or from Philadelphia to Topeka, in nearly the same latitude," says Adam Warwick in a communication to the National Geographic Society.

"At all times and at all seasons the Great Wall gives the impression of being a boundary between two worlds—not only a natural boundary, but a racial boundary also. 'It is' as Geil says, 'a dividing line between two civilizations and two areas. In space it cuts off the herdsmen of the north from the tillers of the south. The wave of true Chinese civilization rolled southward, engulfing all it met on its way until it reached the boundary of the ocean. Thus all, from wall to water, owned the sway of the sons of Chin.'

"The Great Wall was never effective. China was overwhelmed again and again, in spite of it, by the huge racial movements of the Tatar hoardes, which for 2,000 years devastated Asia and even troubled Europe; but it did prove valuable as a rampart against petty raids, and its moral effect on any but the greatest conquerors must have been tremendous.

"Only a man with stout heart and tremendous military resources would dare attempt a passage of a barrier whose watchtowers in accessible passes were only 100 yards apart and even in the remotest wilds were never more than a mile from one another.

"Nowadays the idea of the Great Wall as a defensive fortification is entirely abandoned. It is left frankly undefended, though the gates at the passes are still closed at night as a measure of protection against local disturbances for the cities near them.

"Chin Shih Huan Ti, a contemporary of Hannibal, first built the 'Long Rampart' stretching from Shanhaikwan, on the seacoast, to Minchow, in distant Kansu. Begun in 219 B. C. the Barrier was completed in 204 B. C. Thus it was 15 years in building, seven of which were after the mighty Emperor's death.

"Three hundred thousand troops, besides prisoners of war and all the criminals in the land, including many dishonest officials, were impressed for work. How these unskilled laborers accomplished their task with the primitive means at their disposal, how they overcame the physical difficulties imposed upon them by the steep slopes of the high mountain ranges, remains a marvel to this day. Moreover, the problem of getting food to them can be judged from the statement that, 'of 182 loads of grain dispatched, only one would reach its destination, the rest being eaten or sold along the road.'

"Despite the time and labor expended upon it, Chin Shih Huang Ti's mud barrier, soon crumbled away. There was so little left of it by the 6th century A. D. that dynasties spoke of building, not rebuilding the Great Wall. But when the Mings (1368 to 1644, A. D.) ousted the descendants of Genghis Khan from the Dragon Throne, the Great Wall again assumed much importance. The restorations of this period were solid and even elegant, long stretches being encased in brick or strengthened with blocks of stone.

"Throughout the eastern section the Wall was made 25 feet thick at the base, 15 feet at the top, and varied from 15 to 30 in height. It was in fact under the Mings that the defenses of the Great Wall were most fully developed, with more than 20,000 towers which were practically a chain of small fortresses, and over 10,000 signal beacons."

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Michael, Cardinal Logue, who today enters upon his 85th year, is Archbishop of Armagh and Primate of all Ireland and one of the oldest members of the Sacred College both in years and service. He was a bishop as long ago as 1879; and he was a cardinal before many of the prominent prelates of today were ordained to the priesthood. He is generally described as a man of unimpressive appearance and with no grace of eloquence. His speech is homely, and he will discuss Irish tillage and the price of pigs with as great a knowledge and zest as any farmer in the country. And yet this unimpressive Cardinal is a man of great intellect and in force of character. With no advantage of birth he fought his way from obscurity to his scarlet cap by sheer ability. In his younger days his Eminence traveled widely in Europe and in America, and his wanderings have furnished him with a great store of anecdotes which he loves to tell.

Smith of the Fish Market.

In a dingy tenement on the top floor of a building facing the waterfront in New York's old fourth ward, famous for its Bowery, its Baxter Street and Chinatown, Alfred E. Smith was born and reared.

Son of a truck driver, he attended parochial school, and won a medal in an oratorical contest. He was 13 when his father died, leaving little more than the horse and wagon. Then the lad sold newspapers and helped his mother in her little candy store after school hours. A year later he left school and worked in an oil store to help the family finances.

Four years afterward he became checker in the Fulton Street Fish Market, working from four in the morning to five in the afternoon, at a salary of $15 a week.

Likable, frank and "a born mimic," he became popular as "Al" Smith. When he had served seven years in the fish market, the recommendation of friends gained him the position of subpoena server for the commissioner of jurors, drawing $1,000 a year. Now at 26, he married Kitty Dunn, a policeman's sister, and they lived in a small flat in the fourth ward.

Father of two children when told that he was to be a candidate for assemblyman, he was so poor that his wife had to press his ragged clothes before he could go to the nomination meeting. At 30 he first went to Albany. It was all strange to him and he could not comprehend the proceedings or the bills, but he served 12 years and developed into a power in his party, and in 1913 he became speaker.

An outstanding figure at the New York State Constitutional convention, he was elected sheriff of New York county. Soon afterward, two years later he was chosen president of the board of aldermen of Greater New York. In 1918 Greater New York gave him a record vote and elected him governor. Two years later he lost the race for re-election in the landslide of the party.

For two years he managed a trucking business, then in 1922 was re-elected by the largest vote since the time of Grover Cleveland. Today at 50, he is governor of New York.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

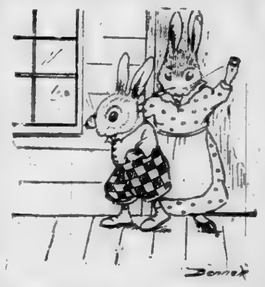
Blackie Crow's Predicament.

"Ha, ha!" laughed the Farmer's Boy, running up to the trap in which struggled a young crow. "Now I'll make an example out of you. I'll hang you on a pole as a warning to all your thieving friends."

Carefully opening up the trap, he lifted out the struggling bird and turned off towards home. From the depths of the Shady Forest came the loud "caws" of the frightened crows. "Caw all you like, you bunch of robbers," muttered the Farmer's Boy. "I'll hang this bird on a tall pole, where he'll dangle in the wind to frighten you away from my cornfield."

Up the road he hurried past the Big Chestnut Tree, under the roots of which lived Chippy Chipmunk. "Dear,



"There goes the Farmer's Boy with Poor Blackie Crow."

oh dear," cried that little fellow, as he hid from sight. "There goes the Farmer's Boy with little Blackie Crow."

As the Farmer's Boy passed the corner in the Old Rail Fence where the bramble bushes grew thick and thorny, Little Jack Rabbit peeked out from the door of his little white bungalow.

"Mother, mother," he shouted to Lady Love, his pretty bunny mother, "there goes the Farmer's Boy with poor Blackie Crow."

Up the hill trudged the Farmer's Boy, with the frightened crow under his arm. "Dear, oh dear, what's happened?" asked the Weathercock from his perch on the roof of the Big Red Barn.

"Bow wow," went Old Sic'em, the good old watch dog, looking out of his pointed roof kennel. "What has the Farmer's Boy under his arm?" The next minute Cocky Doodles answered: "He has poor Blackie Crow. What will Professor Jim Crow do? Dear, oh dear, why will some people steal corn?"

"Hey, Dad!" shouted the Farmer's Boy, as his father walked out of the barn. "I've caught a crow."

"Well, I'll be horn-swoggled," exclaimed the Kind Farmer. "Them pesky crows give me trouble enough in the spring without keepin' it up in harvest time," and he took the little crow in his two big hands. "Kinder pretty, ain't he?" he exclaimed. "Bright little feller," and he stroked the glossy feathers. "What jer goin' to do with him?"

"String him up to a pole and let him dangle," answered the Farmer's Boy. "Hold him while I pick out a long stick."

"Seems kinder tough," murmured the Kind Farmer, sitting down on the woodsaw. "Spose these here birds don't know any better'n to steal the corn. Got to live same as other folks."

"Guess this will do," suddenly cried the Farmer's Boy, coming back with a good sized sapling. "I'll wring his neck and then tie him up with a bit of old rope. Any old rope in the tool house?"

"Guess so," answered the Kind Farmer, still stroking the young crow's glossy feathers. "If you don't find any, mebbe Ma can spare a piece of old clothes line."

And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

Stories That Recall Others

What Else Could He Say?

At a recent amateur game a man and his wife sat watching every move of the players.

The game had not proceeded before those surrounding the couple surmised that the woman knew very little about baseball.

At a most interesting moment she exclaimed: "Oh, for pity sakes, do you see that?"

"What?" the man asked, fearful that he had missed something.

"Why," returned the woman quite disgustedly, "J—— D—— spit in his glove. Of all unsanitary things!"

"Sh-h-h" was the man's only answer.

I Paid $5

For these powders once

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I was asked to offer women my aids to youth and beauty, and I did. They are, I believe, the greatest in existence, for I searched the world to get them.

These countless women asked me about powders. I am an actress and a movie star. We in our world care nothing for expense. Anything which adds to our beauty is worth many times its cost. So I have long paid $5 per box, as have others, to obtain the very utmost in a powder. Each lot was made to my order.

Edna Wallace Hopper
Photo 1923

Now I have asked the makers to supply these identical powders, in quantities, at prices all could pay. I have agreed to market them to women who desire them. Thus I am able to supply these same powders at 50c and $1. I owe that to the kindness of the makers.

I use a heavy cold-cream powder, based on my Youth Cream. It clings and stays. This I call my Youth Cream Powder. But many women like a powder light and fluffy. So I have this powder made in two forms.

All druggists and toilet counters now supply my Youth Cream Powder at $1 and my light Face Powder at 50c. Both come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

There may be greater powders in the world but I have never found them, and I have consulted the greatest experts. I know that anyone who compares them with ordinary powders will be amazed and delighted.

I shall gladly mail you a sample of the kind you want if you will mail this coupon. Please do that now.

OBITUARY.

Calvin Frink

After an illness of short duration the life of Calvin Frink came to a close Monday, heart trouble causing his death. He was born in North Stonington, February 7, 1856, but for over 40 years had been employed as a gardener by L. W. and George W. Carroll. Since coming to this city he had made friends and these will mourn his loss. Of a pleasant disposition he easily made and kept friends and many times had assisted his neighbors, always being thoughtful of others, ready to lend a willing hand. Mr. Frink was an expert gardener and his knowledge was always at the disposal of neighbors and friends.

He is survived by one brother, Horace Frink, who resides in Old Mystic.

Mrs. John Quinlan.

Word has been received by Norwich relatives of the death in Detroit, Mich., September 23, of Bridget Hanley, widow of John Quinlan, and mother of Rev. William Quinlan, S. J., of Creighton college, Omaha, Neb. About forty-five years ago the family moved from Norwich to the west.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Pierre Duhamel

Funeral services for Mrs. Pierre Duhamel, 57, of Gilbertville, Mass., were held there Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Aloysius church, relatives and friends attending, some from Danielson, Conn. Burial was in St. Aloysius' cemetery.

Mrs. Duhamel died at her home on Church street, Gilbertville, Monday morning after an illness of one year. She was born at St. Aime, P. Q., and had lived in Gilbertville for three years. Surviving are five children, Mrs. Isidor Lablanc and Clement Duhamel of Gilbertville, Joseph of Montreal, Alexis of Danielson, Conn., and Alexander of Waterville, Me. There are also 8 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Harry W. Jennings

Funeral services for Mrs. Harry W. Jennings were held Tuesday morning at 8.20 o'clock from the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary Stanley of 60 Washington street, followed by a requiem mass in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock, Rev. Myles P. Galvin officiating. During the mass Prof. Frank L. Farrell presided at the organ and as a waiting hymn Mrs. Farrell sang Some Sweet Day. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including some from New York. The floral tributes were most beautiful.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Rev. M. H. May. The bearers were James C. Stanley, and Lawrence J. Stanley, nephews, James T. Carey, T. F. McDonough, of New York, Henry Congdon and Philip O'Brien.

Arrangements were by Hourigan Brothers.

Jeremiah Moran

With relatives and friends present from Woonsocket, Waterbury and other places services for Jeremiah Moran were held Tuesday morning at 9.20 o'clock from his late home, 19 John street, followed at 10 o'clock by requiem mass in St. Patrick's church, Rev. Rocco Guerriero officiating. Prof. Farrell was at the organ and for a waiting hymn Mrs. Farrell rendered Some Sweet Day. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

Burial took place in St. Mary's cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Rev. M. H. May. The bearers were Patrick Fenton, Woonsocket, R. I., Thomas A. Fenton, Daniel O'Connell, Cornelius J. Downes, Patrick Curran and D. J. O'Neil.

Hourigan Bros., were in charge.

Mrs. James B. Shannon.

Tuesday morning at 8.15 the funeral of Katherine Cunningham, widow of James B. Shannon, formerly of Norwich, was held from the residence of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Foran, 59 Faire Harbour place, New London. At 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's church on Montauk avenue, New London, solemn requiem mass was sung by the pastor, Rev. William C. Fitzsimons. Rev. Alexander Wollschlager, of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, New London, was deacon and Rev. Raymond O'Callahan, also of St. Mary's was subdeacon. Rev. William J. Fox of Groton was master of ceremonies.

There was a very large congregation in attendance and many relatives and friends joined the mourners in the funeral cortege in Norwich where burial was in the lot at the family tomb in St. Mary's cemetery. There the committal prayers were read by Rev. Michael H. May, rector of St. Patrick's church.

The bearers were Former Mayor Jeremiah J. Desmond, Charles C. McNamara, John J. Corkery and Michael C. Higgins, of Norwich, William Foran, of Willimantic and Dr. William D. Cronin, of New London. There were beautiful flowers, the casket being covered by a pall of pink rosebuds from the family.

Shea & Burke had charge of the funeral arrangements, both in New London and Norwich.

AUTO MOUNTS SIDEWALK AND BREAKS WINDOW

A Willys Knight coach driven by John T. Barry of Jewett City got out of control on the wet and slippery street as he was rounding the corner in Burnham square early Tuesday morning and before he could stop the car had mounted the North Main street sidewalk and crashed into a telegraph pole. The machine became wedged between the pole and the Marguerite building, where it broke a plate glass window in T. J. Healy's tire shop in the Marguerite building. Mr. Barry was not hurt, but the car had the right front wheel broken off and the left wheel and axle bent back against the body.

Giving a hungry man advice is about as charitable as feeding ice cream to a wax doll.

STORM PUTS CITY IN DARKNESS WHEN LIGHTS ARE TURNED OFF

Norwich was a city without street lights from about 6.30 for the rest of the night Tuesday when a heavy storm of wind and rain hit the city, tearing up trees and breaking off branches in all sections. These landed on the electric light, wires, and breaks followed each other so fast in numerous parts of the city that it was quickly decided to shut off all the street light circuits as a measure of safety. In parts of the West Side and at Norwich Town the house light circuits were also affected.

Employes of the city electric department will have a busy time today repairing the damage in order to restore the service by night.

A circuit in the center of the city was first put out of commission when a wire broke on Chestnut street in the rear of the United Congregational church. Closely after this a broken wire on Laurel Hill made further trouble and about 6.30 a big tree on Warren street was blown over, bringing down more wires, landing partly on an automobile of Mrs. A. D. Neale that was parked in front of her home at 30 Warren street.

The tree was a big butternut standing in the sidewalk at the property line between the residences of John H. Powelson, 29 Warren street, and George E. Zimmerman, 33 Warren street. It was broken off at the ground where it measured nearly two feet through and its fall blocked the street completely. The topmost branches landed in the yard across the street between the residences of Mrs. Neale and Mrs. Charles W. Vaughn, 34 Warren street.

Mrs. Neale had but just driven up to the house and had gone in to get an umbrella to use when returning from her garage and while she was in the house her machine was caught under the falling tree. It struck the forward end, bending both front axles and twisting the wheels.

Employes of the street department were hurried to the spot to saw the trunk of the tree apart so as to clear a passageway in the street for the rest of the night.

The Broad street and Warren street section of the city seemed to have experienced the greatest strength of the storm and branches of trees littered the streets in this vicinity. On Boswell avenue near Broad street there were branches down and also near the Boswell avenue park. Sections of Washington street and Broadway had branches scattered in the highway and a good sized locust tree was blown up by the roots on Arnold place, just off Washington street.

On the West side wires were down at Asylum and Colt streets.

The telephone company also had its troubles as many wires were down in all parts of the city.

MASON HOSPITAL IS BURNED AT WILLIMANTIC

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, Sept. 30.—The pretentious home and private hospital owned by Dr. Louis J. Mason on Fair View street was gutted by fire of unknown origin Tuesday night, entailing the loss of thousands of dollars. The blaze was discovered shortly before 10 o'clock by Vincent Sweeney and Miss Esther Dew, who were driving in the vicinity of the hospital. Dr. and Mrs. Mason left with their chauffeur last Saturday on a three weeks' tour of Canada and New York state and there were no patients in the place. Miss Dew, who is employed as office nurse at the hospital, was driving along Fair View street with Mr. Sweeney when both noted a strong smell of smoke. They found it issued from the home, which sets on a wooded knoll several hundred feet from the road. A general alarm was sent in and all companies of the fire department, including several volunteer scuads, arrived at the scene in quick time. The blaze had apparently started from the basement or first floor of the main part of the building and as it spread through the rooms and up through the attic it became one of the most stubborn blazes to fight in the history of the local department. The roof of asbestos shingles hindered the firemen in their work and practically the entire strength of the department was centered in preventing the fire from spreading to the rear part of the building, which is of more modern construction. The entire original structure with the exception of one corner of a west wing and a few of the contents was destroyed.

In the west corner the blaze was halted near a room which was stocked with valuable relics and records. Hundreds of people witnessed the destruction of the building. Due to the absence of the owner no figures of the monetary loss could be secured but the building was known to have contained articles of great value. The original structure that was destroyed by fire was built in 1885 by the late Col. W. E. Barrows, then president of the Willimantic Linen Co., now the American Thread Company. The house was erected on a rise of ground in the center of the large estate and was built of cobblestone and burned brick and has been since that time regarded as the most beautiful home in the city. About 18 years ago it was purchased by Dr. Mason who removed to this city from South Coventry. The house was partly transformed as a private hospital and a few years later a large addition was built in the rear for hospital purposes while the original section was retained for a home and office. Two years ago the hospital was closed temporarily and has not been reopened up to the time of the fire.

SEASON OPENING FOR BOYS' PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT

The official opening of the Boys' Physical department of the Young Men's Christian Association takes place today (Wednesday), at the association building on Main street and special activities have been planned in honor of the occasion.

From 4 until 5.30 o'clock in the afternoon the Junior department is invited to enjoy a program of games in the gymnasium, stunts in the pool and moving pictures. There is also a short speaking program and this will be followed by the serving of refreshments.

In the evening from 7.30 until 9 o'clock a similar program has been arranged for the members of the intermediate department and an outline of the activities for the winter months will be discussed.

All members of both departments are invited to attend these opening meetings and others who are interested in joining the classes are welcome to enjoy the good time. Classes in the departments open Thursday and continue throughout the winter and spring.

The opening for the Senior department will follow shortly, previous to which an announcement will be made and program outlined.

WILLIMANTIC Y. M. C. A. HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, Sept. 30—Open house was kept at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening, and although rain in the early evening had frustrated the plans of many to attend, about 200 friends of the association and guests were present. The program opened with an interesting visitation to the various departments of the building and comments of praise were heard for the improved appearance of the rooms which had been redecorated in an attractive manner. George C. Darling of Providence provided the feature entertainment, with a monologue, original jokes and play models. His acts were received with hearty applause. The visitors were then taken to the swimming pool in the basement of the building, where exhibitions of fancy diving, swimming and rescue work were given by physical director Leroy Dissinger, assisted by a group of boys from the junior and senior departments. Refreshments were served. An orchestra consisting of Ralph Gibson, violinist, Mrs. A. J. Dubruiel, pianist, William Taylor, drummer, and Roderick Cote on the saxophone provided popular dance music. Dr. R. Bullock Jones was in charge of the entertainment and Harry W. Standish of the reception.

At a meeting of the officers of the Willimantic chamber of commerce Tuesday evening it was announced that the first monthly supper and meeting of the season would be held Tuesday evening of next week. Due to weather conditions the attendance was light. President James J. Bath presided and the following were present: C. H. Morrill, M. E. Sullivan, A. E. Greene, J. B. Fullerton, G. I. oYung, and G. E. Loisell. The application for membership of Postmaster Walter R. King was read by Secretary Morrill and approved. A. E. ASSESSORS SITTING TO RECEIVE TAX LISTS

The board of assessors, A. R. Manning, John B. Oat and Fred G. Prothero, will begin today (Tuesday) their sitting for the month of October to receive tax lists from those in the town who have property that goes into the list. The board will be in session every week day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., which gives 27 days when lists may be handed in, which should be ample time, but there is always a rush in the last few days because people delay till then.

The assessors are advising that taxpayers this year put in their lists early especially new taxpayers who are to hand in first lists as this will make it easier both for the board and the taxpayer.

The Lord is to busy to give people credit when they are called upon to give charity and they respond by giving away a lot of old things they don't want.

ADDRESS CHURCH WORKERS ON EFFICIENCY PROGRAMME

Speaking at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church to a small group of church workers, who had braved the storm Tuesday night, Rev. Frederick A. Agar spoke on The Teaching Ministry of the Church.

His subject was most carefully treated, the speaker stressing the value of training of groups or individuals in church work. One thing brought out in particular was the loss of witness testimony, a thing which was prominent in all churches 20 years ago. Dr. Agar explained that the reason for this was because the children had not been taught. There are no witnesses, he said, because there are no experiences and there are no experiences because we have not developed the witness.

The blame for this is not placed on the pastor or altogether on the laymen, neither is the blame because the thing simply came about. The every member plan is God's great blessing to the church for it puts back into the line of service which develops witnesses.

Dr. Agar also suggested the budget system for the church, the every child canvas and two-pocket envelope, the purpose of which is to give the child intensive training, to teach them to give for the church and kingdom. He also advocated one pledge a year, with perhaps three thank offerings, no other canvassing to be done.

Speaking of pulpit teachings he said, most people get the substance of the sermon but the trouble is the real statement of the pastor is lost by those who remember only what they think he said. Dr. Agar recommended a discussion of the sermon of the morning during the church school sessions directly following. This he said, would tend to make the pastor more careful in his study of the subject and most important of all, would develop in the congregation the spirit of attentiveness, thus getting the subject over to the congregation as never before.

He also outlined the fallacy of the belief that a person lives more than one life. Life is a unit, he said, a man cannot be a Christian on Sunday and robber behind counters on week days; cannot serve God and the devil at the same time and cannot be a brute behind the doors of his home and a saint in church. We must teach people that everything belongs to a normal life and that the spirit of Christianity is the only spirit that should prevail.

Following his talk there was a general discussion of means of training church workers, educating the new member, spreading the work of the kingdom among many and waking in people that dormant spirit of service and testimony.

The meeting under Dr. Agar in the programme of Church Efficiency Week will be as follows:

Wednesday, at Trinity Methodist, 3 p m., women's meeting, supper at 6.15, for all church officers; The Organized Church, Dr. Agar.

Thursday, 7.30 p. m., at Central Baptist church, church members mass meeting.

Friday, at Central Baptist, Young People's night, supper at 6.15, address by Dr. Agar, social.

BAZINET JUMPS BAIL IN LIQUOR ACCUSATION

Several cases came before Judge Arthur F. Libby in city court Tuesday morning. Thomas J. Kelly, attorney for Armand Bazinet, presented in court, Monday on a charge of illegal sale of intoxicating liquor, announced that his client had not yet put in an appearance but that he had sent word for him to come and that he had received word that his client was on his way. Judge Libby therefore first took up other afters to come before the court.

The case against Charles H. Burt of 71 Spring street, arrested Monday night was taken up and Attorney Charles L. Stewart appeared for the accused. Mr. Burt was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses under two counts, of embezzlement and of theft. The attorney said his client would plead not guilty to the charges and the case was started.

John William Stevenson of Shetucket street was placed on the stand after attorney for the accused had failed to have the charge of false pretenses stricken from the accusation. The witness testified to knowing the accused for two years and told to go ing into the coal business with Mr. Burt. He stated that at the time he went into partnership he gave Burt $100 with the understanding that he was to receive $75 when the first car of coal was sold. For this he was given a receipt, this being on March 29, 1924. On July 26, 1924, he gave Burt $35, which Burt claimed he would put in the bank to hold for freight charges when the car of coal arrived. Again he was given a receipt. Later Burt took the witness to the Dawley's yard where he showed him a pile of coal claiming it was their coal Later he found that the coal did not belong to Burt.

On cross examination the witness stated that he knew the accused was agent for the Scarborough Coal company, but did not know whether Burt had ever actually sold coal.

After listening to the testimony Judge Libby stated that he would continue the case until November 1st.

Judge Libby then asked Attorney Kelly if his client had arrived and received a reply in the negative. Attorney Kelly stating that he feared his client was not coming. Judge Libby then had Acting Clerk Telley E. Babcock call the bond of $1,000 which had been given for Bazinet's release Monday by his, father-in-law, Oliver Blais of Taftville, which was an order on a savings account.

The case against Herbert Campbell, charged with illegal transportation of intoxicating liquor, was continued until November 1st and court adjourned.

The Bazinet and Campbell cases were linked together and Campbell stated Tuesday night that the arrest of Bazinet followed his own arrest because the officers saw Bazinet make a sale of a bottle of liquor to him.

SEC'Y DAVIS ATTACKS INDEPENDENT MOVEMENT

Newport, Ky., Sept. 30.—An attack upon the independent movement was launched tonight in Northern Kentucky by James J. Davis, secretary of labor, in an address here.

Secretary Davis deplored the activities of the "whole third party with its attack on the Constitution through the supreme court and its proposal for state socialism through government ownership of railroads."

"It is but an effort to put socialism in effect in the United States behind a smoke screen of so-called progressivism" the labor secretary told his audience.

NORWICH TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Delaney of New London turnpike, and Mrs. Delaney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McNulty, of Plainfield, returned Friday from a two weeks' automobile trip to Quebec. The party visited many places of interest including St. Anne de Beaupre, Three Rivers and Montreal. The journey covered about 1,300 miles. The outgoing trip was through New York state an dthe Adirondacks, and to Vermont, returning by way of New Hampshire and the White Mountains.

While in Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Delaney and party paid a visit to the Catholic church which is constructed like a cross, similar to a church in Rome.

When returning the tourists followed the border of Lake Champlain for 120 miles and then saw neither the beginning nor the ending of this vast body of water.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Kennedy of Town street Saturday afternoon included Mr. and Mrs. Henry White and family of Danielson, and Mr. White's brother and

HARRIS AND Mc GRAW ARE MAKING PLANS FOR THEIR COMING STRUGLE

New York, Sept. 30—(By the A. P.)—Washington's sensational victory in the American League has stirred baseball fandom to unprecedented enthusiasm in the fight which the Senators will start for the world's championship with the New York Giants next Saturday in the national capital.

Officials of both contending teams, after a long conference today with Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, disclosed that they are being flooded with requests for reservations from all parts of the country.

Only the fact that Washington's American League Park is unable to match the capacity of the Yankee stadium will prevent the shattering of the records for attendance and receipts established in the million-dollar series of 1923, officials declared.

Commissioner Landis displayed characteristic enthusiasm over the prospects for the series, which, for the first time since he has become diamond dictator, will involve a club outside of New York.

He left Washington this afternoon to take part in the home coming celebration planned in the capital for the Senators tomorrow.

Wall Street's interest in the series was shown today in reports of wagering on the outcome, with even money prevailing generally. Several wagers were reported, however, with the Senators as slight favorites, in one instance $1,800 to $1,500 being offered and quickly covered on the basis they would win. With Walter Johnson slated to twirl the first game for Washington, several bets were made at 2 to 1 that he would lead the American Leaguers to victory.

Meanwhile, the boards of strategy of both teams are mapping out their campaigns.

While the Senators generally are credited with possessing the more formidable hurling corps, built around the veteran Johnson, Giant supporters believe McGraw will have unexpected strength in the box. They point out that the Senator's moundstaff showed unmistakeable signs of strain in the closing weeks of the American League race whereas the Giant hurlers finished with impressive exhibitions when everything was at stake.

Part of McGraw's plans, it was indicated today involve use of a reversible lineup against the Senators, depending upon the type of pitching he faces. Although he has not announced his final decision, it is believed the Giants chieftain plans to employ Terry on first base and George Kelly, regular first-sacker, in centerfield against right-handed twirling, with the sensational youngster, Hack Wilson, in left-field. When the Senators send their southpaws, Mogridge and Zachary, to the mound, McGraw probably will use Wilson in center, "Irish" Meusel in left and Kelly on first.

Frankie Frisch, captain and second baseman of the Giants expects to be at his regular position but with the probability that Heinie Groh's twisted knee will not be in shape, McGraw is grooming Freddy Lindstrom, Chicago schoolboy, to start the series at third. The Giant pilot believes he has a find in Lindstrom, who will not be 19 until next month. If he plays, Lindstrom would be one of the youngest players ever to participate in the baseball championship.

The umpiring staff for the series was completed today when President Heydler named William J. Klum and Ernest Quinley to represent the National League. President Johnson of the American League previously had selected Tommy Connolly and William Dineen.

McTIGUE MUST MEET TUNNEY AS FIRST OPPONENT

New York, Sept. 30.—Mike McTigue, world's light-heavyweight champion, must meet Gene Tunney in his first title match in this state if he applies for a license, the state athletic commission declared today after Tunney had appeared with his manager, Billy Gibson, and posted the necessary forfeit fees to bind such a match.

The proposed Berlenbach-McTigue match, tentatively scheduled for Madison Square Garden some time in November, will have to await a McTigue-Tunney match in the event McTigue applies for a license here. McTigue is not a licensed boxer in New York now and has not been since he won the world's light-heavyweight title from Battling Siki.

Joe Jackson of Philadelphia was disqualified for 30 days for fouling Frank Laurette at Troy, N. Y.

WASHINGTON GETTING QUITE A KICK OUT OF FIRST PENNANT

Washington, Sept. 30.—The nation's capital continued tonight to get a sick out of baseball. After the first shock of excitement yesterday, the city attempted to gain composure, but without success. The attitude of the city over its first pennant might be summed up in the words of a grizzled old fan:

"Well, George, we lived to see it."

Scoreboards didn't function. Even the youngster with his school books hardly paused in front of a bulletin board to learn the result of the Senators' last encounter with Boston, and the Red Sox's 13 to 1 victory made no impression.

Finishing touches today were added to plans for the reception for the victors. The district commissioners issued a proclamation congratulating the team on behalf of the city, and expressing confidence that the Senators would vanquish the Giants in the world series contest which start here Saturday.

Various civic organizations today passed resolutions of congratulations. Radio companies announced plans for broadcasting the series, and the only damp spots in the city's enthusiasm were found among organizations that had events scheduled for some time in the next ten days.

Clark C. Griffith, president of the Washington club, and for many years pilot of the pennant winners, topped the excitement by issuing a statement which read:

"There isn't a team in the country that can beat Washington in its present mood. Those boys are simply fired with a determination to win."

LOCAL SPORTSMEN TAKE OVER PALACE ALLEYS

Prominent in the sporting activities of eastern Connecticut for the past decade, Fred ("Chip") Dugas and Michael ("Mike") Morin, both Taftville boys, have taken over control of the Palace bowling alleys in the Thayer building. Both boys are well known in the eastern part of the state, not only in the bowling game but in other lines of athletic endeavor.

FRED ("CHIP") DUGAS.

Chip Dugas won the individual bowling tournament of the eastern part of the state early in the spring when he took the title from Frankie Barber of Danielson, who claimed the title for three years. Chip is also well known on the baseball field, having played with various teams in this section for the past 20 years. This season saw Chip playing the best diamond game in many years despite his age of nearly 40 summers, and the "grand old man" was making the youngsters hustle to hold their own with him. Another accomplishment of Dugas is his roller skating he at one time being on the vaudeville stage and recognized as one of the best roller skaters in the country.

Mike Morin, like his partner, is a champion bowler holding the Massachusetts candle pin title for a number of years. Mike also entered the individual championship duck-pin tournament last spring but was not up among the leaders. Morin is also a local baseball luminary, having played semi-pro ball in this part of the state for the past five years and two years ago was ranked as the leading semi-pro pitcher here when a member of the Taftville A. A. team. Morin also pitched for a Montreal team in the Canadian league several seasons ago.

Both men are members of teams in the Eastern Connecticut Bowling league, Dugas being manager and captain of the Taftville Five and Morin being captain of the Palace team. Dugas is president of the Eastern Connecticut Bowling association and one of the boosters of the bowling game in the eastern part of the state.

Local bowling fans are very much pleased over the new ownership of the local alleys which have been thoroughly renovated and remodeled, making the alleys much more pleasant than before. A new lighting system has been installed which adds greatly to the alleys.

PLANS FOR FOUR BIG HORSE RACES ARE MADE

New York, Sept. 30.—Plans for a series of four international horse races in 1925, two to be run in Kentucky and two in New York, have been laid before August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey club, by Matt J. Winn, general manager of the Kentucky Jockey club.

Mr. Winn, disclosed that the proposal involves an aggregate purse of $200,000 for the series, for which the best of Europe's thoroughbreds would be invited to compete with American horses.

The Kentucky turf official proposes to arrange a definite schedule for the races that will not conflict with any of the fixed classics here or abroad.

How It's Done In the Majors

By Frank Frisch

Score 5 to 1, favor of team in the field. Ninth inning. Team at bat has runners on first and third with one out. The signal is for a curved ball to be pitched to a right handed hitter.

How should second baseman play his position?

Under these conditions when a curved ball is pitched to a right-handed hitter, second basemen should always start towards second base.

The reason for this is that right-handed hitters always hit the curved ball into left field. It is almost impossible for them to hit into right field. Also this is the way for him to play because if the runner on first attempts to steal second, the second baseman is then in a position to take the throw from the catcher.

HARRIS, THE YOUNGSTER, VS. M'GRAW, THE VETERAN

New York, Stpe. 30.—(By The A. P.)—The world's series between New York and Washington promises many spectacular features and not the least of these will be the battle of strategy between John J. McGraw, veteran leader of the Giants, and Stanley Harris, youthful playing manager of the American League champions.

McGraw, variously known as the "Master Mind" and the "Little Napoleon," will match the experience that has carried him to the ten pennants in the past twenty years, four of them in a row, against the fiery leadership of "Bucky" Harris, youngest of all pennant-winning pilots, inspired by triumph in his first year at the helm.

Harris who is not 28, has had but five years major league experience altogether. McGraw has led the Giants into the fray since 1902. He was a playing star on the famous Baltimore Orioles in the '90's, before Harris was born.

McGraw directs his team from the bench. He is credited with deciding every pitch his twirlers throw and directing all moves of the attack. Harris leads his men from a post in the thick of the fray.

Ability to inspire aggressiveness is a characteristic shared by both managers. McGraw's clubs always have been known for their fighting qualities, particularly under fire, while Harris has had his men battling with unquenchable spirit throughout one of the hottest campaigns in history.

Voluntown Shuts Out Ashland

Voluntown and Ashland met on Sunday afternoon on the Voluntown grounds before the largest and most demonstrative crowd of the season, both teams being supported by large numbers of loyal rooters.

Dupont on the mound for Voluntown again demonstrating his ability as a slab artist shut out the visitors, 8 to 0, holding them to 5 scattered hits and retiring 7 by the strike out route. Not until the ninth when Dupont let up a little did an Ashland player reach second. In the ninth Jarvis singled, Murphy followed with a clout to the pines in centerfield with what looked like a home run, that set Ashland rooters in a mad frenzy of excitement, but their cheers were short lived as E. Dupont after a hard run pulled it out of the air and relayed it to first doubling Jarvis who had nearly reached third, one of the prettiest plays of the season, Chase walked, Benjamin singled and reached second on an error at that station and Joubert flied out to Gilbert in right field, Dupont received splendid support from his team mates. Voluntown found Lloyd Jarvis, the boy wonder for 7 hits in four innings and sent him to the showers after seven runs had been scored. Leo Jarvis replaced him and held the local team to five scattered hits and 1 run, both teams fielded well.

Voluntown's big inning was the 4th, when the collected hits, which with a base on balls, a brace of errors and two stolen bases netted 5 runs. Ashland was strengthened by the addition of Benjamin and Chase of the old time Ashland and Jimmy Murphy and Joubert of Taftville, whilst Voluntown played the team that shut out Sterling without hit or run. A Dupont received an ovation after the game for his great work in the box as also did E. Dupont for his splendid catch of Murphy's big clout in the ninth. The score:

FINAL TRYOUT FOR RIFLE TEAMS HELD

Camp Perry, Ohio., Sept. 30.—The final tryouts of members of teams which will participate in the National Rifle team match, the last event on the National Rifle Association program, were held today. The match opens tomorrow with seventy ten-men teams participating. Five stages will be fired, the finals being on Thursday's program.

The match will be decided on the 200 yards slow fire; 200-yards rapid; 300-yards rapid; 600-yards slow and 1,000-yard slow fire ranges.

Assistant Secretary of war Dwight F. Davis, rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett and several other army and navy officials are expected to arrive tomorrow for the matches. The National board for the promotion of rifle practice, of which Mr. Davis is president, will meet.

FIVVE HARVARD MEN INJURED IN SCRIMMAGE

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 30.—Scrimmage between the Harvard Varsity football squad and the second team at the stadium here today placed five men on the injured list, two of whom will be out for at least two weeks. John Maher, fleet halfback, and Leonard Robb, end, were the more seriously injured. Nathaniel Howe and Arthur Rogers, backs, and Daniel Holder, center and letter man, received slight injuries but may be able to get into the game against the University of Virginia next Saturday.

BULKELEY ELEVEN IS HARD HIT BY LOSS OF TWO OF ITS STAR PLAYERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Sept. 30.—There was little outward manifestation shown by Bulkeley students, following the announcement that two sports, namely basketball and track were in line for revival at Bulkeley school this year. No doubt the announcement that these two sports would once again be included in the athletic programme at Bulkeley would have been received with unusual enthusiasm, but two incidents which happened today depressed the students in general so that they left all thoughts of the revival of these two sports to take care of themselves.

The citing of the two incidents which have left the entire Bulkeley student bobdy in a rather melancholy state, to say the least, concerns the Bulkeley football team this season. Two players, one lost through an injury and the other through an infraction of the rules gives Bulkeley's hope for a championship team a rude jolt. The two players who will be lost to the team, probably for the balance of the season are Walter Rice, brilliant half back, and James Latham, end.

No doubt the loss of Walter Rice at half back will be felt more keenly than that of Latham's. Rice was suspended from school indefinitely this noon for a partial infraction of the rules, and it is doubtful if he will be able to return to the lineup for the rest of the season. Latham's case is an injury, a possible fracture of his left ankle, which was hurt rather badly in scrimmage yesterday afternoon. The injury was not believed to be a very serious one until it was reported that Latham was taken to the Lawrence-Memorial hospital early this morning to have an X-ray taken of his injured ankle. His absence to the team will be at least a month if not a longer period, for one of the bones in his ankle was either broken or fructured to an extent that will make him retire for the season. Until the X-ray picture discloses what his injury is, there is nothing left to do but sit tight and hope that the injury is not a serious one.

The ability of Rice need not be mentioned, or those fans who have seen the Orange and Black half back in action the past three years he has been a regular, saw a player that possessed more than ordinary high school ability. He was one of triple-threat backs that very seldom are found at high schools. Rice could kick, run the ball and throw passes with the best of them, and the fact that he received an offer to attend Exeter this fall, speaks very highly of his all round athletic ability. Rice was suspended from school for an indefinite period this noon by Head Master Underwood, for an infraction of the rules. Just how long the suspension from school will be in force is not known, but it was reported that Rice will never be allowed to participate in football this present season. His loss as well as Latham's to the team will probably cost Bulkeley the state championship this year. Playing brilliantly in the opening game of the season last Saturday against Rhode Island State College freshmen, Rice was looked forward as the most consistent ground gainer Bulkeley will probably produce this year. If he is barred from football, which from present indications seem most likely, Bulkeley will lose one of her greatest half backs ever to play under the Orange and Black colors.

Although forbidden to engage in football this season, George Sheflott, captain of the Orange and Black eleven, who was not expected to play football this season due to an operation for appendicitis which he underwent early in the fall, has expressed his desire to play again this year. Understanding the situation that Bulkeley is in now with the suspension of Rice and the loss of Latham through an injury, Captain Sheflott has begun to get into condition to be able to take his place in the lineup in the second game on the Bulkeley list, Ansonia High. It is school spirit of the highest order, and while Sheflott must be lauded for his attempt to rescue the Bulkeley team out of its rut, it may do bodily harm to him in the end. But he is willing to take the chance, and today for the first time while the rest of the squad was given the day off, the Orange and Black captain was beginning to get into shape.

But even though Sheflott will return to the lineup, he will not be the same player of the past two years. The operation which he underwent will always make him cautious and he will not throw himself into every play with the reckless abandon of other years. And then the punting toe of Rice will be missed to such an extent that many yards will be lost in the end. Joe Barry seems to be the only other back who has the qualifications of a punter, but it will take time to develop him. However, it is expected that this important job will fall on his shoulders. Sheflott outside of his punting, is rather well qualified for a triple-threat player of the highest order. He can drop kick, run the ball exceptionally well and also throw passes. But the loss of Rice will be more keenly felt as the season progresses. His place will be hard to fill.

J., welterweight champion of the world, and Bobby Barrett, Clifton Heights, Pa., battler, are both under weight for their title match tomorrow night. They weighed in today at 2 p. m., Barrett scaling the welterweight limit, 147 pounds, and Walker a quarter pound less.

JOHNSON'S HOME TOWN WILL GO TO THE SERIES

Coffeyville, Kans., Sept. 30.—Washington is not the only town in the United States that's doing some celebrating because the Washington Senators nosed out the New York Yankees to win their American League pennant.

Coffeyville, Kansas, is also considerably worked up about the same thing.

And the reason Coffeyville is jubilant is because this is the little home town of Walter Johnson, the Senator's pitching ace. His friends and neighbors are proud of him and as many as can are going to witness the series. Several of them left for Washington tonight for the opening game of the world series, Saturday when, it is expected Johnson will pitch.

Coffeyville friends of Johnson who attend the series are assured of good seats. Early in the season Johnson promised that those who made the trip to the capital for the series would be taken care of—and he wrote the other day that the promise still holds good.

There will be a warm civic ceremony for Johnson when he returns to Coffeyville—regardless of the outcome of the series. But Coffeyville is not worried about that. Everyone is confident that Walter and his teammates will give the nation's capital a world's championship in the same way they captured the American League pennant.

From Governor J. M. Davis' office in Topeka today a telegram was sent to Johnson extending the best wishes of "All Kansas."

Mrs. Walter Johnson, with two of her children, and Mrs. F. E. Johnson, Walter's mother, left for Washington Sunday in response to a telegram from the pitcher to "come on." They will be present at the welcoming celebration for the Senators tomorrow.

BOSTON PULLS OUT OF CELLAR BY BEATING SENATORS

Boston, Sept. 30.—Boston finished in seventh place today by beating the pennant-winning Washington Senators 13 to 1 in a game which showed that the latter harbored no grudge against Boston for having delayed the finish by taking the first of the final series here.

Nick Altrock, Washington's clown-coach, delighted the fans by holding the home team to one run while he had possession of the mound for the final two innings and then he capped the day by scoring the lone Washington run after hitting a "remarkable" three-bagger. Peckinpaugh was in charge of the Senators, Stan Harris having gone to Washington last night. The score:

RICKARD LOSES $5,000 ON WILLS-FIRPO BOUT

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 30.—Tex Rickard lost $5,005 in promoting the Wills-Firpo fight in Jersey City, according to a statement filed with State Comptroller Newton A. K. Bugbee, who is also state athletic commissioner, today. Total expenditures as set forth by Mr. Rickard in connection with the bout were $467,855 and the total income was $462,850. Firpo received $156,211 as his share of the receipts and Wills $150,000.

The federal tax was $46,285 and the state tax an equal amount. Juan Homs, Mr. Rickard's representative in Brazil, received $4,871 for salary and expenses. The health of the fighters was insured at a cost of $2,000 while $3,712 was paid for fire insurance and $5,285 for liability insurance. Mr. Rickard expended $42,431 for repairs to the arena at Boyle's Thirty Acres.

WILLIMANTIC THREADMAKERS AT MOOSUP THIS SUNDAY

Sporting Editor:

John McQuillian has decided to come to Moosup this week end with his crack ball club. He holds a victory over Moosup early in the season by a 6 to 1 score, and he had the nerve to tell Manager Longhran last Sunday that he intends to hang another victory over Moosup on the Carpet grounds Sunday coming.

Well John I am sorry for you are going to get the walloping of a life time, one you never can forget. I have got it in for you and your club and am going to prove it to you Sunday.

Now! You are coming to Moosup for exactly the same guarantee that I received to go to Willimantic early in the season. Now! don't forget, let me warn you right at this point, bring a ball club with you.

Manager Longhran will have "Chick" Davis, p; and Allard, c; "Toney" West of the Baltimore Orioles, p; and "Bill" Reddy, c; Lefty Varin on 1st "Capt" Eddie Burns. 2nd "Joey" Kendericks the wild bull of the Pampus on ss. "Jack" Sank of Fredricksburg 3rd "Dinty" Moore lf. Harry Mills cf, Strike rf, Mangold utility outfielder. Frechette utility infielder. Watch for the keen interest that is flying around between Moosup and Willimantic. The fur will fly Sunday. This is the first game that Willimantic has left their home grounds in the fall on a Sunday date for years. They are going to be a sorry crowd don't forget it.

Mgr. Longhran.

WORLD'S PENANT WINNERS SINCE THE YEAR 1884

New York, Sept. 30.—The first series of baseball games for the world's championship was begun in 1884, when the Providence team of the National League played three games with the Metropolitans of New York, champions of the American Association, and won them all. The yearly competitions between the two organizations continued until 1890, when they ceased. In 1894 a new series of post-season contests was inaugurated, the first and second teams of the National League playing for a cup presented by W. C. Temple of Pittsburgh. New York the trophy the first year, Cleveland the second, and Baltimore the last two years. The cup was then returned to the donor.

No more post-season games were played until 1903, when the Pittsburghs, champions of the National League, were beaten by Boston in 1904, but in 1905 the New Yorks won the pennant for the second time from the Philadelphias. The winners of the various series follow:

Year	Winner	League	Loser	League	Games
1884	Providence	National	Metropolitans	A. A.	3-0

RAIN CALLS HALT ON MANY SPORTING EVENTS

New York, Sept. 30.—Rain today dealt a knockout blow to sporting activities. Baseball, boxing, cricket, polo and horse racing programs all were shelved by a heavy downpour.

In Philadelphia the Yankees were forced to cancel a double-header with the Athletics which was to have marked the season's close, while the international cricket matches were halted and the welterweight title bout between Mickey Walker, champion, and Bobby Barrett, postponed until tomorrow night.

Semi-finals in the Monty Waterbury cup polo tournament at Westbury were called off and because of the soggy condition of the field, cannot be played before Thursday.

Boxing in Cleveland, Grand Circuit harness racing in Columbus and exhibition baseball games, involving major league clubs, were called off in Baltimore and New Haven.

QUIGLEY AND KLEM TO WORK FOR NATIONALS IN SERIES

New York, Sept. 30.—Earnest Quigley and William J. Klem, two veteran National League umpires, will represent the National League at the world's series, according to announcement today by President Heydler.

Heydler also announced selection of Charles Pfirman and Charles Rigler to officiate in the Chicago city series.

GERMAN FOOTBALL TEAM TO PLAY THE FRENCH

Paris, Sept. 30.—For the first time since the world war a German football team is to meet a French eleven. The match will be played here Oct. 11 between two workmen's teams.

Baseball Writers' Meeting.

New York, Sept. 30. — The annual meeting of the Baseball Writers' Association of America will be held next Tuesday morning at 10.30 o'clock in the Hotel Commodore, according to announcement tonight by Frederick G. Lieb, president of the organization.

Cooney-Zivic Bout Off.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 30.—Today's rain caused a third postponement of the scheduled 12-round bout here between Danny Cooney of Trenton and Jack Zivic of Pittsburgh. The fight will be held tomorrow night.

SPORTING NOTES

The excellent records made by some of the baseball pitchers during the season now drawing to a close serve to recall the feat performed in 1907 by Pitcher Wilhelm of the Birmingham Southern league team. In September of that year Wilhelm pitched 59 innings without allowing opposing teams to score.

Tennis is the favorite recreation of royalty in England. Buckingham palace is equipped with a first class hard court, where members of the royal family and their guests frequently indulge in the sport. King George himself has been a life-long devotee of the game.

Something You Can't Enjoy in Other Cars

If you want to drive without being distressed by the clashing, rasping, and uncertainty of the ordinary gear shift, a Chandler is the car for you. For Chandler is the only maker who offers the

Traffic Transmission

(Campbell Patent)

Due to the use of a new and simple principle, this now-famous unit does away with all the shortcomings that stamp the sliding gear transmission as the most backward part of the otherwise up-to-date automobile of today.

Gears Cannot Clash

All its amazing advantages can be told in a single sentence: You cannot clash the gears.

You can change from high to second to low, or from low to second to high under all conditions—without noise or failure.

Down Hills Safely

You can descend mountain-steep grades without riding the brake; for a split-second snap puts you into second gear or low and the motor breaks the car.

The same certain, silent action eliminates fully 75% of the nervous tension in traffic driving.

How You Do It

With all these new results, there is nothing new to learn. You use the clutch and move the gear lever exactly as before. This is one of the reasons why the Traffic Transmission ranks as one of the really great advances in automotive engineering.

Pikes Peak Motor Balloon Tires
Superb New Bodies 4-Wheel Brakes

Besides the Traffic Transmission, the 1925 Chandler has many other notable features: The Pikes Peak Motor, full balloon tires as standard equipment, an indestructible rear axle, 4-wheel brakes optional at a slight extra cost, and Fisher bodies of rich and striking beauty.

The New Metropolitan Sedan De Luxe and the new Chummy Sedan in Luxor blue and black are the handsomest bodies that ever graced a famous chassis.

WHITE LEGHORNS GAIN ON RHODE ISLAND REDS

During the forty-seventh week of the Storrs laying contest the leading pens of the various breeds have with one exception, held the relative positions which they occupied last week. The outstanding feature of the week has been the notable gain made by C. T. Darby's pen of White Leghorns from North Branch, N. J. These birds have been running in second place and trailing the leading pen, Fernside Farm's Rhode Island Reds, but during the past week they have cut down the gap to only 51 eggs. This means that the White Leghorn pen now has a distinct chance of over taking the leaders before the end of the contest five weeks from now. It also means that there is a chance that not only one but two pens may reach the coveted mark of a 250 egg average for the year.

The leaders for the week were the White Leghorns from Hilltop Farm, Suffield, Conn., who laid 52 eggs. Second place was a tie between C. T. Darby's pen of White Leghorns from North Branch N. J., and George B. Ferris' pen of White Leghorns from Grand Rapids, Mich., each of which laid 47 eggs. Red Mount Farm's pen of Reds from Franklin, Mass., and Andrew L. Ohr's White Leghorns of Wallingford, Conn., were tied for third place with 44 eggs apiece while fourth honors were shared by St. John's Poultry Farm's White Leghorns of Oronogo, Me., A. W. Buckbee's White Wyandottes from Wisner, N. Y., and H. F. Barber's White Rocks from Dover, Mass., each with a record of 43 eggs for the week. The total egg production for the week was 2,927 or a yield of 42 per cent. which makes the total to date 156,265 eggs. This is 143 eggs more than the eighth year average when lights were not used.

The four leading pens in each of the principal breeds are as follows:

JOHN G. REINACHER RUN OVER BY SWITCH ENGINE AT NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Sept. 30.—John G. Reinacher, 54, of 48 Addisan street, employed many years by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and latterly employed as crossing tender at the union station, was fatally injured this morning when struck by a switch engine and run over. Reinacher was rushed to Lawrence hospital, where he died before an operation could be performed. Reinacher was well known among railroad employes and a number of years ago suffered the loss of an arm by being run over by a train.

Reinacher was in the union station yard, south of the crossing about 6 o'clock and when a switch engine headed toward the crossing came along he stepped to the running board to go to his post. As the engine neared the crossing Reinacher got off and stepped to a parallel set of rails and directly in the path of another switch engine, which was moving in an opposite direction from the switcher. Reinacher was knocked down and the wheels of the engine passed over his left leg between the knee and ankle. The crews of the two yard engines went to Reinacher's assistance and medical aid was summoned. After Reinacher had been given emergency treatment he was rushed to the hospital where he expired a few minutes following his admission. Besides having suffered a loss of a portion of one leg Reinacher was injured internally

This afternoon, the second floor of the F. W. Woolworth building, 98 State street, now being constructed by the Schnare Construction Corporation, Springfield, Mass., collapsed and while about 50 workmen were engaged in various parts of the structure performing the construction work. Luckily there were no workmen on the first floor when the crash took place and but three workmen were on the floor which collapsed.

Shortly after 1 o'clock and just after a load of cement had been deposited upon the second floor for masons to set the material the floor was felt to tremble. The three workmen rushed to an iron girder nearby and in another instant practically the entire floor fell to the floor below. What caused the floor to give way is not known, but it is believed that some of the supports were weak. About three months ago a carpenter was killed there, when the first floor collapsed.

Lloyd Hilton, fireman on the tug F. H. Chappell, of the fleet of towboats owned by the Thames Towboat company, arrested last night charged with assault with intent to kill, following his slashing Luther Moshier, fireman on the submarine N-2, stationed at the submarine base, was in the police court this morning. The case did not come to trial for Moshier was unable to appear, being under treatment at the base hospital. It is believed that Moshier's condition will permit his appearance in the police court tomorrow. Hilton was held for trial in bonds of $5,000. In default of a surety he was remanded to jail. The knife used by Hilton when he slashed Moshier was found in a pocket of the accused man's clothing, when he was arrested.

Duxbury church in Groton is to have what is said to be the first married ceremony performed there in a generation, next week Saturday evening, when Dorothy Lovett and Harry Remmett will wed. Miss Lovett is a daughter in the Hislop store at New London and Mr. Remmett is employed at the plant of the ship and engine company. Miss Lovett is organist of the church.

Edward J. McClure, 23 Tilley street, and Miss Catherine F. Lewis were married this morning by Justice of the Peace Daniel M. Cronin. The groom gave his occupation as chauffer and the bride that of a silk worker.

A tree in the yard of the Salton-hall school, corner of Hempstead and Bellman streets, was blown down during the high wind of this forenoon.

No date has been assigned for the hearing of charges of reporting for duty while under the influence of liquor made by Lieut. Benjamin Beebe against Patrolman Charles Hammond, but the hearing will probably come next Monday afternoon. City Manager William A. Holt stated this afternoon that he would confer with the other members of the investigating board, Mayor Malcolm M. Scott, Judge Victor Prince and Deputy Judge Lewis Crandall within a day or two and if next Monday was agreeable to those members of the board the hearing would take place on that date. As the result of the suspension of Hammond, Capt. Charles A. Finney has instructed Supernumerary Officer Dennis Murphy to continue patrol duty indefinitely, or until such time as the case against the accused officer is disposed of. Should Hammond be dismissed from the force, Murphy will be appointed a regular, as he heads the supernumerary list.

Mrs. Susan C. Brown, 80, widow of Henry A. Brown, died suddenly of heart trouble last night at her home, 34 Montauk avenue. Mrs. Brown had been about her home as usual during yesterday and last evening. About 8.30 o'clock she went to her home and lay upon the bed. A few minutes later Mrs. Brown's housekeeper, Miss Hattie Fenner heard labored breathing and hurrying to the bedroom found Mrs. Brown breathing her last. Medical Examiner Charles B. Kaufman decided that death had occurred from a chronic heart affection.

Martin Cook of Stonington, Mrs. Henry Riordan, Waterford; Mrs. William Mathewson and infant son, Westfield, Mass., William Bloomfield, West Colt street and Mrs. Clarence Rice and infant son, Waterford, were patients dismissed at Lawrence hospital today.

The surf at Ocean Beach today was the highest of any day this year, the waves rolling across the beach and over the boardwalk. No damage was reported however.

Mrs. Hannah Page, 82, widow of Winfield Page, was found dead in bed at her residence, 458 Williams street, this morning, having been stricken with a heart attack during the early morning hours. She expired with her daughter, Miss Lydia Page asleep by her mother's side. Mrs. Page is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary Sullivan of Water street; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Reeves, Williams street, besides the youngest daughter, who occupied the bed with her mother. Mrs. Page retired as usual last night and not complaining. About 6.45 o'clock a grand child of Mrs. Page entered the bedroom of the grandmother and attempted to waken her and failing to do so the child aroused the daughter. When Miss Page rose she attempted to awaken her mother and it was then discovered that the latter was lifeless. Medical Examiner Charles Kaufman rendered a verdict of death having been caused by heart trouble.

Richard Lawrence, the Pearl street youth, who fell from his bicycle on Howard street yesterday afternoon and who, it was believed, had sustained concussion of the brain, was able to leave Home Memorial hospital today and return home. Another patient discharged at the institution was Mrs. Walter Weed and infant son, of 180 Ocean avenue.

The funeral of Miss Boleslawa Podhielska, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Podhielska, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Peter and St. Paul's church, mass being celebrated by Rev. Theophilis Czarkowski. Burial was in the Polish National cemetery, Norwich.

The democratic probate convention was held at the Hotel Mohican this afternoon at 1 o'clock, Arthur B. Calkins, present judge of probate for the New London probate district, which includes New London and Waterford, was renominated.

Walter McLaughlin of 447 Williams street, driving an automobile, ran into a woman at Main and John streets. He took her in the car to her home at 7 Hill street where she said she was not injured. Mr. McLaughlin did not obtain the woman's name.

Jorge Gary of Eastern Point was found this evening operating a car without being in possession of a license. He was apprehended for starting away from the curbing without giving a signal that he was to pull out into the street, and then it was discovered that he was operating the car he occupied without right.

Walter Pekore of Oakdale was brought to the New London police station, for keeping, this evening by State Policeman Anderson, charged with having broken and entered a building at Oakdale. He will be taken to Waterford for a hearing in court.

New Haven reported a Chevrolet sedan stolen from that city this evening and asked the New London police to be on the lookout for it.

WESTERLY

Democratic Delegates Thomas B. V. Clancy, Frank G. Booth, Michael Toscano and Bernard Welch were in attendance at the state democratic convention held on Tuesday in the Elks' auditorium in Providence.

When State Chairman James E. Dunne rapped for order, every seat was taken and the aisles were choked with those who could find only standing room.

Spectators flocked into the block of 200 seats in the front of the hall that had been reserved for delegates. Three times Mr. Dunne asked them to give up their seats, but they clung to them, while delegates stood in the aisles.

Finally National Committeeman Patrick H. Quinn addressed the chair and protested against the situation.

"The whole Westerly delegation is standing up here," he said. "It's up to people who are not delegates to give these folks their seats."

Again Mr. Dunne pleaded with the crowd, and finally places were found for the Westerly men.

Secretary Henry D. Hamilton had trouble reading the roll of the Westerly delegation. One of them he announced as "Michael Turano." Michael Turano is judge of the Westerly district court and a republican member of the general assembly.

"Hey, that's wrong," cried a delegate when General Hamilton read the name amid laughter.

It was finally determined that the delegate's name was Michael Tuscano.

When Chairman Dunne presented Robert E. Quinn, "the fighting senator from West Warwick," there was a burst of applause.

As the nomination speeches were made, it became apparent that, no matter who had the votes, Governor Flynn had the galleries. The applause that greeted the nomination of Mr. O'Shaunessy was weak, and confined for the most part to delegates and spectators from the Newport district. Mayor Gainer's name evoked wide hand-clapping among the delegates. But the nomination of Governor Flynn brought from the gallery and from the spectators on the floor not only applause but cheers.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Barber of Westerly and Watch Hill left Tuesday for Boston where they took passage on a Savannah line steamship for Savannah, to return to their winter home in Florida.

Miss Ann Elizabeth Carr has returned from a week-end visit in Providence.

E. O. Rodier, of Norwich, superintendent for this district for the Prudential insurance company, was a Westerly business caller during the week.

Dr. and Mrs. C. Wesley Hale of Springfield, Mass., a recent graduate of Harvard Law school, and a visitor in the summer at Pendleton Hill, were Westerly visitors Monday.

D. W. Clarke of New Haven was a Westerly business caller Tuesday.

Robert M. Carr and William Russell Dower were week-end automobile visitors in Hartford.

Miss Elizabeth D. Pendleton of Westerly and Stonington was a member of a week-end automobile party visiting New London and Norwich.

James J. Moore and Paul Lewis of Pawcatuck were visitors in Pendleton Hill, Jewett City and Voluntown.

Ralph Whitehead of Providence was a Westerly business caller Monday.

James A. Dunn was a Providence visitor over the week-end.

Louis W. Arnold of New York was a New London business caller Friday and passed the week end as the guest of relatives and friends in Westerly, his former home.

Misses Helen L. R., Julia H. and Jennie Catto and Miss Phyllis Mathews have returned, after an automobile trip over the Mohawk trail and into Canada.

William D. Cross returned Monday evening from New York where he accompanied his mother, Mrs. E. E. Cross, who returned Monday morning from a visit at Atlantic Beach to her home in Chester, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. William Grant returned Sunday night from an automobile trip to Pittsfield where they were guests of relatives over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan C. Whitford and Mrs. John T. Parker of Westerly returned Sunday night from an automobile tip over the week end which took them over the Storm King trail.

J. Howard Alger of Pittsburgh returned to Westerly Monday evening from Boston.

At their home on High street today (Wednesday) Dr. and Mrs. Michael H. Scanlon are to celebrate the 22nd anniversary of their marriage in a quiet manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Doty of Stonington borough have been visitors in Westerly.

Prof. Charles H. J. Douglas, after passing the summer months in Westerly, his former home, left Tuesday to return to Riverside, Cal.

Miss Josephine E. King, a bookkeeper at the Washington Trust company, is to pass her vacation at the Campbell cottage, Pleasant View. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Thankful A. King and sister, Miss Alice King.

Mrs. Joe Stedman of Westerly is the guest of her son, E. C. Stedman, in New York and before her return home will visit relatives in New York state and New Jersey.

Harry G. Clark of Mystic began Monday his duties as messenger for the American Railway Express company on the new east-bound train, leaving the Westerly station at 9.35, east bound.

Domenico Micell of the West Side was in New London Tuesday and took out his naturalization papers.

Howard Rich Tucker, 45, who died in Wakefield, Monday evening, conducted an automobile business there. During the World war Mr. Tucker was connected with the intelligence department of the United States government and did efficient work.

Mr. Tucker was a member of Hope lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., of Wakefield, Franklin chapter, No. 7, of Hope Valley and a member of Narragansett commandery, No. 27, Knights Templar, of Westerly.

With the new train schedule, which went into effect Sunday, a number of changes in the time of outgoing mails have been made at the Westerly post office.

Postmaster Thomas F. Lenihan stated that the only radical change in the mail formerly despatched to local stations between here and Providence on the 10.44 train. The mail car has been taken off of that train, and the mail is now sent out of the local office at 9.353. This new train does not stop at the small stations and the mail is carried to Providence, to be sent back in the evening. The mail train that used to go at 1.07 has now been changed to 10.47, so that the mail will close at the post office about a half hour earlier than in the past. Another mail, that for Boston and points beyond, which was formerly despatched at 8.47 p. m. will now go out at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur N. Nash, who have been on an automobile trip, were summoned home by the critical illness of Mrs. Nash's mother, Mrs. Anna Wilson, widow of Eli Wilson, who makes her home with her daughter, at 156 West Broad street, Pawcatuck. Mr. and Mrs. Nash returned to Westerly from Boston by train Tuesday evening.

WORRY CAUSES SUICIDE OF MRS. JOHN M. SULLIVAN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, R. I., Sept. 30.—At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Healey, 35 Liberty street, Pawcatuck, where she had made her home for the past ten years, Mrs. Annie M. Sullivan, 74, widow of John M. Sullivan, was found asphyxiated, Tuesday morning, about 11.30 o'clock.

The odor of gas had been detected in the neighborhood earlier in the morning, but nothing was thought of the matter. It was not until Mrs. Giovanni Levanta and Miss Katherine Shea, a nurse, had broken in the door that Mrs. Sullivan was found fully clothed lying on her bed in her bedroom at 11.20 with life nearly extinct from inhaling the gas from a petcock which had been turned on and left wide open. Windows had been closed tightly and it was the opinion of Dr. Michael H. Scanlon, who was summoned to assist at furthering the attempt at revival, that Mrs. Sullivan's death was caused by suicide during a temporarily unbalanced mind. Mr. and Mrs. Healey and son had made an early trip to Providence by automobile and Mrs. Levanta, visiting the house at 9 o'clock, had found everything all right so that the deed must have been committed after that time.

It is reported that Mrs. Sullivan was worried over financial matters and on Tuesday morning received notice from the bank that a note which she had endorsed had gone to protest. Mrs. Sullivan is survived by a son, who resides in Providence.

SIX MURDEROUS BANDITS TO BE HANGED IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Sept. 30—Six men, members of a bandit band that last April slew a bank messenger in a sensational $142,000 robbery, will be hanged Oct. 24, five judges of the court of appeals decreed today.

One of the condemned, Leo Davis, may escape the noose, however, as two justices dissented concerning his appeal, whereupon his counsel took advantage of their right to carry the appeal to the dominion supreme court.

Davis, with Tony Frank, Louis Morel, Frank Gambino, Milo Valentino and Giuseppe Serafina, had appealed from the death sentence imposed several weeks ago. This appeal was today dismissed. They were convicted of having shot and killed Henri Clereux, chauffeur-messenger of the Bank of Hochelaga, in an attack on his money car. A seventh member of the band, Harry Stone, was killed in the attack, and a secon bank empidye was wounded.

HITCHCOCK SAYS COOLIDGE WILL SWEEP THE COUNTRY

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Frank H. Hitchcock, former chairman of the republican national committee and pre-convention manager of the Senator Hiram Johnson campaign for the republican presidential nomination, declared today that President Coolidge will sweep the country in a vote that will surprise everyone.

"In my estimation you could scrap every issue in the campaign and Calvin Coolidge would lead the field for the simple reason that the people seem to have a confidence in him that has been bestowed on but a few men in our history," Mr. Hitchcock's statement said.

SENTENCED FOR MANSLAUGHTER COMMITTED IN WATERBURY

Henry Allen, colored, held in connection with the murder of Mrs. Mary Fletcher at her home in Waterbury some months ago, pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter in criminal superior court here today. Judge Newell Jennings sentenced him to state's prison for not less than 12 nor more than 15 years.

break, but the wind increased in force and the rain fell in greater volume than before. There were a few flashes of lightning. As darkness came on the wind increased in velocity. All over the city trees were leveled and wires went down. At Franklin and Hempstead streets a large elm that had stood there more than half a century crashed into the roadway. Walter Dewey had just driven under it in an automobile. He heard the crash and, looking about, saw that the streets were completely blocked, in the roadway and on the sidewalk. In other sections of the city trees were down and the electric lighting system was badly disarranged. In the southern section lights were out at intervals during all the early evening.

EIGHT DEATHS CAUSED BY STORM IN EASTERN PENN.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30. — Eight deaths and heavy property damage, with serious interruptions to railroad service and industrial activities were reported tonight from towns and cities in eastern Pennsylvania as a result of flood conditions following 48 hours of heavy rains. Roads blocked with debris, bridges washed away, landslides, the drowning of much livestock, closing down of mines and other plants, and the flooding of cellars, were mentioned in most of the reports. The water was receding tonight at the majority of places, but in some cases it was still rising.

Two men were killed and another seriously injured at Girard, near Bloomsburg, as a result of a landslide which carried a pusher engine of the Reading railway over a 200-foot embankment.

Wilkes-Barre also reported two deaths. Landis Travis was killed at Wyoming by a live wire blown down during the storm and Mrs. Agnes Natosh, was drowned in Mill Creek.

Two deaths were reported in the Scranton section and two in Mauch Chunk.

FALLEN WIRES LEFT MIDDLETOWN IN DARKNESS

Middletown, Sept. 30—More than 200 telephones were out of commission here tonight as a result of the wind storm which swept over this section of the state today. The city was in darkness for a time this evening, the electric power being affected by falling limbs. Many small signs in the business section were blown down and one large advertising sign, four stories above the street, swayed so dangerously in the wind, that the police roped off the street until the sign could be fastened more securely.

YACHT WASHED ASHORE; SEVERAL OTHERS DAMAGED

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 30.—One yacht was washed ashore and several others damaged when they were torn from their moorings at the Indian Harbor Yacht club by today's 60-mile gale that whipped the sound into waves said to have been higher than any seen in years on Long Island sound. Windows in the yacht club 15 feet above the water were wet with the spray of combers that broke over the club veranda.

Electric light and telephone service was badly crippled. Wires were torn down and trees uprooted by the wind and rain. Motorists reported many fallen trees across the Boston post road.

Damage in Wallingford.

Wallingford, Sept. 30.—Wallingford, just recovering from a tornado that swept this section some time ago, was visited by another big wind storm today and considerable damage resulted. The wind was accompanied by a heavy rain. Large limbs blown from the trees landed on trolley, telephone and electric light wires and crippled the srevice. The 5 o'clock trolley to New Haven did not get away until 7 o'clock. About half of the electric light service is out of commission, affecting the street lights and the electric lights in the residential sections. Electric light officials said that it would take a week before normal service could be expected. About a dozen telephone lines were cut off as the result of falling limbs.

Heavy Rainfall in Danbury.

Danbury, Sept. 30.—Three inches of rain fell in a strom which swept this sectio ntoday, and for a time the streets of the city were flooded. It was the heaviest fall of rain this summer. A number of limbs were blown from the trees, but little damage resulted.

Trees Blown Down in Meriden.

Meriden, Sept. 30.—Several trees were blown down and electric light circuits in various parts of the city were out for considerable periods of time due to the heavy wind and rain storm this evening.

Officials of hte electric light company had the full force of repair men at work and pronounced the storm one of the most troublesome of the year.

Toll Lines Useless.

Waterbury, Sept. 30.—Telephone toll lines to outlying cities and towns were temporarily rendered useless by the storm here this afternoon. More than an inch of rain fell during the day and many electric light wires throughout th ecity were brought down by falling branches.

DAMAGE BY 60-MILE GALE IN NEW YORK AND VICINITY

New York, Sept. 30—A sixty-mile gale, laden with rain, caused several minor accidents in New York and vicinity today, wrecked hundreds of small bathhouses at Rockaway Beach and destroyed a few thousand umbrellas. Less than an inch of rainfall was recorded, however.

The weather bureau announced that the wind would shift to the northwest tonight and that the temperature would fall.

HEAVY RAINFALL IN CENTRAL NEW YORK

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 30—Rainfall in the storm which has lasted since early yesterday, will be second only in central New York to the record precipitation of the 1922 cloudburst when 4.70 inches of water fell, according to the local weather bureau. From yesterday morning until noon today 3.46 inches had fallen here.

FLOODS DAMAGED CROPS IN CENTRAL NEW YORK

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Death by drowning of a 10 year old boy, interrupted traffic and thousands of dollars' damage to property and crops are the results tonight of one of the worst floods known in the history of central New York and the upper Mohawk valley.

Officials of the Utica Gas and Electric company at Trenton Falls plant report a rainfall of five and a half inches between midnight Sunday and 7.15 o'clock tonight.

With an increase of 12 inches of water reported tonight it is expected that an overflow of the immense dam a Hinckley will follow.

Automobile traffic on several branches of the state highways was halted by rising waters and several auto parties were forced to abandon cars. New York Central trains were delayed on the Hudson River division and high water is reported throughout the upper Mohawk valley.

A Polish boy playing on the banks of the swollen Nail creek slipped into the water and was swept into a pond and culvert. Late tonight his body had not been recovered.

STEAMER SINKING OFF FRYING PAN SHOALS

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 30.—The Norwegian steamer Ringborg was in a sinking condition 20 miles southwest of Frying Pan Shoals tonight and had been abandoned by her crew, according to a radio message from the American steamer Comanche. The steamer Enare, also Norwegian, was standing by the stranded steamer and had taken her crew aboard.

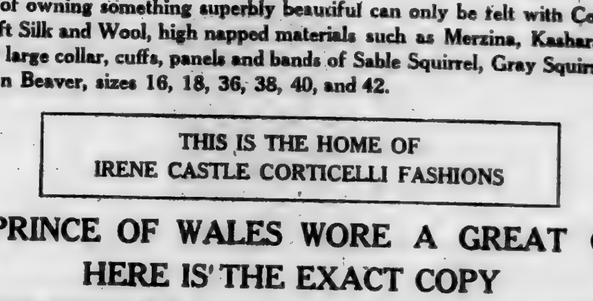
Never Before Such Fine Riding, Say Owners



The Brougham

It is one thing for a car to deliver great performance; quite another to accomplish it with unexcelled economy—as does the Chrysler Six. In addition to a new type of combustion chamber that burns all the gas and a new way of distributing the gas equally to all cylinders—which helps to explain why you get better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline—there are numerous engineering advances bearing on economy. Destructive vibration has been eliminated and the engine is protected also by the oil-filter and the air-cleaner—all of which means longer life and lower maintenance costs. Special design six-ply, high-speed balloon tires are standard.

The Chrysler Six

Pronounced as though spelled Crysler

Driving and riding in the Chrysler Six is an absolutely new experience, owners will tell you. It is not alone amazing power, speed and dash from an engine only 3-inch bore by 4½-inch stroke that arouses their wonder, or the economy by which these results are obtained.

They are tremendously impressed with the riding and driving qualities for they find the Chrysler Six, by reason of unusually low center of gravity, perfect weight distribution, a new practice of spring suspension and other engineering advances, holds the road as securely as a two-ton car.

They find that it takes a turn at 50 miles an hour with perfect safety and without side-sway; and, thanks to its remarkable driving and riding qualities, they can ride all day without fatigue.

Try the Chrysler Six. Drive it at all speeds over all kinds of roads and experience these things for yourself.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS FIRM.

New York, Sept. 30.—Active buying of the standard industrials imparted a firm tone at closing prices in today's stock market after an early period of considerable irregularity. Net gains, as a rule, were small, chief speculative interest centered in the southwestern rails, several of which attained new peak prices for the year on buying influenced by high current earnings and merger developments.

Higher call money rates brought about some selling by professional traders in the early dealings, but it failed to bring out much long stock and was eventually abandoned except in issues in which unfavorable developments are reported to be pending. Extensive gasoline price cuts along the Atlantic seaboard had a temporarily depressing influence on the oil shares. Cosden sank to a new low at 22 5-8 but later rallied to 23 1-4 for a small fractional gain on the day. Atlantic Refining closed a point lower the other active issues in the oil group showing only fractional changes.

United States Steel common closed 5-8 higher at 108 1-2 on a small turnover. Chairman Gary, in a statement issued after the directors' meeting at the close of the market, said that the operations of th finishing mills were between 63 and 65 per cent. of capacity and that September bookings were better than those of the preceding month with further improvement expected in October.

Declaration of only the regular quarterly dividend of 1 1-4 per cent on American Can was followed by heavy selling by best traders apparently on the theory that the failure of the directors to authorize an extra payment would result in liquidation of large blocks of long stock. They succeeded in hammering the stock down to 127 1-2 but it was taken up as quick as it was offered and the close was unchanged to 129 1-4, easing a point below the figure at the close.

There were several points of strength in the railroad group, new highs for the year being established by the Missouri Pacific and St. Louis-San Francisco issues, as well as by the issues in the stocks of some of the other systems operating in the southwestern territory. Heavy accumulation of Lehigh Valley, which was reported in New York Central interests, sent that stock up more than two points to 62 1-2 the highest since the segregation of the coal properties.

Issues of North American interests ran around 35. Reports of increased interest in the rubber and motor companies resulted in Studebaker being lifted up over a point to 41 1-4 and a net gain of a point for Timken Roller Bearing. Steel stocks improved generally on a better demand and specialties showed several strong spots, demonstrated by the public utility group. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore participated in the rapid climb of the oil shares, the stock moving up 3 points to 107 1-2 and closing at 2 1-2 per cent. Call money opened at 5 per cent and ruled at that rate all day. Time money and commercial paper rates ruled unchanged with business quiet.

Foreign exchanges responded favorably to the news of progress in connection with the duration of the German loan. Demand sterling ruled about 1-4 of a cent higher, around $4.47 1-4 and French francs were generally 3-4 of a cent higher.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Sept. 30.—With trading retarded by the tighter money situation, bond prices today drifted irregularly lower. Activity in the leading income and adjustment bonds, including those of the Frisco and Katy railroads, was prompted by the fact that they sell ex-interest tomorrow. Price movements generally, however, were narrow and insignificant.

Explanation for the recent flurry in Mexican government obligations was found today in the announcement that a Texas banker, comparatively unknown in Wall street, would attempt to sell $50,000,000 Mexican 6 per cent bonds. International bankers professed ignorance of the plan and little information was available as to the details of the offering. It has little effect on the listed bonds, although most of the issues eased off slightly. Trading was quiet in other foreign bonds, with the new Belgian 6 1-2 setting a new high record at 97 1-2.

Despite a good demand for a number of Southwestern Railroad bonds, the main trend of the rail group was lower. Some of the high grade issues, including those of the Burlington, Southern Pacific and "Big Four" roads, were heavy. Liberty bonds were irregular with the treasury 4 1-4s in demand.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of $5,000,000 Public Service Company of Illinois 40 years 5 1-2s at 96 to yield more than 5 3-4 per cent. Scheduled for Thursday is an offering of $12,500,000 United Drug Company 20-year 6s, with preference in subscription given to old bond holders. Proceeds will be used to call the company's 8 per cent bonds at 115.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Sept. 30.—Uncertain price movements characterized today's curb market with trading in considerably reduced volume.

Oil shares showed a tendency to heaviness as a result of extensive gasoline price cuts in the east, but the net changes in the active issues were generally small. A few issues, notably Standard Oil of Indiana, Vacuum and Pennock actually showed small fractional gains on the day.

Heavy buying of Consolidated Gas of Baltimore (new stock) which touched a new high record at 38 1-2, overshadowed all other developments in the public utility group. Commonwealth Power, middle west utilities and some of the less active shares lost ground on profit taking.

Gillette Safety Razor (old stock) broke 11 1-2 and the new stock yielded 1 3-4. Most of the radio issues improved. Ware rising two points to 23 1-2. Building issues showed fractional improvement. Goodyear Tire and Rubber were active around 15.

Speculative interest in the mining issues was again confined to the penny stocks with Jib Consolidated the active feature.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Smashing of season top record prices made fresh progress today and took in all deliveries of wheat and rye. Much of the new buying which was in evidence appeared to result from a United States department of Agriculture estimate that the world's exportable surplus of wheat this season would be around 685,000,000 bushels as against trade figures indicating that world import needs would total 750,000,000 to 800,000,000 bushels. The wheat market closed unsettled, 1-2 to 2 1-2 net higher, December 141 5-8 to 141 3-4 and May 147 1-8 to 147 1-4. Corn finished at 1-2c lower to 3-4 c gain. Oats 1-8 to 1 3-4c up and provisions varying from 10c decline to 10c advance.

It was estimated that 1,250,000 bushels of wheat and 750,000 bushels of rye were brought today for export to Europe. Foreign buying of future deliveries of wheat here was also apparent, and there were signs too that trans-Atlantic demand for flour was active as well as demand for wheat and rye. On the bulge in prices, however, profit taking sales broadened out, and something of a reaction took place. Especially during the late dealings, an opinion became rather prevalent that for at least the moment there had perhaps been advance enough, considering that the winter movement was continuing to hold up, ad that spring wheat receipts were enormous.

Corn prices were unstable, influenced on the one hand by wheat strength and on the other by current views that most of the frost so far reported was of a character likely to benefit the corn crop. Estimates that the 1924 yield of corn would be 60,000,000 bushels less than the government's Sept. 1 forecast had but little effect on prices.

Prospective shortage of mill feeds [illegible] to oats.

Higher quotations on hogs steadied [illegible] market.

COTTON.

New York, Sept. 30.—Cotton spot cotton quiet; middling 25.75.

During the past week work on the green under the auspices of the Village Improvement Society has been in progress. The lawns in front of the church and town hall have been plowed. A driveway and approaches with stone foundations leading from the roadway to a point midway between the church and town hall has been contructed, several men and teams being employed. This road is continued easterly around the rear of the town hall and chapel connecting with a road recently built.

A cement walk has been laid from the church to the highway, also one from the church to the town hall. In grading, the ground in front of the church steps was lowered, necessitating placing an additional step of cement. The wooden steps and platform of the porch at the entrance of the town hall were replaced with cement.

It is understood that a cement walk from the town hall to the chapel will be laid before the season closes.

POETRY

THE FLOWER.

Once in a golden hour
I cast to earth a seed.
Up there came a flower,
The people said, a weed.

To and fro they went
Through my garden bower,
And muttering discontent,
Cursed me and my flower.

Then it grew so tall
It wore a crown of light,
But thieves from o'er the wall
Stole the seed by night:

Sowed it far and wide
By every town and tower,
Till all the people cried,
"Splendid is the flower."

Read my little fable:
He that runs may read.
Most can raise the flowers now,
For all have got the seed.

And some are pretty enough,
And some are poor indeed;
And now again the people
Call it but a weed.

—Alfred Tennyson.

FANTASY.

Pan is piping in the woods,
And the Dryads, free from care,
Dance in joy, as Dryads should,
Underneath the leafage there.

Loosened streams in rhythm flow,
Birds are singing in the trees,
Flowers their fragrancy bestow,
To the wooing of the breeze.

Insects float on gauzy wings,
Wild things run with rapid feet,
Flecks of gold the sunlight flings
From above where branches meet.

Pan is piping in the wood.
Dryads dance without a care—
Ah!—if we were free, and could
Also be a-dancing there.

—Mary W. Kramer, in Outdoor Americ[illegible]

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Little Boy—Sheep are the dum[illegible] animals.

Mother (absently)—Yes, my lam[illegible] Exchange.

Professor—Can you give me a[illegible] ample of a commercial appliance in ancient times?

Student—Yes, sir; the lose-lea[illegible] tem used in the Garden of Eden [illegible] gressive Grocer.

"Do you know the man who [illegible] ed his life at the same time as yourself? Well, he died yesterday."

"Lucky blighter! He only has to pay premiums for one year."—Dole Mele (Paris).

Clancy—"Oi want to get a [illegible] class ottymobile for me wife."

Auto Dealer—"Long body?"

Clancy—"Begorra, no! She's not like a barrel—but phwat's that got to do with it?"—Twice Told Tales.

"You plead guilty, of course," the judge. "This saddle was found your possession."

"Boe, dat saddle do look familiar, but ah'm gonna plead not guilty. My lawyah done convince me ob my innocence."—Judge.

Mistress: "I am a woman of few words. If I beckon with my hand it means 'Come!'"

New Maid: "That suits me. I'm also a woman of few words. I shake my head that means 'I'm not coming.'"—Klods Hans, Copenhagen.

Tommy (at birthday party)—"This is our dance, Kathleen."

Kathleen—"But I'm dancing this with Dick."

Tommy—"Oh, that's all right. I swopped it to me for a halfpenny and two cigarette cards."—Toronto Telegram.

"The old gentleman was a trifle bewildered at the elaborate wedding.

"Are you the groom?" he asked a melancholy-looking young man.

"No, sir," the young man replied. "I was eliminated in the preliminary tryout."—Anthony (Kan.) Republican.

Washington aviators are buying powder puffs. They place a puff over each ear and then buckle on their helmets. Ordinarily when going to high altitudes they must stuff the ears with cotton and the powder puff is more comfortable.

As a result of a terrific maritime convulsion a new island has sprung up in the Sea of Azov, an arm of the Black Sea. The island is a dangerous impediment to navigators and beacons have been erected to warn the approaching ships.

It is said that 200,000,000 pieces of mail yearly receive "directory service" which means that postal employes must take time from the regular handling and dispatching of mail in the endeavor to provide correct addresses. This service costs approximately $500 daily in the city of New York alone.

One of the latest freak automobiles to appear on the streets of Berlin, Germany, is so constructed that the front and of the car bears the appearance of the rear end of the ordinary car. In consequence, the vehicle seems to be running wrong end first and crowds stop in the streets and laugh at the unusual craft.

"Petrified" rubber has been found in German lignite, or "brown coal." It is reported at Jena, Germany. In lignite deposits queerly-shaped fibers known as "monkey hairs" are found from time to time. Analysis showed that these were rubber, vulcanized over a great length of time because of the high percentage of sulphur present. In some lignite deposits the "monkey hairs" are like soft vulcanized rubber, in others like elastic.

TAFTVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crowe of South A Street have had as guests, Miss Florence Lake of New London and Miss Margaret Slater of Uniondale.

Lionel Bergeron of Plainfield is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Paquin and family of North B Street.

Adolph Dugas of Webster, Mass., has been a recent guest of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Prime Dugas and family of South A Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson and family of Attawaugan have returned to their home after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hesselton and family of North B Street.

William St. Armour of South C St., has accepted a position with the People's Store, Inc.

Commenting on Denny Murphy, son of Postmaster and Mrs. Dennis C. Murphy of South A Street, who plays with the Vernon (Cal.) Baseball Club, the San Francisco Daily News says, "Last season Archie Yelle not only caught stellar ball but he hit well. And this year he is the best receiver and most accurate thrower among the catchers. But Denny Murphy of Vernon's Tigers towers over Yelle as a hitter. Besides, Murphy also can receive and throw well, while he knows what it is all about, too. That's why we have picked him in preference to Yelle."

Mr. and Mrs. Emile Dubeau and family of Plainfield have been recent guests at the home of Mrs. Dubeau's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lambert and family of North B Street.

Mr and Mrs. Frank Lebreque and family have moved from North B St., to a house on Norwich Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Labarre of Goodyear were guests for a few days this week of Mr. Labarre's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Labarre of Hunters avenue.

Ovila Charron of Baltic has been a recent visitor at the home of friends in town.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Chadwick Carter, wife of Hanson E. L. Carter was held from her late home on Hunter Road, Tuesday afternoon, with a service at the Taftville Congregational church, at which the pastor, Rev. Edwin Gordon Crowdis officiated. The church was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends and there was a wealth of beautiful flowers. The bearers were Nathan S. Bushnell, Charles P. Bushnell, C. Edward Bushnell, Frank Eribeck, Robert Mayor and Fred Kershaw. Burial was in Lovett Cemetery, Versailles, where Rev. Mr. Crowdis read the committal service. Undertaker George G. Grant was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

ROADS COSTING $5,195,176 ARE UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Roads under construction in Connecticut at the end of the fiscal year just closed aggregate 112.31 miles, a statement issued Tuesday by the state highway department shows. The estimated cost of this work is $5,195,176.62 of which $2,030,387.34 has been paid, and $2,164,489.26 remains unpaid until the roads are definitely completed and accepted by the state.

Six bridges are in the process of construction at this time, the statement shows. Their cost aggregates $119,500 of which $63,987.51 has already been paid, and $55,542.49 remains due.

It is likewise shown that $8,689,959.39 was expended by the department during the year for all expenses, including construction of new roads, reconstruction, elimination of dangerous trunk line conditions, maintenance of roadways, overhead and maintenance of bridges and ferries. During 1923, $4,847,856.15 was disbursed. The largest previous year in the history of the department was in 1921 when $7,127,960.84 was expended on roads in this state.

Work now under construction in all parts of the state is of varying types, with concrete and macadam leading. Following is a comparison of the types of roadway being built and their cost:

Macadam, mileage 50.78, paid $506,575.42, due $1,406,680.55. Bit. macadam mileage 9.99, paid $144,490.97, due $222,935.14. Bit. concrete mileage 1.64, paid $165,232.33, due $139,267.69. Concrete mileage 49.90, paid $1,150,031.13, due $1,339,363.41. Total milage 112.31, total paid $1,966,429.83, total due $3,100,246.79. Bridges (6), total $63,957.51, due $55,542.49. Grand total paid $2,030,387.34, grand total due $3,164,789.28.

JOSEPH PERKIN'S ROAD FIRE STATION

Fine New Firehouse of Bungalow Type For Residence Neighborhoods.

NEW FIRE STATION ABOUT READY TO RECEIVE CREW AND APPARATUS

The handsome new fire station on the Joseph Perkins road is now practically completed and ready for occupancy. It is expected that the station will be in commission within a few days time. Chief Howard L. Stanton planned to put the station in commission today, October 1st, but the beds for the firemen, which have been ordered for some time have not arrived. It is expected that the beds will be here within a few days and as soon as they arrive they will be set up and the firemen immediately transferred from the central station to the new station.

Engine No. 3, the Seagrave pumper purchased some time ago, will be placed in the station and will take care of all alarms previously answered by Chemical No. 3, when that company was stationed on Sherman street. Engine No. 3 has been taking care of all calls in the district since it was put into commission at the central station.

Joseph P. Tracy who has been in charge of Engine No. 3 with the rank of lieutenant has been promoted to the rank of captain and will command the company at the new station. Thomas Kearney, Thomas Tracy and John Nolan will be transferred with Captain Tracy from the central station to the new station. The call men have not yet been assigned.

The new station, which is of the bungalow type, is a handsome building and a credit to the fire department. It is of buff brick construction with copper gutters, copper leaders and asbestos roof. The interior is panelled off with rock board, a fireproof material. As one faces the building the apparatus room is located at the right. An attractive double door entrance is provided for the apparatus room. At the left is an attractive porch with an entrance. To the left of the apparatus room is the captain's rooms and a living or lounging room for the firemen. In the rear is located the dormitory with provisions for six beds. The locker, toilet room and a "kitchen" or store room are located behind the apparatus room. The toilet room is tiled with red tiling and there are showers for the firemen.

The building will be steam heated and there will be hot and cold water. The heating plant is located in the cellar. All wires leading to the station are underground. The telephone is so arranged that it can be used from either side of the partition. The telephone number will be 314. The lot and building will entail a cost of about $16,500.

Cudworth [illegible] drew the plans for the building and the general contractor was [illegible] Sweeney. James J. Daley had the contract for the plumbing and heating, the electric wiring was by McGrory Bros., and the fixtures were by the Norwich Electric Co.

FINISHING CO PLANT BUSY AT STERLING

(Special to The Bulletin)

Sterling Hill, Sept. 30.—The U. S. Finishing company's great mills here are running full time with full force of help, all town business is booming, including the bridge work at Oneco.

There is a great interest in town politics this year. I. E. Frink, republican will again be overwhelmingly elected selectman.

Alvin P. Corey of Ekonk Hill is the most prominent republican candidate for representative. Mr. Corey is a life long resident and has held many town offices. The republican caucus will probably nominate him by acclamation.

There are several candidates for judge of probate.

NEMROD GROTTO PATROL GOING TO SPRINGFIELD

Nemrod grotto patrol, consisting of 18 men and two color bearers, under Captain Charles A. Hagberg, will go to Springfield Friday and Saturday for the big ceremonial and field day to be carried out by Bela grotto.

Probably 30 or 40 members of Nemrod grotto will be in Springfield also, and the patrol will participate in the parade and the competitive drills of the field day. Grottoes from all over New England will attend the ceremonial for which already there promises to be an attendance of about 2,500.

The municipal auditorium where the ceremonial is to be held has a seating capacity of 4,000 while the grounds of the Eastern States Exposition where the field day will be held, provide ample space for this feature of the gathering.

The two-day programme is as follows:

Friday, October 3rd—Arrival visiting delegations, registration at municipal auditorium; afternoon, semi-final ball games, Forest park; 8 p. m., ceremonial, municipal auditorium; 10.30 p. m., buffet luncheon; 11 p. m., vaudeville show.

Saturday, October 4th—9 a. m., band concert, municipal auditorium. Cups will be awarded as 1st and 2nd prizes. Judges to be disinterested musicians of high standing; 12 noon, parade, all visiting bands, patrols and prophets parade to the Eastern States Exposition grounds. Prizes will be awarded for best appearing band, patrol and grotto body; 1 p. m., dinner will be served immediately upon arrival at exposition grounds; 2 p. m., drill contests for uniformed patrols; judges to be experienced army officers; athletic contests; entertainment features; championship ball game. All of afternoon program will take place directly in front of the grand stand. In case of rain, all events, with exception of ball game, will take place in the Coliseum building. Plenty of room for all. Seating capacity, 5,600. 8 p. m., evening program in municipal auditorium. A top notch entertainment including a massed band concert, all bands participating.

ESSAY SUGGESTS PROGRAMME FOR CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

The prize essay proposing a programme for the Central Baptist church for the next sixteen years, which was contributed by a writer whose name will not be known until the church membership votes to accept or reject the plan, was recognized to contain many suggestions that are of interest to religious organizations in the community.

Under the title of "The Programme of Our Church For the Next Sixteen Years," or, "Some Helps Toward Finding Our Way," the writer's introduction of the subject was as follows:

"The first topic is used because it was the one requested and the second because it will seem to be a more fitting one for this paper, for reasons apparent later.

"Does the Church universal need a programme and, if so, why?

"With the world today in such a state of unrest, race hatred so evident, fear of war and world catastrophe so prevalent, international relationships unsettled and the stability of individual nations threatened, the human family is looking to religion as its only saving power. The one organization through which that saving power can work is the Christian Church and we hear it said that that 'has failed to function.' As much as we who love it know what it has accomplished, can we really deny that accusation in the light of the fact that after nineteen hundred years of its existance it did not prevent the world from going through the most horrible experience of history and the fact that such a large proportion of the people as still untouched by the power and dynamic which it has to give?

"However, we know that its failure has not been because it does not possess a power that is adequate but because of the manner of its presentation of that power. The hour has struck when the Church must justify its existence and prove to the world that its Christ and His teachings are fully adequate to any needs of the world, the nation, the family or the individual. To do this it must find its programme and this is its stupendous task. It is more or less bewildered at present as it stands at the cross-roads, with some saying, "Go This Way," and others, "That." We believe that there is one way to go and that that way will be found.

"Our church, as a part of the great whole, is on the quest, but because that way is still dark it seems impossible, just at present, to lay down a definite programme which will safely lead us during "the next sixteen years' that only by more prayer, study and devoted co-operation with others on the same quest, during the coming two or three years, will we find the best and most direct road for all future years.

"For that reason the suggestions which follow are made as, perhaps, "Some Helps Toward Finding Our Way."

The following is a synopsis of the suggestions made:

Organization.

Under this head a governing agency called the church council was suggested, composed of one member of every department and organization in the church life, to which would be submitted the programme of work of each organization and from these could be compiled one general programme of activity for the whole church, with which every member would become familiar. With this is the suggestion for a board of about 27 deacons and 27 deaconesses, who would be trained by the pastor, and with a division of the church membership into groups of about 30 and the entire responsibility for a group to be given to a team of one deacon and one deaconess. An office secretary is suggested who would relieve the pastor's assistant in many ways and leave the assistant more free for direction of religious education and personal work.

Maintenance.

An application of the idea and method of stewardship beyond the financial side to that of service through a definite pledge of service and the setting aside of a proportion of the time of each member.

The Church Year.

A deeper recognition of the church year and observance of the outstanding days and periods marking the great events of Christ's life, such as observances as well interpret their real meaning and value in an inspiring way.

Worship.

A better appreciation of the ministry of beauty in the service of religion, beauty not only of physical surroundings but of atmosphere with the thought that genuine worship consists in praise, prayer and meditation as well as instruction and mediation.

Work For New Americans.

A large committee to carry on this work, whose members would attend the Italian church service, the formation of an Italian men's club and a mothers' club and closer association in a number of ways with the church membership and the regular church services.

Religious Education.

A programme for the whole church through a religious education committee would have oversight of all educational processes of the church, whether they be of spiritual, mental, physical, or social nature. The church library equipped as a workers' library, open at all times, in charge of the office secretary, with a reading table supplied with well chosen denominational, non-denominational and secular literature. Subjects are suggested for the four Thursday evening prayer meetings as follows: Private worship and home life; city, state, national and world events and conditions; missions; our own church life. The church school is called the greatest factor in the religious education programme. There should be monthly meetings of the entire teaching force, group meetings of the teachers, standardization of instruction and teacher requirements, and training of new teachers. The enrollment of all children of eligible age in the week-day school, the early establishment of some similar teaching for the high-school age, and the extension of the daily vacation school to include all children of the church who remain in town part of or the whole summer.

Evangelism.

Through the use of personal visitation, devoting two successive weeks in the fall to this work with effective follow-up work, and with the extension of religious education evangelism would naturally follow.

The Church Plant.

The church building to be changed so that there should be separate rooms for each department of the church school, divisible into class rooms and arranged to open into one large room for general exercises and social purposes. A good sized room, furnished in a home-like way for the women and girls and a similar room for the men and boys, to be used for classes and social group meetings. Better rooms for the pastor and assistants, possibly a suite of three, providing a pastor's study, church office and library. The present kitchen to be converted into lavatory and baptismal rooms, and a new kitchen to be built on the vacant plot next to Bushnell chapel, with room for the beginners or primary department above it.

Community Relations.

A community religious educational council, formed with at least one member from each Protestant church in the city, which should be responsible for a community church school to which all of the Protestant children and young people would come, released from grammar school and high school with credit, for certain periods every week. It should investigate and know the types of movies, public dances and all varieties of amusements that are influencing the youth of the city, possibly enlist the co-operation of the grammar and high school authorities for the purpose of having some religious and moral training in the schools of a type that would be acceptable to parents of all creeds. This council to conduct a community teacher training class and a course of lectures which would tend to bring more forcibly before the community as a whole the need of religious education, as well as help it to meet the critical situation which the lack of religious education is causing. A further suggestion is to enlist all the churches in the Christian Americanization of those of foreign nationalities and the co-operation of all the churches to arouse the entire Protestant body to more fully exercise its privilege and duty at the polls to the end that better Sunday observance may be enforced and the best government possible be enjoyed.

MRS. DAVIS RECOVERS STRENGTH.

The following statement contained in a letter from Mrs. Alice Davis of Jamestown, N. Y., should bring hope to other women who are in the same condition she was. She says: "I was nervous and weak with pains in my back, no ambition, and utterly discouraged, and could not sit up all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength so I am now running a rooming house and do all the work." Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is pre-eminently successful in overcoming such troubles and it will pay any suffering woman to try it.

JUDGE'S DECISION IN FAVOR OF LESSOR

Judgment in favor of Harold H. Norton whose suit against Joseph McNamara for renewal of a lease on premises of 635 Bank street, New London, was heard by Judge Leonard J. Nickerson in the superior court there last week, was returned in a memorandum decision handed to Clerk George E. Parsons, at New London, Tuesday. The case involved an interesting point of law, and aroused considerable attention.

Norton held a five year lease on the establishment which was operated by him. The condition of the lease provided for a five year renewal at expiration, if the tenant elected. The lease expired on June 10 this year and the plaintiff alleges he was unable to locate the owner of the building to secure his renewal.

Judge Nickerson in his decision finds that Norton did everything he could to pay his rent and procure renewal of the lease, and that the defendant "purposely kept away from his place of abode" until after the lease had expired.

SKIDDING ACCIDENT ON BROADWAY HILL

In a skidding accident at the foot of Broadway hill Tuesday afternoon the automobile driven by Rev. Thomas A. Pitt of 156 Broadway struck the machine of Lucius F. Terrington, 15 North Main street, which was parked across from the head of Low street. The Pitt machine had its steering gear put out of commission and a tire blown, while the other had a mud cap dented and the running board broken.

PROTOCOL FOR SETTLEMENT OF INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES

Preamble Provides for the Reduction of National Armaments to the Lowest Point Consistent With National Safety—The Most Important Clause Provides a System for Fining of an Aggressive State—Another Clause Provides for Arbitration of All and Any Disputes That May Arise.

Geneva, Oct. 1. (By the A. P.)—What is officially known as "the protocol for Pacific settlement of international disputes" is a document containing a preamble and 21 clauses.

The preamble sets forth that one of the purposes in the realization of the objects of the league of nations covenant, pro- [illegible] system for the fining of an aggressor state and machinery for the [illegible] of all and any disputes [illegible] may arise.

[illegible] II says: "The signatory [illegible] agree in no case to resort to [illegible] either with one another or [illegible] a state which, if occasion [illegible] accepts all the obligations [illegible] set out, except in case of [illegible] to acts of aggression or [illegible] in agreement with the [illegible] or assembly of the league of [illegible] in accordance with the pro- [illegible] of the covenant and the pres- [illegible]

Compulsory Arbitration.

[illegible] III commits the signatories [illegible] acceptance of the compulsory [illegible] cause of the world court. [illegible] are permitted, but ac- [illegible] must be given within a month [illegible] protocol enters into force.

[illegible] arbitration completes [illegible] provisions of Article XV of the [illegible] covenant as follows: "If a dis- [illegible] submitted to the council is not [illegible] provided in paragraph [illegible] XV, the council shall en- [illegible] to persuade the parties to sub- [illegible] dispute to judicial settlement [illegible] arbitration. If the parties cannot [illegible] agree to do so, there shall, at the request of at least one of the parties, be constituted a committee of arbitra- [illegible] tion. This committee shall, so far as [illegible] be constituted by agreement [illegible] between the parties [illegible] within the period fixed by the [illegible] the parties have failed to [illegible] in whole or in part, upon the [illegible] of names and powers of the [illegible] and upon the procedure, [illegible] shall settle the point re- [illegible] suspense. It shall, with [illegible] possible dispatch, select, [illegible] with the parties, the [illegible] and their president from [illegible] persons who, by their nation- [illegible] their personal character and [illegible] appear to furnish the [illegible] guarantees of competence and [illegible]

[illegible] the claims of the parties [illegible] formulated, the committee [illegible] upon the request of [illegible] shall through the medium [illegible] council request advisory opin- [illegible] any points of law in dis- [illegible] the permanent court of [illegible] justice. If none of the [illegible] for arbitration, the coun- [illegible] again take the dispute under [illegible] If the council reaches [illegible] which is unanimously agreed [illegible] members thereof, other than [illegible] representatives of any of the parties [illegible] dispute the signatory states [illegible] to comply with the recommen- [illegible] therein. If the council fails [illegible] a report which is concurred [illegible] the members, other than [illegible] representatives of any of the parties [illegible] dispute, it shall submit the dis- [illegible] to arbitration.

[illegible] ase may a solution, upon [illegible] has already been a [illegible] recommendation by the [illegible] which has been accepted [illegible] one of the parties concerned, be [illegible] into question. The sig- [illegible] states undertake to carry out [illegible] in good faith any judicial [illegible] arbitral award that may [illegible] rendered and will comply with the [illegible] recommended by the coun- [illegible] Clause V, which was amended at the request of the Japanese, said: "The provisions of paragraph [illegible] Arti- [illegible] cle XV, of the covenant, shall con- [illegible] tinue to apply in proceedings before the council. If, in the course of ar- [illegible] bitration, one of the parties claims that the dispute, or a part thereof, arises out of a matter which, by in- [illegible] ternational law, is solely within the domestic jurisdiction of that party, the arbitrators shall on this point, take the advice of the permanent court of international justice, through the medium of the council. The opin- [illegible] ion of the court shall be binding upon the arbitrators who, if the opinion is affirmative, shall confine themselves [illegible] to declaring in their award.

[illegible] In the event of a state failing to [illegible] out the above undertakings, [illegible] council shall exert all influence to [illegible] compliance therewith. If it [illegible] therein, it shall propose what [illegible] should be taken to give effect [illegible] in accordance with the pro- [illegible] contained at the end of Arti- [illegible] XIII of the covenant. Should a [illegible] state, in disregard of the above un- [illegible] dertakings resort to war, sanctions [illegible] provided for by Article XVI of the [illegible] covenant, and interpreted in the [illegible] manner indicated by the protocol, [illegible] shall immediately become applicable [illegible] to it."

If the question is held by the court or council to be a matter solely with- [illegible] in the domestic jurisdiction of the state, the decision shall not prevent consideration of the situation by the council or assembly under Article [illegible] of the covenant."

Shall Not Increase Armaments.

By Article VII, if a dispute arises [illegible] states agree that, before submit- [illegible] ting the same to arbitration or during [illegible] arbitration, they will not increase their armaments as regulated by next year's conference. Authority is pro- [illegible] vided to investigate whether increases [illegible] are and any guilty state will be [illegible] reprimanded by the council. If it re- [illegible] fuses to obey the summons, the coun- [illegible] cil, by a two-thirds majority, may de- [illegible] cide upon measures to end the situa- [illegible] tion threatening peace.

Article IX recommends the estab- [illegible] lishment of demilitarized zones. Arti- [illegible] cle was also amended at the request of the Japanese, says:

"A state which resorts to war in violation of the undertaking contained in the covenant, or in the present protocol, is an aggressor. Violation of the rules laid down in demilitarized zones shall be held as equivalent to a resort to war. In hte event of hostilities having broken out, any state shall be presumed to be an aggressor unless a decision of the council, which must be taken unanimously, shall otherwise declare; if it has refused to submit the dispute to the procedure of pacific settlement provided by Articles XIII and XV of the covenant, amplified by the present protocol, of comply with the judicial sentence of arbitral award, or with the unanimous recommendation of the council, or a judicial sentence or arbitral award recognizing that the dispute between it and the other belligerent states arises out of a matter which, by international law, is solely within the domestic jurisdiction of the latter state.

"Nevertheless, in the last case, the state shall only be presumed to be an aggressor if it has not previously submitted the question to the council or assembly in accordance with Article XI of the covenant—also if it has violated provisional measures enjoined by the council for the period while the proceedings are in progress, as contemplated in Article VII of the protocol.

Fix Terms of Armistice.

"Apart from the cases dealt with above, if the council does not at once succeed in determining the aggressor, it shall be bound to enjoin upon the belligerents an armistice and shall fix the terms, acting if need be by a two-thirds majority, and shall supervise its execution. Any belligerent which has refused to accept the armistice, or has violated its terms, shall be deemed an aggressor. The council shall call upon the signatory states to apply forthwith against the aggressor the sanctions provided by Article XI of the present protocol, and any signatory state thus called upon shall thereupon be entitled to exercise the rights of a belligerent."

Article XI on sanctions declares that as soon as the council has called upon the signatory states to apply sanctions, the obligations of the states in regard to sanctions of all kinds mentioned in Article XVI of the covenant will immediately become operative for employment.

Article XIII calls upon the states to inform the council what military and naval air forces they would be able to bring into action immediately for fulfillment of the obligations of the covenant and protocol. This article also authorizes the operation of special regional military agreements, thereby meeting the French desire for security, provided the agreements are registered and published and are open to the adherence of all member states.

Article XVI says: "The signatory states agree that, in the event of a dispute between one or more of them, and one or more states which have not signed the protocol and are not members of the League of Nations, such non-member states shall be invited, on conditions contemplated in Article XVII of the covenant, to submit, for the purpose of pacific settlement, to the present protocol. If the state so invited, having refused to accept said conditions and obligations, resorts to war against a signatory state, provisions of Article XVI of the covenant, as defined by the present protocol, shall be applicable against it."

The concluding articles provide for the convocation of a conference for the reduction of armaments at Geneva June 15, 1925, with all the countries invited to ask the council to draw up a definite program for the same.

COMMONS PASSED SECOND READING IRISH BOUNDARY

London, Oct. 1 (By the A. P.).—The government bill providing for the Irish boundary commission passed its second reading in the house of commons tonight. Previously an Ulsterite motion for rejection of the bill was defeated 291 to 124.

Continuation of the debate today brought out only one interesting point in a statement from former Premier Lloyd George that there was no record in the cabinet minutes that any pledge such as suggested by Viscount Long had been given and that he himself was unable to recall any such pledge as that the six counties should always belong to Ulster and that there should be no interference with the boundaries beyond slight readjustments.

Mr. Lloyd George said the first suggestion for a boundary commission came from Ulster, and he had never understood why Ulster refused to proceed with the commission. If anyone were entitled to doubts it was the Irish Free State, which would appoint only one commissioner, to two appointed by parliaments in which the Sinn Fein was not represented.

Austen Chamberlain, while expressing the opinion that Ulster had nothing to fear from a boundary commission, and declaring there was no foundation fro the insinuation that Ulster was being tricked, criticized the government bill as tantamount to making a new treaty, arguing that if one side had the right to amend the treaty, so had the other.

STUDENT SUSPECTED OF PASSING FAKE CHECKS

New Haven, Oct. 1—Norman Clarke Lynch, 23 years old, of West Kingston, R. I., a special student at the Yale Law School, was arrested here today and held on a technical charge of idleness. His bonds were set at $2,000. It is alleged by the police that Lynch passed worthless checks in this city to the amount of several hundred dollars. Lynch has been studying at the law school since the middle of August, and has been living at one of the Yale rooming houses. He will appear in city court tomorrow morning.

POTHIER ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF CRONKHITE

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 1.—The federal government today through J. W. Osborne, special prosecutor, stated the case it expects to prove against Roland Pothier, on trial in federal court for the murder of Major Alexander Cronkhite.

"Major Cronkhite died of a bullet wound," Mr. Osborne declared. "We will show that it would have been physically impossible for this wound to have been self-inflicted, whether by accident or design. There were only two men present at the time, Pothier and Robert Rosenblum, One of the two, Pothier, has since confessed that he fired the fatal shot at the instigation of the other.

"On these grounds we will ask the jury to convict the defendant, Pothier, of murder in the first degree."

After Mr. Osborne had concluded two witnesses were called to identify the spot at Camp Lewis where Major Cronkhite met his death—October 25, 1918, while on a practice march with the 213th Engineers. This testimony was taken in preparation for a visit of the jury to the spot.

In his opening address, Mr. Osborne laid stress on the alleged impossibility of Major Cronkhite's wound being self-inflicted and also on the different confessions claimed to have been made by Pothier. He told of the investigation made by General Adelpert P Cronkhite, father of the dead man, and of the subsequent investigations by the department of justice.

"After the march started, Major Cronkhite, who had not been ordered on the march decided to join it," he stated. "Pothier left the camp with Cronkhite. Before leaving he borrowed a revolver from Sergeant Crook. Ammunition had not been generally issued to the men, but Sergeant Crook had some which Pothier took.

"When Major Cronkhite joined the regiment, he assumed command from Captain Rosenbluth. About three or four miles from camp they changed the route because of some obstruction on the road ahead. They followed a very narrow trail, through a dense forest for three-quarters of a mile to the place of Major Cronkhite's death."

ENFORCING REGULATIONS FOR PUBLIC BALL ROOMS

New York, Ot. 1.—Organized to improve conditions in public ballrooms which the Women's City club recently condemned, the Metropolitan Dance Hall Association today put a voluntary taboo upon the slew fox-trot and the "closed" club operated under "sing and hostess" rules.

A city official will be offered the title of czar over all public jazz palaces and a member of the Women's City club will be asked to volunteer for the crown of czarina, said the dance hall men.

One of the first moves of the new association will be to require that hostesses, or dancing teachers, at all places which display the "men only" sign for customers, be at least 20 years old.

The dance hall proprietors undertook to explain, anent the complaint of the Women's club investigators concerning the pay of such hostesses, that in the larger and better ballrooms they receive from four to six cents per dance and that, since turns were short and encores were unheeded, they averaged from 60 to 70 dances an evening, thereby earning "a decent living wage."

TO ASCERTAIN TIME OF THEFT OF JEWELS

Mineola, N. Y., Oct. 1.—District Attorney Weeks of Nassau county today issued a subpoena directing John Sanford, whose Brookville summer home, "The Chimneys," was visited by the Prince of Wales as a dinner and dance guest, to appear before the grand jury tomorrow in order that the police may learn whether jewels valued at $50,000 were stolen from the Stanford residence Sunday night.

New York representatives of Lloyds of London were reported to have received from Mr. Sanford a claim for $50,000 gem insurance on the ground that jewels belonging to his wife had been stolen Sunday night. Lloyds officials refused to talk about that report, and Chief of Police Phillips went to The Chimneys in quest of information. He returned to say that Mr. Sanford had refused to discuss the matter with him on the plea that he was undesirous of publicity.

OBITUARY

Judge Robert E. DeForest

Bridgeport, Oct. 1—Judge Robert E. DeForest, for years among the state's leaders of the bar, and ex-Mayor of Bridgeport, died in his 81st year at his home this afternoon. He had been ill for a year. Judge DeForest was elected mayor of Bridgeport in 1873, 1889 and 1890. He was twice elected to the house of representatives from the fourth congressional district.

He was prosecuting attorney for the city, city treasurer, state senator and judge of the common pleas court for Fairfield county.

Serious Floods in Northern New York

Bridges Wrecked and Highways Inundated—Has Rained 60 Hours—Still Raining.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Oct. 1—Flooded conditions after sixty hours of rain, and with the rain still pelting down tonight, provided a serious situation in northern New York state tonight. Wrecked or washed away bridges and inundated highways have cut off traffic communication to the south. Lakes and streams, at freshet stage have caused considerable damage. No loss of life or serious injuries, however, have been reported.

NATIONAL GUARD COMMITTEE TO CONFER WITH SEC'Y WEEKS

Washington, Oct. 1.—A conference with Secretary Weeks has been arranged for by a committee from the National Guard association to protest against elimination from war department budget figures, of increases in appropriations to be used for the National Guard.

The committee which will be headed by Brigadier-General Rickord, the president of the association, and Adjutant-general of the Maryland National Guard, it was said today, may also see President Coolidge.

The conference will be held about the middle of the month and before budget figures are finally approved by the president.

The war department has already issued orders that recruiting for the guard in 24 states and the District of Columbia and Porto Rico be suspended for the remainder of the year. Funds provided in the current army appropriations were estimated on the basis of an average strength for the National Guard of 175,000 men but actual enrollment in the guard is now in excess of 180,000 and states which are already up to, or above their quotas, under the 175,000 average figure have been instructed to stop recruiting.

The contemplated reductions in the National Guard allotments originally proposed by the war department, it was said today were due to cuts made by the budget bureau in military appropriations requiring in turn a reallotment of funds within the military service and a resultant reduction in several directions.

The exact program of the war department in this regard has not been announced and will not be [illegible] decided until the president has approved the budget for submission to congress.

Under existing law the National Guard has an authorized strength of 250,000 men. In providing appropriations for the National Guard for the current year, however, it was estimated that it was improbable that an average strength greater than 175,000 could be maintained for the year. That average strength figure has been exceeded for the country in general and it is this phase of the situation which the guard association officers desire to discuss, feeling that nothing should be permitted to impede development of the National Guard service up to the full strength planned for it in the framing of the national defense act.

BALLOONS MAKE DISTANCE AND ENDURANCE RECORDS

Washington Court House, Ohio, Oct. 1.—(By the A. P.)—Two new records for balloons of the category three type, one for distance and the other for endurance, were announced here tonight when all three balloons, the "Washington C. H.," the "Detroit" and the "Goodyear" which took the air yesterday here at 4.20 p. m., reported. The "Detroit" established a distance record of 302 miles, landing at Gondola post office, Virginia, at 5.25 a. m., while the "Washington C. H." made the endurance record of 13 hours and 48 minutes, landing at 6.20 a. m. today near Summer Hill, Cambria county, Pennsylvania. The distance was given as approximately 265 miles, air line, due east of here. The former distance record was 230 miles, air officials here said.

The "Washington C. H." was piloted by Jack Boettner and Porter Colling; the "Detroit" by Herbert Thader and Walter Morton. The "Goodyear" landed last night near Latrobe, Pa.

CONDITION OF DOCKETS IN FEDERAL COURTS

Washington, Oct. 1.—Conditions of the dockets in the federal courts throughout the country were considered at a conference today presided over by Chief Justice Taft and at which each of the circuits was represented by a circuit judge.

A large part of the time was given to Attorney General Stone who discussed conditions in the federal courts from the viewpoint of the department of justice and presented suggestions which he thought would aid in relieving congestion. It is understood that his recommendations followed the plan which he recently outlined of asking congress to create a new class of federal courts to handle prohibition and other criminal cases considered of minor importance and which, in his opinion, have largely contributed to congestion in some of the districts.

Those attending the conference included Judges Bingham of Concord, N. H., and Rogers of New Haven, Conn.

DEM. NOMINEE DAVIS IS CAMPAIGNING IN MARYLAND

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 1.—John W. Davis brought his campaign for the presidency into Maryland today, delivering two addresses, one at Frederick and the other in the Fifth regiment armory here where Woodrow Wilson was first nominated in 1912.

In making his first invasion of this "border" state at Frederick, the democratic standard bearer, spoke before several thousand people from Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and the District of Columbia on the administration, and made a direct attack on Secretary Mellon in connection with the Aluminum Company of America, the soldiers' bonus and the Mellon tax plan.

Mr. Davis charged that the aluminum company, with which, he said, Mr. Mellon had identified himself in his recent statement, "is profiting largely and unreasonably through legislative favors extended under the Fordney-McCumber tariff."

The democratic presidential nominee said that no explanation "has ever been given, none can be given for the great increase in duties on aluminum and its products."

"Even Mr. Mellon in his carefully prepared statement," Mr. Davis said, "does not attempt it. He confines himself to apology and not defense."

50 MARINES DETAILED TO FIGHT BRUSH FIRE

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 1.—A detachment of fifty marines was hurried by motor trucks tonight from the marine base here to Descanso in the mountain section of the county, to aid in fighting a fire that had burned for more than two days in brush and timber, threatening homes, ranches andand pleasure resorts. A call for additional fire fighters came from Descanso this evening.

CANDOR MARKS SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE BY ROOSEVELT

Clean Cut Pledges Made by Republican Nominee for Governor of New York—Would Bar Racial and Religious Matters From Politics as Tending to Create "False Distinctions Between American and American"—Would Do Everything in His Power to Secure Legislation for Enforcing the Volstead Act—Would Strive for a Less Expensive and Better State Government.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Calling upon Theodore Roosevelt to "sound a battle cry of youth" and bring the young men and women of the state to a sense of their responsibility for good government, Col. William J. Donovan of Buffalo tonight formally notified Colonel Roosevelt of his nomination by the republican party for governor of New York.

Colonel Donovan's address follows in part:

"It is my privilege, Colonel Roosevelt, to bring formal notice of your nomination for governor of the state of New York. You have been selected by the representatives of the republican party as their choice for the highest office in the state. It is always an honor to be so selected but it is an honor even more distinguished that you have been chosen at this time to stand at the forefront of this campaign with the national leader of our party—Calvin Coolidge.

"We Americans, at our best, are a plain people. At our best, we practice those simple virtues that are found in a love of home and country and religion. The confidence and trust the American people have in their president comes from this belief that he is a true exponent of the virtues of patience and decency and simplicity. Your natural inheritance gives you an understanding to interpret the common man and a sympathy to identify yourself with the common lot.

"Effort has been made to challenge your nomination as one of youth. We know that you will take up that challenge and make of it a battlecry. That through you the call will sound which will summon those young men and women of the state, who, believing in their country, are willing to serve her. The republican party offers to the people of the state youth and energy and idealism—elements which we too long have neglected and ignored. Democracy cannot be truly fulfilled until our young people are courageous enough to bear the responsibility of self government. It is your great opportunity to bring to the young men and women of this state a sense of that responsibility—a realization that without their service, sacrifice and devotion, there can be no real solution of our problems.

"Colonel Roosevelt, we are confident that in this place where you were born, where your children were born and are growing up—a place which will receive the inspiration to meet this obligation with high heart and enduring courage."

Colonel Roosevelt in accepting the gubernatorial nomination pledged himself to strive for a less expensive, better and clearer state government; reaffirmed his opposition to any organization, "whether it be the Ku Klux Klan or some other group," when it endeavors to create "false distinctions between American and American," and asserted that as governor he would do everything in his power to secure legislation for enforcing the Volstead act.

The nominee arraigned the democratic party both nationally and in New York state, as insincere and asserted that the democratic national convention had been guilty of "vote truckling" both in its foreign relations platform and in its selection of Governor Bryan as the vice presidential candidate "to gain his brother's support for the ticket." He charged Governor Smith's administration with extravagance and said he would endeavor to rearrange taxation on more scientific lines.

Colonel Roosevelt spoke on the veranda of his residence. The nominee's address, which followed the official notification speech of Colonel William J. Donovan of Buffalo, recited the accomplishments of the national administration. The republican party, he said, had blocked the efforts of the democrats to "deliver this country to the troubled diplomacy of war-racked Europe."

"How has the republican party accomplished this great feat?" Colonel Roosevelt asked. "We have married common sense to idealism. This is the secret of our success. Our heads may be in the clouds, but our feet are on the earth. Our leader at Washington personifies these ideals of our party."

The democratic party, he continued, is "broadcasting the reputed shortcomings of the republicans," coupling these statements "with windy promises for an unrealizable Utopia."

"We have one irrefutable answer which they cannot get behind," he said. "That answer is 'Look at the record.' It is one or actual achievement." He then spoke of the budget act, the tariff and the armament conference.

"That is the record of our party, nationally," he added, "and it is along this line that we will work in our state."

He charged the democrats with using "words to cloak their meaning, and simply for the purpose of capturing votes."

"A glaring inconsistency," he continued, "is that they suggest that our international relations be settled by a referendum, and then a few paragraphs further down they say 'We demand that the states in the Union shall be preserved in all their vigor and power.' They are for state rights and the abolishment of state lines in the same platform."

Colonel Roosevelt referred to the nomination of Governor Bryan, saying:

"Mr. William Jennings Bryan announced in unmistakable terms during the last democratic convention that he disapproved most emphatically of the nomination of Mr. Davis for president. The democrats, when Mr. Davis was nominated, decided to name as his running mate, Mr. Bryan's brother. Mr. Bryan is now supporting the entire democratic ticket. The inference is plain. Governor Bryan was nominated simply to gain his brother's support, and with no thought of the interest of the United States, that, friends, is base vote truckling."

"The democrats in this state," he continued, "is of the same character as the national democracy. It will promise anything to please you."

"The democratic candidate for governor Smith] has boasted of economy of his administration and the reduction in taxes which have been made during his term of office. A study of fact this reduction of taxes has been made because he has been standing on the surplus in our state treasury built up from our so-called indirect revenues. * * * *

Colonel Roosevelt said he would recommend "state [illegible] along the same lines [illegible] and and propose in Washington."

"If there is one tenet [illegible] American beliefs which stands [illegible] every other, it is that men should be judged as men and on no other basis. We maintain that racial and religious matters should never find their place in our politics. I declare their introduction into this campaign is, as I stood eighteen months ago firmly and unalterably opposed to any organization whatsoever, whether it be the Ku Klux Klan or some other group, when it endeavors to violate this fundamental principle of the United States by the creation of bogies of false distinctions between American and American."

Turning to prohibition enforcement, he said that the democrats at the last state election promised the people by inference beer and light wines, although they knew it was not in their power to fulfill that promise.

"As far as we are concerned in this state, we have absolutely no power to modify the Volstead law, whatever our personal opinions may be. * * * We are confronted with one problem and one alone, and that is law or lawlessness. The democrats have chose lawlessness. I choose law. I shall do all in my power, therefore, to secure the enactment of proper statutes to assist our peace officers in the enforcement of this act of congress, as well as all other acts and laws."

CROSS COUNTRY FLIGHT OF SHENANDOAH POSTPONED

Washington, Oct. 1—Departure of the naval air cruiser Shenandoah from Lakehurst, N. J., on her cross country flight to the Pacific coast will be delayed until October 6 or 7, it was announced today at the navy department. Final overhauling of the engines and other preparations for the flight necessitates the delay.

About 100 commercial and amateur radio stations will be pressed into service to keep in touch with the craft as she proceeds west and on her return trip. The Shenandoah is equipped with two transmitters, one of the standard navy type which may send on either interrupted or continuous wave of 250 to 600 kilocycles with an average daylight range of 200 miles and a night range of from 500 to 1,000 miles and the other an auxiliary transmitter, using both telephone and continuous wave which will operate on 3,332 kilocycles. The range of the latter set, which is of the very latest type has not been accurately tested.

Any information relative to phenomenal ranges, quality of transmission, etc., should be sent by letter to the navy communications superintendent navy department, it was said today, as this will be of great value in determining the radio range of the Shenandoah.

WOMEN FINANCIERS NOT PEACEMAKERS

Chicago, Oct. 1—(By the A. P.)—Woman's role as a financier was acclaimed, and her reputed role as a peacemaker questioned, by Mrs. Mabel T. Reinecke, Chicago, United States collector of internal revenue, in an address tonight before the National Association of Bank Women, meeting here in connection with the American Bankers' Association.

"Isn't it usually the mother who starts the battle?" asked Mrs. Reinecke.

After a day in which the American Bankers' Association had heard LaFollette assailed as "arch-demagogue" and "the nation's worst liability" head programs known to have been advocated by him compared to the medicine man's "stew of dead toads," the National Association of Bank Women listened to an address by Miss Jane Addams Chicago. Miss Addams happens to be one of the candidates from Illinois for presidential elector, pledged to LaFollette, she was invited to address the women's association in May, before she entered the campaign. Although she has announced she will speak for LaFollette, she said before going on the platform tonight that she would speak on this occasion about the survival of the matriarchal age in Burma.

WATERBURY MURDER SUSPECT ARRESTED IN BRIDGEPORT

Waterbury, Oct. 1.—Word came from Bridgeport police late today that Patsy Santora had been arrested there as a suspect in the killing of John Mussolini here last Thursday. Santora is said to have been identified as one of two men who jumped out of an automobile carrying four men, between Bank street and South Main street, this city, just after the homicide. The police hold the belief that Mussolini was shot while on the sidewalk by one of the four men who were in a passing automobile. Two men who were in the automobile were arrested shortly after the body of Mussolini was found.

WILLIMANTIC

Upon the recommendation of Arthur G. Bill, of Danielson, acting as special state's attorney, the criminal charge of assault on Philip Pagano held against County Detective William E. Jackson of this city was nolled in the Windham county superior court. The charge was in connection with the arrest of Philip Pagano February 9, last by federal prohibition enforcement officers and investigator Jackson for violation of the liquor. On that date the Pagano restaurant, 825 Main street, was raided. When a bottle partly filled with liquor was found in a closet Pagano accused one of the federal men of having "planted" the evidence. Pagano and Jackson then came to words and Pagano alleged that he was struck several blows by the officer. Detective Jackson's arrest followed on a warrant charging him with assault on Pagano. In the police court Jackson did not plead and a nominal fine was imposed. He took an appeal to the superior court. The cases of Pagano charged with violation of the liquor law and Jackson were on the docket at the criminal session of court held in this city the early part of September. Pagano at first pleaded not guilty and upon changing his plea to one of guilty he was fined $200 and costs and was given a jail sentence of twenty days which expired Wednesday. State's Attorney Charles E. Searls announced at the close of the court session that he did not feel qualified to try the Jackson case and Judge Hinman selected Attorney A. G. Bill of Danielson as acting state's attorney in the case.

Preliminary plans for Fire Prevention Week, October 5th to 11th were outlined Wednesday by Chief James J. Tighe of the fire department. The officers of the department connected with the engine company No. 1 will distribute three thousand fire prevention cards to the school children and brief fire prevention talks will be given by Chief Tighe, Lieutenant Henry J. Kelley and Assistant Lieutenant Roger English. The cards to be given out are cleverly arranged and carry out an idea originated by Chief Tighe. On one side of the card are given the main causes of fire and on the other, the remedies. The cards are of unique appearance and the children will be asked to place them in prominent locations in their homes. The need of fire prevention will be brought before the public through signs which will be placed in conspicuous localities about the city. The signs show the great necessity for fire prevention and should receive the consideration of the entire population as a further method of warning against the danger of fires. Photographs of burning buildings will be displayed at the schools and in several business houses. A public request will be made for the cooperation of all citizens in the fire prevention movement, not only during the week but for all time. The fire prevention week has been heartily endorsed by all organizations and though these mediums words of advice to safe-guard against fire will be circulated.

Although the winter schedule of the South Coventry branch line which starts this week curtails the summer evening service, it was announced on Wednesday afternoon that the Connecticut Company will operate the line Saturday, with continuous trips to South Coventry from 3:15 p. m. to 10:15 p. m.

The funeral services for Miss Eva M. Buffington were held at her home in Mansfield Depot at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Carpenter conducted the services. Burial was in the Storrs cemetery. The arrangements were in charge of Avery and VanZandt.

A court of Franco-American Foresters, branch of an organization which has been in the field for twenty-three years and has a membership of 14,000 will be organized in this city. Henri A. Goulet of Providence, R. I., organizer of the fraternal body has been canvassing this city and has found the way clear for the institution of a court. Wednesday morning Mr. Goulet had eighty-five applications for charter membership in the court and the date of institution has been set for October 10. The ceremonies will be public. The court is to start with 150 members.

Mary Kapino of Stone Row, Willimantic's best known representative at the County Jail at Brooklyn took advantage of a few months' freedom from a cell and serenaded office holders in the town buildings, about nine o'clock Wednesday morning with a few Polish folk songs. Her efforts as a prima donna were hardly appreciated, however, and the woman was picked up from the center of a bed of faded roses which she had chosen as a stage and was placed in the lockup. She will appear in police court this (Thursday) morning to answer to a charge of intoxication.

Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock and his bride are to arrive today (Thursday) at the Congregational parsonage, 227 Church street. The house has been completely redecorated and renovated inside and out and placed in readiness to receive the new pastor and Mrs. Wheelock. The pantry has been stocked with good things and the house placed in order by the church society. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Case are to entertain Rev. and Mrs. Wheelock this (Tuesday) evening.

The Windham Republican Club with a membership of 500 held an informal opening of the new permanent club rooms, 796 Main street, in the Franklin Block Wednesday evening. The club has been reorganized and the rooms have been attractively furnished to carry on the work of the organization.

Two pictures of historical interest are on exhibition in the show window of the H. W. Standish store. One is that of the famous Frog Pond of legendary fame at Windham Center. The other is a picture of the bronze tablet and boulder giving a brief history of the legend and the frog pond. The tablet was recently dedicated by the members of Anne Wood Elderkin Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Several members of the local Baptist church motored to Ashford Tuesday and attended the Baptist Association meeting. Those present from here were Rev. and Mrs. F. F. Foshay, Miss Ada Bowen, Miss Mabel Slate, Mrs. Lillie French, Mrs. E. B. Crane, Mrs. Charles Crane, Mrs. C. B. Bullard, Mrs. Frank Read, Mrs. Fred Rosebrooks and Henry Fryer.

The Willimantic Exchange Club held its weekly meeting and luncheon at the Hotel Hooker, Wednesday noon. The meeting was in charge of the president, Dr. George E. Wilcox. Charles H. Caswell and P. S. Hills were admitted to membership. The meeting activities committee appointed consisted of Rev. F. C. Williams, Allen B. Lincoln, and Dr. F. E. Guild. Rev. Mr. Williams addressed the meeting on Radio.

MAKES FAT PEOPLE SLIM

New York Physician Perfects Harmless Method of Reducing Weight

The loss of as much as a pound of excess fat a day with no harmful results is the record made by many patients of Dr. R. Newman, a licensed practicing physician of 286 Fifth Avenue, New York, who announces that he has perfected a treatment which has quickly rid fat people of excess weight. What is more remarkable is the Docter's statement that he has successfully treated thousands of patients for fat reduction without change of diet or unnecessary exercise. It is also said that fat people who suffer from chronic rheumatism, gout, asthma and high blood pressure obtain great relief from the reduction of their superfluous flesh. Realizing that this sounds almost too good to be true, the Doctor has offered to send without charge to anyone who will write him, a free trial treatment to prove his claims, as well as his "Pay-when-reduced" plan. If you want to rid yourself of superfluous fat, write him today, addressing Dr. R. Newman, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York City, Dept. R.

How Nature, the master chemist, gives you a natural "anti-knock" gasoline

Motorists are now being told that they must pay extra for gasoline in order to stop motor knocks. Tydol users save that extra money. If you use Tydol consistently, it is unnecessary to doctor your gasoline or pay more than the regular price per gallon. Tydol is a natural anti-knock gasoline.

* * *

For years, science searched for the formula of a gasoline that would not knock. For knocking steals power, pounds bearings, racks your motor and leads to big repair bills.

But Nature, the master chemist, had already solved the problem. In underground laboratories, working throughout the centuries, Nature produced a crude petroleum oil that is different from any other. From this crude, it is possible to refine a gasoline having natural anti-knocking qualities.

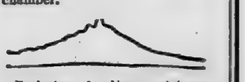
Tydol Economy Gasoline is refined, by special processing, from this crude petroleum oil. Tydol is, therefore, a natural anti-knock gasoline. It is made only at the Tide Water Refinery at Bayonne, N. J.

And best of all, Tydol costs no more than ordinary gasoline. Next time you need gasoline fill up at a Tydol pump—and pay no more than the regular price per gallon.

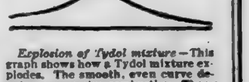
Scientific tests prove TYDOL a natural anti-knock gasoline

Knocking in an engine is caused by the gasoline mixture exploding too quickly or too violently. There is no knock if the mixture burns progressively and evenly.

The Midgley Indicator, a remarkable scientific instrument, enables us to photograph the progress of the explosion of a gasoline mixture in the combustion chamber.



Explosion of ordinary mixture—The above graph shows the explosion of an ordinary gasoline mixture. The jagged points indicate violent, uneven burning, the cause of motor knocks.



Explosion of Tydol mixture—This graph shows how a Tydol mixture explodes. The smooth, even curve denotes progressive combustion. There is no tendency to knock.

NOTE: Tydol, of course, will not eliminate knocking in motors which are defective mechanically.

WESTERLY

Wednesday morning at 6.10 when Newsdealer Michael D. C. Papalia was awaiting the arrival of his Norwich Bulletins, at his newsstand on High street, he heard a crash of breaking glass. He discovered that a hole two feet in diameter was broken in the large plate glass window of the adjoining store of Robert Duff. On the floor of the shoe store fifteen feet from the window was discovered the cause of the crash—a partridge with broken neck.

Mr. Duff was notified by telephone of the "break" and picking up the better than a pound intruder placed it in the show window to explain the cause of the break to passersby. It is thought that the bird having left Wilcox park where it had passed the night was winging it toward Connecticut and the show window stood in the way, with disastrous results to bboth.

The funeral service for Dr. Frank C. Pagan was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from his home on Grove avenue. There was a large attendance and included in the number were many from the medical profession. The service was conducted by Rev. G. Edgar Tobin, rector of Christ Episcopal church of which Dr. Pagan had been a vestryman for many years. The bearers included members of the Westerly Sanitary corps. Dr. Pagan was the first one to conceive the idea of the sanitary corps, and he had been made an honorary member of the organization.

Burial was in River Bend cemetery.

The Westerly High School football squad is being put through some stiff practice sessions this week in preparation for the opening game of the season, Friday with Windham High school at Willimantic.

Two applications for the establishment of bus lines between Providence and Westerly were denied and dismissed by the public utilities commission at a hearing in the state house, Providence, Wednesday.

The application for the bus lines between Providence and Westerly were those of the United Electric Railways Company and James H. Lynville. The U. E. R. was represented at the hearing by its counsel, Alonzo R. Williams, but Mr. Lynville was not represented.

In denying the petitions, William C. Bliss, chairman of the commission said that in view of existing conditions, Westerly was better and more adequately served by the New Haven railroad, he thought, than any other city of its size in the country. He said as long as it was evident that no better service could be substituted, he felt it was necessary to deny the petitions of the applicants.

Eugene Phillips attorney for the New Haven railroad, in opposing the U. E. R. petition for a bus line between Providence and Westerly, said the service between the two cities was adequate and running time "excellent." He said the railroad would lose the 3.6 cents per mile passengers which would later result in applying to the commission a rise to the fare of the commuter. He said the New Haven would not oppose a bus service between Westerly and Washington, which was not served at the present time. He also declared the railroad wouldn ot oppose the petition of the U. E. R. or the establishment of a bus line from Wallum Lake to Greenville.

Peter Veuras, of New Britain, formerly of Westerly, was an automobile visitor Tuesday afternoon in Westerly and Pawcatuck.

Judge Frank H. Hinckley was in Pawcatuck Tuesday for the session of the probate court of Stonington.

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Goodgeon and Miss Florence M. Marriott arrived in Westerly Wednesday from a two weeks' automobile trip which took them through the White Mountains to the Thousand Islands and into the Canadian provinces.

Dr. J. E. Smith of Hope Valley was a business caller in Westerly Wednesday.

Henry G. Clark of South Kingston was a Westerly business visitor on Wednesday.

Henry "General") Hughes left Westerly today (Thursday) for New York en route to Washington, D. C., where Saturday he will witness the first game of the world's series of baseball games between the Senators and the Giants.

The strong south wind which prevailed early in the week caused a heavy sea to be kicked up on the South shore beaches. At high tide Tuesday the water came over the beach embankments in places. At the Atlantic Beach casino the water came over the concrete walk entrance from the highway. Tuesday arternoon the wind drew to the westward and on the night tide the full sweep of the wind was not felt to the extent as at first feared. In Westerly electric light live wires were down on Elm and Union streets, caused by falling branches. Traffic on Union street was stopped until linemen took up the wire, which burned with blue flame the length of the hill from Main street.

Sixteen births have been recorded in the Westerly town clerk's office for September. They are:

Sept. 2. Frank, son of John and Mary Toscano Groccia.

27. Frank Cousins Pagan, 63.
29—Natale Daniel, son of Salvatore and Hazel Main Ballata.

The first number of the course concerts given by the Young Men's class of Grace Methodist Episcopal church was presented to an audience on Wednesday night that taxed the seating capacity of the auditorium. The entertainers were the Fenwick-Newall Concert company, being recitalists of high musical attainment. They numbered Fenwick Newall, tenor; Marguerite Holt, soprano; Joseph Marks, violinist, and Raymond Crawford, pianist.

From the opening number, Ave Maria, a duet by Miss Holt and Mr. Newall, accompanied by Miss Crawford, to the closing number, Barcarolle, from Tales of Hoffman, Offenbath, by the entire cast, the full programme was well rendered, favorably received and generously applauded. Perhaps the most popular artist was the violinist, Mr. Marks, coming from Canada, who played a group of Spirituels, among which was an Indian snake dance. Miss Crawford was at her best with her piano selections while Miss Holt sang soprano solos and Mr. Newall with French and Italian numbers, showed his merit as leader of the company.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sale of Washington Street Land.

James L. Case has sold for Messrs. Krieger and Sholes to John C. Tracy a valuable tract of land located at the junction of Washington street and Harland road. The property has a frontage of nearly 200 feet on Washington street with a commanding view of surrounding territory.

Palace Theater

George Fitzmaurice, director of the Samuel Goldwyn production, Tarnish, which is now playing at the Palace theater, firmly believes that the American girl has a place in the business world, and that every girl should learn to support herself and be financially independent. But, he claims, there is one disadvantage.

"With the indolent and well-to-do parent," claims the director, "the temptation to allow his daughter to shoulder more than her share of the responsibility of supporting the family sometimes becomes too great. He begins to feel that he can more up in his own work and spend more upon his own pleasures.

May McAvoy plays the role of the daughter. Ronald Colman is cast as her sweetheart, and others in the cast include Marie Prevost, Norman Kerry and Harry Myers. Tarnish has been decidedly popular with Palace patrons since its opening and promises to be one of the best liked photoplays of the year.

Bread Theater

Would you like to see Rome, the city of the seven eternal hills? Would you like to visit Mt. Vesuvius, Italy's death-belching volcano? Would you like to enjoy the charm of Sorrento, the jewel of Italy's north—Naples with its bay of blue—ancient Tivoli, the town of narrow torturous streets?

You don't have to visit Italy to see these natural grandeurs. They form the setting for Lillian Gish's greatest dramatic triumph. The White Sister, which is showing at the Bread theater today, Friday and Saturday. Inspiration Pictures determined to bring the fascinating beauty of Italy back to America by means of the screen.

The White Sister was chosen as the first film to be reproduced entirely overseas. It has been the outstanding artistic triumph of the present motion picture season and the work of Lillian Gish, the screen's greatest artiste, in the leading role, has been characterized as better than anything she has ever done in the past.

The picture is a Henry King production for Inspiration Pictures, Charles H. Duell, Jr., president, and is distributed by Metro.

Other pictures on the bill include the Fox news and Hodge-Podge.

Broadway Theater

If the word "super-production" had not been so sadly abused and misused, we would be sorely tempted to apply it to Rudolph Valentino's latest Paramount picture, Monsieur Beaucaire, which is due next Sunday at the Broadway theater. For if ever a picture deserved superlatives it surely is this screenplay, which Forrest Halsey adapted from Booth Tarkington's gloriously humorous story and which reaches the silver sheet via the directorial guidance of Sidney Olcott.

For the supporting cast, it may well be set up as a standard of excellence, including as it does, Bebe Daniels, Lois Wilson, Doris Kenyon, Lowell Sherman, Ian Maclaren, John Davidson, Paulette Duval and many, many others famous on stage and screen.

Film fans, you who rave about the great pictures you have seen, here is Monsieur Beaucaire and you will have something to brag about!

Alterations in Hartley Building

The alterations in the Hartley building on Franklin street are to be completed that the store for many years used as a barber shop and which has been made into two stores is now occupied by the new tenants Frank Connelli and Frank Tetreault. Mr. Connelli has had a shoe repairing shop for a number of years on 98 Franklin street, and Mr. Tetreault has conducted a paint store at 102 Franklin street, both doing a successful business, which they expect to increase in the new quarters.

After rising steadily as a result of continued rains Virginia and North Carolina streams showed a tendency to subside with the passing of the storm.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

The Reynolds street maple trees which have been introduced into the town election campaign as an issue, have figured in the town records over a period of more than three years. The first discussion began in March, 1921, when Thomas Bradford and 52 other residents of the borough of Danielson, made application for the removal of the line of old rock maples on Reynolds street, between Main street and Broad street, on the ground that the old trees were hindering the growth of the new trees. At about the same time (a week later, according to the records) Thomas Bradford and four other taxpayers of Killingly gave notice to the first selectman, John A. Gilbert, to cut "all trees, bushes and branches of trees on the northerly side of Reynolds street, between Main street and Broad street, growing within ten feet of the center of the traveled way." This notice evidently had in mind General Statute, Section 1423, which relates to rural brush growths and impediments to travel from low limbs of trees, rather than to public shade trees.

Following receipt of the application of the 53 residents, a map showing the location of the questioned trees and their obstruction to normal travel was prepared and submitted to the state highway commissioner, Charles J. Bennett; but in due course the map came back from the commissioner's office with a brief note stating that the highway commissioner did not care to enter the controversy.

The next step taken by the tree warden and the selectmen was a hearing on the application of the 53 residents. The stenographic reports of this hearing are very full, and indicate a vital interest in the trees from a wide range of standpoints. While the application for their removal cited solely that they were spoiling the younger trees, and so should be removed, the hearing brought out, among other testimony, that the trees were making houses damp. The health officer testified that as some of the residents on the south side of the street were in favor of having the trees thinned out, he was willing to state that the public health would be benefited by it. Another physician testified concerning the health of one of his patients: "It had not been so good since the patient had resided beneath the trees." The opposition ranged all the way from that of the late Judge M. A. Shumway, who spoke at length on the legal aspects involved in attempting to remove public shade trees, to the straight objections on account of sentiment or for aesthetic reasons.

But the upshot of this first going over the matter, was a conclusion, on the part of the tree warden and selectmen, after inquiry of counsel removed from the region of possible local prejudice, that the aforesaid town officers had no authority to remove public shade trees, that of themselves, were so generally well-behaved as were the Reynolds street trees up to that time.

And so the application of the 53 signers to remove the trees, was denied.

But while the trees were not then to come down from the official axe, either at home or in Hartford, neither would the subject down. Two years passed over. The new big route No. 2 was completed to the Rhode Island line, and the greatly increased motor travel both of freight and pleasure cars, especially on week ends and holidays, began to give the public a different slant on the affair. Sentiment, aestheticism regarding landscape architecture, the public health as related to dampness from shade trees—all were submerged in a general admission that the time was ripe to do away with a menace to public travel. This condition of thought had been brought to a head by a quite too intimate knowledge of a few distressing accidents.

Accordingly the champion of tree removal, Thomas Bradford and 26 other legal voters, petitioned for a special town meeting, to request the state highway commission to remove the trees. The special town meeting which was called for June 29th, 1923, quickly and favorably disposed of the proper resolution to "request" and also to set the curbing—completing the line, eastward to Broad street, along the southerly side of Davis park. All the necessary formalities and agreements were made with the borough as to the line—this in conjunction with engineers from the highway commissioner's office; the curbing was purchased and placed alongside.

Meantime as several highway matters had to be taken up with the highway commissioner, John A. Macdonald, appointment was made with the commissioner's office, and on August 23, 1923, First Selectman J. A. Gilbert and Town Counsel E. L. Darbie met Mr. Macdonald in Hartford and went over the appropriation for state aid money to be apportioned to Killingly; and it was understood and agreed by the commissioner that the road leading from Dayville Four Corners, through the old Hartford road, past the Valley school house to East Killingly should be the next Killingly highway to receive state aid attention. The Reynolds street trees were put on the boards also, by Mr. Gilbert and the town attorney, and the commissioner also agreed that these trees should be removed, the street widened and built up with a bituminous, smooth surface.

Grade stakes were soon set for the curbing line of the new layout; but there presently came a halt. Selectman Gilbert was called by telephone and asked by the highway commissioner, Mr. McDonald, to hold the matter in abeyance until further advised from his office.

Here the case held until early in June, 1924, when information was received through the town attorney that the commissioner was ready to go ahead with the matter. Permission in writing from the tree warden was sought by the commissioner to cut such trees as he—the highway commissioner—deemed necessary on both sides of Reynolds street. This written permission was forwarded June 10, 1924, by Mr. Gilbert and still there was no action visible relative to removing the trees.

September 5, 1924, Selectman Gilbert again opened the matter with the commissioner in a letter setting out the various stages of the local public appeal regarding the Reynolds street tree affair; and Sept. 10, 1924, a brief letter was received from the commissioner, John A. Macdonald, in which he wrote: "Referring to your letter of Sept. 5th, I expect to be able to give you a definite answer on this very shortly now."

The above is a boiled down review of the Reynolds street tree question which is furnished from official sources and without official comment.

At her home on Mechanic street, a surprise party was given in honor of Mrs. Joseph Vivea on her 61st birthday and she was presented a number of beautiful gifts, including a handsome bouquet and birthday cake. Dancing and singing were among the diversions of the evening and in the way of entertainment piano solos by Miss Yvonne Dupre. Those attending included Mr. and Mrs. Simon Vivea, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bruley and daughter of Wauregan, Fred Vevia, Misses Margaret and Yvonne Dupre, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bouchard, Mrs. Howard Withey, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schroth, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walters and children, Jerry Vevia and Edward Vevia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bassett, who have been spending several weeks here with relatives, plan to leave for Los Angeles about October 10, stopping over for a time with friends in New York.

One well known grade of gasoline was being offered at 17 cents a gallon, including the one-cent per gallon war tax, in Danielson Wednesday, following the announcement of reduction in prices from the New York headquarters of the concern. And real beer remains at 50 cents for a 12-oz. bottle over in Rhode Island. It seems that price all depends on supply and demand.

A New York National guard aeroplane that circled to earth for a landing on the broad acres of land of the Wauregan company, at Wauregan, about 10.30 Wednesday morning, came down to replenish its supply of gasoline. Lieutenant McAvoy was in command. After a leisurely refilling the plane swept into the skies again and continued on its route to the Brockton fair, when it was bound. The pilot having gone off his course, became worried about his gas supply, so descended. The plane uses about 35 gallons per hour while in flight.

School children and numbers of motorists gathered about the plane while it was at rest, to inspect it.

Linemen of the various wire service corporations doing business in this territory had a day of it Wednesday, trying to correct the damage done by the howling southeast gale of Tuesday night. The telephone company's lines, hardest hit as the result of falling trees and swishing branches, were restore to normal or, at least, working conditions, as rapidly as possible. The S. N. E. T. company made its usual good record in this respect. Moosup, entirely cut off from Danielson late Tuesday night, was easily available early Tuesday forenoon. Restoring this service meant the labor of removing trees and branches fallen across the lines and the restoration of connections.

Add to the list of wreckage in Tuesday night's southeast gale the smashing of a big advertising sign that has a place in a field just off the bend of the state highway between Wauregan and Central Village. A "page" of the advertising "book" was torn off by the storm and left a crumpled mass in the grass. Trying to read what was left of the sign Wednesday, travelers could not for the life of them tell who settled Plainfield, nor why. And Plainfield is a very good town, too.

According to one's viewpoint, it may or may not be a good thing for a newspaper to fight everyone's battles. That's why little space will be given here this morning to all the requests for publicity about the high gas bills again this month. The public has certain avenues of recourse if it is dissatisfied wth what it is paying for service from any public service corporation. In the present instance it seems wholly logical to refer the public to them.

And again, what may have been worth a column of space last week, may not be worth ten lines today. Which suggests boiling it down to: "Cuckoo! Tonight!"

Adjournment was taken Wednesday until Tuesday next in the case of Arthur Chabot of Goodyear to be heard before the town court.

Striving for world's series games tickets in New York is now a diversion of a few of Danielson's baseball fans.

A fine tree near the home of Roland H. Gray was among those that went down in the storm of Tuesday night. Another fell in the grove at the Cold Spring, off Dyer street.

D. E. Jette was severely shaken up when he slipped and fell from a raised runway on which cars are placed for overhauling at a garage here.

Following the storm, Wednesday's weather was sufficiently snappy to bring out a showing of furs and top coats.

A meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held with Mrs. George Eaton of Riverview on Tuesday afternoon. The day was very rainy but the meeting was well attended, and a most interesting programme was given. After a well written comprehensive paper was read by Mrs. Eaton, selections were read by members. The subject of Christian citizenship was considered from several viewpoints. It was agreed that not altogether personal liberty, but religious liberty and national existence must be the aim.

PUTNAM

There are at least three known candidates in the field on the republican side for representative in the general assembly. They are to men and one woman—Mayor Victor Chapdelaine, Samuel Rich and Miss Clara Larned.

Mayor Chapdelaine succeeded to the office of chief executive of the city two years ago when Mayor Archibald Macdonald resigned to become postmaster of Putnam. In the city causes, last year Mayor Chapdelaine was unanimously nominated to succeed himself by the republicans and his candidacy was endorsed by the democrats.

The mayor has lived in Putnam many years. He is a retired business man and has given unsparingly of his time to the interests of the city since accepting public office. He is a man of conservative judgment and will doubtless be a strong candidate at the caucus, October 14th.

Samuel Rich is also a citizen who has lived most of his life in Putnam and has always been identified with its business and social affairs. For many years he was engaged successfully as a silk manufacturer but retired some years ago, after selling his factory. He is possessed of good judgment, common sense and of executive and business ability. While Mr. Rich has never held public office he has been an active worker in and consistent supporter of the republican party.

Miss Larned has been active in the affairs of the republican party since women were enfranchised and was active in their obtaining the right to vote. She was one of the first women members of the republican town committee and is now vice chairman of that committee. She is also president of the Putnam Coolidge club, an rganization of abut 400 members. She has bee nespecially active in the present republican campaign.

Miss Larned has served the city for a number of years as probation officer of the city court, is interested in the child welfare movement and is always found identimed with public movements for the bettermen of Putnam.

Luther M. Keith and Hector L. Duvert, representatives in the last general assembly, have declared that they are no tcandidates for renomination.

There is yet time for further announcements, but at present the contest for nomination as representatives on the republican ticket appears to be a three-cornered affair.

Another successful clinic in the Well Baby Conferences being held at the high school under the supervision of the state department of ealth, was that of Wednesday afternoon, when about twenty mothers brought their children for examination and at the same time listened to a talk on teeth and their proper care. It was brought home forcibly that much depended upon the care of teeth in infacny and it was shown that the care of first teeth was as important as the care of permanent bicuspids and molars, since facial deformity as well as disease is traced to the improper care of the teeth of children.

Class officers have been elected at Putnam high schools as follows: Senior class, president, Carl Tillquist; vice president, Doris Barrett; secretary, Leoine Daigle; treasurer, Rudolph Mette. Junior class, president, William Valentine; vice president, Alice Rogers; secretary, Jane Kaines; treasurer, Arthur Pominville. Sophomore class, president, Edgar Phaneuf; vice president, Gordon Winslow; secretary, Mabel Thompson; treasurer, Eleanor Irving. Freshman class, president, Donald Chilild; vice president, Judith Sabin; secretary, Lillian Fished; treasurer, Jeanette Marion.

The school will be closed Friday, as it is teachers' visiting day.

Alderman Eugene Berthiaume has sold his residence on South Main street to Leon Talbot. Mr. Berthiaume will move with his family to a house which he owns on Providence street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wright have returned from an automobile trip to New Hampshire and ermont. They have as their guests Mr. Wright's mother, Mrs. E. G. Wright of Boston.

The Putnam Checker club is ready to begin an active season having elected officers as follows: President, William P. Warren; vice president, Edmond Dubois, Sr.; secretary, Dr. E. F. Perry; treasurer, Judge M. H. Geissler; executive committee, Charles A. Warner, R. C. Jenkins, H. J. Dubois, Chas. Paul, Harry K. Burton.

The Putnam Hi-Y club has been organized for the season. This is a club composed of Y. M. C. A. boys of high school age and last year had a very active season. The officers of this year's club are: President, Sidney King; vice president, Perry Barber; secretary, Franklin Perry; treasurer, George Gilpatric; chairman of sevice committee, Perry Barber; of program committee, Minot Horne:; of supper and rooms committee, Harold Arnold. The club is to meet Monday at the Congregational chuch.

While Attorney William A. King has not made known his course of procedure, his client, G. Harold Gilpatric, will be arraigned in the U. S. district court at New Haven Monday next to answer to the grand jury's indictment of embezzling funds of the First National bank of Putnam to the amount of 453,000. If a plea of not guilty is entered the case will be assigned for trial.

FOURTEEN MEN APPLY FOR TRUST CO. CHARTER

(Special to The Bulletin

Putnam, Oct. 1st.—Fourteen incorporators, mostly Putnam men, have filed with the state bank commission at Hartford a notice of intention to form a trust company in Putnam. The new organization will be known as The Cargill Trust company, with principal place of business in Putnam. The names of the incorporators are: Byron D. Bugbee, Luther M. Keith, George E. Dresser, Silas M. Wheelock, Louis E. Law, Newton A. Ballard, J. Richard Carpenter, John F. Carpenter, George S. Bradley, Leon N. Walker, all of Putnam, John P. Grosvenor, Pomfret; John F. Reardon, North Grosvenordale; George E. McClellan, Woodstock and Nathan D. Prince of Hartford.

Under the statute, before an organization certificate can be filed the notice of intention to organize a trust company must be published at least once a week for three weeks, in the city or town where such company is to be located.

Comparatively quick action can be counted on, however, in forming a trust company as a charter to do business can be granted in about five weeks after the notice required has been duly published.

All of the incorporators of the proposed new trust company are substantial business men and all but four are residents of Putnam. The amount of capital stock has not as yet been determned, but one of the incorporators is authority for the statement that it would be ample to take care of the banking interest of Putnam The same incorporator said: "We also wish to state that it is not intended to interfere with or handicap the effort that is being made to organize the Citizens National bank. For the success of that project we have only the friendliest wishes. An opportunity will be given all of the stockholders of the old First National bank to take stock in this company."

While the notice of intention to organize a trust company in Putnam can not be called wholly unepected, the announcement came as a surprise at this time, as there had been no publicity given the fact that the project was actually underway.

Whether the proposed trust company will in any way affect the purpose of the citizens' committee to organize a National bank could not be learned, Wednesday, and was not commented upon. Judge M. H. Geisler, chairman of the committee and John J. Whitehead, Jr., one of the active members of the committee, both being out of the city could not be seen. As far as could be learned Wednesday afternoon the citizens' committee has held no meeting for several days.

JEWETT CITY

As Fire Prevention Week is next week, Chief Wakely of the local fire company has been at considerable pains to warn the public concerning certain ways to prevent fires.

All chimneys should be scraped and cleaned before the cold season starts. All clean-outs should have iron doors; many chimneys will be found with a brick in place of a door and wood of all kinds piled up around it.

All matches should be kept in tin containers, away from children.

Rubbish in sheds and cellars should be cleaned out.

When burning leaves, persons burning such will go away and leave them before the fire is all out. Children coming from school ramble through such fires, causing at times, serious burns, setting fire to their clothes.

Two of the greatest fire damages this year were caused by children playing with matches.

Caution should also be given against throwing away cigarettes, cigars and sparks from pipes. In Lakeville, Conn., the week of Sept. 20, a four-story business building was damaged to the extent of $45,000, the blaze starting from a cigarette and $90,000 damage to a business district in Willhemina, Oregon, was caused by a cigarette.

Lighting matches or using oil lamps in filling gasoline tanks and looking for leaks have given the local company five runs this year, causing much damage to cars, although none to property, due to the arrival of the department and quick work of its members. Going out and leaving an electric flatiron connected with plug and forgetting to shut it off is another danger.

Wood should not be left in the oven to dry during cold weather. Water pipes should not be thawed out with a torch or other inflammable material, and then the worker going away without seeing if everything is all right. Kerosene should not be poured on a stove with fire in it. The company had two cases of that this year and the outcome was that two persons went to the hospital. All matches and combustible articles should be removed from summer clothes before putting them away for the winter. The week of September 13 throughout the United States and Canada the amount of fire loss was $14,606,150, and the week of September 20th was $9,841,700.

The chief asks that a whistle alarm be not used when a still alarm will do. A telephone message to the operator at the local xchange will get the men out with apparatus just as fast and will cause less commotion, stopping large crowds and automobiles from blocking operations and traffic.

Superintendent F. H. P. Clement says in his recommendations:

There is a great need of a nurse in our schools. If we cannot have the full time of one we should at least be able to call on one when needed. You cannot have about one thousand children without needing a nurse's assistance at different times.

As the result of an agreement between the fire commission and the school committee there will now be two signals for no schol: 8 for the forenoon session and 12.15 for the afternoon session. This signal will be two blasts from the big fire whistle. When one session is held school will be dismissed at 12.30.

Those who attended the conference of churches at Preston City from the Jewett City churches were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Ray, Mrs. E. A. Faust, Mrs. F. E. Robinson, Mrs. W. E. Marshall, Miss M. A. Burdick, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Gray, Mrs. H. E. Paul, Miss Mabel Wilcox, Mrs. S. R. Waters, Miss Beatrice Read, T. E. Lee, Mrs. R. H. Howard, Mrs. A. P. Anderson, Mrs. L. D. LOCK YOUR CAR.

Those who are honest have a way of believing that everyone else is honest. Consequently they fail to properly guard their property, basking in the belief that because they would not make off with the property of another, no one else would try to take it.

Because honesty is the best policy does not however mean that everyone is honest. There are those who are constantly looking for a chance to do the other fellow to steal his belongings and get rich at the expense of another. Thieves, crooks and rounders are numerous and proper protection therefore calls for the recognition of that fact and the taking of precautions to block their activities.

Despite the increasing number of automobiles in the community, and the fact that the average car owner is conscious of the need for the purpose of locking the car after it is left by its owner, there are still instances where extra precautions would save many instances serve notice that while the greatest number of those individuals are prepared there is much room for improvement to prevent the stealing of automobiles.

Those who lock their cars find that they will save themselves much annoyance and possible loss if they make it a habit to do so. It is not difficult for anyone else to start the motor of a car that is locked. It does require a little more time and is bound to make a thief more cautious to avoid the attention of others. Whatever motor car owners may be placed in the position of looking for their cars after they have been stolen will agree that any protection that can be given by owners of all kinds to minimize the annoyance of those who prey on other people's efforts is gained by taking the time and trouble ready to start the car. The chance that it will make the property of the fellow who does is slight.

DISMISSAL OR COMPROMISE?

Has there been an eruption over a law enforcement situation in Philadelphia that was too precipitate? The possibility of this is indicated by the statement that a compromise may be effected between Mayor Kendrick and the director of public safety, General Butler who was brought to the Quaker city for a year to clean it up.

From all indications had Director Butler been in the proper physical condition a week ago he would have received a letter calling for his immediate resignation. Mayor Kendrick seemed to understood that he was not getting the right cooperation from the director who has encountered every possible obstacle in the way of the needed enforcement of the law in Philadelphia. He has uncovered conditions which contributed to the lax law enforcement that had been prevalent and he has bumped up against political controlled subordinates. His road has not been strewn with roses, but it is recognized by the people of the city of Philadelphia who are desirous of law enforcement that the service of such a man should not be dispensed with.

From the intimation that there may be a compromise effected as the result of the developments which have resulted during the director's absence it is possible that there is a basis of cooperation from both directions. That being the case the proper thing to do is to get together. Mayor Kendrick has insisted that there would be no letup in law enforcement if Butler did go, but there is no use in disrupting the organization he has been developing for the past nine months and getting someone else to start all over again.

Law enforcement is a matter which interests a much larger number of people than those committed to it in Philadelphia. For that reason there is widespread concern in the outcome of the Philadelphia situation. It is in fact a bigger matter than any feeling that may have sprung up between the mayor and the director of public safety of that city. Butler is unquestionably getting strong recognition for what he has done under difficulties.

DOMESTIC QUESTIONS AND LEAGUE.

Good and sufficient reasons were advanced at the time for the United States to keep out of the league of nations. As developments have taken place in connection with the league there have been reasons to feel satisfied over our refusal to enter the world organization.

The latest appears to have been furnished by the refusal of Japan to accept the original Geneva protocols. By the provision to which Japan took exception, if the world court after hearing a question which had been presented to it should rule for instance that it was a domestic matter it would be placed beyond the jurisdiction of the league. This might be done where immigration was involved. But to that Japan would not agree. It desired that in case the world court should render such a decision there could be an appeal to the league for intervention, and it appears Japan succeeded in getting a modification of the protocol in keeping with, if not exactly, what was sought.

That would mean in case this country was a member of the league that the question of immigration would eventually be decided by the league, and that those countries which failed to accept a world court decision would not be considered an "aggressor" nation until the league council had tried to smooth the way. Japan has prevailed upon the league to keep the racial question alive, and now should immigration come before the world court and be found to be a domestic matter there could be sought the aid of the league council to take it out of the domestic field. This way must be resorted to by the nation considering itself wronged or it will be considered the "aggressor" nation, unless of course it yields to the court's decision.

The rules of the league apply to the league members. Not being a member of the league this country reserves its freedom of action, and, considering the belief that it has the right to settle its own immigration problems, it is a good thing that it does. The time hasn't come to submit our control to some super-government.

THE CRABTREE WILL.

Fascination is always kindled when money is being given away. It is a human interest which develops in the manner in which those of small or large wealth distribute it. Attention this week has been focused upon the will of Lotta Crabtree, a woman who through her stage career had become widely known and who through good judgment in making investments had piled up much worldly wealth.

Each individual has interests which may or may not coincide with those of others. In the case of Lotta Crabtree there was a desire to use her money where it would do, in her opinion, the greatest good. It was evident that she was desirous of aiding those whose heroic service was unquestioned as well as the unfortunate, the ambitious and those endeavoring to follow the straight and narrow way. She saw the need of extending a helping hand to the soldiers in the recent war, to help and cheer the sick in the hospitals, to aid those who are leaving penal institutions and to give support and encouragement to those who have completed their training at the state agricultural college and are in need of immediate funds to carry out their plans. She made provision for scholarships for the students of music, established a fund for dispensing Christmas cheer and did not overlook the plight of the poor and unfortunate actor.

It was an instance of will making which indicates making provision for those things which were close to her heart. By the very instrument to which she attached her name she displayed in no unmistakable terms a noble and sympathetic character. Her aim was to bring a betterment of conditions in directions where she had been convinced there was need for.

THE PEOPLE'S FOREST.

Those who are interested in forestry and state forests cannot fail to let it be manifested in connection with the gift of 400 acres of woodland to the state as the beginning of the People's forest. Pleasant Valley, over in Litchfield county, is where this tract of land has been acquired through the Connecticut Forestry association from funds which have been contributed by people of the state.

It is the beginning of a laudable undertaking, for while only a part of what can be economically managed as a state forest is to be turned over on Saturday with fitting exercises to mark such an occasion, there is contemplated further additions until the available 2700 acres are obtained.

Forestry in Connecticut hasn't been entirely abandoned, but it is suffering from too little attention. The endeavor to develop interest and to preserve and manage large acreages that are especially fitted for such purposes deserves all possible support. There is an opportunity to show what can be done with such a forest, how it can be maintained with best results, cut where it is advisable and replanted when occasion requires.

Such woodland can be expected to be used for demonstration purposes. The opportunity to show those who should be interested in forest development that it isn't an unprofitable industry in Connecticut is open. With due emphasis placed upon the importance of this, the time may come when such forest development as Governor Templeton referred to in his inaugural address may transpire. Connecticut should raise a larger proportion of the timber that it requires.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

October, may it be no worse than the hopes that have been expressed in regard to it.

Not only done, but well done, is the flight of the American aviators around the world.

The man on the corner says: A serious reaction always follows the close of a baseball season.

There are those who are willing to bet the election will not go to congress, but it is the duty of the voters to see that it does not.

If the world's championship games are as hotly contested as those in the respective leagues the fans will have the treat of their lives.

There seems to be a nationwide feeling that Charles W. Bryan should not be president. That can be assured by electing Calvin Coolidge.

It is always possible to keep a roaring fire in the heater these days, but the real problem lies in holding it down to just enough to keep the chill off.

When the request comes from southern Illinois to give less prominence in news to crime from that region it evidently doesn't like the publicity it has been getting. The best way to avoid it, however, is to stop the crime.

LITTLE SISTER

"Wanta see a bat?" inquired Bobby generously, balancing on the edge of the step on one foot and hanging on to the sandal with her free hand. There was a dust smear across one cheek ad her hair waved wildly in the morning breeze.

"Where?" nervously demanded the company on the porch. Bobby was that kind of a small girl. Folks acquainted with her were always demanding nervously.

"In this can," Bobby explained, "I'll pry the cover back——"

"No, no" shrieked all the ladies on the porch as one voice. Bobby stood on both feet and regarded them in surprise.

"I got him off the woodpile," she said conversationally as she came in and sat down among them, holding the rusty tin can precariously. "I should think most everybody would be glad to see a bat. This is the first bat I ever saw, and at first I thought it was a big mouse."

"Are you sure it isn't a mouse, Bobby?" begged the most nervous lady present.

"Look at it," offered Bobby, approaching at once. "If I pry back the cover just a teeny——"

"No, no," shrieked the most nervous lady.

"Why don't you go and play with your little friends down at the beach?" suggested the almost grown-up sister of Bobby, taking pity on the assemblage. "Go on!"

"I won't!" said the child in a very sweet voice. "I'd lots rather stay with my bat. Anyhow, I hate all my friends. I hate Beatrice, and I hate Katherine and I hate Alice and I hate Ruth. And I hate Mildred and I hate—"

"Well, I don't for the life of me how you find time to do so many other things in that case," remarked the next-to-the-most-nervous woman. "Hating so many persons must take up an awful amount of time—"

"Oh, I don't know!" Bobby said, twisting into the swing with two women and still clutching the tin can. I hate them while I am doing something else. It's just as easy! I can climb that apple tree down there and all the time I am hating Mildred!"

"Let's see you do it," asked the most nervous woman with artful guile.

Bobby shook her wild mane firmly. "Nope," she saddened them, thoughtfully tipping the can so that any really clever bat might have edged its way through the crack, "that wouldn't be any use. How'd you know up here if I was hating or not? Anybody can climb a tree. Know what I'm going to do this afternoon? I'm going to dig angleworms down in front of Keeper's house and fill this can full, but first I've got to find a place to keep my bat. Does anybody want to keep my bat until I——"

"No!" said all the ladies at once. "Why don't you go read or look at pictures, Bobby——"

"I'm never going to school any more," Bobby confided to the world at large."

"Oh, but you'll simply have to go to school if you want to be popular and —er—well, popular," the almost-young lady-sister of Bobby told her. "You just have to know things! Suppose a nice young man came to call on you and you couldn't talk intelligently to him!"

"My goodness!" cried Bobby, round eyed. "What do you s'pose I'd want to say? Do you s'pose for one minute I'd recite the multiplication table to him?"

"Well," pursued her sister, warming to her task, "suppose he took you out to a nice restaurant full of dressed-up people and where they had wonderful things to eat, and suppose he asked you whether you'd have ravioli, Italian style, or escargots, and you didn't know anything about either of them."

"H'm," Bobby said, with a trifle of contempt. "I'd just tell him I wanted bacon and eggs and lots and lots of of ice cream fixed up funny, and then maybe some more ice cream."

"Listen to me!" ordered the pretty sister, indignantly. "You can't grow up a young savage, with bats and angleworms and—and things like that! Suppose, for instance, somebody told you the king of some European country was dead and you didn't know a thing about Europe or the king or anything like that—what could you say?"

"Me?" asked Bobby, disinterestedly as she slid to her feet and, putting her fingers between her lips, blew an earpiercing blast at a small boy going by. "Oh, I'd say I should worry! he's no relative of mine! Hey, Freddy, wait for me!"

"Oh, good gracious, if she hasn't left that bat!" shrieked all the nervous ladies as the screen door slammed.—Exchange.

Davey Learned to Read at 20

Son of a tenant farmer in Somersetshire, England, John Davey, at eight years of age worked for neighboring farmers at sixpence a day. He was 13 when his mother died and he was "put out" with another farmer. At 20 he was apprenticed to a horticulturist at Torquay, England.

Seeing a companion read and write, he realized that he did not even know all his letters. To overcome his ignorance he bought a copy book and learned to write, then with a New Testament and pocket dictionary he taught himself to read. To do this he got up early, worked in the garden 12 hours a day and studied at night. Two years of the effort broke down his health and he returned home.

Recovering, he apprenticed himself to a floriculturist. At 26 he decided to come to America and by budding rose trees and selling them he raised sufficient funds to make the trip.

Joining friends in Warren, Ohio, he worked as a laborer, acting as janitor for a private school in exchange for tuition. Saving a small sum, he bought out a greenhouse, but the panic of 1873 was on, and he failed.

After his marriage at 33, he worked in harvest fields, then became custodian of the Kent, Ohio, cemetery, making it so beautiful that people traveled miles to see it.

At the end of three years he resigned and became a landscape gardener. To arouse interest in the abuse and neglect of trees, he wrote a book, "The Tree Doctor." Preparing it at night after long hours in gardens, he was called a "visionary dreamer" and when he submitted it to publishers, he was laughed at.

Finally publishing the book himself, he soon was $7,000 in debt. Finally came a call to care for a tree in a nearby city. Although over 50, Davey climbed the tree cared for it and saved it. Other cases came and his reputation grew.

At 62 he established the Davey Tree Expert Company and the Davey Institute of Tree Surgery. The business grew to over $1,000,000 a year, and until the time of his death at 75 was president of the organization.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Jesse H. Metcalfe, whom the Republicans of Rhode Island in state convention today are expected to name for United States senator to succeed the late Le Baron B. Colt, is a wealthy mill-owner and part owner of the Providence Journal. He was born in Providence and has always been what is called in Rhode Island a "builder," —a builder of mills, hospitals, colleges and other useful institutions. He was trained in textile technology in England and was the first chairman of the Rhode Island State Penal and Charitable Commission. For ten years he has served as president of the Rhode Island Hospital, and during that time has supervised the construction of the Jane Brown Memorial Hospital. He is a trustee and has been a liberal contributor to the Rhode Island School of Design, and some years ago he promoted the erection of the Jesse Metcalfe Chemical Laboratory, as a memorial to his father, in Brown University, which is the chief institution of learning in Rhode Island.

Stories That Recall Others

Something Just as Good

Harry arrived at his home the other evening to find his wife in the midst of preparations for company. Harry's arrival was opportune for there was an errand he could do—the wife needed some lady's fingers to complete the arrangements for the party.

"Harry, skip down to the bakery and get a dozen and a half of lady fingers," she said

"I'm sorry sir, but we ran out of lady fingers a little while ago, but we have some nice little cookies that people often use in place of lady fingers," the baker responded. Harry looked and began to think and look some more. Sizing up the salesman, Harry said, "Are you married?"

"Yes, sir," the baker said.

"If you wife sent you to the store to get a dozen and a half of lady fingers, what would you do?" Harry asked.

"You win," the baker replied.

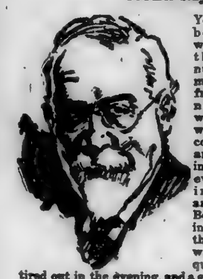
You Can Now Try Nuxated Iron At My Expense

I First Compounded This Remarkable Remedy For My Own Neighbors And Their Praise Of It Had Spread So Rapidly That Now Millions Of People Are Using It—Read My Unusual Offer Below.



Years ago I began to wonder at the great number of my own friends and neighbors who were always ailing, complaining and doctoring, without ever seeming to get any better. Both work men and their wives were frequently all tired out in the evening, and a great many were weak, nervous and run-down. One had pains in the back and thought he had kidney trouble. Another had pains around the heart, palpitations and dizziness, and was sure he was suffering from heart disease. Still others had severe headaches, floating spots before the eyes, tender spots along the spine and a great variety of alarming symptoms.

For years I made a special study of this condition, consulting a great number of physicians and chemists. An immense number of investigations by physicians all over the country showed that three people out of every four you meet lack 100c iron in their blood. Lack of iron in the blood is the greatest of all devitalizing weaknesses. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron, nothing you eat does you any good. Your heart, lungs and kidneys and all your vital organs get their nourishment from the blood stream, and when the blood lacks iron and is thin, pale and watery, you may suffer from the symptoms of a great number of diseases when the real and true cause of all your trouble is a lack of iron in the blood.

In the old days people often took metallic iron, which some physicians claim is not absorbed at all. In compounding this newer form of iron which I call Nuxated Iron, I employed a special form of iron, which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Unlike the older forms of iron, it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach, and it is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood. It is the people whose blood is rich in iron who possess great strength, force and energy. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test:

Cut out trial coupon and go to any druggist and get your first trial package of Nuxated Iron; then see how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two 5-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times a day after meals for two weeks, then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. An astonishing number of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, have greatly improved their health and increased their strength, energy and endurance simply by taking this newer form of iron.

Trial Coupon

Fill in this coupon with your name and address and take it to any druggist in your city. Deposit with him the price of one regular full-size bottle of Nuxated Iron. This is not a payment, but a deposit only. If you are not more than delighted with the results obtained by two weeks' use of Nuxated Iron, simply return the outside wrapper to your own druggist who will promptly refund your money. We will repay the druggist the full amount he refunds upon receipt of the coupon and wrapper.

POETRY

NEW HOUSES.

Love has built so many little houses,
All up and down the street—
Side by side and small, yet strong to holding
What is so new and sweet.

Houses as quaint and creamy and inviting
As carpenters can make,
Waiting and empty, spotless and expectant,
For little brides to take.

For little brides and eager wives and mothers,
With rapt and radiant faces,
To plant and prune and drape and hang and polish
Into such lovely places.

Where tired men may come to rest at evening,
Beside a fire's glow;
Where strong and sweet in stature and spirit
Small girls and boys may grow.

And soon green rugs of grass will spread before them,
Slim vines will reach and cling,
And youthful trees will stretch their boughs and rustle,
And pointed shrubs will spring.

The little houses, now, at night, are somber,
And pale against the gloom,
But soon the street will blossom like a garden,
And windows burst in bloom.
—Anne Blackwell Payne, in the New York Sun.

THE HIGHWAY.

We who have met on the highway,
While in the rising sun,
You with your love, and I with my love,
Here where the trails are one.

Let us go down the road together,
Out past the sky's blue sweep,
You with your youth, and I with my youth,
Pledging our vows to keep.

Though there be mountains to conquer,
Paths that are stony with pain,
You with your faith, and I with my faith
Will travel smooth ways again.

Till, at the end of the highway,
Sorrows forever cease,
You with your love, and I with my love—
How can we find but peace?
—Cecil Taylor, in the Kansas City Times.

Recent Italian scientific journals have been describing a new "thermo-aero locomotive," a simple device applicable to an ordinary locomotive with slight expense and with only slight remodeling. An internal motor fed with oil, produces generously hot compressed air and steam, which are the motive power. It is stated that the locomotive may be stopped without stopping the motor, power for upgrades may be increased and there are no smoke, soot or ashes. It is estimated that traction costs on the Italian railways may by its use be reduced 70 per cent.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT
By DAVID CORY

Teaching the Crows a Lesson.

Oh, every living thing that goes
On feathered wing or furry toes
Beneath the leafy forest trees,
Or swiftly down the merry breeze,
Is one of God's own creatures and Should not be harmed by human hand.

"Hey, son," exclaimed the Kind Farmer, as his boy returned from the house with a piece of heavy twine

"Ha, Ha!" laughed the Farmer's Boy.

in his hand. "What did you say you was a-goin' to do with this little crow?"

"Hang him to a pole to scare the crows away from our corn field," answered the Farmer's Boy, reaching out his hand for poor little Blackie Crow."

"Wait a minute," slowly replied the Kind Farmer. "Jest thought of somethin'. Seems kind of cruel, don't you think so? Kinder inhuman. Let's try some other way."

"That's what lots of farmers do when they're lucky enough to catch one," answered the Farmer's Boy. "Taint often you catch one of these wise birds, let me tell you. Crows won't come near a field if there's a dead crow swinging from a pole."

"Did you know, son, since I've been readin' the Almanac I've found out somethin'. Crows destroy a heap of cutworms. Them pesky things kill a lot of young corn. Mebbe more'n the crows does."

"Well, what you want me to do?" asked the Farmer's Boy. "I kinder hate to hurt the little feller. He looks so scary-like. Gee his heart's a-goin like a trip-hammer.

"Got any white paint?" asked the Kind Farmer, all of a sudden, and getting up, he walked over to the tool house. "Bring him over here," he shouted in a few minutes, coming to the door. "I've got an idea."

"What's Father up to now?" thought the Farmer's Boy, hurrying over to the tool house with poor little Blackie Crow under his arm. "Wonder what Dad's up to?"

"Hold him out careful" said the Kind Farmer. "I'm goin' to paint his tail white. Guess that will surprise the crow family. Mebbe 'twill teach them a lesson to quit stealin' corn."

"Ha, ha!" laughed the Farmer's Boy. "A white tail crow, guess it will, by jiminny," and he placed the little crow on his knee and carefully spread out his tail feathers.

"There, the job's done," exclaimed the Kind Farmer, putting away the paint pot and brush. "Wait till the paint dries and then let him go. Mebbe the sight of his white tail will remind the members of the crow family to keep away from my corn field." And I guess it did, little reader, for crows are very wise birds and when once taught a lesson, they rarely forget it.

Oh, never harm a living thing,
That runs a-foot or flies a-wing,
For God has made them, one and all,
From tiny ant to giraffe tall.

MY DAUGHTER WOULD CRY AT EVERYTHING

Nervous and Irritable. By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Became Entirely Normal

Clinton, Wisconsin.—"My daughter was in a very run-down condition, and was irritable, and would cry at every little thing she was so weak and nervous. As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped me when I was a girl I gave it to her to build her up, and the results were all that we could wish for. I wish that every mother with growing girls would try it for these troubles girls often have. I had taken it myself before my girl was born, and she was one of the nicest babies any one could wish to have. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to women and girls and cannot praise it too highly."—Mrs. I. A. HOLFORD, Box 48, Clinton, Wisconsin.

Mothers can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve their daughters of those troubles they so often have. They know from experience the value of the Vegetable Compound in the treatment of these complaints and many, like Mrs. Holford, give it to their daughters.

WEST SIDE FORUM TO HEAR POLITICAL PLATFORMS

The newly organized West Side Community Forum is planning to open for the evening next Tuesday at Elizabeth street school house for which they have invited the town committees of the political parties to assign them speakers who will explain the platform of Coolidge, Davis and Lafollette. Chief Howard L. Stanton has also been invited to address the meeting on fire prevention.

Before long the association will put into the hands of every West Side resident a questionnaire through which the people will be invited to indicate subjects that will assist the officers towards making up a programme of work for the year.

Band Concert Delayed by Lights

The absence of street lights Wednesday night delayed the opening of the band concert in Union square by the Italian band, but the city electrical department finally had a string of lights arranged over the platform and the concert was given.

RHEUMATISM

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It.

In the year of 1893, I was attacked by Muscular and Subacute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely, and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bed-ridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and subacute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

OBITUARY

Mrs. John F. McNeely.

After a short illness Mary Agnes McNeely, beloved wife of John F. McNeely, passed away at 5.50 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. She was born in Norwich, May 13, 1886, the daughter of the late Joseph and Delia Brown and she made her home with her parents at 228 West Town street. She was united in marriage with John F. McNeely June 18, 1919, and at the time of her death lived at No. 89 Asylum street. Surviving are her husband, John F. McNeely, and one child, Mary Alice McNeely; also three sisters, Mrs. Henry Russell of Dayville, Mrs. Walter Palmer of Fort Point, and Mrs. Henry Jarvis of Norwich, two brothers, Henry J. Brown and Frederick J. Brown of Norwich and also several nieces and nephews.

She was a kind and loving wife and mother and will be missed by her multitude of friends. Always of a cheerful disposition, she made friends wherever she went.

FUNERALS

Mrs. John A. Brady

The funeral of Mrs. John A. Brady was held Wednesday morning at 8.30 o'clock at the home of her brother, Jeremiah Corcoran of 17 Arnold street, requiem mass being celebrated at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Memorial church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the service from Canada, Marlboro, Mass., New York, New London, Westerly and other cities and the floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Rev. Frederick M. Coholan celebrated the mass and Henry LaFontaine was at the organ. For the offertory Pie Jesu was sung and for the waiting hymn Mrs. Frank L. Farrell sang Some Sweet Day.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery where Rev. Father Coholan conducted the committal service. The bearers were Daniel Shields, John H. Cleary, Charles Campbell, John C. Quinlan, Edwin Edwards and John P. Corcoran.

Hourigan Bros., were in charge of the arrangements.

Calvin Frink

Funeral services for Calvin Frink were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the parlors of C. A. Gager on Franklin street. Many friends were present and the floral tributes were beautiful. The service was conducted by Rev. David A. Pitt, pastor of the Central Baptist church, who also read the committal service at the grave in Maplewood cemetery. Among those present were relatives from Old Mystic.

TEA AND RECEPTION TO ARTIST EXHIBITORS

One of the earliest social events of the season took place at the Converse Art Gallery on Wednesday afternoon, when the Norwich Art Students' Association held an informal reception and tea for the Lyme and Mystic artists.

The rooms were filled with interested and animated groups of people, who expressed themselves much pleased with the high quality of the exhibition which is so inspiring to students and art lovers. The committee who so successfully hung the pictures were R. Curel-Sylvestre, Thomas Watson Ball of Lyme, Ernest H. Barnes of Mystic, and Ozias Dodge of Norwich.

The subjects are very varied, comprising snow scenes, summer landscapes, flower pieces, bits from the tropics and cattle pieces.

Carlton Wiggins, whose pictures are so well known, has a small canvas showing grazing sheep, the anatomy of which he has portrayed with his usual skill. The "Nocturne," by Gregory Smith is small in size but large in conception, and has a very good atmosphere effect. The sketches in the smaller rooms prove to hold the interest of the visitors quite as much as the larger pictures. Those of Harry L. Hoffman were made when on an expedition to the Galapagos Islands under Prof. William Buk which accounts for the tropical brilliancy of their color. Arthur Meltzer's "Minnesota Wild Fowers" is extremely poetic in conception and very delicately executed. Ozias Dodge shows three sketches rugged in treatment and well handled.

The galleries were beautifully decorated with brilliant autumn flowers, the scheme of color being carried out in the dainty tea tables where tea and delicious home-made cakes were served. The exhibition is open to the public every afternoon from 2.30 to 5.30, Sunday, October 5th, included, and any one taking advantage of the opportunity to see the pictures cannot fail to be rewarded.

TRAFFIC LAW VIOLATIONS PRODUCE MOST ARRESTS

Increased attention to the enforcement of motor vehicle laws regarding driving and parking contributed a large part to the big month of arrests which the Norwich police had in September when 152 names went on the blotter at police headquarters, 65 of these being for vehicle law violations, 44 for intoxication and 20 for breach of the peace, the three largest causes for arrest.

The following shows the arrests:

Intoxication 44, breach of peace 20, theft 4, frequenting disorderly house 3, non-support 4, violation of liquor law 5, violation of city ordinance 23, violation of motor vehicle law 42, insane, injury to private property, vagrancy, obtaining money under false pretenses, embezzlement, abduction, one each.

SEPTEMBER DONATIONS TO FAMILY WELFARE DEPARTMENT

The Family Welfare Department of the United Workers is most grateful for generous donations received during September from the following: Mrs. Ella Tucker, Mrs. John Blackmar, Mrs. Allen Latham, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Miss Gulliver, Miss Aiken, Mrs. G. W. Harris, Mrs. S. Solomon, a friend, Mrs. J. P. Huntington a friend, Mrs. E. W. Harris, Mrs. L. Hutchins, Mrs. J. Vaughn, Mr. Sidney Smith, Miss Mabel Webb, Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Trachtenberg, Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, Mrs. J. E. Brown, Mrs. L. B. Sampson and Mrs. Greenman.

SCHOOLS TAKING MORE MONEY BUT KEEP TAX RATE SAME AS LAST YEAR

A public school budget that shows a total estimated expense for next year of $275,785.70, which is $13,679.63 more than last year, is recommended by the town school committee, having been prepared by the finance committee of the board, James C. Macpherson, chairman, W. P. McGarry, Walter F. Lester and Thomas J. Kelly, secretary.

The two principal items that make the increase over last year's budget are an increase of $7,320 in teachers' salaries and an item of $4,090 to repay a temporary loan.

Even with the increase in the estimated expenses the tax rate will remain the same as last year, which is 12 mills, because the grand list on which the tax is estimated has increased over the previous grand list.

The following is the budget for the coming year:

PUBLIC SCHOOL BUDGET
School Year 1924-1925

Estimated Receipts

From State of Connecticut, enumeration grant	$ 17,000.00
From State of Connecticut, evening school grant	225.00
From State of Connecticut, library appropriation	260.00
From Town Deposit Fund	798.08
From Thames National Bank, dividend on stock	184.00
From tuition, out-of-town pupils	750.00
From Town of Norwich, to be slightly less than 12 mills on the present grand list, raised by tax	256,568.62
	$275,785.70

Estimated Expenses

Salaries	$209,825.00
Repairs	15,000.00
Supplies, fuel, incidentals	26,500.00
Insurance	2,000.00
Interest	12,870.00
Evening Schools	2,500.00
To repay temporary loan	4,090.70
	$275,785.70

Last year the total expenses was estimated at $262,679.63 which has gone to $275,785.70 this year. The amounts estimated for repairs, supplies, and evening schools each year are the same, but the $2,000 for insurance is $406.43 more than last year and the $12,870 for interest is $1,862.50 more than last year.

On the side of estimated receipts the enumeration grant of $17,000 is $755 more than last year, the $750 for tuition from out-of-town pupils is $300 more, the evening school grant is $3 less and the amounts from library appropriation, town deposit fund and bank stock dividend are all the same as last year's estimates. The amount to be raised by tax last year was $242,557.99, which this year is $256,568.62.

CHRIST CHURCH DESIRES TO USE $45,000 FUND

Through a suit that was filed in the superior court Wednesday, returnable in November, Christ Episcopal church is to endeavor to make available for church maintenance and religious purposes a fund of $45,000 which is now on hand. This is the accumulation resulting from $10,000 which was left the church in 1885 by the will of Maria E. Johnson for the erection of a tower, provided she did not have a tower built for the church during her lifetime.

The papers in the case, drawn by Judge Gardiner Greene, counsel for the church, state that the church is architecturally complete without a tower and that it was never proposed by the testatrix or others to build the tower on the edifice or directly attach any tower or spire to the church, but before the execution of the will it had been proposed to erect a tower as a separate building near to and on the north side of the church edifice on Washington street.

It is alleged that for many years Maria E. Johnson was a devoted member of the church and the main purpose in her bequest was to promote the interest of Christ church parish and of the Christian religion in the community. She hoped and intended to carry out her main purpose by the erection of a separate tower which would add beauty to the church and be useful for supporting a bell or bells.

During her lifetime, it is claimed, it was recognized that the sum of $10,000 was inadequate and she left the church $10,000 more in a codicil to her will, but because of the lack of a sufficient number of witnesses this codicil was void and all that the church received was $10,000, now increased to $45,000.

It is stated that the church membership has decreased and while the church is a fine stone structure built about 1849 it is expensive to maintain and even now a new roof is costing about $8,000. To build a tower would entail a new and unnecessary expense which the church cannot bear and would probably consume the whole of the fund, thus resulting in injury rather than benefit to the church and tending to defeat the main purpose of the testatrix.

The claim is made that the main or general purpose of Maria E. Johnson was to promote the cause of religion and Christianity in the community and that the erection of the tower was secondary, and the suit is brought to have the $45,000 made into a permanent fund, the income of which to be used for maintenance expenses and such balance as remained for religious purposes. This, it is claimed, would come as near as may be to accomplishing her secondary or particular intention without defeating her main or general purpose.

The Johnson Home at Norwich Town is named as a defendant in the case as a residuary legatee of Maria E. Johnson and the only party other than the plaintiff church having any interest in the church fund.

PROBATION FOR YOUTH ON CHARGE OF THEFT

Walter Pekora, 16, of Oakland, was arrested Tuesday night by State Policeman Robert Anderson, Groton barracks, charged with theft. He was locked up at New London over night and Wednesday morning was before Justice of the Peace William Smiddy. A fine of $5 and costs was imposed. Execution of the penalty was suspended six months and Pekora was placed in the custody of Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield.

Pekora has been prone to petty thieving for some time, devoting his talents to stealing accessories from automobiles parked in the highways, besides soliciting funds from pedestrians. The youth appears likely to become an incorrigible and in an endeavor to prevent his continued practices he was apprehended.

FAITH TRUMBULL CHAPTER OPENS SEASON'S MEETINGS

Faith Trumbull Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held its opening meeting of the fall season Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Community house, Church street. There was a large attendance and the meeting proved a most interesting and delightful one. Mrs. David H. Throope and Miss Sarah L. Tyler, in Colonial costume, greeted the members at the door. The singing of America, the Lord's prayer and the salute to the flag opened the meeting.

The regent, Mrs. George A. Ashbey, spoke a few words of greeting and the business meeting followed with reports of officers and committees. The registrar, Mrs. Hezekiah Perkins, reported a total of 164 members. Two names were presented for membership, these being Mrs. Archibald Mitchell and Mrs. James Bussey. The chairman of the various committees reported on their plans for the coming year.

Mrs. William Tyler Browne, chairman of the museum committee, spoke of the work of this committee through the summer months. The museum was open for two days each week and many visitors inspected the museum. Miss Susan Gallup spoke of the new year book, prepared under her direction with the assistance of Mrs. Roy D. Judd. A copy of the year book has been sent to each member of the chapter. The chairman of the ways and means committee, Miss Barbara Allen, spoke briefly of that committee's plans for the coming year.

The secretary read a letter from the Ellsworth Memorial Association telling of the changes made at the Ellsworth homestead the past year, such as papering and painting, etc., and asking the chapter for its usual contribution to help maintain the homestead. A contribution of forty cents per member will be sent, making a total of $65.60 for the chapter. The secretary also read a letter concerning the manual of the United States for the information of Immigrants and Foreigners. This manual has passed into its third English edition and copies in Italian, Hungarian, Spanish, French, Polish, German, Russian and Yiddish may also be obtained.

The regent read a letter from C. S. McGowan, president of the International College of Springfield, Mass., in which he wrote of sending a gift of a book, The History of Norwich, to Faith Trumbull chapter. After the business meeting a fine programme, prepared by Mrs. Herbert W. Gallup and Mrs. Elisha E. Rogers, was given. It consisted of the following numbers:

Two groups of three songs each by eight daughters in Colonial costume; Mrs. William Tyler Browne, Mrs. William H. Allen, Mrs. George L. Ingalls, Miss Susan L. Gallup, Mrs. Louis A. Wheeler, Mrs. Harvey M. Briggs, Mrs. William S. Elliott and Mrs. Arthur M. Thompson. The songs were: first group, Home and Country. Those Endearing Young Charms, and A Flag Song.

Second group—Windsor, Russia, The Revolutionary Tea, Miss Annie E. Vaughn, in Colonial costume, played the piano accompaniments.

Mrs. Elisha Rogers read a paper of her own composition on The Setting of Our Jewel, Ellsworth Home. A Trip to Windsor was very cleverly given by Herbert W. Gallup.

Miss Katherine A. Nettleton, state vice regent of Connecticut and treasurer of the Ellsworth Memorial Association, was a guest of honor. Miss Nettleton gave a very instructive and interesting talk on the financial condition of the Ellsworth Home.

The following hostesses, in Colonial costume, served tea: Mrs. Louis A. Wheeler, Mrs. Leslie L. Brewer, Mrs. Harry B. Ford, Mrs. Henry H. Pettis, Mrs. William S. Elliott, Mrs. Eliza B. Dolbeare, Mrs. Harvey M. Briggs, Mrs. Charles J. Twist, Mrs. William H. Oat and Mrs. Arthur M. Thompson.

DEMOCRATS WILL MEET HERE FOR CONVENTIONS

Three democratic conventions which will be held here Saturday are expected to be harmonious sessions at which those who are named as prospective candidates will have little opposition.

The probate convention for the Norwich district will be held at 11 o'clock at the court house and there seems to be little doubt, it is reported that Judge Nelson J. Ayling will be the convention nominee.

At 11:30 the convention of the Norwich senatorial district will be held and here the predictions are that Hermon J. Gibbs of Yantic will be nominated.

The congressional convention for the second district, which comprises New London, Windham and Middlesex counties, will be held at noon. It is conceded by leaders in the democratic ranks that Frank P. Fenton of Willimantic will in all probability be the convention's choice for the nomination.

FIRED PISTOL AT OCEAN BEACH INTRUDERS

Two Norwich women, Mrs. Sarah Asher and Mrs. Fannie Asher Plummer, who are spending the season at Ocean Beach, were awakened about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning when a strange noise was heard in the house. Upon investigation one of the women noticed two men prowling about the yard and securing a revolver emptied the cylinder in an attempt to attract the attention of some officer or passerby. Failing in this attempt New London police headquarters were communicated with and three officers were sent to the house but were unable to locate the men. None of the contents of the house had been touched.

NEW ENGLAND'S LEADERSHIP IN THE WORLD'S WORK

The conference of six churches was held at Preston City Congregational church Wednesday, with one hundred and fifty-eight attending. The decorations of dahlias, gladioli, asters, marigolds and fuchias were much admired. Rev. William Muttart, pastor of the church, presided. After an organ voluntary by Miss Abby Stanton, and congregational hymns, Rev. Edward G. Crowdis of Taftville, gave the invocation followed by the Lord's Prayer, and also led the responsive reading. The Scripture lesson from Isiah six was read by Rev. H. W. Hulbert, D. D., of Groton. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. C. Harris, pastor of the Preston City Baptist church, and an anthem was sung by the choir.

Morning Address

The address of the morning was by Rev. Henry W. Hulbert, D. D., of Groton, on the topic, New England's Place in the World's Work. The speaker gave evidence of being in close touch with his subject from the start, for he cited the man in the White House, of whom he said, we should all be proud, as a native of New England. He told about a book that had been written. Within its pages as the result of exhaustive study and comparison, there appeared a list of 25,357 names of men and women worth while, leaders in civil affairs and military genius. Of that list 4,051 were born in New England. The six northeastern states of America came in for the creditable showing of 54 to every 100,000 inhabitants, Connecticut could show 43, and Vermont 100. New England people he said, have been noted from earliest times, for their staunch defense of principle, that noble quality which has gone to make the descendants of New England stock, leaders in every line of the world's work of today. In summing up the many personal virtues with right thinking and clearness of vision, which statistics have clearly shown as standing to New England's credit, education and opportunity, were offered as the leading answer. It has been the impetus, and has given the capability to the men and women from New England, to do their work so nobly and so well.

Rev. Mr. Muttart appointed Rev. W. J. Reynolds of Lisbon, Mrs. W. A. Edmond of Pachaug and Mrs. G. A. Bassett of Jewett City as resolutions committee and benediction was pronounced by Mr. Harris. Dinner was served by the women of the church, in the vestry, the blessing being invoked by Rev. Edward H. Smith.

The afternoon session was opened by the reading of the report of the last meeting by the scribe, Mrs. E. H. Hiscox of Jewett City, who also called the roll of churches and visitors. There were eleven from Pachaug, twelve from Lisbon, fourteen from Jewett City, sixteen from Hanover, five from Plainfield, fifty from Preston City, and fifty visitors.

The resolutions read by Mr. Reynold expressed the appreciation and satisfaction of the conference in the excellent address of Dr. Hulbert, each one to seek to develop within the mind the great ideals which have made New England the real force she is in the life of the world. Also the world affairs, that each one may cultivate the international mind which Christ's love and sacrifice begets in those who love Him. For wherever love is there God is, whether in Preston City or in Hok, China! Thanks were given for what Rev. Edward Smith of Ing Hok would bring as his message. The members of Preston City church were thanked for their present hospitality and hearty good will shown on this occasion. Appreciation of the excellent music rendered by the choir was expressed. After the conference offering was received, Rev. Roderick MacLeod of Hanover led the inspirational period in singing of hymns. Rev. Frank Robbins, a missionary worker in the Stonington Union Baptist association, led the responsive reading. J. Kellogg Hall of Preston sang, Father Take My Hand in Thine by Scott, accompanied by Mrs. Hall.

Speaks of China's Troubles

The speaker of the afternoon was Rev. Edward H. Smith for 23 years a missionary in China. He had to tell, much to the delight of his audience, a statement of facts, with the pleasing color of interesting narratives, that had actually came to his knowledge in China. Mr. Smith, was able to explain from actual experience, about the seven years of civil war and to tell of the eight provinces into which China had been divided with the continual contest for occupancy. Once, during a seige of his city, bullets had passed through the windows of his school room. During the year he lived in one city, it had been taken possession of by seven different armies. Then, said he, everybody had to flee, even from the soldiers of their own armies. China, he said, is wide open to the gospel, and the Christian church is the one great stable moral influence. The wisdom of God, will be revealed in the one great solution, to the problem of the nations, a bond of union between the white and yellow race. The trouble largely with China is not yellow peril, but militarism.

In God's great roster, of mighty forces, not all from New England or any country on this planet, will be found to be lawyers and judges, statesmen or orators, but, outstanding, in the accomplishment of things worth while, will appear the Christian missionary of Jesus Christ.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Sterry Robbins of New York city.

WEDDINGS.

Kilday—Vautrot.

A pretty fall wedding took place Wednesday morning at St. Mary's Memorial church when Edward J. Kilday of Hartford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kilday of No. 31 Ninth street, this city, and Miss Winifred Claire Vautrot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vautrot of No. 357 Monroe street, Mobile, Ala., were united in marriage. Preceded by the ushers, George Patterson, George Bohan, Louis Wellner and James Guffey, the bridal party entered the church to the music of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengren, played by Organist Henry J. LaFontaine.

The bride was attended by Miss May Kilday, the groom's sister, as bridesmaid and the best man was James Kilday, a brother of the groom. The bride was charming in white satin crepe and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses. Her bridesmaid was gowned in China blue brocated chiffon with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink Columbia roses.

The wedding was solemnized by Rev. William A. Keefe, rector of the church, who conducted the nuptial mass. Mr. LaFontaine was in charge of the music. Gounod's Ave Marie was very impressively sung by Edward T. Connelly and Nicholas J. Spellman sang the Agnes Die.

Following the wedding ceremony there was a reception at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kilday, No. 31 Ninth street. An elaborate wedding breakfast was served by a caterer. Mr. and Mrs. Kilday left for a wedding trip to Montreal, Ottawa, Niagara Falls, and Mobile, and on their return will reside at No. 208 Farmington avenue, Hartford. The bride received many beautiful and useful wedding gifts.

Mr. Kilday is well known in this city and is popular with his many friends. Until the war he was employed by the Porteous & Mitchell Co., when he joined the United States forces and saw considerable foreign service. He was located in South America with the merchant marine and also served in Europe. Since the war he has been employed in the ticket department of the New Haven road at Hartford.

His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vautrot of Mobile. Her father is manager of a large publishing house in Mobile. The out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vautrot, Mobile, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Monroe and son, Charles, Jr., of New London, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Kilday, Miss Elizabeth Kilday, Mrs. Anthony Kilday, Killingly, Conn., Louis Wolner of Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Agnes Downey, Miss Annie Downey, Miss Anna Connell, Miss Marguerite Connell, George Patterson, Edward Moriarty, Everett Pugsley, Robert Maher, George Bohan, James Cordwell, James Gaffey, William Fleming, Harry H. Johnson of the general office of the New Haven road, Hartford, Mr. and Mrs. William Downing and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downing of Voluntown.

TWO Y. M. C. A. DEPARTMENTS HOLD SEASON OPENINGS

The official opening of the junior and intermediate departments of the Young Men's Christian association took place Wednesday at the association building on Main strete, many members of both departments attending the meetings and enjoying a good time.

The junior opening was held in the afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock and consisted of games in the gymnasium and a good time in the showers. The party then adjourned to the junior lobby, where the following motion pictures were shown: Crossing the Atlantic on the S. S. Olympic. Corrective Gymnastics and Trained Sea Lions. Outlines of the winter program for the department were given by Physical Director Fritz, after which ice cream sandwichse were served.

The opening of the intermediate department took place in the evening from 7 until 9 o'clock, when a program similar to that of the junior department was given, and Boys' Secretary E. CS Davis explained the campaign for the winter in the gymnasium.

The official opening of the Y for the seniors is to take place on Wednesday evening, Oct. 8th, and cards are to be sent out to all mmebers. A fine program has been arranged for the opening, consisting of activities in the gymnasium, where there will be music by Swahn's orchestra, solos by Frederick Maples and flute solos by Joshua Heap. An exhibition in the swimming pool will be followed by a social time, and refreshments will be served.

The Y has planned an attractive winter program, including the securing of prominent national speakers, activities in the assembly building and in the gymnasium, also the usual activities that form a part of the Y program during the busy months.

JUDGE JOEL REED MARRIED AT NEW HAVEN

Judge Joel Henry Reed of Stafford Springs, retired judge of the superior court and at present state referee, well known in this city, was married in New Haven at noon Tuesday to Mrs. Grace M. Perrin, for 15 years superintendent of the Florence Crittenden Mission home. She resigned from that position Saturday. The marriage took place at the home of Mrs. Perrin's nephew, Harry W. Dewey of 77 Derby avenue, and the Rev. John H. Bell, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal churches in Connecticut, performed the ceremony.

Judge Reed is in his 75th year. He was born at Eastford, in Windham county, on January 10, 1850, and came from colonial stock. He attended the grade and high schools of Eastford and then studied law at Monson Academy, Monson, Mass. He was graduated in 1871.

He entered a law office in Rockville, where he remained three years. Meanwhile, in 1872, he married Lydia E. Willis. They had three children. The first Mrs. Reed died some time ago.

Judge Reed was appointed to the superior court bench in 1904 and was retired four years ago on reaching the age limit of 70 years.

O'CONNELL AND DOLAN DROPPED FROM GIANTS FOR TRYING TO BRIBE PLAYERS

O'Connell Offered Sand of Phillies $500 to Throw the Game on Sept. 27—Sand Reported to Fletcher and Investigation Was Started—O'Connell Makes Confession.

New York, Oct. 1 (By the A. P.)—Commissioner K. M. Landis announced tonight that Jimmy O'Connell and Coach Cozy Dolan of the New York National league baseball club had been declared ineligible after charges of bribery against them had been investigated.

The suspension was based upon a confession made by O'Connell and evidence furnished by Dolan and followed information furnished by Heinie Sand of the Philadelphia National league club. Sand stated that on Sept. 27 O'Connell had offered him $500 to throw the game between the Giants and the Phillies played in New York on that day.

Sand refused the offer and immediately gave his information to Manager Fletcher of the Phillies, who brought it to the attention of Commissioner Landis. The investigation, in which President Heydler of the National league and officials of the New York club also took part, followed.

The investigation, Commissioner Landis said, tended to trace the instigation of the scheme to Dolan, whose testimony was of a nature to indicate that conclusion.

O'Connell's confession also mentioned Captain Frank Frisch, Ross Young and George Kelly of the Giants, but Commissioner Landis stated that the testimony of these men had convinced the investigating committee that they had no part in the scheme. O'Connell, a substitute outfielder, will be the only Giant player not eligible for the world's series as Dolan is a coach.

O'Connell, known as "the $75,000 beauty," played a prominent part in New York's first victory over Pittsburgh in their important series last week by hitting a home run which scored what proved to be the winning run.

New York won the game in question from Philadelphia by a score of 4 to 1. The victory clinched the pennant for New York. Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, scored the only run for his team, which secured but four hits off Beatley. He also had two putouts and one assist but no errors. O'Connell played center field for New York and made a two base hit.

Commissioner Landis' statement follows:

"Players O'Connell and Coach Dolan of the New York National league baseball club have today been placed on the ineligible list. This action was taken by the commissioner on evidence furnished by the confession of O'Connell and the testimony of Dolan.

"It appeared that on Saturday Sept. 27, O'Connell offered Heinie Sand of the Philadelphia Nationals $500 to throw the ball game, which Sand refused and promptly reported to Manager Fletcher. This was followed by the commissioner's investigation in cooperation with the officials of the New York club, which resulted in O'Connell's confession, which placed the responsibility of instigating the scheme on Dolan, whose testimony in his own behalf was of such a character as to be unacceptable.

"O'Connell's confession sought to implicate Players Frisch, Young and Kelly of the New York club, but their testimony in the commissioner's opinion, as a clear refutation of the charge which standing alone, was exceedingly unreasonable.

"The commissioner desires to express his heartiest commendation of the action of Player Sand."

BULKELEY TEAM PREPARING FOR GAME WITH ANSONIA

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 1.—The process of rebuilding the Bulkeley football machine to the standard that it attained since its opening game against Rhode Island State College freshmen at South Kingston last Saturday has been with unusually good progress. The same positions which affect one wing position and a left halfback position have been filled temporarily at least if not permanently. Captain George Sheffet returned to the lineup this afternoon and took part in the hard scrimmage that will be on the daily program until the end of the week.

While Captain George Sheffott was taking big place at the regular halfback berth, Collins, who was given his first trial test last Saturday under fire against the college freshmen, was shifted to the vacant position which was caused by the suspension of Rice from school. With Barry at fullback and Henkle at quarterback, the Bulkeley backfield was complete for the afternoon, and it may start in this combination against Ansonia High on Saturday. Coach Canty shifted Davis from tackle on the second team to end on the first team, filling this position which was made vacant by the injury to Latham, the regular end, received in practice on Monday. It is most likely that these changes will be the only ones to be made before the game with Ansonia on Saturday takes place.

The X-ray picture taken of Latham's injury shows a small bone broken, and his ankle in in plaster cast. His services to the team will be lost indefinitely, while Rice, who was suspended for a minor infraction of the rules, namely the skipping of a single period, cannot be reinstated until five days after the date of the suspension. But, this could be ascertained today, he will not be allowed to play in a game until the coach of the Orange and Black eleven sees fit to reinstate him for football competition. This will not be for another week at least, according to Coach Canty, who is thoroughly disgusted with the way Rice has behaved himself. Then Rice's suspension will not be lifted until after the game with Springfield Technical High school, if at all this year.

Several new plays were used in practice today, and with Sheflott in the lineup the team as a unit did well. One play which failed to produce at the opening game was discarded, and while two new plays have been added, a new play a day will be given the first team to practice against the scrubs until the Ansonia game. Sheflott from present indications seems to have lost none of his playing ability and reported in exceptionally good condition to Coach Canty this afternoon. It is the intention of the Bulkeley mentor to start Sheflott at right halfback and to shift Collins to left halfback. This change is expected to bring about the best results.

NEW LONDON BOWLING TEAMS GOING STRONG

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 1.—The local entries in the Eastern Connecticut Bowling league expect to travel toward the top by adding victories to their belts on Thursday night. The Peerless travel to enemy alleys, the Palace, at Norwich, will be their opponent, while the Lawrence five, which took to the road on Monday and returned back to the whaling port with two victories out of a possible three, will entertain the Willimantic bowlers. The Lawrence five with the addition of Bosworth to their five-man team, are expecting to work their way to the top gradually.

The Peerless five is pressing Moosup closely for honors at the top of the league. However, Moosup seems to hit the pins with more regularity than the local quintet, but in a short time, as soon as the local bowlers get more accustomed to the falling timbers, they will be a hard bunch to beat. Every bowler on this team has bowled together before in five-man teams and each know the capabilities of the other to come through. The match with Moosup, outside of the match with the Lawrence five, also of this city, will be the two matches that will be most sought by the local Peerless team. The match with the Lawrence and Peerless fives, both with local talent in the lineups, will be the big match in this city. There will be some real fireworks in order when these teams meet

GIANTS LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON TODAY

New York, Oct. 1.—No organized demonstrations has been planned to speed the Giants on to Washington when McGraw and his team, leave tomorrow, to represent the National league in the World series.

With the rumble of Washington in their ears, the Giants tuned up their emotions for entrance into the frenzy of the capital city, by racing the opposition of the entire population of Sing Sing prison today in a game played inside the walls with the Mutual Welfare league nine of the prison.

The Washington scene was reproduced in miniature. The band played, the population of the thriving little capital of convicts enjoyed a gala occasion and rooted fiercely for their team.

But the Giants won 11 to 4, and McGraw considered it a good omen.

GIBBONS CLAIMS HE WILL MEET DEMPSEY MARCH 17

Mitchell, S. D., Oct. 1.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, here today, predicted he would fight Dempsey on St. Patrick's day of next year.

"I have signed the agreement to meet the champion," Gibbons said, "and the contract requires only his signature. From all I learn from New York, Dempsey will have to sign for a return bout. It is my belief it will come next March, about St. Patrick's day."

WALKER KNOCKS OUT BARRETT IN THE SIXTH

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion of the world, successfully defended his welterweight title here tonight when he knocked out Bobby Barrett of Clifton Heights at the Philadelphia National League park in the sixth round of a scheduled ten round bout.

Promises Fans a Good Game.

Sporting Editor: I understand Colchester has engaged an Eastern League battery for the game with Yantic at Norwich Fair Grounds Sunday, October 5th, as they are out for that game. Yantic will use the same lineup that won from Colchester last Sunday, 14 to 2, as nearly as possible and Colchester will have to play ball if they get away with the big end of the score.

Everything will be in readiness for the big clash at 2.30 and all ball lovers will have a chance to see one of the best games of the season. We know Colchester will fight hard for the deciding game of the series but Yantic feels the same way about it, and Colchester will know they have been playing ball.

How It's Done in the Majors

By Frank Frisch
Captain New York Giants

Score 3 to 1 favor of team in the field. First batter up triples.

How should infield play?

In such a situation, the infield should play back. That prevents the batter from dropping a single over the infield or from hitting through it easily. If either happens, the runner on third scores. But by playing back, such balls are caught or fielded and the runner held at third, while the put out is made at first.

FAVORITES BEATEN IN FEATURE AT COLUMBUS

Columbus, O., Oct. 1 (By the A. P.).—Defeat of Baron Worthy and Colonel Bidwell, equal favorites in the Ohio State Journal $3,000 stake for 2.06 pacers, featured today's Grand Circuit program when racing was resumed after a postponement of two days because of rain.

Making his first start in two weeks, Baron Worthy was not a contender in the first mile, which was won by Prince Loree. In the second Baron Worthy led to the stretch, where he was nosed out by Colonel Bidwell, Baron Worthy again set the pace in the third mile, but Prince Loree had the most speed at the finish.

The other stake event, the Buckeye for 2.12 trotters, went to Tillie Brook.

After winning the first heat of the 2.15 trot, Sarah Thomas, the favorite, lost the next two to Peter Mills, although she was a contender in each heat.

The 2.17 pace proved a stubborn battle. Three Socks won the first heat and Henry Ford the second and third miles.

Racing was halted for half an hour at 4 o'clock when a memorial tablet was unveiled in memory of E. F. (Pop) Geers, who drove his first mile in less than two minutes on the local track. The veteran horseman, who was killed in a race at Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 3, drove Napoleon Direct in 1.59 3-4 here Aug. 16, 1916.

INTEREST IN WORLD'S SERIES CENTERS ABOUT THE VETERAN HURLER, JOHNSON

New York, Oct. 1.—(By The A. P.)—With Walter Johnson, veteran ace of Washington's sharp-shooting corps, as the outstanding figure, pitching may be the decisive factor in the 1924 world's series between the Senators and the New York Giants.

Until recent years, twirling was usually the most potent factor in the diamond title struggle, but with the advent of the lively ball, the Babe Ruthian home run era, baseball strategy shifted. Pitching, of course, continued to figure largely but it has been the speed and power of attack that decided the last three world's championship battles between the Giants and the Yankees.

John McGraw won the premier baseball crown in both 1921 and 1922 from the Yankees with the effectiveness of his offensive. His hurling staff both years was rated inferior to the "five-star" Yankee corps. Last year, it is true, the utter collapse of the Giant moundsmen hastened the Yankee victory but the mighty bats of the Hugmen were the most potent influence.

This year, however, with a less lively ball, pitching may come into its own again. The "big four" of the Washington staff, Johnson, Zachary, Mogridge and Marberry, put the club in front, although it was attacking power that kept it there in the final drive. Supporters of the Senators, figuring they have the edge on the Giants in the box, believe twirling will carry Washington's first pennant winner to the greatest heights in the game, but the Giant rooters are equally confident that Nehf, Bentley, McQuillan and Barnes will offer a potent rebuttal.

Whatever the merits of the rival twirling corps, however, interest will center in the achievements of Johnson, probably the only ball player of all time who rivals in popular esteem the former Giant marvel, Christy Mathewson. Johnson, a public idol not only because of his brilliant playing record over an 18-year old span but also because of his sterling qualities as a sportsman, will pitch the first game for the Senators.

Outside of the most rabid of Giant partisans, fans throughout the country will root for him in unison that day. Even the tense rival struggle for team honors will be lost in the all-vital question of what Johnson will do upon reaching the goal of his great career.

The Senator's chief hopes, too, will center around the big westener, whose speed ball has fanned more batters than any other pitcher in the game's history. If Johnson, after one of the most successful seasons he has ever had, can carry his old stamina and form into the series, Washington's chances will be in the ascendency. Johnson, in his prime, has twirled and won three games on successive playing days. He performed that feat feat against New York in 1908. His arm could not stand such a strain now but if he is able to bear the brunt of the Senators' mound work, the Giants will find a difficult barrier to break down.

Johnson's major league record over 18 seasons is studded with marvelous achievements. He holds by a wide margin the world's strike-out record. With the completion of this season, he has passed the 3,200 mark, and is practically 1,000 ahead of his nearest rival, Mathewson. He led the American League marksmen in this respect this year for the twelfth time. Old-time baseball players say that when Johnson was in his prime, his "smoke ball" was virtually unhittable.

The "Kansas Cyclone" has won 359 games, only 13 less than Mathewson, who leads the National League. With a tailend club most of the time, Johnson's winning record is all the more remarkable. In 1913, his greatest year, he worked in 51 games, winning 36 and losing seven, putting his club almost single-handed into second place. He won 16 consecutive games in 1912, an American League record which he shares with Joe Wood. He also is the shut-out king of all times by a wide margin, having run his record up to 107 this year. In 1913, he was not scored on in 56 consecutive innings.

Only "Cy" Young has topped Johnson's record of service. "Cy" was in the majors 22 seasons, 12 in the national and 10 in the American, but Sir Walter holds the record for length of service in any one league, having spent all of his 18 seasons with Washington. Mathewson was 17 years in the National.

Johnson was born in Humbolt, Kas., and will be thirty-seven next November 6, two days before his young manager, Stanley Harris, will reach his twenty-eighth birthday.

Johnson, who stands six feet one and weighs 195, was with the Tacoma, Wash., club for one season. The following year, 1907, he started with the Weiser, Idaho, club, but joined the Senators before the close of the season.

SENATORS GIVEN ROYAL WELCOME ON THEIR RETURN

Washington, Oct. 1.—The wheels of government stopped today for the coronation ceremonies of King Baseball, ausurper, who after 28 years of exile rode into the national capital at the head of a wildly heralded cabinet, the Washington Senators, pennant winners of the American league.

High ups in government life turned out to join with street urchins in shouting a hearty welcome to the city's baseball heroes who were escorted in a colorful welcome home procession up Pennsylvania avenue from the peace monument to the eclipse south of the White House where President Coolidge extended an official greeting to the players.

The president in presenting Manager Stanley Harris with a loving cup from the citizens of the District, assured him that his team had won "the affection of the 'home town' constituency."

"As the head of an enterprise which transacts some business in this town," Mr. Coolidge said, "I have the double satisfaction in welcoming home the victorious ball team."

Smiling as he spoke the president said that "when the entire population reached the point of requiring the game to be described play by play, I began to doubt whether the highest efficiency was being promoted. I contemplated action of a vigorous disciplinary character, but the outcome makes it impossible."

"We are a somewhat demoralized community," he added, "but exceedingly happy over it."

The country owes a debt of gratitude, the president said, "to those who devote themselves to this enterprise in a professional way and by throwing their whole being into it raise it to the level of any art."

"The training," he continued, "the energy, the intelligence which these men lavish upon their profession ought to be an inspiration for a like effort in every walk of life. They are a great band, these armored knights of the bat and ball. They are held up to a high standard of honor on the field, which they have seldom betrayed. While baseball remains our national game our national tastes will be on a high level and our national ideal on a firm foundation.

"It may be that at some time in the past a baseball pennant has gone to as widely popular a winner as your team is today. If so, it was in some years when I was not watching a score by innings. Aside from two or three groups of earnest young men who were willing to accept the championship, the whole country seems agreed that precisely the right thing has happened. That is a real compliment to the fine spirit, the clean play the good sportsmanship that brought your victory. These have always been characteristics of the work of the Washington team."

The president by leaving his desk to take part in the ceremonies set the fashion for the day, for all Washington apparently swarmed to the avenue. It was about the first time in history that the capital city ever staged its own parade for its own heroes, and Washington made the most of it.

The whooping, hurraying fans, instead of remaining along sidewalks rushed into Pennsylvania avenue and formed such a narrow passage way that for a time it looked as if the automobiles carrying the players would never reach the Eclipse to receive the president's greeting.

Police could do but little with the crowds—they were too busy cheering themselves. Traffic became congested about half an hour before the parade left the peace monument. Traffice officers didn't worry about helping motorists move along, and from the treasury to the capitol, machines in some places four abreast remained in traffic jam while the marchers passed by.

The festivities of the day were closed tonight with an informal banquet to the players.

Before the ceremonies of the afternoon, the team took a snappy workout behind the closed gates of Griffith stadium, while thousands of fans milled about on the outside trying to obtain seats for the opening game of the World's series with the New York Giants here Saturday. Ten thousand persons, it was estimated, were fighting for places in ticket lines when the booths were opened in the morning.

The players, returning to the city this morning from Boston, were greeted at the station by a large crowd of fans who could not wait until the afternoon ceremonies to express their enthusiasm.

"LITTLE WORLD'S SERIES" STAR TODAY AT BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 1.—The "Little World Series" opens here tomorrow, with the Baltimore Orioles, six-time champions of the International league, pitted against the St Paul Saints, honor men in the American Association.

The series will be decided on the basis of five games out of nine. Four games will be played here and Sunday night the clubs will leave for St. Paul to resume play next Tuesday.

St. Paul comes here with something more than ordinary zest for victory, having bowed to the Birds in 1920 and 1922. Winning in a gruelling stretch drive in their own circuit, it is argued by some that they will be in better trim for this series than the Baltimoreans, who won their flag easily and merely drifted along during the whole last half of the International league campaign.

EPINARD WILL RACE AT LATONIA ON OCT 11

New York, Oct. 1.—Epinard, French crack, and his conqueror in the second international special, Ladkin, were shipped today to Latonia where it is likely they will compete in the third classic October 11 with the largest field that has started in any of the international tests.

According to reports today, at least ten thoroughbreds may go to the post in the $50,000 race at a mile and a quarter in which Epinard will seek victory after losing by close margins in two previous trials.

Wise Counsellor, winner of the first special, again will match strides with Epinard, but the Wertheimer colt probably also will face Black Gold the Kentucky Derby winner; My Play, Princess Doreen, Chilhowee, Spot Cash, Little Chief and Transmute.

YALE VARSITY SCORES TWICE AGAINST SCRUBBS

New Haven, Oct. 1.—The Yale varsity had a half hour of scrimmage this afternoon against the strong scrub team. Stewart was tried out at right guard, a position left open in the line by graduation. Coene and Wortham have already been tried for the place but this is the first time Stewart has been given a varsity tryout. Captain Lovejoy, who has not yet recovered from a cold, played but a few minutes and was replaced by Burt. Before the scrimmage was over Cutler went in in place of Cottle, Bunnel for Wienecke and Osborne for Luman. The varsity scored two touchdowns, one by Cottle and another by Cutler.

ENGINEERS LEAD IN NATIONAL RIFLE MEET

Camp Perry, Ohio, Oct. 1.—Scoring 1,858 over the first four stage, the United States Engineers led tonight in the race for the national rifle team honors. The final stage will be fired on the 3,000 yard range tomorrow.

The six United States service teams entered held the high positions. The marine corps was second with 1,846, followed by the infantry with 1,840, coast artillery with 1,830, cavalry 1,824, and navy 1,820.

ZEV BEATEN IN RACE AT JAMAICA TRACK

New York, Oct. 1.—Big Blace, Glen Riddle Farm entry, in the $3500 Interborough handicap at a mile and a sixteenth at Jamaica today, the feature event of the opening day's program, Zev, outstanding favorite in the race, was beaten by a length in a driving finish, with Stanwix, his stablemate, third. The time was 1.44 4-5.

Three Dodgers Sign 1925 Contracts.

New York, Oct. 1.—Edward W. Brown, Bernie Neis and Zack Wheat, Brooklyn outfielders, have signed their 1925 contracts, according to an announcement made today by Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn baseball club.

Dempsey to Enter Vaudeville

New York, Oct. 1.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, today signed a contract to tour the Loew vaudeville circuit for a period beginning October 20.

Hanson Breaks Ankle.

New Haven, Oct. 1.—Henry Lloyd Hanson of Worcester, Mass., a backfield man on the second Yale freshman eleven, broke his ankle in a practice game today. Hanson was carrying the ball in an end run at the time of the accident.

BERLENBACH GETS VERDICT OVER JOHNNY GILL

Jersey City, Oct. 1.—Paul Berlenbach of New York gained a newspaper decision over Johnny Gill, York, Pa., light heavyweight, in their ten-round bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres tonight. Although the knockout king floored Gill twice in the fifth and four times in the tenth round, he failed to bring over the sleep-producing blow, and the York fighter stayed the limit.

Despite the frigid atmosphere, 20,000 fans attended the exhibition, including Jack Dempsey, world heavyweight champion, who was introduced from the ring.

The weights were announced as Berlenbach 174, Gill 162.

K. O. Phil Kaplan of New York, in the opinion of a majority of the newspapermen, gained a shade over Jack Britton, former world's welterweight champion, in a tame ten-round match. The former titleholder, only a shell of himself in the days of his prime, was forced to hold frequently to avoid Kaplan's damaging jabs and hooks.

Billy Kennedy of New Orleans was given a verdict over Petie Mack of Jersey City.

Nurmi Breaks Another Record.

Viborg, Finland, Oct. 1.—Paavo Nurmi, the Olympic champion distance runner, today in a relay race made what is claimed to be a new world record for five miles. His time was 24 minutes 6 1-10 seconds.

Cricketers Have Fine Record.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Starting the last game of their tour, the incognito cricketers of London today had scored 179 runs for the loss of but five wickets against the Germantown Cricket club when stumps were drawn.

SPORTING NOTES.

The first baseball factory in America began business in 1858.

Inter-city matches between women's hockey teams are popular in Australia.

This year marks the silver anniversary of the Western Golf Association, which was organized at Chicago in 1899.

In the north of Scotland the long twilight enables golf players to indulge in their favorite pastime up to 11 o'clock at night.

One or more changes in the circuit of the Eastern baseball league are regarded as likely before the opening of the 1925 season.

A manufacturer in Chicago has constructed a miniature golf course adjoining his factory for the entertainment of his customers from out of town.

The Philadelphia baseball teams may not win pennants, but they have a way of putting other teams out of the running when everything looks bright for those clubs.

Baseball won its first great popularity nationally in the year 1865 and 1866, when the game was spread throughout the United States by the soldiers returning from the Civil war.

In England first-class racing pigeons are very valuable. At a recent sale for example, 104 pigeons realized in all more than $18,000. One particular bird alone was sold for $1,125.

The owners of the Williamsport club, which this year won its second consecutive New York-Pennsylvania league pennant, plan to have their own ball park before the opening of next season.

When the Brown University football team meets the University of Chicago on Stagg Field on October 11 it will be the first time that a Brown eleven has played in the west in nearly ten years.

Orville Wright, one of the inventors of the aeroplane, is to serve as chairman of the timers' committee at the International Air Races, which will be held at Dayton, O., the first week of October.

NORWICH AND DANIELSON MEN SECURE PATENTS

List of patents issued by the United States patent office to citizens of Connecticut, as contained in the Official Gazette, dated Tuesday, September 16, is as follows:

Gustav O. Degner, Hartford, typewriting machine.

Frank W. Dodge, New Haven, valve.

Frank W. Dodge, New Haven, rubber glove.

Louis W. Gates, New Haven, door handle.

John H. Goss, Waterbury, fuse for projectiles.

Karl W. Halliden, Waterbury, chassis connector for air springs.

Walter L. Ingham, Newington, lathe-tool mechanism.

Ivar Lundgaard, Hartford, refrigerating machine.

Stephen J. Miller, Danbury, hatbrim curling apparaus.

Edward Neiderman, Norwich, and M. J. Krinsky, New York city, electric box.

George D. Pappajion, Danielson, developing film hanger.

John W. Patterson, New Haven, ball.

Wilson E. Porter, New Haven, timing mechanism (three patents).

Alva T. Smith, Winsted, guard for electric heaters.

John W. Swan, Stamford, carburetor.

Ray B. Whitman, Bridgeport, turntable for phonographs.

Maurice J. O'Neill, Stamford, key retainers.

CONNECTICUT SHOULD HAVE 160,000 MORE VOTERS

According to the census of 1920, 166,000 people in Connecticut were not qualified to vote on election day because their names did not appear upon the voting list as qualified electors. No exact figures are available for the election of two years ago, but it may be presumed that this number was augmented considerably due to the increase in population in the state. It is safe to assume that the total would now be approximately 160,000. This figure, prepared by a Washington statistician, includes only those people eligible to become voters and does not include unnaturalized persons, illiterates, etc., who for one reason or another are disqualified from voting.

When it is considered that the total number of registered voters in Connecticut is about 440,000, the statement that 160,000 people in Connecticut should be voters, who are not voters at present, is startling and affords a convincing argument to the political organizations in Connecticut which are each year working to add names to the "to be made" lists in the various towns.

Considerable is being written concerning the "stay-at-home" vote in the last presidential election and in this connection a check of the vote in Connecticut two years ago makes an interesting study. Connecticut cast more of its total vote figured on a percentage basis than most other states. About 74 1-2 per cent of the total rgeistered vote of Connecticut was cast on November 7, 1922.

Windham county showed the best record, the average there being 79 5-6 per cent of the total number of names on the list checked off as having voted.

New Haven and Middlesex county followed with 79 per cent. Fairfield county was at the bottom of the list with 68 1-2 per cent. Hartford county showed 72 4-5 per cent, New London 73 1-3, Litchfield 77 3-4 and Tolland 78 2-3.

New Haven county had the largest number of names on the registry list totaling 133,744. Tolland had the smallest number totaling 9,145.

According to the records in the Secretary of State's office, there was one town which voted 100 per cent of its names on the registry list. This town of Brookfield in Fairfield county, which had 342 names on the voting list and cast 342 votes. The next town in the list which came very close to its entire list was Marlborough, in Hartford county with a registry list of 135 and with the total number voting being 128.

NEW LONDON TRAFFIC COP INJURED WHEN PRISONER TRIES TO ESCAPE

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Oct. 1.—Traffic Officer Clyde Murphy was painfully injured this afternoon when crushed between the police automobile and an automobile truck and while with other officers in charge of a quartette of prisoners, who had been taken into custody but a few minutes before the accident. Murphy sustained severe lacerations of the leg, which required seven stitches to close, besides bad bruises. Shortly after 1.30 o'clock a telephone message was received at the police station stating that four men were fighting near the corner of Green and Golden streets. The police speed car, with Patrolmen Edward Daniels at the wheel and with Officers Murphy and George Laboue in it, was hastened to the site of the battle. Arriving at the corner of Green and Golden street the combatants were found and placed under arrest. After the fighters had been loaded in the car the trip was started for the police station, with Patrolmen Laboue and Murphy on either running board. As the auto passed through Green street, Patrick Harrington, one of the prisoners started to hurl a bottle of alcohol from the car and as Murphy seized the prisoner's arm, the latter jolted against the back of Daniels, causing the steering wheel to be turned and causing the course of the automobile to be diverted. The car collided with a heavily laden truck, in charge of Morris Adelman, 6 Vernon street, New Haven, which was parked at the curb. Murphy was jammed beneath the rear of the truck and the police car and it required the combined efforts of the other officers to free Murphy. The injured officer was taken to the office of City Physician Cheney where his wounds were treated, after which he was taken to his home on Alger street. Harrington and Edward Neff, another prisoner, were locked up, charged with breach of the peace, but the other prisoners made their escape while Murphy was being given assistance. Harrington was a prisoner on a drunkeness charge in the police court this forenoon, but was allowed his liberty.

..Mrs. Joseph Marinedi of Westerly and Mrs. Eugene Villarett, wife of Major Villarett, U. S. A., stationed at Fort Wright and infant son, were patients dischared today at Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital.

Traffic Officer Frank Linehan and Patrolman John Clifford have resumed duty after having their vacation of two weeks.

Silas Maxson, Jr., has sold a house and lot on Henry street to Anna and Richard H. Forsythe.

Harry Minson, a youth, who has been arrested many times and for varied offenses, was again taken into custody this afternoon by Patrolmen Edward Daniels and George Laboue. He is being detained at the police station pending it being determined whether he is a drug addict for his actions, particularly those of today, indicate that he is a victim of narcotics.

Minson entered the Liberty restaurant this afternoon and carried in his hand a pound can of ether. He finally made it known to an employe of the place that he intended to drink a portion of the contents of the can. Believing that Minson might carry out his threat and become a suicide in the place, a telephone message was sent to the police station, asking that Minson be taken from the restaurant. Patrolmen Daniels and Laboue found Minson in a bewildered state, and with the can of ether in his hand. Minson was placed under arrest and the poison was taken from him.

..Peter Bainer was arrested late this afternoon when he endeavored to navigate through State street. He was taken into custody by Traffic Officer Frank Linehan and Patrolman Patrick Sheehan. When arrested Bainer had a half pint and a-12 ounce bottle of denatured alcohol which he had purchased from a hardware store and an empty 12 ounce bottle that had contained the same alcoholic liquid. Bainer had diluted the poisoned liquid and drank the concoction as a stimulant.

Supernumerary Patrolman Edward Riordan has been assigned to police duty by Captain Pinney because of a temporary vacancy existing by the injury to Traffic Officer Clyde Murphy, which may incapacitate the officer indefinitely.

John W. Swezey, dog warden here, and Miss Amanda Viola Hubert, Montville, were married here this afternoon, at the parsonage of the First Church of Christ, by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth.

Henry P. Bullard has returned having spent two weeks in Hartford.

Towle L. Barnett, Crouch street, has concluded a brief visit in Paterson, N. J.

Mrs. Katie Dahl, 56, wife of Axel Dahl, died late this afternoon at her residence, 56 Eighth street. Mrs. Dahl had been ill a long time. Besides her husband she is survived by seven children.

Mrs. Jennie Anna Alling, wife of Charles R. Alling of Thames View, Waterford, died late this afternoon at the private hospital here, following an operation which Mrs. Alling underwent a day or two ago. Mrs. Alling formerly resided in New London, but moved to Waterford about five years ago.

Congetta Christina of Westerly, Mrs. Joseph Bartlett and infant son, Groton, James Kenney, Converse place; Annie Larella, Westerly, and Mrs. Carrie King, Bridgeport, were patients discharged at Home Memorial hospital today.

Augustus Ray and William Babcock who have been performing motorcycle duty several months, were relieved of that form of duty today by Captain Charles A. Pinney and were assigned to patrol duty.

Viggo E. Bird, general managed of the Connecticut Power company together with Mrs. Bird and children, returned to their home last night, after having toured the European continent several weeks.

City Manager William A. Holt announced today that Patrolman Charles P. Hammond, suspended Sunday by Captain Charles A. Pinney as a result of the patrolman reporting for duty the night before while under the influence of liquor, will be given a hearing at the office of the city manager, municipal building next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The committee, besides City Manager Holt, consists of Mayor Malcolm M. Scott, Judge Victor Prince and Deputy Judge Lewis Crandall. It is understood that witnesses against Hammond will be Lieut. Benjamin Beebe and Sergeants Samuel Hick and Frank Howard, who were on duty at the police station when Hammond appeared for duty. It is also understood that if Hammond is proven guilty of the charges he will be dismissed from the force.

A Ford coupe, owned by the Lyme Electric Power company, and driven by John S. Morgan, Old Lyme, and a Buick truck owned and driven by Joseph S. Wargo, East Lyme, were in collision this afternoon, corner of Pennsylvania aveue and Main street, East Lyme, the Ford car being extensively damaged. Clifford Rogers a passenger in the Ford car, sustained a lacerated hand by flying glass from the shattered windshield. The collision resulted from the slipper condition of the highway.

Master Robert Hayes, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruterford H. Hayes, 133 Montauk avenue, was struck by an automobile, owned by George J. Findley, 815 Bank street, and operated by Mrs. Isabel Dickinson, 815 Montauk avenue late this afternoon on Montauk avenue near St. Joseph's church. The youngster sustained an injury to his right ankle and is now a patient at Lawrence hospital, where an X-ray picture will be taken tomorrow to determine whether the bone has been fractured. The child was crossing the highway and did not see the approaching automobile.

Lloyd Hilton, fireman employed on the towboat F. H. Chappell, is in jail today to stay until the superior court meets in January, when he will be tried for cutting Luther Mosier, a sailor on a submarine stationed at the naval base in this harbor. The two men became involved in a quarrel Monday evening over the acquaintance of a young woman, Frieda Knutson, residing at 692 Main street. Mosier had an appointment with her and she was on the way to meet him when Hilton, residing in the section in which Miss Knutson has her home and who felt that he was acquainted with her, came along. He spoke and Miss Knutson acknowledged the acquaintance. Then Hilton became more familiar and stopped to talk with her. Mosier appeared and seeing the pair in conversation asked if Miss Knutson desired his acquaintance. She said she merely knew who he was, and Mosier asked him to move along. This led to words and then to a fight, as the towboat man pulled a knife and cut Mosier on the wrist. He was arrested. In court today to the astonishment of everyone Hilton pleaded guilty to a charge of felonious assault. He was bound over and his bail was fixed at $5,000. This he could not furnish. That he could have had a defense that would have brought the case within the jurisdictions of the court was supposed by all who were in court, but Hilton seems to have been advised by some one to plead guilty, and that he did. Now he must wait till the first Tuesday in January for a trial. Unless he can get a bond he will be obliged to remain in jail until that time.

James Digwity, represented to be a Harvard graduate, was operating an automobile last night in the rain when he was met by Officers Hill and Martin. Digwity was taking up so much of the roadway that it was obvious he was drunk. So he was arrested, and in the police court this forenoon he was fined $190. His license to operate a car was taken from him and as he had no money to pay his fine and costs he was committed to jail. He secured his liberty this afternoon by paying his bill of expense at the county jail. Digwity might have avoided arrest had he taken the advice of friends and allowed them to drive the car to his home, but he was not disposed that way. His attorney represented in court that Digwity was taking whiskey on prescription of a physician which plea was so manifestly not a probable one that he was fined.

John Gorry made the mistake of doing a favor for men who did not know him and who had no interest in him except to use him, when he drove them from Eastern Point to this city in an auto. They asked Gorry, who is a colored man employed about the place where the men were at work, if he was qualified to operate a car. He declared that he was, so he drove them to this city. His driving was not such as to convince Officer Courtney that he was a capable operator and the officer asked to see the license of the driver. Gorry didn't have such a paper to show so he was locked up. He was fined $10 and his employer paid the bill, telling Gorry that he would not drive another car while he was in the present employer's service. Gorry declares he holds a Virginia license though he was unable to show that paper either. His home is at Ormond, Fla.

Patrick McMahon, a stroller in town from Lowell, where he was a participant in a strike, rolled in to town yesterday and was drunk early in the afternoon. He escaped arrest till last night when he was at the railway station in a row with three sailors who were loaded. All of the bunch landed in the police station and this morning they were arraigned in the police court. The sailors had overstayed their leave so there was a dose of discipline coming to them when they reported at the fort. McMahon told a foolish story about having seen a sign in a restaurant window that sought a dishwasher and he applied for the job which he obtained with instructions to report this morning. That story won the sympathy of the court and judgment was suspended for 24 hours. McMahon was drunk again this afternoon when he was found fighting on Golden street. Now he will be in the court Thursday on a serious offense of breach of the peace.

The strike at the Bloom silk mill goes on with a curtailment of work. There is an organizer in town making an endeavor to get the strikers to come to some understanding with their employer, but as yet no sign is made that such a movement has met with any degree of success. The silk business is declared by the mill management to have experienced a setback during the past fortnight and a concession in the way of more wages is declared to be out of all question.

The laying of sidewalks on lower Bank street has progressed to a point some 500 feet below Division street.

General George Haven, who has been ill for a fortnight, seems now to be progressing towards improvement that will permit of his going out again. He is 82 years old and was elected a selectman at the election a fortnight ago. He expects to meet with the board for organization next Monday.

VERDICT SUSTAINED IN SACCO AND VANZETTI CASE

Dedham, Mass., Oct. 1.—The long battle to bring about a new trial for Nocola Sacco and Bartholomoe Vanzetti, convicted more than three years ago of the murder of a paymaster and his guard in South Braintree, resulted today in defeat for defense counsel when Judge Webster Thayer in Norfolk superior court dismissed five motions to set aside the verdict of the trial jury. Fred H. Moore, chief counsel of the group associated in the defense, intimated later that the supreme judicial court of the state would be asked to review Judge Thayer's finding.

Motions seeking a new trial for Sacco and Vanzetti have been before the court at intervals since 1921, and radical demonstrations in various parts of the world in favor of the convicted men have made more their case assume international interest.

One of the motions was based on the allegation that Walter H. Ripley, foreman of the jury, had in his pocket while sitting in the case three cartridges which had been introduced as exhibits. This motion was denied, the judge said, on his finding of facts. The second motion, supported by affidavits made by trial witnesses—Roy C. Gould, Mrs. Lola Andrews and others—which urged that new evidence had been discovered, also was dismissed The judge in his finding said:

"To set aside the verdict of the jury on these affidavits, so weak, unsatisfactory and unconvincing as they are would result in scarificing not only the rights of the people of the commonwealth, but the rights of the jurors themselves, and such an act on my part could not be said to be controlled by the sound rules of the law, nor could it be governed by reason, logic conscience or sound judgment."

OPPOSING PARDON OF SLAYERS OF HER HUSBAND

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Mrs. Mary Souders widow of Policeman Ralph Souders for whose murder Bernard Grant and Walter Krauser have been sentenced to hang, has written Governor Small a letter requesting that the least punishment allowed them should be 99 years in prison. She is opposing all attempts to obtain a full pardon for them, although not insisting that the death penalty be exacted.

Mrs. Souders declared in the letter she would take her two children to see the governor, and charged that Grant struck her husband and that Krauser then shot him. Grant's attorney claims him innocent, but Krauser's attorney has declared that Krauser's statement repudiating another in which he said Grant was innocent, was obtained from Krauser by other prisoners in jail.

PREDICTS ELECTION OF REPUBLICAN CONGRESS

Washington, Oct. 1.—A republican congress will be elected this fall, along with the republican national ticket Representative Wood of Indiana chairman of the republican congressional committee, today predicted to President Coolidge.

Mr. Wood has just completed a survey of the states east of the Mississippi, and he declared the party would gain sufficient new seats to offset the balance of power held last session by the "LaFollette group of about twenty members."

The president also discussed agriculture conditions with Representative Williams of Michigan and the functions and membership of the agriculture commission he has proposed to appoint to investigate farming conditions.

New Treatment For Varicose or Swollen Veins

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength), at any druggist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal. It is guaranteed.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that enlarged glands, wens and even goitre disappear when used steadily.

Feel Lame, Achy— All Worn Out?

DO autumn mornings find you lame, stiff and achy—just miserable with a bad back—tortured by knife-like pains at almost every step? Are you weak, nervous and dispirited; hardly able to keep going? Then look to your kidneys! The kidneys, you know, are constantly filtering poisons from the blood. But once your kidneys slow up in removing impurities, body poisons accumulate and upset the whole system. Then you suffer backache, sudden stabs of pain, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities. You feel tired out, irritable and old beyond your years. Don't wait! Delay may prove serious. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Norwich Folks Found Relief:

G. E. DISQUE, 50 Hedge Ave., says: "I have had backaches and other symptoms of disordered kidneys. Being on my feet all day as I have to be, weakens my back, and when night comes my back feels tired. I had often read in the papers of Doan's Pills helping many people and this led me to use them. They have always cured these attacks, and I am seldom without them in my home."

MRS. E. H. CHAPMAN, 12 Stanton St., says: "A few years ago I was feeling miserable with my back. Every move I made felt as though a knife were cutting into my back. When I would move quickly I felt dizzy. Doan's gave me relief in a few days. I finally got such great relief that I haven't had to use them only once in awhile since and they have always given the same good benefits."

GEO. CONRAD, Meterman, 211 Palmer St., says: "Some mornings when I first wake up, my back is lame and sore and I can hardly get out of bed. I have severe pains that feel as sharp as a needle cutting through my kidneys. I have dizzy spells, too. A friend advised me to try Doan's Pills. Doan's have always cured such attacks and I wouldn't be without them as they do their work quickly."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS IRREGULAR.

New York, Oct. 1.—Stock prices opened irregular, developed impressive strength around mid-day and then eased on profit taking, leaving closing quotations irregularly higher. Trading was on a somewhat larger volume, the day's sales exceeding 900,000 shares.

Publication of record breaking carloadings statistics and Chairman Gary's optimistic survey of steel trade conditions had a bullish effect on sentiment. A further extension of gasoline price cuts had a temporary depressing influence on the oil shares, but exceptionally good buying came into this group during the afternoon with the result that the Pan-American issues closed about two points higher and other independents recorded net gains ranging from small fractions to 1 1-2 points.

Buoyancy of American Can which jumped more than five points to 134, was one of the day's features, a reaction of one point, however, taking place at the close. United States Steel common closed 3-8 higher at 109 7-8 after having touched 109 3-8. Baldwin showed a net gain of nearly one point at 122 7-8.

Several outstanding strong spots again developed among the specialties, Railway Steel Spring soaring 7 points to 135, a new top, while net gains of 2 to 3 points were recorded by American Car and Foundry, Commercial Solvents "B," General Baking, Goodyear Tire and National Lead. New peak prices also were established by United States Cast Iron Pipe, common and preferred, United Drug, Associated Dry Goods, International Shoe and Savage Arms.

Public utilities contributed five of the 27 new 1924 highs established during the day. They were Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, which was run up to 155 3-4 and then reacted 2 5-8 from the top high; People's Gas which closed 5 points higher at 109 1-2; Laclede Gas, Public Service of New Jersey and North American.

Railroad shares were uniformly strong with the best buying in the roads which have been mentioned in merger rumors. Active buying of Lehigh Valley sent that stock up to 64 1-2 but it eased later to 63 1-4, where it was up 7-8 on the day. Missouri Pacific common and preferred touched new top prices although the net gains were fractional. Other strong spots in the rail group included Rock Island 7 per cent preferred, Central Railroad of New Jersey, Gulf Mobile and Northern Preferred, and "Soo" common, up one to two and one-half points. Standard Plate Glass rallied more than a point on the apparent completion of forced liquidation. Moderate strength also was shown by Allis Chalmers, the New York Dock issues, Chicago Yellow Cab, Continental Can, Famous Players, Mack Trucks and United States Distributing all up a point or more.

Call money held steady at 2 1-2 per cent. Time money displayed a somewhat easier tone but the volume of business was relatively small. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges continued to respond favorably to reports of progress in the negotiations for the German loan. Demand sterling ruled about 1 1-4 cents higher around $4.46 3-8 and Francs were steady around 5.30 cents.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Oct. 1.—Selling pressure was lifted from the bond market today as time funds turned easier, and prices scored moderate recovery. Renewed buying of semi-speculative railroad issues, influenced by the record-breaking car loadings reported for the third week in September and favorable dividend and merger developments, was the principal feature of trading.

In anticipation of the inauguration of dividends on the preferred stock of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway company, which was announced after the close of the market, Frisco income and adjustment bonds, selling ex-interest were unusually active. Other low-priced rail liens which scored substantial gains included Seaboard, St. Paul, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, "Katy" New Orleans, Texas and Mexico issues.

Conflicting price movements marked trading in the oreign list, with Swiss 5 1-2s of 1946 reaching a new 1924 high prices and oriental development 6s receding 1 1-4 points. Liberty bonds were irregular, with the treasury 4 1-4s yielding to profit-taking. Price changes in most public utility and industrial mortgages were insignificant.

Reports were current in investment circles that a $50,000,000 Pennsylvania railroad bond issue soon would be placed on the market. A portion of the proceeds, it was indicated, would be used to start construction of the new Philadelphia station. No details regarding the proposed offering were available from the road's bankers.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of $25,000,000 Chicago Rapid Transit twenty-year 6 1-2s at 94 1-2 to yield over seven per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Heavy selling to realize profits achieved during the recent big advance held down the wheat market today, despite new top record quotations on rye and notwithstanding further slashing of estimates of the world's exportable supply of wheat. The close in the wheat market was easy at the same as yesterday's finish to 33-8c. Lower. December 1.41 1-2 to 1.41 5-8 and May 1.46 7-8 to 1.47, with corn varying from 1-2c decline to 1c gain, oats 2c to 2 3-8c up, and provisions five cents off to 15-17c advance.

Although price declines in the wheat market brought about liberal fresh buying, the market showed an evident tendency to react whenever values bulged. Chiefly on the downturns export business developed and it was said 2,000,000 bushels of wheat and 1,000,000 bushels of rye were taken today for shipment to Europe.

Meanwhile a report from the United States Department of Agriculture was current which figured the world supply of wheat as 600,000,000 bushels to 685,000,000 bushels, as compared with the probable requirement of 610,000,000 bushels to 715,000,000 bushels, something of an offset was an official estimate here that the total domestic yield of wheat is 866,000,000 bushels against the government estimate of 834,000,000 bushels a month ago.

Unexpected buoyancy of the oats market helped to rally corn prices from weakness due to a return of summer-like weather. There were also estimates at hand that the merchantable supply of corn this season would be only 1,716,000,000 bushels, the smallest amount in years. The buoyancy of oats was associated with word that exporters had purchased 2,000,000 bushels of oats today. It was contended in some quarters that oats are the sole remaining cheap grain at present and are destined to be used on a large scale as a substitute for corn and milk feed.

Provisions were strengthened by an upturn in the price of hogs.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Oct. 1.—Stock prices pointed higher in today's curb market despite further extension of the gasoline price cutting war and a break of 16 points in Eureka Pipe, following a cut in the quarterly dividend from $2 to $1.

Pipe Line shares reacted in sympathy with Eureka but Standard Oil of Ohio jumped eight points and net gains of 11.59 1 1-2 points were recorded by Prairie Oil and Gas, Vacuum, Cities Service and Woodley.

National Tea soared eight points to 252 in anticipation of the declaration of a 150 per cent stock dividend and Gillette Safety Razor recovered 5 points of its recent 11 1-2 point drop. Radio shares were active and firm despite the inauguration of trading in Radio corporation issues on the "big board." Consolidated Gas of Baltimore (new stock) was again the outstanding public utility, touching a record high at 39 3-8. Trading in the mining issues were inconsiderably reduced volume with speculative interest again continued to the penny stocks.

HOW APPENDICITIS VERY OFTEN STARTS

Chronic stomach or bowel trouble often causes an inflammation which spreads to the appendix, causing appendicitis. Ordinary bowel inflammation can often be relieved with simple glycerine, buckthorn, etc., as mixed in Adlerika. Most medicines act only on lower bowel but Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes all poisons. Helps any case gas on stomach in TEN minutes. Folly to Suffer With Piles

Step into any drug store, get a 60-cent pkg. of Pyramid Pile Suppositories and stop the soreness, pain, itching and bleeding. Thousands declare it a wonder, many saved from operations. Entire families rely upon Pyramid and recommend them to their friends.

DUPLEX—a new name

—for a new type car you have never seen before!

A closed and open car combined—the advantages of both at an open car price!

STANDARD SIX DUPLEX-PHAETON
$1145
f. o. b. factories

No other car in its price-range has this combination of features:

New Duplex Body.
Real Balloon Tires.
Inclined valve engine.
Crankshaft and connecting rods machined on all surfaces for vibrationless balance.
Genuine chrome tanned Spanish leather.
All the usual equipment—plus a high grade clock, a dash gas gauge, automatic windshield wiper and lighting switch on steering wheel.
New Studebaker 4-Wheel Hydraulic Brakes—optional equipment. Automatic braking power.

ONE minute the DUPLEX is a comfortable, weather-tight closed car—deeply cushioned and richly appointed. In less than thirty seconds it becomes a delightful open car, with all the unhindered freedom every motorist likes and enjoys. Its double utility satisfied a most urgent need—it is as revolutionary as the self-starter and electric lights.

And the price is the same as that of the open car—with advantages in finish, fittings, room and comfort no open car could ever give!

Framed and shaped in steel, the upper part of the Duplex Body is built integrally with the lower part—it functions perfectly with the lower part—it is permanently beautiful.

But even without the "double-value" of the Duplex Body the new Standard Six would still be the same great Studebaker success. For its introduction marks the beginning of an era in the automobile industry when fine cars of real quality, plenty of room and comfort, impressive appearance, splendid power and performance may be had at a price the average buyer can afford to pay.

Surpassing mechanical superiority is obvious in every mile you drive it. Power, smoothness, silence you expect in any good six-cylinder car; but in this great car your expectations will be exceeded. You cannot anticipate such performance-perfection in any car even within hundreds of dollars of the new Studebaker Standard Six price.

The proof is easy to establish — drive it yourself, try it out on your favorite hill, test its speed on the straight-away. Sense what "ease of operation" really means in terms of effortless steering, velvety clutch action, easy gear shifting and instant brake application.

Experience what real comfort means in plenty of room, soft deep cushions; genuine balloon tires; long, supple springs.

The new Standard Six will tell you a story as it has never been told before by any other car at the Standard Six price.

Whether you are in the market now or next year—you should see this new Studebaker. It is a car that will revolutionize values in the automobile industry!

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

WINDHAM

Tuesday's storm was one of the worst in this section in several years. It amounted almost to a cloudburst between 5 and 6 p. m. A broken electric wire on Zion's Hill put the town in darkness for the rest of the night. Phones were out of commission and many limbs were broken from trees. Early in the evening a red lighted sky in the southeast gave indication of a fire in that direction while to the west was the light from the burning Dr. Mason hospital in Willimantic. The storm abated during the evening and at 10 o'clock stars were shining.

An interesting C. E. meeting Sunday evening was led by Miss Elizabeth Anderson with an attendance of about fifty. A dozen members of the Eastford society motored to town and were guests of the local society and were helpful in the service. One of the number, Carleton Tatem, formerly lived here and was president of the society seventeen years ago.

Mrs. C. R. Utley is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Utley in New London for a few days.

Mrs. F. F. Webb has gone to Providence to be with her sister, Mrs. Brown for two weeks.

Miss Marie Rizzo is visiting with friends in Hackensack.

Mrs. Herbert Robinson has returned from a visit with friends in New York, Norwood, N. J., and Riverhead, L. I.

The Woman's Guild of St. Paul's church held its monthly meeting in the parish house Thursday.

The winter time schedule at St. Paul's begins next Sunday with the church school at 2 p. m., and evening prayer and sermon at 3 p. m.

The first meeting this season of the Woman's Missionary society was held with Mrs. R. T. Bixby Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Pegrum, who was companion for the late Miss Mary Little for eleven years, left Thursday to live in Central Village with her sisters, the Misses Tracy. Mrs. Pegrum has been very helpful in church work and has many friends here.

Mrs. Mason Bates has returned from Madison, where she has been spending the summer.

An effort is being made to reorganize the dancing classes which were so much enjoyed last winter.

The first meeting this fall of the Parent-Teachers association is to be held Monday at 3.15 in the assembly hall in the grammar school.

CHESTNUT HILL

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Avery, of Vernon, spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Peckham.

Mrs. Nellie Eddy of Providence and Mrs. Laura Whaley of Wakefield, R. I., have been guests for the past week of their cousin, Mrs. Edward A. Stiles.

Mr. and Mrs. Le Grande Chappell and daughter Barbara of Waterford were entertained Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Dimon.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron C. Peckham of Manchester visited the former's parents here Tuesday.

Elmer and Frank Chappell of Waterford were visitors over night at the home of their uncle, Gurdon T. Chappell.

Deacon Addison Thompson is ill.

Edmund P. Johnson of Norwich spent the week-end with his sister in this place.

Richard Dimon is substituting on the R. F. D. route from the local office this week.

Messrs. Ames, Lyman and Morrison of Boston spent a part of last week at the club house.

Mrs. Phebe C. Irish of Lebanon was the guest of Mrs. Ella Peckham for a day recently.

Miss Beatrice Stiles spent the week end with friends in Willimantic.

On three mornings of last week the thermometer registered 30 degrees. In some places the frost was quite heavy.

OCTOBER MEETING OF EASTERN CONN. BRANCH

The October meeting of the Eastern Connecticut branch of the Woman's Board of Missions will be held at the Congregational church at Woodstock with sessions at 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. Mrs. Franklin Warner, president of the board and Miss Margaret Welles of India will be the speakers.

In your version of the story the other fellow makes a poor showing.

BRINGS $25,000 SUIT OVER SALE OF PLANT GAME PRESERVE

New cases for the superior court, returnable in October, were filed Wednesday at the office of the clerk, Judge George E. Parsons, as follows:

Claiming that agreements made have not been carried out regarding the sale of the so-called Plant Game Preserve of about 2,000 acres in East Lyme, Lyme and Old Lyme, John J. Gagnon of New London has brought suit for $30,000 damages against Frank Phillips, C. W. Tryon and E. J. Tryon, all of Willimantic. It is claimed that in April, 1924, the plaintiff and Henry R. Bond were the owners of the game preserve. At that time Phillips approached Gagnon to get Gagnon to induce Bond to sell the property to Phillips, for $37,000. An oral promise was made, it is claimed, that if Gagnon brought about the sale to Phillips, the latter would pay Gagnon $2,500 in cash and a quantity of cord wood, slabs and one inch boards on the land, and a deed to a tract of 3 acres.

Gagnon claims he accomplished the sale to Phillips but has been paid only $1,250, about 50 cords of wood and 10,000 one inch boards.

He claims $25,000 damages, that the defendants be required to execute the deed, be ordered to allow him to go upon the land after the wood that is left, make an accounting to him for the cord wood, slabs and boards, which he claims have been removed or sold since May 17, 1924. He also asks injunctions to prevent the defendants from disposing of any more wood or transferring the three-acre tract.

Three Divorce Actions.

Howard R. Boss of Waterford seeks divorce from Robena Floyd Boss of Waterford on the ground of desertion March 30, 1921. They were married May 8, 1918.

Ethel Griffith Stout of New London is the petitioner for divorce from John M. Stout of that city. They were married March 30, 1912, and she alleges desertion April 7, 1919.

Ethel Palmer Biesecker of New London asks divorce from Milton D. Biesecker, of New London, alleging desertion Sept. 19, 1921. They were married June 30, 1916. The wife asks the custody of a daughter aged 7 and a son aged 5.

$4,000 For Loss of Auto.

Damages of $4,000 are asked from W. G. Cargill of Westfield, Mass., in a suit brought by Elisha T. Warner of New London, for damage to his automobile and personal injuries when the Warner car was run into by the Massachusetts machine, Aug. 26, 1924, on the New London-Hartford highway. Warner claims his car is a total loss.

$10,000 For Man's Death.

Suit for $10,000 damages for the death of George Pelton of New London is brought by the administrator of his estate against L. Henry Saxton and his wife, Minnie E. Saxton, both of Norwich. It is alleged that on Sept. 8, 1924, while Mrs. Saxton was driving the automobile owned by her husband, she negligently ran into and knocked down and ran over George Pelton on Church street, New London, inflicting injuries from which he died in the hospital on Sept. 12.

Suit For $1,000.

Mer Freeman and H. Libby partners under the firm name of Myer Freeman, in New London, sues Morris Silverberg of New Haven and David Pesson of Hartford for $1,000 on the common counts. The defendants are partners under the name of Silverberg restaurant.

Alleges Unlawful Distribution.

Alleging that the proceeds of $6,250 from the sale of the Thomas Keeney property in Colchester have been unlawfully distributed by trustees of the St. Michael Polish and Ukranian Society of Colchester, the society has brought suit against Julius Fedus, Steve Fedus and Tony Skut, all of Colchester, and Joseph Blaszyk of Millington Green. The property was purchased Sept. 7, 1919, for $8,500 and sold May 1, 1924 to Nellis Fedus of Colchester for $6,200. An accounting of the trust fund, and its restoration so that it may be distributed to the members of the society, about 70 in number, is asked for.

Over Warranty Deed.

Henry L. Drabik of East Lyme seeks $1,500 damages from James A. Way, 2nd, of Meriden, and Charles H. Reed of East Lyme, in a suit over a warranty deed. It is alleged that Way and Reed sold to Drabik two plots of land in East Lyme by warranty deed but that subsequently Walter and Josephine Gadbois established by a suit in the common pleas court that they had a right of way over the land by adverse use for 15, years or longer. The plaintiff sues to recover his attorney fees and costs of court and asks damages on the ground that the value of the property has been greatly depreciated by the right of way.

Divorce For Desertion.

Harry A. Carino of New London seeks divorce from Margaret V. Carino formerly of New London, on the ground of desertion since Feb. 6, 1921. They were married Jan. 20, 1921.

188,344 MOTOR CARS REGISTERED IN STATE

Connecticut has a grand total of 188,344 motor cars, which were registered from the beginning of the registration year, January 1, to July 1. This is according to figures tabulated by the U. S. bureau of public roads, and distributed by the American Automobile association.

Of these 156,621 are private passenger cars, 29,142 are motor trucks and 2,581 are taxis or buses or cars for hire. Also there are 3,299 motorcycles.

The total gross receipts from registration fees, licenses and permits is $4,245,130.30. From the gasoline tax was derived $348,585.35 until May 31. The whole of both amounts is applicable to highway work by or under supervision of state highway department.

A 24 per cent. increase in registration was shown this year over the registration of last year, during the same period.

TELEPHONE COMPANY HAS NEARLY RESTORED SERVICE

Telephone lines in the Norwich exchange of the Southern New England Telephone company were repaired as rapidly as possible during the day Wednesday and by night about 97 per cent. of the disabled lines had been put back into working order and all toll lines out of the city repaired.

According to Wire Chief H. A. Lord there still remain about 30 lines and about 15 stations out of order, but these are expected to be placed back in service before tonight, Thursday.

At midnight, Tuesday, after the storm had subsided in great part the Norwich exchange had been hit to the extent of about 90 lines, involving about 450 stations. The New London and Worcester toll line near Occum was broken and lines to New London on the easterny side of the Thames were out of commission. These, however were repaired Wednesday and normal service restored.

WEST SIDE PINOCHLE CLUB BEGINS SEASON

The West Side Pinochle club opened its fall tournament Wednesday evening with Alexander Jordan taking the lead with his high score of 8,820, Charles Peckham getting second place with a score of 7,670, third place going to J. Jordan, score 7,585. The remaining scores were as follows:

Pendleton 7,585, Schuler 7,315, Bailey 7,025, E. Peckham 6,930, Lewis 6,705, Pettis 6,370, Parker 6,130, Boynton 5,070, Underwood 5,930.

Conference for Babies' Benefit

Who is responsible for the babies of Weuregan? The mothers of Wauregan. Informed, trained mothers mean healthy babies. Uninformed mothers, mean sick babies. It is often too late to call a doctor after your child is ill. The life or death of your baby may lie in your own keeping. Inform yourself month by month about his growth and physical condition. The Well Child Conference is for this purpose. It is held monthly in the Company Hall. The next one will be on Tuesday, October 7th, from 2 to 4 p. m.

KEEP DOWN FOREST FIRE IN FALL MONTHS

Extra precautions in the handling of open fires in forest districts during the next three months are urged by State Forester Austin F. Hawes who points out that these months are listed as hazard periods due to the drying of vegetation and foliage. The fall season is only slightly below the spring season in the number of forest fires in Connecticut, forestry department records show.

In the past two years there were 200 forest fires in the late fall months, reported by wardens, most of them spreading over large areas with but few confined to an area of less than two acres. Mr. Hawes asks that hunters, campers and property owners aid the wardens by using care with fires and by keeping down the number of forest fires and property loss through them in the next three months.

Despite an extraordinarily dry summer, the number of forest fires in the state since the first of the year has been low in comparison with former years. The low percentage is due largely, Mr. Hawes says, to increased efficiency in fire fighing methods and apparatus and increased interest on the part of many of the wardens.

The total number of fires from March to December, 1922 was 1,137, with April as the worst month, 326 fires being reported during the thirty days. Correspondingly, April was the worst month for fires in 1923 and 1924, 368 and and 352 fires respectively being reported in April of these years. From March to December of last year, 708 fires were reported.

Since the first of this year, 562 forest fires have been reported. The largest number of fires, by counties has been reported from Hartford county, this section having a total of 127. New Haven county with 121, had the second largest number and Litchfield county was third with 118. Those reported from other counties thus far this year have been as follows: Fairfield, 85; Windham, 72; New London, 58; Middlesex 55; Tolland 46.

Most Efficient Towns

Towns showing the greatest efficiency during the period were Winsted, Glastonbury, East Hartford and Montville. These towns had many fires which were extinguished before more than two acres had been burned. The number of fires in each town where the average was less than two acres follow: Winsted, 3; Glastonbury, 12; East Hartford, 9; Montville, 6.

The number of forest fires by months during 1922, 1923 and 1924 follow:

	1922	1923	1924
March	188	51	81
April	326	358	352
May	294	161	131
June	6	13	18
July	0	12	59
August	0	23	14
September	4	7
October	51	32
November	56	43
December	10	8
	1,137	708	655

There were 23 fires in January and four in February of this year, an unusual number for these two months, which are generally free from forest fires. No fires were reported during the corresponding peiods of 1922 and 1923.

SPEAKS ON ORGANIZED WORK OF THE CHURCH

About seventy-five church officers and leaders attended a meeting held for their benefit Wednesday evening at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church with Dr. Frederick A. Agar of New York as the speaker. This was one of the several meetings being held this week by the Protestant churches of the town, the general topic being church efficiency. At 6.15 o'clock a supper was served under the direction of a committee of the members of the Foreign Mission society. Those in charge of the supper were Mrs. Ernest O. Newbury, Mrs. Louis H. Geer, Mrs. Albert Boardman, Mrs. A. D. Lewis, Mrs. Emma Worthington, Mrs. Robert McNeely, Miss Bessie Boardman, Mrs. Bertha Saunders, Mrs. Ernest J. Jones, Miss Lillian J. Brewster, Miss Gladys Newbury and Miss Arfity Haddad. The menu served follows: Meat pie, sweet potatoes, white potatoes, beets, bread, apple pie, tea, coffee, rolls.

At the close of the supper Dr. Agar took charge of the meeting, giving a very instructive and interesting informal talk on The Organized Church. During the course of his talk Dr. Agar said: The church needs a little group of people given the authority to see that the will of the church is done. Do we take care of our members? he asked.

I'll wager that in every church of Norwich there are people who belong to the church who have never been inside of the church for a year or more and nobody knows it but the pastor. There is no one to follow them up but the pastor. What do I mean by the "care of the members?" I mean to see that they are in the worship life of the church, that they are in the service life of the church and that they are in the giving life of the church.

Dr. Agar said that his plan to take care of the membership of the church is a group plan whereby a group of men and women is responsible for a certain number of the church membership. The selection of this group is made very carefully and precisely. It is a well sorted group of faithful staunch people. The first thing the members of this group should do is to get personally acquainted with everyone else in the group.

My job, said Dr. Agar, is to have something worthwhile for every member to do and then to have someone else to see that they do it. He said the groups that represent the life of the church should be represented on the finance committee of the church.

When you have taken care of the members and your finance plans are built properly then you are ready through music, social and education outreachers to do everything to complete the work of a first class church.

Dr. Agar answered a number of questions from the audience relating to the methods of organizing a church.

LIONS' MINSTREL SHOW REHEARSAL GOES BIG

Wednesday night's rehearsal of the Lions club minstrel show, was a regular roar. It did one's heart good to hear the Lions roar, and it was a roar from start to finish. Whe nthe play is finally staged it will make the public roar from the minute they enter the theatre until the show ends. It is difficult to point out one particular feature of the play as every line of it is full of life and pep. The minstrel begins with a rush and a roar and the whole bunch of Lions become animated as only Lions can. Doc Crabtree qualified as a Lion tamer and fascinated the Lions and Lionesses by his magnetic eye and wonderful energy—all quailing before the heat of his leg and following him through all the leading parts just as if it were the business of their entire lives. The Doc has a personality too, and not only is he followed in all his coaching but he is loved for the sincerity and interest which he has has shown to make the Lions' minstrel a success. The Doc says, like a good many newcomers in Norwich, that there is some particular attraction about the character of the Norwich people which make one desirous of working his head off for being worthy of their appreciation—which shows that Doc is not only a good musical show director, but also a good judge of human nature.

There has been a lot said about this minstrel but when all is said and done the result will be a grand entertainment for the Norwich theatre going public.

FINED IN MONTVILLE FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Clifford Smith of New London was presented Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock before Justice of the Peace William Smiddy of Uncasville, charged with reckless driving and driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The last named charged was nolled by Judge Smiddy and Smith was found guilty of reckless driving and fined $25 and costs.

State Policeman Anderson of the Groton barracks who made the arrest Sunday night appeared against Smith. Smith's arrest followed an accident at Trading Cove Sunday evening when he drove his car across the trolley tracks into the bank. Smith claimed that another car, traveling at a fair rate of speed was coming down the hill and that he feared a collision, therefore, drove his car across the tracks to avoid hitting the approaching car.

SUMMONED TO COURT AFTER AUTOMOBILE CRASH

About 11 o'clock Wednesday night an Overland touring car driven by Leon Joseph Armstrong and owned by Llewellyn Armstrong, of No. 59 Thames street and a machine owned and driven by Allan Parker of No. 198 West Thames street collided at the junction of Thames and High streets, near the stove foundry. Both machines were headed south and Mr. Parker was following the Overland. The driver of the Overland claims he put out his hand before he started to make the turn into High street. Mr. Parker's car crashed into the right hand side of the Overland.

The Overland was considerably damaged. Mr. Parker was held by the police on a charge of reckless driving and will appear in the city court this (Thursday) morning.

CONNECTICUT GASOLINE LOWEST IN TEN YEARS

New Haven, Oct. 1.—Connecticut automobiles were rejoicing tonight as the result of a drastic cut in the price of gasoline, a direct result of the warfare now being waged by the distributing companies throughout New England. The offensive was launched by the Gulf Refining company which announced a cut in price from 21 to 17 cents a gallon. The Standard Oil company, of New York, and the Atlantic Refining company were quick to follow suit. The price is said to be the lowest for Connecticut in ten years. The Texas company, the Sinclair Refining company and the Connecticut Oil company soon jumped onto the band wagon and reduced their prices.

The break in Connecticut can be traced back to developments in Massachusetts where the commission on the necessities of life yesterday issued a statement which suggested that "the buyer possessed a most powerful protective weapon, that is, discrimination in making purchases."

The approach of the end of the motoring season, when curtailment of the use of gasoline appears evident, and the fact that heavy surplus stocks are being carried by many of the companies, were given as reasons for the reduction.

James H. Freeman, manager of the Standard Oil Company in Hartford, said today:

"This cannot go on. Why, at the present low price, manufacturers, wholesale dealers, filling station owners and nobody can get a reasonable profit. The prices are bound to go up again."

FINED IN FRANKLIN FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

When presented in court this week before Justice of the Peace William J. Brassill in the Franklin town hall, Boleslaw Orlonski of 318 Huntington street, New London, was found guilty on the charge of reckless driving and was fined $25 and costs. He took an appeal through his attorney to the common pleas court. Grand Juror C. Huntington Lathrop prosecuted the case. A nolle was entered in the case of James S. Lamb of Franklin, who was also summoned to court on a reckless driving charge after a collision in the town of Franklin last Saturday night between the men's automobiles in which the Lamb car was badly wrecked.

The evidence showed that the New London man was driving to Willimantic and when he reached the Lebanon road above Yantic he started to turn in there by mistake and then swung out again, crashing into the Lamb car which had three wheels taken off and was upset. Lamb and two Norwich men, named Heber and Kozloski, who were with him, were thrown out, but escaped with minor injuries.

STATE POLICE WILL HAVE ALCOHOL TESTS

Connecticut state police will soon be equipped to test within a short interval the alcohol content of confiscated liquors as a result of their equipment with alchometers.

Superintendent Robert T. Hurley of the state police department has placed an order to equip his force with alchometers, which are being used effectively by the Pennsylvania state constabulary. Dr. E. A. Vuilloumier, professor of chemistry at Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa., is the inventor of the device.

After a policeman has intercepted a rum-runner on the highway he can in a few minutes determine the alcoholic content of the liquor, thereby securing invulnerable evidence for court trials, avoiding controversy over the percentage of alcohol in the beer at the time of the seizure.

Fifty-Seven Were Naturalized.

Fifty-seven new citizens were made at the naturalization session of the superior court in New London Wednesday before Judge Leonard J. Nicherson.

Judge Nickerson ordered that court should remain in session until all applicants had been heard, consequently it was not until 7 o'clock last night that the session was declared closed.

Of those naturalized 22 were subjects of Great Britain, 15 of Italy, 10 of Poland, 4 of Sweden, 2 of Russia, 3 of Greece, and 1 of Norway, Finland, Portugal and Hungary.

JOINS MOVEMENT TO GET OUT THE VOTE

Accompanying the September membership letter of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce which was mailed out to the members Monday evening by Secretary John J. O'Rourke, is a leaflet entitled Stockholders' meeting of the U. S. A., November 4th. Vote as you please, says the leaflet, but vote! The leaflet calls attention to the following election facts.

Twenty-seven million people stayed away from the polls in 1920.

Twenty-six million people—a minority of all the voters—elected a president in 1920.

Were you one of the twenty-seven million who failed to perform their full duty as citizens or one of the twenty-six million who properly fulfilled their obligations?

Whatever the answer, register a promise now that you will go to the polls this year and swell the ranks of the twenty-six million so they will cast a vote truly representative of the will of all the eligible voters of the country.

Vote as you please—but—Vote!

The Fathers of our Constitution, by Divine inspiration, gave you equality before all men; made you a participating stockholders in the greatest corporation in the world—the United States of America—and gave you the privilege of personal representation in the conduct of its affairs.

More than this, to insure your full patriotic performance in behalf of your fellow citizens, they placed upon you an obligation to serve, to take an active part in governing this great organization.

That obligation is the obligation to vote.

Within the last decade there has been a retrogression of civic consciousness; a failure on the part of a large number of otherwise good citizens to perform their duty to their country; to fulfill their obligation to vote.

Give serious thought to the following figures:

In 1896, 80 per cent. of the eligible voters of the country went to the polls and voted.

In 1900, 73 per cent. cast their ballots.

In 1908, 66 per cent.

In 1912, 62 per cent.

In 1920, less than 50 per cent. of those eligible to vote, went to the polls!

ELECTRIC DEPT. STAGGERS UNDER STORM DAMAGE

The city electric light department was still staggering Wednesday night under the knockout blow that was given the street lights by the storm of Tuesday night. Most of the streets in residential neighborhoods had their second night of darkness except for the illumination from automobile headlights or flashlights in the hands of pedestrians.

A limited service had been restored by the hard work of the department during the day. From Burnham square to Franklin street there were lights on Main street, but from the Shannon corner to Washington square there were no street lights. Water street, West Main, the West Side and Thamesville had street lights, but Laurel Hill, Greeneville, Broadway, Union square, Franklin street, McKinley avenue and the East Side were dark.

The Norwich Town and Yantic electric light line that runs over Roath and Broad streets was in order supplying lights for those two streets, for Washington street, north of Broad street, for the Falls and for the Norwich Town section.

SEIDEL HIGH SCORER IN MOOSE PINOCHLE

George Seidel made high score for the evening in the third night's play of the Moose pinochle tournament on Wednesday evening. Mr. Seidel's score was 7,245. Second high score was made by Charles O. Wright, 6,740 and third high score by Walter Pianko, 6,560.

The total score for the three nights shows the following three players in the lead: George Seidel, 21,385; Henry Swartzburg, 20,455; Peter Carolinas, 19,080.

Eastern Connecticut Health.

This week's issue of the morbidity report of the state department of health shows that during the week ending September 27th three cases of scarlet fever were reported from Norwich. Communicable diseases reported from towns in eastern Connecticut are as follows:

Diphtheria, Tolland 4, Plainfield 1. Scarlet fever, Norwich 3, Windham 1, Woodstock 1. Whooping cough, Rockville 1, Somers 1, Willimantic 2.

Men seldom pay taxes on what they are reputed to be worth.

Judgment by Stipulation

A judgment by stipulation for $90 for the plaintiff without costs, was entered in the superior court Wednesday in the case of Louis Lubchansky of New London vs. Ship Construction and Trading Co., of Stonington. The suit was brought over 42 1-2 shares of the defendant company, the value of which was claimed to be $4,250.

MATTER OF TRANSCENDENT IMPORTANCE TO PROSPERITY

Caution Given by George Woodruff of Chicago in Addressing Clearing House Section of the American Bankers' Association—Asserts That as Creditor Nation We Must Accept Securities of Foreign Nations, as They Have Almost No Gold, and We Do Not Care for Much of Their Goods in Competition With Our Home Markets.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—(By The A. P.)—A note of confidence in the business future of the next few years, with a word of caution about the part the bankers must play in prosperity, was sounded today at the closing session of the American Bankers' Association convention by George Woodruff of Chicago, in an address before the clearing house section.

"Now that we are a creditor nation," said Mr. Woodruff, "the purpurchase of foreign investments is essential, in order that our tariff may continue to operate to our advantage. Foreign purchasers can only repay us in gold, goods or securities. They have almost no gold, we do not care for much of their goods in competition with our home markets, so we must accept their securities so they can pay their debts to us in American dollars.

"After practically all of the great wars of modern times we have found that the countries that suffered the most in war became more prosperous within a decade than the countries that suffered the least. This has been due, of course, to the fact that the countries that suffered the most have come out of the war with their costs reduced and their labor wages at a low point, while the countries that suffered the least have come out of the war with a burst of temporary prosperity, and with costs and wages at a very high point.

"It would seem as though our leading bankers should attempt to convincingly inform labor of the impending economic changes and to explain the probable difficulties of the next five or ten years, but at the same time to state how by a universal understanding of the approaching difficulties and the exercising of good common sense on the part of our people the situation may be entirely reversed and prosperity fe retained. the history of the results of other wars to the country notwithstanding.

"If the problems before us are carefully explained to and thoroughly understood by labor, we may be able to reduce wages without waiting for a great business reaction to compel this readjustment. Such a readjustment should lead to a prompt reduction of freight rates, fuel costs, and manufacturing expenses all along the line.

"While labor will, of course, be compelled to suffer temporarily to some extent by such a course, nevertheless it will be nothing compared to the suffering that will be brought about by an eforced readjustment and under a voluntary readjustment it will be but a short time before labor will experience great benefits, because our lower costs will enable us to meet European prices quoted in foreign countries and thus make possible the maintenance of our export trade and incidentally enable us to offer goods to our farmers at prices at which they can afford to buy. The result will bring down the cost of living to offset the lower wage."

The old order has always been a breeder of chaos, Thomas Branch McAdams of Richmond, Va., former president of the association told the delegates.

Wars sprang from the older order, he said, "with sorrow, ruin and destruction in their wake."

"From a gold business standpoint," Mr. McAdams continued, "we find ourselves a nation with $10,000,000,000 of past due and unfunded accounts receivable. What chance have we to collect this principal or interest unless we assist in the rebuilding of our debtors, that they may be restored both in spirit and financial strength to such an extent as will enable them to make a satisfactory settlement unless we so stabilize international affairs that industry abroad may again become normal?

"The energy spent by the Dawes committee will have been wasted unless there can be created a reasonable confidence in the stability of European affairs through the elimination of the possibility of war.

"Yet it is not a far cry from Dawes to dawn. The Dawes plan of a new come in reality the dawn of a new era if America will but take her place at the side of other nations in carrying forward the work of the world in the day now breaking.

"One of the greatest of English bankers told me recently in London that while England had not been particularly enthusiastic about the league when it was originally suggested, he now felt that if the league should fail world chaos would be inevitable.

"World chaos includes the United States, no matter how isolated we conceive ourselves to be."

The clearing house section elected C. W. Allendoerfer, of Kansas City, a native of Carlinville, Ills., and formerly a bookkeeper at Concordia, Kas., president.

John F. Tufts, of Watertown, Mass., told the section that a reasonable srevice of unprofitable accounts would not jeopardize goodwill.

The place of the next convention will be selected by the new executive committee some time in December.

Miss Jea Arnot Reid, manager of the "women's department, Bankers Trust Company, New York city, was elected president of the association of banking women meeting in connection with the American Bankers Association convention.

FALL OF THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT IMMINENT

London, Oct. 2 (By the A. P.).—Interest in the Irish bill, which passed through all its stages unamended in the house of commons tonight, is being dwarfed by the buzz of political gossip preceding an early defeat of the government and general elections.

Nothing new developed today in the political situation and everything still remains in the realm of speculation. But opinion seems to be hardening that either on a vote of censure next Wednesday or on the question of the Russian treaty, which is to come up early in November, the Macdonald government will be overthrown.

There was talk tonight that in the event of the downfall of the present socialist government King George would summon former Premier Baldwin to form a new government and that Mr. Baldwin would decline the task and that then the monarch would invite former Premier Asquith to take up the burden.

Discussion of the Irish bill, both inside and outside parliament, still rages about the question of interpretation of clause 12 of the Anglo-Irish treaty, and whether the Lloyd George government gave assurances of permanancy of the six-county basis for northern Ireland. Out of this nothing decisive seems to come.

A statement that Lord Carson, the former Ulster leader, had been chosen as a member of the Irish boundary commmission was semi-officially denied tonight.

ASSEMBLY APPROVES PROTOCOL OF ARBITRATION AND SECURITY

Geneva, Oct. 2 (By the A. P.)—The fifth assembly of the league of nations ended its labors today by unanimously adopting a resolution recommending that all states accept the protocol of arbitration and security.

Apart from the elaboration of the protocol for the peaceful settlement of international disputes, the outstanding feature of the sessions was the insistence of the delegates that economic problems, popularly regarded as belonging exclusively to the domestic jurisdiction of states, must be solved on an international basis if all causes of war would really be removed. This instance was voiced by several speakers, especially those representing France; it is implied in the protocol itself, and for a time dominated the discussions of the European jurists as they strove to fashion a pact which would not unduly alarm all nations which jealously guard the doctrine of states' rights.

CAUGHT STEALING TIRES FROM PARKED AUTO

Bridgeport, Oct. 2.—Dr. Daniel McCarthy of 778 Washington avenue captured two youths attempting to steal tires from his parked automobile in front of his home by compelling them to hold up their hands as he threatened with a revolver and he held them thus until the police arrived.

The young men were held in bonds of $150 pending further investigation. They are Kenneth Dubois, aged 23, of 163 Carlisle avenue, New Haven, and Samuel Sarvine, aged 20, of Shelton.

SEEKING FOR MAN TO CLEAR UP WATERBURY MURDER

Waterbury, Oct. 2.—One more man is being sought by police throughout the state and his arrest will probably clear up the murder of John Mussolini, according to Captain Thomas Colasanto, acting chief inspector of the detective bureau. Pasquale Santora of 15 Gilmore street, Bridgeport, is formally charged with murder on a warrant issued by Coroner John T. Monzani, and his arraignment is scheduled for Oct. 9.

Santora is suspected of being one of the men who leaped from an automobile at Bank and Meadow streets, a few minutes after the murder and the police believe that the actual slayer was Santora's companion. Both men were stopped by a policeman on Benedict street a minute after the shooting but as neither one had a revolver with him, the patrolman decided to put his efforts elsewhere.

MAN BEATEN AND ROBBED ON THE MIDDLEBURY ROAD

Waterbury, Oct. 2.—Joseph Lasta, 20, of Middlebury, was held up by two men on the Middlebury road late last night, beaten and robbed of $15, according to a report made to the police here this morning. Cuts and bruises about the head substantiated the man's charges, but police officials say he was under the influence of liquor at the time. On the grounds that Lasta's injuries might bear some relation on the murder of John Mussolini here a week ago, he was held for a short time under suspicion, but was later released.

AUTO DRIVER FLED AFTER INJURING ELDERLY MAN

Waterbury, Oct. 2.—Leopold Eckstein, 61, of Atlantic City, N. J., is at the Waterbury hospital, suffering from a fracture of the left arm and abrasions of the hip sustained when struck on the Meriden road by an auto whose driver immediately fled. Eckstein was standing in front of his own automobile waiting for the radiator to cool when he was struck. He was taken to a farm house nearby and then to the hospital.

Unique Fireplace'

Following the scheme of the Indian lodge, with its fire in the center of the room, enabling the tribesmen to sit all around it, an inventor has constructed in his own residence a fireplace of unique type.

At a point where the arches connecting three rooms intersect, the chimney comes down and rests on a base of heavy angle steel, which is, in turn, supported by four steel columns. These rest on a reinforced concrete foundation. The grate, made to a special design of three-quarter-inch machine steel sets underneath the center of the chimney. The draft is regulated by an ingenious damper that will stay in any position.

The number of ostriches in South Africa has dropped from 900,000 to 120,000. There is in consequence fear of an ostrich feather shortage.

Firemen Overcome By Fumes And Smoke

Assistant Chief Among Six Who Suffered at Residential Blaze in New Haven.

New Haven, Oct. 2.—Assistant Chief Kilroy and five firemen were overcome by gas fumes and smoke and one fireman was injured today in a fire that swept through the upper floor of the home of Frank G. Drew, president of the Winchester Repeating Arms company. The damage is estimated at $4,000. It is believed that the fire started from defective wiring or the careless use of matches.

Hoseman Edward P. Hermance was cut in the head when he was struck by a piece of slate that fell from the roof when the fire broke through.

The fire started in a closet in the attic and was discovered by a butler who was storing away trunks. The blaze gained headway rapidly and a second alarm was turned in. From the closet it spread to a blind attic between the slate roof and the ceiling of the third floor. The upper rooms of the house were swept by the blaze and the water damage on the other floors was heavy.

Fire Marshal Martin F. Fleming believes that the butler in moving the trunks, hit one of the electric light wires. Tht butler denies that he was using matches. The fire marshal estimates that the damage to the house will amount to $3,000 and $1,000 to the contents.

JUDGE JOEL H. REED DIED SUDDENLY OF ACUTE INDIGESTION

Stafford Springs, Oct. 2.—Word was received here tonight of the death of Joel H. Reed, state referee, of this place, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., of acute indigestion. He had served as judge of the superior court from 1904 to 1920 when he retired on reaching the age limit. Judge Reed and Mrs. Grace W. Perrin, of New Haven, were married in New Haven, Tuesday, and were on their wedding trip when he died.

BARBECUE IN WOODBURY FOR LAFOLLETTE CLUB

Waterbury, Oct. 2.—Over 100 members of the local La Follette club attended a barbecue given to the club by Roger S. Baldwin, on his farm in Woodbury today. Mr. Baldwin is the president of the local club and is the son of ex-Governor Simeon Baldwin. John A. H. Hopkins, of New York, treasurer of the New York La Follette committee and chairman of the committee of forty-eight, was present and made an address denouncing the progressives who signed the statement condemning the use of name "Progressive" by the LaFollette party.

SEVEN ALLEGED NARCOTIC PEDDLERS UNDER ARREST

New Haven, Oct. 2.—The seven alleged narcotic peddlers, arrested on Aug. 29 in a pool room in Meadow street following a gun fight in which two of the men and Joseph W. Gautier of Boston, a member of the anti-narcotic squad, were wounded, were placed under federal court bench warrants here today. The involved are Fred Colgere and Michael Costello, who were shot in the raid, and Ralph Campanrano, Michael Gustini, Enrico Esposito and Michael Mercurie, all of this city.

SEVERAL STRIKERS KILLED BY SOLDIERS AT TAMPICO

Tampico, Oct. 2 (By the A. P.).—Several workmen have been killed in a clash between strikers and soldiers guarding the property of the Mexican Gulf Oil company. The strike at this plant has been in progress for some time and a general strike has been declared.

20,000 Men Massed For Shanghai Attack

Preparing for a Major Engagement 28 Miles on Railway Southwest of City.

Shanghai, Oct. 3, 2.45 a. m. (By the A. P.)—Twenty thousand men under command of the Kiangsu province generals attacking Shanghai are being massed on the Shanghai-Hangchow railway line south of Sungkiang 28 miles southwest of Shanghai, in preparation for a major engagement there.

This information was contained in apparently authentic reports from Sungkiang, normally a city of 50,000, received in Shanghai this morning.

The Chekiang defense forces south of Sungkiang, entrenched and waiting for the Kiangsu attack, were said to number about 6,500.

Interest centered today on the expected outbreak in the Sungkiang sector, the other fronts near the city and to the west and northwest, remaining comparatively quiet, as they did yesterday. Only sporadic machine gun and rifle fire showed that the rival armies were unceasingly vigilant.

O'CONNELL SAYS HE WAS THE "GO-BETWEEN"

New York, Oct. 2.—(By The A. P.) A dejected group of baseball players —the New York Giants—left New York today for Washington and the world's series.

The startlings revelation of the day, in which two of their number were forever barred from organized baseball for alleged attempted bribery, had its effect on the players and on the fans who had athegred to witness the departure of the team. There was no cheering, no demonstration. The fans, their ears cocked for any further disclosures, their eyes almost revently following the athletes, maintained an appalling silence.

The team was in charge of the veteran Hugh Jennings, coach and associate manager. John J. McGraw, manager of the National League champions, was not a member of the advance party, remaining in New York to close up further business before departing for Washington.

While some fans view the situation optimistically, others contend that the real disclosures have not yet been made. They fear further revelations that might bring about a situation similar to the scandal which threatened the very life of baseball in 1919.

Judge Landis' statement that so far as he is concerned the case is closed has failed to silence the tongues of those who voice the belief that Dolan and O'Connell, the blacklisted players, are but tools of a power that still remains undisclosed.

Jimmy O'Connell pleads that he is but the "goat" in the whole affair. Almost on the verge of a nervous breakdown, O'Connel sat on the steps of the Giants' dressing room at the Polo grounds this morning and related incident after incident leading up to and subsequent to the attempted bribery.

Frankly admitting his guilt, O'Connell told of the approach of Dolan with the proposal to bribe Sand, his conversation with the latter and Sand's refusal of the offer.

O'Connell implicated Ross Young, George Kelly and Captain Frankie Frisch, saying they all came up to him and individually assured him that it was "all right" and uged him to "go ahead." O'Connell said he considered they were on the "in" and that he was made the "go-between" because of his friendship with Sand, with wrom he had played on the coast before either became a bg leaguer.

GOV. SMITH ADDRESSED RALLY AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

New York, Oct. 2.—Governor Alfred E. Smith, speaking tonight at the democratic rally at Madison Square Garden, cited his own and his party's record as a reason for his re-election, asserted that those who fail to register and vote in the coming election are giving tacit approval to corruption in public office and promised an "honest, straightforward, intelligent and progressive government" at Washington and Albany if the democrats accede to power in November.

Governor Smith mentioned the oil investigation in a comparison between the Tea Pot Dome affair and the leasing of land in the Adirondack Mountains to a private corporation by the land board of the last republican state administration. The governor reminded his audience that his administration had rescinded the action of his predecessors and that litigation relative to the ownership of the tract is now pending in the state courts.

THEFT OF JEWELRY OF MRS. ROUBERT MALLORY, JR.

Rye, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Jewelry belonging to Mrs. Roubert Mallory, Jr., and valued at more than $5,000, was taken by a thief who entered the Mallory home on Milton road today. The Mallory home is near that of J. S. Cosden, where $250,000 worth of jewels was stolen on Sept. 8. Lady Mountbatten and Mrs. Richard Norton, close friends of the Prince of Wales, and who were guests of the Cosdens while the prince was visiting on Long Island, were among the losers in the Cosden robbery.

Mr. Mallory is an official of the Mallory Steamship Lines.

The Websters

It was Noah Webster, not Daniel, who was the dictionary maker. He was born in Hartford, Conn., October 16, 1758; graduated from Yale in 1778, admitted to the bar in 1781, became a teacher in 1782 and in 1783 settled in New York as a journalist; moved to New Haven, later to Amherst, returning to New Haven in 1822. While teaching he published several books on spelling and grammar, including Websters Spelling Book. All his works had a large sale for the times. In 1806 he published a small English dictionary which led the way for his great work, American Dictionary of the English Language. In preparing this he visited England and finished the dictionary during eight months' residence in Cambridge, England. The first edition came out in 1828 in two volumes and was followed by a second in 1840. Webster died in New

POLITICAL ASPECT SUMMED UP BY CHAIRMAN BUTLER

Leader of the Republican National Committee Charges a Coalition Between Democrats and La Follette Forces in the Western States—Considers Charles W. Bryan the Most Formidable Opponent of President Coolidge—Predicts Decisive Election of the Republican Ticket Nov. 4—President Coolidge to Remain at the White House Throughout the Campaign.

Washington, Oct. 2.—A coalition between democratic and La Follette forces, particularly in western states, with the evident purpose to force the election of a president into congress, was charged here today by William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee.

The logical outcome, in the event the election were thrown into congress, Mr. Butler added, would be the election of a president by the senate. For this reason, he said, he considered Charles W. Bryan, democratic candidate for vice president, perhaps the most important opponent of President Coolidge.

At the same time the chairman predicted the decisive election of the republican ticket on Nov. 4.

Mr. Butler, with Senator McCormack, of Illinois, conferred with President Coolidge at luncheon today at the White House. Mr. Butler said he went over the general political situation with the president and reiterated that he did not believe Mr. Coolidge has changed his plans to remain at the White House throughout the campaign.

The chairman did not go specifically into the evidence which he said he had received of a coalition. It was more or less on the surface, he said, and was evident in the east in some sections as well as in the west.

Characterizing Mr. Bryan as a presidential candidate, Mr. Butler ranked Senator LaFollette next to the democratic vice presidential nominee as the strongest opponent of the president, and John W. Davis, democratic nominee, last.

The committee chairman was enthusiastic over what he described as an improvement in the party's situation in some of the states in the northwest and added that there was a "marked recession noticeable in the LaFollette movement in several states."

Likewise, Mr. Butler said, plans were under way to launch a vigorous republican campaign between now and election. The character and issues of President Coolidge, he said, would be emphasized and this he believed was the major issue of the campaign along with the proposal to limit the powers of the supreme court which he said President Coolidge would sanction.

Mr. Butler said he had heard rumors that if the election were thrown into the house some republicans would vote for Davis if they saw no election there was no chance to be possible and the election of Mr. Bryan appeared likely in the senate. It gave little credence, however, to reports of defections in republican ranks for Mr. Davis and expressed the election would result in a definite majority of electoral votes for Mr. Coolidge.

"If Mr. Coolidge is elected," Mr. Butler continued "we are bound to have another period of prosperity and business activity. If he is not elected the election is thrown into the house it means chaos and the results would be disastrous."

COALITION A MENACE TO AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 2 (By the A. P.).—The alliance between the La Follette movement and the democratic party was condemned as "a menace to American institutions and the American government" by Charles G. Dawes, the republican vice presidential nominee, in an address to a large audience here tonight in Convention hall.

STATE TICKET NAMED BY R. I. REPUBLICANS

Providence, Oct. 2.—Jesse H. Metcalf of Providence was unanimously chosen for the republican nomination for United States senator at the republican state convention held here today. Former Governor Aram J. Pothier was named the party's candidate for governor over two opponents by an overwhelming majority.

The remainder of the state ticket follows:

Lieutenant-governor—Nathaniel W. Smith of South Kingston.

Secretary of state—Ernest L. Sprague of Cranston.

General treasurer—Richard W. Jennings of Cranston.

Attorney general—Charles P. Sisson of Providence.

Congress, First district—Clark Burdick of Newport.

Second district—Richard S. Aldrich of Warwick.

Third district—Louis Monast of Providence.

These selections were unopposed.

INCREASE OF INMATES IN NEW HAVEN COUNTY JAIL

New Haven, Oct. 2.—Nearly 1,000 more inmates were harbored in the county jail during the fiscal year just closed than during the preceding year, according to the annual report issued today by jail authorities. The report shows a total of 3,567 inmates committed to the institution during the year and at the beginning of the year 247 were already there. This is a total of 3,814. During the preceding year the inmates numbered 2,586, an increase of 971 for the year just closed. During the year 3,586 were discharged, leaving 246 in the institution at the present time.

Under the heading "cause for commitment" drunkenness ran high with 1,437 cases, breach of the peace 329, violation of the liquor law 288, motor law violation 202, burglary 90, assault with intent to kill 38.

YACHT SEADRIFT SAFE; ARRIVES 13 DAYS OVERDUE

Greenport, N. Y., Oct. 2.—The auxiliary steam yacht Seadrift, owned by C. S. Somerville, of Los Angelgs, arrived here today 13 days overdue on her maiden trip from Cowles, England. The yacht had 11 passengers, including a number of wealthy Californians.

All vessels in the North Atlantic were asked by the New York naval radio station to watch for the craft last Monday, when the yacht was 10 days overdue. The Seadrift left Cowles on August 8. She was to have made her first stop at Boston but did not put in there.

GREETING FOR DAVIS IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

New York, Oct. 2.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, speaking in historic Madison Square Garden, where he was nominated last summer, tonight was given a rousing demonstration when he promised to take off "his coat, vest, tie and whatever else was serviceable" to help "Al" Smith, governor of New York state. Mr. Davis made the statement after thanking Governor Smith for the promise the latter made at the national convention that he would take off his coat and vest and work for the election of the nominee.

DRIVING WHILE UNDER INFLUENCE OF LIQUOR

New Haven, Oct. 2.—Burton F. Tucker, of Meriden was given a six months' jail sentence by Judge Eliot Watrous in city court today, when he was arraigned on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

SOUNDING CANDIDATES ON ATTITUDE ON PROHIBITION

New Haven, Oct. 2.—Wayne B. Wood, eastern manager of the Anti-Saloon League of America, was in this city in connection with John J. Splaine, who is managing the affairs of the Anti-Saloon League in this part of New England. Mr. Wood and his deputy, John T. Hayes, are touring New England sounding out candidates for congress on their attitude for or against the prohibition amendment.

Mr. Wood said he was satisfied with the conditions as he found them in Connecticut, declaring that there was no hesitation in leading candidates in other parts of New England in the hands of Mr. Splaine.

Speaking of the campaign in New York state and the opposition of Governor Al Smith, Mr. Wood, who is a native of Poland, one of the leading officials of the Anti-Saloon League and a friend of Theodore Roosevelt, said of the candidate for governor in New York:

"Mr. Poland's attitude toward Roosevelt is rank hypocrisy. The drys will vote for Governor Smith and the Anti-Saloon League can get enough 'wets' in New York will make prohibition law within a year. The republican party in New York completely in the grip of the Anti-Saloon League. Nine-tenths of the candidates for the legislature are dry and Roosevelt is bound hand and foot to the platform. The deal is complete and there are to be no cross-roads."

TO FILL VACANCY IN REVENUE DEPARTMENT

New Haven, Oct. 2.—August [illegible] Williams, now in charge of the state employment bureau, has been nominated to fill the vacancy in the internal revenue department caused by the elevation of Chester M. New to the post of division chief, it was learned tonight. Mr. Williams' place will be filled by Norman Strong, Champion, who [illegible] nominated for the revenue post.

Robert O. Eaton sent Mr. Champion's nomination to Washington but officials there declined to act it on the ground that Mr. Champion was beyond the age limit of 55 designated in the revenue laws.

PERSIAN ASSASSIN OF CONSUL IMBRIE EXECUTED

Washington, Oct. 2.—The state department was notified by cable today of the execution by a firing squad in Teheran, Persia, of Private Mosa, a Persian army transport corps convicted by court martial of having been implicated in the murder of American Vice Consul Robert W. Imbrie. The execution occurred this morning in the Kasr Kadjar barracks, just outside Teheran, and "in the presence of the entire garrison."

The rear of a wagon owned by George Welack of Chaplin was run into by an automobile owned by Hollis H. Lyman and operated by J. E. Sellers, about 11 o'clock, Thursday forenoon, on Valley street. The car had followed the wagon around the corner of Jackson and Valley streets when the horse-drawn vehicle was brought to a sudden stop, with result that the machine bumped into the wagon, throwing it to one side and dislodging the driver from his seat. The horse ran, but was stopped on Broad street. Welack was taken to St. Joseph's hospital where he was treated for a cut on the head by Dr. M. D. Riordan. In reporting to the police, Sellers said that he was about to drive past the Welack team but another wagon was parked on the other side of the road and held back, just when Welack came to a stop.

Some two hundred people congregated at the corner of North and Main streets, shortly after 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, when the fire department was called out to extinguish a fire in a defective chimney in the Tannor block. Smoke belched forth from the chimney and filled the tenement occupied by the Haddad family. Mrs. J. K. Haddad was the only occupant of the apartment at the time and she ran for assistance to the shoe shine parlors conducted by Louis Shakel. Mr. Shakel passed the word on to Traffic Officer Arthur Hurley, who notified the firemen. Chemical was used and the blaze was extinguished without noticeable damage.

CLAM IN OLIVE BOTTLE OVER FIFTEEN YEARS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Noank, Oct. 2.—While clamming at Goat Point, Howard Brown was surprised to find a small olive bottle with a clam inside. The body of the clam was several times larger than the opening of the neck of the bottle, which would indicate that the clam entered the bottle while very small. Local men who are well acquainted with the habits of these shellfish estimate that the clam has lived in the bottle at least fifteen years. Bottle and clam are on exhibition at the Noank waiting room.

CONVENTION OF MILITARY ORDER OF THE WORLD WAR

Boston, Oct. 2.—The Military Order of the World war, at the first session of its annual convention here today, was urged by Major General Clarence R. Edwards, U. S. A., retired, to oppose a proposal to prohibit by constitutional amendment the employment of children up to 18 years of age, with the added suggestion that if it meant that the youth of the country would serve six months or a year with the colors it would be a good thing.

"A year with the colors would end bigotry, bring back the spirit of national fraternity, develop democracy and character, end pacifist foolishness and make every lad better able to meet the battle of life," the speaker said.

General Edwards recommended that the order also get behind the development of commercial aviation to make America first in the air, and back the universal draft in any future war.

The former leader of the Yankee division was one of several speakers at the sessions which were followed men who held commissions during the by a parade through the city of the World war, and of a military pageant and demonstration in the Fenway, which included a sham battle and reproduction of a phase of the battle of Chateau Thierry.

It was shown that the order number 6063 on August 1, and that the total membership now was close to 7,000. A mark of 100,000 members by 1930 is sought.

Mayor James M. Curley, welcoming the former officers, read a letter he said he had received today from General Pershing, praising his recent action in refusing permission for a socialist demonstration of National Defense Day, and adding, "there is far too much of this silly pacifistic stuff."

SON OF GOVERNOR SMITH HAS BLOOD POISONING

New York, Oct. 2.—Governor Smith was advised from Albany that a successful operation to forestall blood poisoning had been performed on his 14-year-old son, Walter, yesterday afternoon. The boy was reported to be out of danger and able to leave bed within a few days.

The operation was made necessary by an infection which had developed on the boy's shoulder from a scratch.

George C. Bryant, district kleagle of the Ku Klux Klan, was arrested in Buffalo, N. Y., on a warrant charging violation of the Walker law which requires registration with the state of the membership roster of incorporated oath bound Fraternal bodies.

The Week in Music

The young dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan, Dusolina Giannini, whose rise to fame has been amazingly swift, and whom staid London vociferously acclaimed as a second Patti, is heard this week again on a new record just issued. Both numbers are Tosti songs, a bolero and a simpler melody. Non mi lo dite! (Tell Me Not That) and Pensa! (Pensive), different in style reveal a beautiful voice, pure and fresh as youth.

Mischa Elman again registers his versatility through two numbers on a new record. The lyric qualities of Schubert's Valse Sentimental, a quaint and wonderful old waltz, are a good foil for Ravina's Valse Staccato with its unexpected opening in high, whistling harmonies and opportunities for deft bowing.

Schipa augments the program with two vivid tenor songs in Spanish, Rosalinda and Mi viejo Amor (My Old Love.) The latter, a Mexican song, is romantically melancholy, with the throbbing music-metre of the tango throughout.

Vernon Dalhart makes an unusual record of a kind popular with us, of two quaint and vigorous songs of the Southern mountaineer. Ttularly they give some hint of the interest that is in them—Wreck of the Old 97 and The Prisoner's Song, the former a railroad classic of the Casey Jones order, apparently antedating that inspiring bit of minstrelsy. The other song descends from the hair-brooch and weeping willow period.

On first reading, Main Street Wasn't Big Enough for Mary suggests a comic opera biographic sketch, but it is really pathetic ballad with a well-known plot, sung by Henry Burr. Why Live a Lie, by Lewis James is equally tragi-sentimental and also splendidly sung.

Aileen Stanley and Billy Murray come to the front this week with a frankly joyous duet entitled You'll Never Get to Heaven with Those Eyes. Some patter and a mock-Spanish comic song give further variety. Dumb Dora by Murray, solo on the other side is really not so dumb and awfully clever.

Two real Vienna waltzes by a genuine schrammel orchestra are features, and good ones, too, of this week's bill. Vienna, Vanishing Fair City, and Vienna, City of My Dreams are lovely examples of the species rarely heard these days.

Where the Dreamy Wabash Flows, suggests a Dresser lyric, but as played by Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra this week it is a fox-trot with nothing slumbery about it. Follow the Swallow, by George Olsen and His Music on the reverse is good advice, considering its speed. There are dicky-bird effects.

The same organizations, in the order named, play two more foxtrots—Adoring You and Birminy. They are equally lively and defiant of analysis.

Zez Confrey was recently caught in Camden a few minutes to make a pair of fox trots in true Confrey style. Mississippi Shiver and Nickel in the Slot fully repay one's patience over this jazz-master's long absence from the black disc circuit.

Palace Theater

Youth, love and romance are laid bare in Tarnish, the George Fitzmaurice production which is being shown at the Palace theater this week. It is a First National picture, presented by Samuel Goldwyn.

Tarnish, which is an adaptation of Gilbert Emery's famous stage play, is a drama of real life. The photodrama delves so deeply into the human fabric that one is forced to choke the lump that rises in the throat.

Two young people are in love—fine, vigorous young people—but the past of the young man suddenly turns up to besmirch his happiness. The young girl is shaken, tested, illumined. What next? The hero and the heroine work in the same office. The manicurist who provides the hero with a past is also engaged in philandering the heroine's foolish father. On top all of this, a gossipy neighbor who has been using the manicurist, sees the father entertain her and tells about it.

If you like real drama of everyday people, of youth and the flat next door, go and see Tarnish at the Palace theater.

New Telephone Girl story no. 10. Love and Learn. Pathe News. Sport Light and Overture complete this excellent program.

Don't forget that starting Sunday we have some picture, John Barrymore in Beau Brummel.

Breed Theater

Sheer beauty is the outstanding feature of The White Sister, the Lillian Gish triumph which will be shown at the Breed theater today and Saturday.

Henry King, director of The White Sister, traversed Italy from north to south and obtained many locations which can never be excelled for their exquisiteness. The superb Latin palaces, beautiful gardens, time-worn monuments, in fact all the beauty of Italy, has been poured into this picture.

The White Sister, a Henry King production, is a Metro release, produced by Inspiration Pictures, Charles H. Duell, Jr., president.

William Duncan in The Fast Express, the Pathe news and Lyman H. Howe's Hodge Podge make up the remainder of the bill.

DRESS REHEARSAL SHOWS TALENTED LION CAST

Last night at the Broadway Theatre the Norwich Lions went through the hoop in dress uniforms at the direction of lion tamer Doc. Crabtree with a hop and skip and a handsome bunch of lively lions they were. Fred Watson with Wauregan neatness sang, Keep Your Mind on Dancing, but you couldn't do that for all the world, as you had to keep your mind and eyes on Fred. Fred is pleasant to look at. Frank Rinella was singing Big Boy and he did it like a big boy, wheeling around the stage, probably thinking he is wheeling a Velie. The biggest thing about Big Boy is the chorus, which, after they get going, makes Frank look like a little boy. Geo. Finn is known to all as a strutter, but as Strutting Jim, he certainly is a strutter of the struttiest kind. Tyler Stanton sang, Life of a Rose, but with the wrong name. It ought to be Life of the Show, as Tyler puts it over in grand shape. Warren Kane, sang Where the Rainbow Ends, and you could see the sun begin to smile. He certainly has a beautiful sweet voice. His singing makes you think of the passing of the clouds and the beginning of happiness. Chip Dugas chipped in with his artistic dancing, some dancing! All novelty and amazing steps, dancing as for dear life. You wonder how he can keep it up. But he does it with heart and soul to help the Lions. He even beats Doc's famous "Wooden Leg." Then the sunny Kopie Markoff, his business is to make everybody happy by making them see the light and he certainly makes you feel happy to hear him sing. Stingo Stungo. It is a song with a buzz and a sting, and Kopie runs around like stingingly stung, stinging your sides with laughter and real fun. Frank Steinke, the surprise of all, with exceptionally fine bass voice astonished all by singing, Shipmates of Mine. The song makes your mind wander over the sea of life and fills you with heartfelt sentiments for the shipmates of yours. You are astonished at yourself how you can have such serious feeling amid such a bundle of fun as is staged by the rest of the minstrel performers. But the evening is set aside for a good time and the handsome Interlocutor, Bert Caron, breaks the suspense by calling up Eddie Connelly, our Eddy, to sing, Mandy Lee, as only Eddie can sing it. And although Eddie is assisted by Dr. Thompson, Warren Kane and Frank Steinke who make up the Mandy Lee quartet, yet he manages to carry his sweet mellow voice above his able assistants. This quartet is a revelation of beautiful and sustaining melody and harmony. George Madden is also in evidence. He is kept in a reserve as a jack of all trades, and all around man in case one of the lions in the chase drops out at the last moment. They say "Leave it to George to fill the gap," with George on hand no fear of the cast being incomplete. But we must come back to handsome Bert, we have only mentioned his title of interlocutor, but oh, my, what an interlocutor. The Lions are simply wild over his sweet smile and touching voice at the call of which they jump in the air and go through their stunts like bewitched. For want of space we haven't said a word about those who take part in the play, "Alice Where Art Thou?" and about the beautiful girls in the cast. God bless them, our lovely Norwich girls, to describe them would take the entire issue of today's paper as the program is a very large one. But they are in the play all the same. Alive, virile, beautiful, enthusiastic and full of pep.

Really they are a fine set of boys and girls, Norwich boys and girls of ours. They all bear the Rose of New England stamp with all its attributes, honesty, sincerity, goodfellowship, ability and even talent. They are the darlings of the Gods and you dear Norwich public are solicited to come and see them amuse you, to see men of serious and responsible walks of life put away their professional pride and join in a play so that the Lions Club of Norwich may be able to finance their civic and charitable programme.

Broadway Theater

Rudolph Valentino has three big love scenes in the motion picture version of Booth Tarkington's story, Monsieur Beaucaire, coming to the Broadway theater next Sunday. Two of them are with Bebe Daniels and one is with Doris Kenyon. All three are what studio officials term "high-powered."

Valentino proves, in his three love scenes, that he has not lost any of the ability to make love, which has made him one of the most fascinating and compelling screen stars of today. His first scene with the Princess (Bebe Daniels) ends unsuccessfully and sends him off to Bath, England. There he meets the lovely Lady Mary (Doris Kenyon) and the heart of this young Frenchman flutters momentarily.

Forrest Halsey, who adapted The Humming Bird to the screen, prepared the scenario for Monsieur Beaucaire. The screen version of the popular story is said to be just as Tarkington wrote it originally. Bebe Daniels, Lois Wilson, Doris Kenyon and Lowell Sherman are featured in support of Valentino.

William E. Knox, president of the Bowery Savings Bank of New York City, was unanimously elected president of the American Bankers' Association. Oscar Wells of Birmingham, Ala., was chosen first vice president.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Of interest here is the announcement that Nathan D. Prince is one of the incorporators of the proposed new trust company for Putnam, as told in the news from that city in The Bulletin Thursday morning. Mr. Prince is president of the Windham County National bank of this place and vice president of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust company at Hartford. He is rated one of the most efficient and experienced bankers in Connecticut.

At her home in Dayville, Thursday afternon funeral services for Mrs. Ida M. Lillie were conducted by Rev. William Swainson, pastor of the Congregational church at that place. The singing at the service was by Miss Bernice Cogswell and Mrs. Kenneth Michie and the hymns Abide With Me, and Asleep in Jesus. The bearers were George O. Pumrill Earl Pumrill, Harold Bruce, Arthur Moulin, Lawton Kenfield and Earl Lawton. Burial was in Southbridge. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Killingly High school's football gladiators will clash on the Quinebaug grounds this (Friday) afternoon with the team of Woodstock Academy in what will be Killingly High's first contest of the season. The game will afford something of an opportunity to pass upon Killingly's chances for a successful season with a lineup from which will be missing some of the stars of last year's team. That the Killingly players may be encouarged to do their best an effot is being made to get out a large attendance. The team has been at practice for some time and is expected to play well. Strong cheering sections will help spur the boys to victory.

Killingly's football schedule as arranged for the season is as follows:

October 11, Windham High school at Danielson. October 15, Chapman Technical school of New London at Danielson. October 25, Northbridge High school at Northbridge, Mass.; October 31, Putnam High school at Putnam; Nov. 6, open date; November 14, Southbridge High school at Southbridge. November 22, Plainfield High school at Plainfield. November 28, Putnam High school at Danielson.

A special open meeting of Little River grange, with the Windham County Farmers' association co-operating, will be held in Grange hall at Hampton this (Friday) evening. The Farmers' association will contribute to the success of the meeting by arranging for a part of the speaking programme during the lecturer's hour.

The grange has secured William Ridgett, state tax commissioner, to discuss the matter of taxes, in connection with town and state government. In addition Dr. G. Perley, president of the Farmers' association, Whitman Danielson, secretary-treasurer, and F. L. Davis, county agricultural agent, will speak briefly on the agricultural progress that is being made in Windham county. Anyone interested is privileged to attend this meeting.

Thursday morning, the body of Miss Mary Mullen, 34, was forwarded from Dayville to her home in Greenburg, Mass., from which she came to Dayville last Friday for a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Robert Mullen. Miss Mullen, who had not been in the best of health and who recently underwent a surgical operation, died suddenly during Wednesday night, her passing coming as a great shock to her relatives and friends. She was a native of Dayville, but had not lived there for many years. Undertaker Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the arrangements here.

Game officials are urging huntsmen to obey the letter of the law when the open season on game birds begins on next Wednesday morning. This pertains to observing all restrictions against taking game illegally and against shooting game that still will be entitled to protection.

Another request is that special care be taken by hunters against carelessness that may result in forest fires, through the throwing away of lighted matches or cigarettes. Replacement of rails in closed barways, care against doing damage to walls and every such consideration are matters that should claim the attention of the hunters anxious to have the good will of owners of property where hunting is done and anxious to serve against further restrictions as to posted land, etc.

A savings dividend of the Windham County National bank, at the rate of 4 1-2 per cent., will be paid on December 1st. Deposit your funds now to participate in tha tdividend.—adv.

PUTNAM

Captain of Police William Jarvis is going to make one side of Union street a parking place for horse-drawn vehicles only. Automobiles will be allowed to park only on the south side, leaving the north side, where there are hitching posts, for the use of horse-drawn vehicles. Drivers of motor vehicles are being asked to cooperate wth the police in their effort to afford a place for hitching horses.

For a long time there has been need of a place where people from outside, coming to Putnam to trade, could hitch horses. The automobile has crowded them out. Putnam desires their business and there have been several plans to accommodate such vehicles with little success. While Union street is a short street and will not accommodate many such vehicles, it will help.

Another parking rule Captain Jarvis is to put into effect is the keeping of the west side of Main street, from Canal to Bridge streets, clear of automobiles. This street is narrow and, especially on Saturday nights, is lined on both sides with parked cars, leaving a narrow space between. This has long been considered a dangerous situation especially when two cars try to pass each other in the narrow space. Parking will be allowed on the east side of the street, but the west side is to be kept clear to traffic.

These measures the captain deems for the best interests of all drivers of vehicles and the work of the police will be made much easier if drivers will help by paying attention to the rules.

Congressman James P. Glynn, of Winsted, and Mrs. Albert Chambers, of Meriden, have been secured as the principal speakers at the last public rally of the Putnam Coolidge club to be held in Odd Fellows hall, next Thursday evening. Both speakers have statewide reputations. Congressman Glynn is in a position to speak with authority on matters of national concern as well as state politics. The club feels that it has been fortunate in securing the congressman, as there are many demands for him in places larger than Putnam.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock and there will be orchestral music. A new campaign song written by Miss Anna Levitt, chairman of the program committee, will be sung. The title of the new song is: There Is a Long, Long List Awaiting, and it is sung to the tune of There's a Long, Long Trail a Winding. Other of Miss Levitt's original songs will also be sung by request. The meeting is public.

Although there is nearly three months in which to file claims against the Putnam National bank, people are being urged by the receiver, Geo. M. Coffin, to attend to this matter as early as possible. If a large number wait until the last few days before the time expires, it will cause confusion and inconvenience to the creditors, as well as to those working in the bank.

The announcement that permission to form a trust company in Putnam has been asked of the state bank commission has caused a great deal of talk and speculation. Nothing has come in the form of a statement from the citizens' committee except that it is denied that the committee has held no meetings recently and has not been active. The committee has been very active and much of that activity has been outside the city. It is known that committee members were out of town all day Wednesday on matters concerning the new bank.

For the first time in a year Putnam stores were open Thursday afternoon. This was in accordance with a vote of the merchants after a year's trial of the weekly half holiday plan which the merchants found was detrimental to business. That stores were to keep open had apparently become generally known for the business section was filled with automobiles where hertofore, during the half holiday period, the business section was more deserted than on Sundays.

Allan Wilbur, 5-year-old son of Mrs. Beatrice Wilbur, of River road, is in a Worcester hospital under observation for possible internal injuries. The lad was run over by an ice truck, Wednesday afternoon. The boy went behind the cart to pick up pieces of ice just as the driver started to back the truck and the driver did not see him. The wheel passed over his body.

John Hanton, formerly superintendent of the Manhasset Manufacturing company, now with a manufacturing concern at Greenwood, near Apponaug, R. I., is moving his family there.

Mr. and Mrs. Winnifred Langdon, formerly of Putnam, now of Lowell, have been guests of Mr. Langdon's mother, Mrs. Georgianna Lengdon, of Grove street.

Joseph H. Clark, 87, of Boston, who died suddenly at the Hotel Vendome, Commonwealth avenue, was known in Pomfret, where he spent many summers.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church has begun a series of sales and entertainments to raise $500, the assessment on bank stock held by the church society.

MRS. W. C. VAN DER LANN STRICKEN ON STEAMER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, Oct. 2.—The body of Mrs. Louise Payson Grosvenor Van der Lann, wife of Wilhelm C. Van der Laan, who died on a steamship while on the way home from a tour abroad, Monday, when the steamer was two days from New York, arrived in Pomfret, Wednesday night, and funeral services were held at the Van der Laan home, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. George A Barker, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating. Burial was in the family lot in the Sabin cemetery, Pomfret.

It has been learned since Mr. Van der Lann arrived that Mrs. Van der Lann had been in her usual good health while abroad and was feeling well on shipboard until suddenly stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage which left her paralyzed. Death followed the stroke within a few hours.

BALLOUVILLE MAN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

(Special to the Bulletin)

Putnam, Oct. 2—Dennis Shea, about 50, of Ballouville, in the town of Killingly, sustained a broken leg and bad scalp wounds, two other occupants of an automobile sustained slight cuts and bruises and a dog was killed when the Ford touring car crashed into the rear end of a Ford truck on the Providence-Putnam pike, late Thursday afternoon. The Day Kimball hospital ambulance was called and brought Shea to the hospital in Putnam. There are no houses near where the accident happened. Gagnon's truck of Putnam, returning from Providence, came along and rendered assistance. The front of the automobile was wrecked.

JEWETT CITY

Trolley passengers traveling between Norwich and Jewett City are enjoying all the way from the tunnel to the Quinebaug bridge, the surpassing foliage coloring of early fall. A passenger on a car Thursday, in the near-horseshoe curve of the Round Hill bend, declared that such a river scene, with its beautifully painted setting of shrubbery, covering the background of hills, is seldom met with. None of the rust and dimness of the early frosts of the several previous years appears upon the foliage. Sumac, sassafras and ivy are in brightest red, while all the other colors of autumn appear in radiant display.

Willis C. Terry seems to bear a charmed life, for he has been in several serious accidents and still lives, and suffers no lasting injury. Not long ago a bull on his farm attempted to kill him, and came pretty near doing it. The night of the recent high wind a heavy barn door knocked him "galley west." Wednesday while returning from his route in Jewett City, in trying to avoid a truck, he hit the silent policeman at the junction of Main and Soule streets, frightening his horse, which ran away, hitting the fender of William McNicol's automobile, tipped over the wagon and threw Mr. Terry into the road. Mr. Terry was stunned and Eli Lague took him to Dr. J. H. McLaughlin's office. The horse was stopped no Anthony street. George Palmer carried Mr. Terry home, leading a much subdued horse behind the car. Mr. Terry is bruised and lamed up, with the skin gone from the knee to the hip on one leg, but he intends to try his fate again, coming to Jewett City today (Friday).

Friends of James Olson will listen in Monday, betwheen 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when he broadcasts with piano solos from The Outlet, WJAR, in Providence.

Several of the young men are interested in forming a football team of boys of 17 and younger. S. Jackiwicz and Charles Parkhurst are receiving names of those interested.

Passersby on the state road Wednesday evening stopped short, sat up and took notice of the wonderful discharge of firearms, on the eastern border of Tadpole pond. The open season, when one may shoot at black ducks began October 1st. The town clerk was besieged for hunters' licenses and ground them out exceeding fast. At the hardware stores, shot gun shells were purchased by the hundred. Tadpole pond, in days gone by, used to be a famous feeding place for great flocks of wild ducks, especially just at nightfall when they came in from the day's foraging in the upper waters of the Quinebaug.

The oldest hunters tell, that it is no easy job to bag a black duck. They are exceedingly wary, they dive like a dipper, at the flash of a gun and unless it in a vital spot they can fly away with a surprisingly amount of shot. Probably not over a half dozen ducks came into Tadpole Wednesday evening and there were three times that number of hunters there, all expecting to get a few.

In connection with the address by Rev. Edward A. Smith at the Preston City conference, it was interesting to learn that Stephen Johnson, a native of Lisbon, Conn., established the Foo Chow mission, China in 1843.

Boardman school house was broken into Sunday or Monday, a dozen window panes smashed and books taken. Superintendent Clement went to Glasgo with Deputy Sheriff Dolan on Wednesday night and after investigation landed the culprits, two boys ten and eleven years of age. They confessed to their mischief. Thursday, Mr Clement notified State Truant Officer A. W. Buchanan of Mansfield as one of the boys has been away from home for two days and also from school. The state police were also notified and one of them, as well as Mr. Buchanan came to town and interviewed the boys in a drastic manner. They are on probation.

Within a week, three stained glass windows have been broken in the Congregational church by being stoned. Children swarm all over the guns on Fanning Park bang up and down the stone steps with carts, break off the branches of trees and seem to try to mutilate anything that comes in their way and go out of their way to do it.

On complaint of a lot owner, the school children have been forbidden to cross the Baptist cemetery, trespassing which was becoming a nuisance. It is refreshing to know that someone has given a much needed lesson to two of such lawless children.

It is desired by many who are anxious to become Americanized, or to improve their education, that a night school be opened again this year. Results last year were very gratifying. The total number of sessions was 75, and the registration 47. The aggregate attendance was 1,437 and the average attendance 19 plus. The state grant claimed was 76. The nationalities represented were:

	Male.	Female.	Total
Canadians	9	17	26
Greeks	4	1	5
Italians	2	0	2
Lithuaians	1	2	3
Polis	2	6	8

During the year the state field agent visited the classes and expressed herself as highly pleased with work being done. At the close of the year, A reception was given the members of the evening classes, by the local D. A. R. Misses Alice Barnett and Marguerite Bliss were the teachers.

Canadian, English and American fur traders and other representatives of the raw fur industry met in Washington for a three day conference in an endeavor to insure a future supply of furs through protection by proper legislation and stricter enforcement of laws.

More Birds in North

Statistical observances on birds over the North Atlantic ocean indicate that their number increases steadily toward the north, reaching a maximum in the seas between Norway and Iceland. The minimum is found in mid-ocean at about the latitude of North Carolina and the strait of Gilbraltar. The data for this census of sea birds were obtained by Danish scientists during the last four years, with one earlier set of observations some ten years ago. In making their counts they dealt only with birds that spend most of their time at sea, like terns and albatrosses, and excluded shore birds and land birds in passage. One prominent factor of determining the distribution of bird life seems to be the gulf stream. Where this current crosses the Atlantic, between Newfoundland and Britain, there is a considerable aboundance of birds. Southward the number falls off apruptly. Between 30 and 40 degrees north latitude less than a tenth as many birds were observed as between 40 and 50 degrees. The number of oceanic birds increased near the land, on both sides of the Atlantic.

War Strength of Russia.

According to Leon Trotzky, commissar for war, the present strength of the bolshevist army and navy is just under 600,000. The leader of the Red army denied a statement made by the British war secretary that Russia now has a permanent army of 1,300,000.

A New York man attempted to drown his sorrow by turning the hose on his mother-in-law.

Telescope Spectacles

Telescopic spectacles have been advised for the benefit of persons suffering from extreme myopia. By amplifying the retinal image they are a powerful aid to vision. Those persons likely to derive the greatest advantage from these glasses are those who are unable to wear continuous simple correcting glasses of the ordinary type.

The telescope spectacles consist of two components, a large concave front lens, and a smaller diverging lens near the eye. The objective of the two components is such that when the wearer looks at an object in a direct line his vision will not in any way be marred by distortion.

In these glasses, it is said, the size of the retinal image is increased about 50 per cent as compared with the natural image.

Strange Moon Rays

Puisseux, the distinguished selenographer of the Paris Observatory, some time ago observed that the curious rays or bands, extending in straight lines away from many lunar craters such as the celebrated tycho, are produced by the deposition of volcanic ashes carried to great distances on the winds that happened to prevail at the time the eruption occurred.

He accounts for the relative narrowness of these bands, which are never more than 30 miles broad, though their length is sometimes many hundred miles, by supposing that only the central axis of the deposit has remained, the less dense borders having been destroyed by the denuding forces of the air when the moon had a considerable atmosphere.

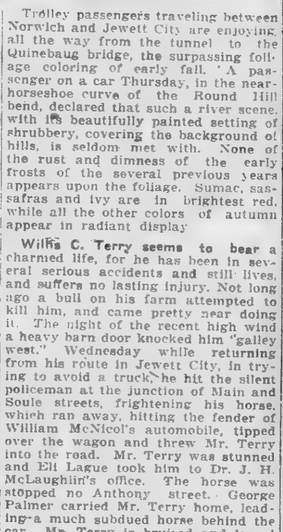
Offers Plan To Liquidate French Debt



KEYSTONE VIEW CO., NEW YORK

Edward N. Hurley, former Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, and now member of the Debt Funding Commission, who has submitted a plan for the settlement of the French debt to the U. S. He says a first payment in five years of $100,000,000 would take care of principal and interest for 67 years. On succeeding payments, half would be invested in French Industrial Bonds, maturity 25 years from date.

GOOD LOSERS.

There are those who differ and yet abide by the decision of the majority whatever that may be. There are those who insist that all must bow to their opinions, and when there is conflict therewith there follows resentment which it is impossible to remove.

In this connection the aftermath of the recent primary in Massachusetts is deserving of attention. There was a three-cornered contest among the republicans for the nomination of a candidate for United States senator. It was a contest into which all entered with determination. There were the usual pleas as to why the respective individuals should or should not be chosen. It was not a happy go lucky campaign but one where views were outspoken and pointed and where it was possible for resentment to be felt.

The primary result was a decisive one. It was a clear cut victory by a large majority, showing that there was no question about the desires of the party, and a delightful outcome thereof is the manner in which the defeated candidates have taken off their coats and are working for the election of the successful man.

That is not always the case. There are those who promise their support, even congratulate the winner and agree to stand by him but that is about as far as they go. It is therefore a fine example of what should occur among those engaged in the political game. The defeated Massachusetts candidates are displaying the right spirit. They are admitting that the successful man had qualifications or particular appeal to the people at this time which they could not overcome. It was for the people to decide and they did decide. It is now time for the loyal supporters of the party, including the defeated candidates, to work for the success of the party instead of trying to prevent it by sulking, balking and obstructing.

The Massachusetts example is an excellent one, but it requires big and broad men to put it into operation. They have shown themselves to be good losers and they stand better with the public for so doing.

TREASURE HUNTING.

Because of new inventions and improved facilities that make it possible to carry on diving operations where it was impossible some years ago, increased attention is being given to salvage work. With the bottom of the ocean studded with hulks carrying great wealth there is a desire to reclaim it.

The ambition is not exactly a new one which prompts another effort to recover the millions in gold and gems which went down with the Merida off the Virginia coast, more than a dozen years ago, because several attempts have been made without success. The location where the wreck is supposed to lie is not especially favorable for underwater operations. Whatever is done is therefore involving more or less danger.

No little encouragement has been given to this undertaking by the successful outcome of the salvage operations that have only recently been completed off the Irish coast upon a British liner which was sunk during the war while carrying much bullion and other valuables. The work was extended over a period of many months but in the end there was a complete recovery of the gold and the prevention of an otherwise huge loss. Since the war salvaging of vessels which were sent down by submarines in shallow waters have been extensive. Not only are divers able to reach greater depths with present day devices, but science has provided the means of detecting gold in the hidden depths of the sunken ships.

It is to be presumed that the new attempt to reclaim the fortune aboard the Merida will have the advantage of all the latest equipment, skillful engineers and experienced divers. There can be no mistaking what the job is that is being tackled in view of the experiences of the past, but the harder the job the greater will be the accomplishment if success crowns the efforts. Big stakes encourage the taking of big chances.

MAKE ALIENS REGISTER.

There is always some new case bobbing up, some new phase of old cases being presented or some new idea centered around the provisions of the immigration law. It is of course the everlasting search for a loophole, and strange as it may seem don't very much difficulty in finding them at times.

As the result of a case brought before him Federal Judge Sheppard has ruled that inasmuch as it was a war measure it is not possible to penalize those caught being smuggled into this country by punishment. That the matter will not be allowed to rest there is probable, but if there proves to be no error in that decision it is unfotunate that it wasn't revealed before.

Those who enter the country in violation of the immigration laws are of course subject to deportation, but deportation in itself offers no serious penalty. Many would be willing to take the chance of getting into the country in defiance of the laws if the worst that could happen to them was to be sent back again. If they knew that such an undertaking meant imprisonment as well as deportation there might be a different attitude displayed toward the idea.

If the federal judge is sustained in his opinion there is early business already outlined for congress. It is time to correct the laws so that there can be punishment by imprisonment. But while congress may well give its attention to this situation which, from the recent court ruling, tends to increase bootleg immigration, it would do well also to require all aliens in the country to register. This would provide a means of detecting those who gained an entrance illegally and to give the country greater protection against the smugglers of aliens. As it is now, anyone who manages to get into the country unseen and keeps out of trouble is likely to experience no trouble in remaining. Registration would place a check upon such people and would serve to hold back still more that large class of undesirables which is always striving to evade the law both upon entrance and after they get in.

THE BASEBALL DISCLOSURE.

When Baseball Commissioner Landis suspends one New York player and a coach for attempting to bribe a Philadelphia player the situation is bad enough. When the commissioner indicated that his investigations were far from completed and there might be even more sensational developments, the possibilities of disclosures that will give baseball another blackeye are open.

It doesn't appear as yet just why the utility fielder of the Giants should be so interested in the buying of a game from a team which they were practically sure to defeat, but the fact that the offer was made discloses a bad condition and opens up to inference the charge that if this kind of practice was resorted to in one instance there is no telling how extensively it was employed in winning the pennant.

The Giants are placed in a bad light as the result of the disclosure. Those who came close to winning the first place in the National league are inclined to feel that they are the victims of underhanded work. It remains to be determined how many others have been approached to throw games and how many have yielded, if any.

Under the commissioner, baseball has been doing very well toward throwing off that suspicion that was created when the Chicago players went wrong and threw the game. Since then the effort has been to prove that baseball is on the level and the national game has not suffered any serious drawbacks until this recent revelation. The prompt action by the commission after the Philadelphia player who was offered the bribe had done his duty indicates that the machinery for keeping the game straight is in good operating order. It should be made clear, however, that there is no place in baseball for bribes or crooked players. They should be rooted out permanently when found.

TEACHING THRIFT.

Banking institutions do much for the encouragement and protection of savings. They likewise do much in the way of guiding the youth of the country along the road to thrift. They have seen and accepted the opportunity which has been opened to them of taking the place of parents in this respect, and by their endeavors impressing upon the children the need of preventing waste and of making some provision for the future. It is surprsing what an enthusiastic response there invariably is to such a movement. Children are eager to do something. When they are shown that they can have a bank account they become interested, and it is natural that they should want to systematically increase it.

There are communities where most commendable records are being established. Others where there is a where, even though the number concerned is smaller, the work has left a lasting impression and steady gains competitive interest and others are being made. It is through the school children that excellent results are being obtained and it is a gratifying showing which is made both as to numbers and deposits in the reports on this work by the banks.

This was one of the subjects that received no little attention from the American Bankers' association in convention at Chicago this week. The success of it thus far shows that there is a field for the work. The deposits of school children show that it is worthwhile and is accomplishing what is aimed at.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The man on the corner says: Is October out to get the popular vote over September?

According to the reports China is experiencing all the horrors of old time warfare.

General Dawes is proving to be just as much of a fighter in politics as in any other war activity.

It isn't necessary to be without electric lights long to thoroughly appreciate how important they are.

Anthracite sales in larger volume, is the report. Waiting until time to consume before buying is an old and expensive habit.

Another train wrecked by an automobile indicates that motor cars are becoming more and more dangerous to rail transportation lines.

General Pershing considers the $13,500 pay, which he has been getting and which he will continue to get, unlucky only in that it isn't larger.

The savings deposits for last year in this country amounted to almost as much as the total of all kinds of bank deposits ten years ago. It's a terrible situation for which the republicans are responsible.

After all the trouble that has been experienced in past years, and all the additional expense from procrastination, the Massachusetts state commissioner on necessaries of life finds it necessary to urge people to buy coal now.

HANDS UP!

"You can have my life, but you can never get my soul," murmured the 12-year-old Lisbeth dreamily.

"What!" ejaculated her startled parent, letting his newspaper drop to regard his offspring with anxiety.

"Aw, bottle that stuff, can't you?" said her small brother. "How can a guy study with that going on?"

"What do you mean by it?" demanded her father breathlessly. "Who can have your life but not your soul."

"A burglar," explained Lisbeth patiently. "If a burglar walked into this room right now that's what I'd say to him."

"Huh-h," scoffed the small brother. "Yes you would! You'd be scared so silly you wouldn't know what to say. Besides, that's a heck of a thing to say. I'd say: 'Look here, sir, you make yourself scarce pretty quick or I'll call the police.' Wouldn't you say that, pop?"

Thus called upon the father sat up in his chair and looked severely at the two children. "I will tell you what I would say in case a burglar came into the room at this moment.

" 'Young man,' I would say, have a care! Have a care! Do you realize that you are about to commit a great wrong? Do you realize that you are preying on society and not justifying your existence by leading a useful life? Pause! Repent! Put down that gun. If in your—' "

"Aw, say, those birds are too hard boiled," objected the small boy. "I'd run for the telephone and say, 'Central, police department!' "

"Consider your rash act," went on the father, warming to his theme and growing severe, "consider your grammar consider the lamentable slang which has brought you to this deplorable situation. It is not too late—"

"Aw, say," said the small boy, "I guess my grammar's no worse than a lot of kids."

"My life I give you freely," murmured Lisbeth, "but my soul belongs—"

"Many a bright youth," continued the parent, "has paused to repent before the gloomy portals of the county jail closed behind him—"

"Hands up!" said a rough voice, and a masked figure, carrying a pistol, pointed the end of the weapon in the horrified face of the man who had been speaking. There was a short pause during which the small boy Henry lanked the leg of the small brojackrabbit. Young Lisbeth went down on her knees, saying, "Take my life, but you cannot have—"

But the man of the house started to his feet, seized the masked intruder by the wrists and twisted the pistol away from him. After that he knocked the burglar to the floor and held him there with his knee pressed against his chest. During this operation the mask fell off, disclosing the grinning features of his eldest son, Henry.

"What kind of a joke is this?" demanded the angry father.

"Ha, ha!" gasped the practical joker, rubbing his chest. "Not one of you did what you said you'd do. Father didn't start to deliver his long lecture. And as for you—" Here Henry yaked the leg of the small brother who was coming sheepishly out from under the table. "Where are the police you were going to call in?"

"Aw, say," protested the small brother. "I would have called them if I had had time."

"You're lucky you didn't get your neck broken," growled the father of the family.

Lisbeth danced up and down. "I did what I said I'd do! I did what I said I'd do!" she said, excitedly and triumphantly.

"Pipe down," said Henry. "You knew who it was all the time. I had to come in before I was ready, because you were about to give me away."—Chicago News.

Ade, the Small-City Reporter

George Ade wanted to be a great novelist. When his opportunity came he could not grasp it, and when he was ready the public or publishers would not let him stray from his field of established success.

Son of a banker in Kentland, Ind., he attended the public schools and at 21 was graduated from Purdue university at Lafayette, Ind., taking a position as a reporter on a Lafayette newspaper immediately afterward.

After three years of small-city newspaper work, he obtained a place on the Record of Chicago. Showing ability to write "human nature" stories, he was placed in charge of a column. Features then were a novelty in newspapers, and often his matter was "killed," until finally the publisher put his writings in a department that was not to be touched.

Naming his department Stories of the Streets and of the Town, Ade created the characters of Artie, and Pin Marsh, Doc Horne and others, and these found their way into books. Critics praised his work and publishers asked him to produce a novel. Making a virtual promise to write one as soon as he could give up his position paying $60 a week, he laid his plan to be a novelist. The book was to be named The College Widow, dummies were prepared and orders taken, but his newspaper work demanded all his time.

Needing something new in his department, he started his Fables in Slang, after spending much time in preparation. They immediately became popular, other newspapers sought them, and Ade, after ten years as a daily department writer, resigned at 34 and wrote for magazines.

A visit to the Philippines inspired the plot for the musical comedy, The Sultan of Sulu, he added liberal dashes of a variation of his slang expressions, and the production was a success. Theatrical producers induced him to write The County Chairman, and other plays. Still too busy to start writing a novel, he dramatised the idea conceived in his newspaper years, and The College Widow proved a hit on the stage.

Ade is famous as a humorist. He is rich and enjoys life traveling or on his beautiful farm in Indiana. And it still is possible that he will produce a novel.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Dr. Samuel McCune Lindsay, who is on his way to Chile as head of a delegation to attend the Fourth Pan-American Child Welfare Congress at Santiago, is a noted sociologist and educator, who holds the chair of social legislation at Columbia University. It has been said of Dr. Lindsay that he has probably studied at more universities than any other man in the United States. His first degree came from the University of Pennsylvania. After completing his studies there he went abroad and took special sourses in the universities of Paris, Vienna, Rome, Berlin and Halle. He was at one time Commissioner of Education in Porto Rico and at other times he has been called into the service of the Federal government to direct various commissions for the investigation of trade, labor, and other problems. He is president of the American Academy of Political Science and chairman of the National Child Labor Committee.

Stories That Recall Others

Taking Dictation

A new stenographer had just arrived at the office, and was promptly put to work.

"Take this letter," the boss said.

"The letter will go to M (for Mary) L. (for Lester) Stearns & Co., Boston Mass. Dear Sirs."

And the letter came back to him to sign reading:

Boston, Mass.
Dear Sirs.

Not a Chicken Coupe

The term "chicken coupe" as applied to a small coupe with accommodations for two or three eligible girls and an intrepid driver, has gained considerable notoriety, but there is now a new designation.

Several days ago a traffic official beheld an unusual arrangement in a coupe, and became interested inasmuch as he had been giving particular attention to the crowded front seat. In this coupe was a driver and a calf. The calf was standing with its back on a level with the steering wheel and its head almost out of the window.

"There were only two passengers in the car," said the traffic officer, "but it looked crowded to me."

Fall Style Notes

Two and three button, single-breasted coats are the favorites. They hang very easily; some hug the hips a trifle, others have a suggestion of the waist line. Trousers are full and drop straight to a wide cuff.

The New Colors

There are many new shades that are extremely good; parrot blue is one of them; London lavender another; also lava gray and the new tones of brown. Deep blues too, with self-patterns are smart.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

Sammy Jay

"Oh, is that you, Sammy Jay?" asked Little Jack Rabbit, as a pretty bird, fully twelve inches in length in his askey blue coat, bright blue wings, barred with black, settled on the upper Old Rail Fence.

"Jay, jay, jay!" answered the pretty bird, snapping up an insect. "Haven't seen you for a long time."

"No, I stay near home now-a-days and help mother put up winter preserves," answered the bunny boy. "She makes lovely lettuce leaf marmalade."

"Well, five been here and there and everywhere," answered Sammy Jay. "My household duties are over for this year. Our old nest of twigs and lined with grass is empty now. It made a nice home in the crotch of a thick tree for our little ones. Mrs. Jay laid six pale olive-green eggs, prettily mottled with brown. It wasn't long before we had six little nees."

"Will you be here all winter?" asked the little rabbit. "Your feather coat is such a pretty blue I hope you stop around when the snow is on the ground."

"But dear me, instead of answering the bunny boy's question, the mischievous blue jay made a sound just like the cry of Red-shoulder Hawk. Yes, shreebus. It sounded so like that old sky robber's voice that the little rabbit never waited a minute, but hopped, skipperty skop, clipperty clop into the Shady Forest. He didn't know you see, that Sammy Jay had many whistles and calls, and could imitate other birds, especially the Red-shouldered, Red-tailed and Sparrow Hawks. But Lady Love, the bunny boy's wise little mother had taught her small son never to wait a minute to find out what might be the danger. If he did, it might be too late. Yes, if he waited too long it probably would be too late to find out, for a hawk strikes so quickly that one nevers knows what has hit him.

"Dearest me!" sighed the bunny boy, when safe under the thick, sheltering trees of the Shady Forest. 'I hope Hungry Hawk didn't see me."

"You silly bunny boy," snapped a voice, all of a sudden, just like that, quick as the wind that blows off your hat, "I was Sammy Jay who made that noise,—not Hungry Hawk."

Looking up, the little rabbit saw Grandmother Magpie in the branches overhead. "Sammy Jay's a bad fellow," and she went on to explain that he often ate birds' eggs and young fledglings (tiny young birds, if you don't kno wwhat "fledglings" mean, little reader.) "He also destroys lots of insects and is very fond of nuts which are hidden in the cracks of the old oaks or burried in the ground. But for all that, he's a mischievous fellow," and with these parting words, Grandmother Magpie flapped her wings and flew away, but maybe she'll come back some day. Oh, I'm sure she will, for she's such a meddlesome old bird that she's always around when nobody wants her.

WILLS IS BOUND OVER FOR ATTEMPTED ARSON

Arraigned on a complaint of attempted arson at the place of Henry L. Allen on the turnpike in North Stonington on Wednesday night, Sept. 24, Henry Wills of Westerly, where he has been employed at watchman at the new hospital, was brought from Norwich and presented before Justice Leonard R. Main in North Stonington on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. A demurrer to the complaint was entered by the accused's counsel, Attorney Herbert W. Rathbun, in this case, which was continued from a week ago.

Justice Main overruled the demurrer, found probable cause and bound the accused over to the January term of the superior court. Th state was represented by Attorney Edmund W. Perkins of Norwich. Being unable to furnish bail, Wills was again taken to New London county jail in Norwich by Deputy Sheriff William H. Casey and Patrolman Charles W. Connors of Baweatuck. The court attendance was large.

Wills has been in the Norwich jail since his arrest on the night when burning paper was found on the cellar floor of the Allne house, with kerosene sprinkled against the lapboards.

TAFTVILLE WINS TWO FROM LEAGUE LEADERS

The Taftville team took a fall out of the league leading Moosup team on Tuesday evening at the Taftville alleys when they took two strings of the three. Moosup won the first string by ten pin margin but were nosed out in the remaining two. The scores were below the average for the league games only one man, King, of Moosup hitting above the 360 mark, he rolling 376 for a total. King also had the high single with 117. The scores:

PEERLESS FIVE SETS TWO NEW BOWLING LEAGUE MARKS

The Peerless Five of New London in the match with the Palace Five at the Palace Alleys in this city on Thursday evening hung up two new marks in the Eastern Connecticut Bowling when they hit 613 in the first string for a new high team single and then made the high team total mark of 1633. With a mark of 613 for the first string the Peerless five hit 563 in the second but fell down badly in the final game which they lost to the Palace bowlers. Henry Sistare and Cooper of the New London team were tied for high total with 343 while Ferrell took high single with 134.

This match rolled by the Peerless team was productive of some of the best bowling seen in this city in a game before this mark is shattered by other teams in the league. The number of years and it will be a long series:

OBITUARY.

Rev. F. A. Petterson.

Following an illness of over two years the life of Rev. Franz August Petterson came to a close Thursday morning at his home at 456 West Main street. Rev. Mr. Petterson until the health failed him in 1922, had served as pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church on Hickory street, also the Swedish Lutheran church of Willimantic, having come to this city in 1913 to accept the pastorate. Since coming to this city he endeared himself to all members of that church and to many people not connected with it and the news of his death will be received with sorrow in many local homes.

Rev. Mr. Petterson was born in Sweden, March 25, 1861 and came to this country in 1891, continuing his studies for the ministry, began in Sweden, at Augustans Theological Seminary, Rock Island, Ill. He completed his studies in May, 1893, and was ordained to the ministry in June of that year. Since that time he had served continuously as a Lutheran pastor in Monson, Me., Sheffield, Penn., and Proctor, Vt. In 1913 he came to Norwich and accepted the pastorate of the Swedish Lutheran church also serving as pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church of Willimantic during the same years. Health caused his giving up active pastorates in 1922.

REV. FRANZ A. PETTERSON

On August 1, 1886 he was united in marriage with Anna M. Carlson who survives him with two daughters, Mrs. Victor A. Tongren and Miss Elsie Petterson of Norwich; two sons, Nathaniel C. Petterson of Proctor, Vt., and John A. Petterson of Worcester, Mass. One son, Martin S. Petterson died December 15, 1920. Rev. Mr. Petterson also leaves two grandchildren, John Petterson, Jr., and Raymond Petterson, of Worcester; a sister, Mrs. John Anderson of Erie, Pa., and four brothers in Sweden.

Mrs. Jacob McCall.

Jane M. Ellsworth, widow of Jacob McCall, passed peacefully away on Thursday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Sherman at 10 Mountain avenue.

Mrs. McCall was born at East Windsor, Conn., May 16, 1831, the daughter of Job Ellsworth and Laura Osborn. Of the ten children of this family, four sons served in the Civil war, two of whom never returned. One of the sons, Dr. Charles Ellsworth of Venice Center, N. Y., is now living. Mrs. McCall was very proud of her Colonial ancestry, being a lineal descendant of Governor William Bradford.

On January 11, 1854, she was united in marriage with Jacob McCall of Lebanon. They were married at Albany, N. Y., by the Rev. Ray Palmer, author of the hymn, My Faith Looks Up to Thee. Most of Mrs. McCall's life was spent at Lebanon, Conn., Goshen Society. Of a very religious nature, she was one of the most devoted and loyal life members and workers in the Goshen church. For the past eight years she has made her home in Norwich and has been tenderly cared for by her daughter, Mrs. Sherman.

For seven years she has been confined to her room with a broken hip. During this time she has been deeply interested in the Bulletin's Social Corner. She was its Great Grandmother and wrote many interesting articles for its columns. Her mind and hands were always busy and it was a great joy to her to be able to make the old-fashioned hooked-in-rugs which she designed and worked on until the day before her death.

The four children of Jacob and Jane McCall were William Henry, George, Adelaide Ellsworth and Elizabeth, wife of the late John E. Sherman. Mrs. Sherman is the only one who survives.

There are eight grandchildren, John H. Sherman, Harry L. Sherman, Mrs. Charles J. Twist, Mrs. Arthur L. Peale of this city, Mrs. Charles K. Tracy, Collinsville, Arthur E. Sherman, Providence, R. I., Edwin M. Sherman, San Diego, Cal., and George McCall of Norwich. There are also eight grant-grandchildren.

Folding Box Makers Convention

The Folding Box Manufacturers' National Association, comprising many of the prominent producers of folding cartons, will hold its fall meeting at the Hotel Blackstone, Chicago, on October 16.

Every household is interested in sanitary packages of food products for which, among other things, these cartons are used. The cartons are artistically printed in colors: sometimes one or two, but frequently in three, four or five, and bear the brand name or trade mark of the manufacturer of the particular product concerned. They are shipped by the carton manufacturer to the packer of the product in a flat or compact form to avoid waste space. Many millions of these cartons are used daily as containers for coffee, sugar, tea, cereals, spices, butter, biscuits, toilet preparations and many other commodities of daily household use. The various products are automatically packed in the cartons at a very rapid rate and under sanitary conditions.

Atlantic Carton Corporation of this city of which Walter E. Turner is president are manufacturing these folding cartons.

SHORE LINE TROLLEY OPERATION SHOWS NET PROFIT IN 8 MONTHS

In two months of this year, the operation of the Shore Line Electric Railway company trolley system has shown a gain, but in six months a loss, but the net result has been an operating gain of $1,848.16, according to the report of Receiver Robert W. Perkins which was filed Thursday with the clerk of the superior court here.

Cash operations for August are shown as follows:

Cash on hand, Aug. 1 ..... $49,232.56

Cash receipts—

Passenger revenue $9,659.07

Accounts receivable 27,243.34

36,902.41

$86,134.97

Cash disbursements—

Payrolls $2,771.91

Power purchased.. 3,526.60

Liquidation expense $20.59

Miscellaneous 1,881.29

9,100.39

Cash balance Sept. 1 ..... $77034.58

In a memorandum appended the receiver states that the gain in cash balance is not an evidence of operating gain or loss.

There is an operating gain shown for this year up to the end of August of $1,848.16. July and August are the only months in which there has been an operating gain, $3,625.17 in the former and $4,737.38 in the latter month. The other months show operating deficits as follows: January $1,349.65; February $1,625.90, March $1,061.63; April $430.62, May $1,659.51; June $338.08.

The total operating deficit since the receivership in 1920 is $54,905.69.

GREENEVILLE GIRLS HURT; MOTOR DRIVER SUMMONED

Three Greeneville girls were injured, one of them severely, and Dennis Patterson of 76 State street, New London, driver of the machine in which they were riding, was summoned to court on a reckless driving charge after his machine had collided, about 9.30 Thursday night, on Boswell avenue near the city line at St. Joseph's cemetery with a Chalmers touring car owned and driven by John Depinto of 285 Franklin street.

Miss Julia Dwojakowski of 40 Convent street, who was riding on the running board of Patterson's machine, received a deep cut in the thigh, requiring ten stitches to close it. Miss Sadie Stearns of 278 Central avenue, who was standing on the running board behind Miss Dwojakowski, received minor injuries, and Miss Mary Stearns, her sister, who was in the seat with Patterson, suffered from shock. The girls were taken to the office of Dr. Paul F. Gadie and then to their homes in Patterson's machine.

Depinto's car lost its right front wheel, had the right headlight smashed and mudguard bent. The other car had the right forward door deeply dented, besides other damage.

Patterson was driving toward Taftville and was on the left side of the street, with a double pair of trolley tracks on his right, when he met the Depinto car coming in the opposite direction, and on its right side of the street. The cars crashed together with Miss Dwojakowski and Miss Sadie Stearns swept off the running board as they met, and the screams of the girls aroused the neighborhood.

Officer Luke Riley investigated the accident and Sergt. Thomas Murphy charged Patterson with reckless driving and summoned him to appear in the city court this (Friday) morning.

BELL ALARM FOR WEST SIDE FIRE

Fire of unknown origin in a two-story shed in the rear of 108 West Main street caused the fire department to be called out at 1.25 o'clock this (Friday) morning. The fire was discovered by Joseph Jascuh, who lives in the tenement, and he immediately went across the street to engine house No. 5 and alarmed the firemen. A tank of chemical was used and Box 14, corner of Thames and West Main streets, was rung in.

The recall sounded shortly after the arrival of the apparatus, one stream of water being used to put out the fire, which had spread to the lower story of the shed. The damage was mostly by water. The property is owned by Abraham Jacobson of West Main street.

WEDDINGS

Phillips-Johnson

A pretty fall wedding took place Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Johnson of West Main street, East Great Plain, when their daughter, Alice Elizabeth Johnson became the bride of George Dwight Phillips of Elmwood avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Phillips of Lisbon.

The bridal party entered the parlor to the music of the wedding march played by Walter McNeely and were united in marriage by Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church, the ceremony taking place beneath an archway of autumn leaves and hydrangeas. Previous to the ceremony Miss Maida Wright softly rendered O Promise Me. The house was beautifully decorated with hydrangeas and autumn leaves, the decorative scheme following a fall motif.

The bride was charmingly gowned in brocaded crepe with ostrich trimmings and her bouquet was of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor was Miss Helen Phillips, sister of the groom, who was gowned in coral satin with ostrich trimmings and carried pink rose buds. The best man was Philip Peterson of Brunswick, Me.

Following the wedding a reception was held and buffet luncheon served to about 50 guests. The bride received many beautiful presents including furniture, cut glass, money and china.

The groom was born in Sprague and is a graduate of Plainfield High school. He attended Brown University during the war where he was a member of the Brown Unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. He is a civil engineer and is employed by Chandler & Palmer of this city.

The bride was born in this city and has always lived here. She has been employed in the office of the Alling Rubber Co. Both are members of the Central Baptist church.

The couple are well known and have many friends in this city who wish them happiness. Following a wedding tour they will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 18 Hamlin street.

FUNERAL

Mrs. John Curran

The funeral of Mrs. John Curran was held at her home in Occum, on Thursday morning at 8.30 o'clock, solemn high requiem mass being celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Frederick DesSurreault, rector of the church, Rev. J. H. Tyler of Jewett City was deacon and Rev. U. O. Bellerose of Taftville, sub-deacon.

The services were attended by many relatives and friends and the many floral pieces were evidence of the esteem in which Mrs. Curran had been held by many friends. During the mass Miss Irene Lavalle presided at the organ and at the offertory Miss Beatrice Brunnell sang O Salutaris. For a waiting hymn she sang Beautiful Land on High and the processional, Nearer, My God to Thee, was sung by the church choir.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery the committal service being conducted by Rev. Father Tyler assisted by Rev. Father DesSurreault. The bearers were Thomas Coffee, Thomas Bruno, Alex Dugas, Joseph Laroche, Renee Laroche and William Genours.

Arrangements were by Cummings & Ring.

STUDYING THE REASONS FOR TRAFFIC FATALITIES

What can be done to lessen the toll of killed and injured due to the amazing growth of automobile traffic—a toll of fatalities frequently greater in a month than the 1503 lost in the Titanic disaster? How can the present conditions—so serious as to attract the most careful consideration in many communities—be improved? These are questions asked in a bulletin issued by the Department of Commerce at Washington.

"Education," "more uniform traffic laws," "licensing of drivers and their control in a more drastic manner," "better highway engineering," "reduction of congestion in the larger cities by city planning and zoning," "closer attention to mechanical and safety equipment of automobiles" are some of the remedies offered by various groups.

Some time ago Secretary of Commerce Hoover was asked by several national organizations trying to improve conditions, to head a movement for greater cooperation and greater cordination of efforts in decreasing the hazards of traffic. These included the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, American Automobile Association, American Engineering Council, National Safety Council, American Railway Association, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, and American Mutual Alliance. Representatives of these meeting with Secretary Hoover, agreed that the present lack of coordinated effort could be overcome and more lasting and broader results could be achieved.

Plans were made for a thorough investigation of the problem from every angle, the recommendations developing from these studies are to be presented at a conference early this winter to which all organizations interested are to be invited. At the outset it was recognized that to attain the real objective, facts must be gathered from many sources and covering many subjects. Secretary Hoover invited experts in all of these subjects to serve on committees to make the preparatory studies, motor vehicle commissioners, state highway engineers, chiefs of police and traffic officers, members of the Association of State Highway Officials, the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, the Federal Bureau of Standards, Bureau of the Census and other agencies, technical association representatives, as well as from organized labor, industrial and commercial and professional organizations.

Committees were formed to collect statistical information; to study present traffic control measures, including the examination and licensing of drivers; to consider highway engineering in relation to safety; to discover the relation of city planning and zoning to safety conditions; the influence of insurance; the importance of educational programs; and to develop facts as to safety equipment of the motor vehicle.

The committee on Statistics, with Director W. M. Steuart of the Bureau of the Census as chairman, studying the causes, location and frequency of accidents found an amazing lack of uniformity in the collection of such statistics by states and communities. Replies to questionnaires indicated that many places have not awakened to the value of knowing where, how often, and why traffic accidents occur in their communities. Some states and cities do secure this information and use it in "spot" maps to locate danger points; while others have only the vaguest knowledge, apparently, of the true conditions.

The committee on Traffic Control, headed by Maj. Roy F. Britton of St. Louis, president of the Automobile Club of Missouri, has undertaken a study of speeds, signals and signs, parking and other kindred subjects affecting the safe and expeditious movement of traffic. Here, again, was a marked lack of uniformity, as well as the allied problem of the examination, licensing and discipline of drivers. The reports of this committee, with recommendations, are being compiled.

The highway and street engineering problems of safety, including the illumination of rural roads which are heavily traveled, surfacing, marking with directional and warning signs, considered by a committee of which Frank Page, Highway Commissioner of North Carolina, is chairman, disclose widely varied practices. The Bureau of Standards and Bureau of Public Roads, as well as the signal code committee of the American Engineering Standards Committee, are taking a keen interest in these subjects.

Much stress is being laid by the committee on City Planning and Zoning, head by Fred A. Delano, chairman of the Washington Federal City Committee, on the relation of bulk of buildings to the density of traffic, development of street layouts and arterial highways, the effect of breaking up congestion through development of suburban shopping and industrial sub-centers, the location of playgrounds and public buildings. The report of this committee is expected to contain much important information for the many city planning commissions throughout the country.

Insurance representatives and others, under the chairmanship of Prof. S. S. Huebner of the Wharton School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania, are studying liability for damage in traffic accidents, certification of titles, ratings and other insurance measures affecting safety problems of many cities.

Commissioners of education and other authorities, as well as noted educators, under the chairmanship of Prof. A. W. Whitney of New York City, are considering the progress of national and local organizations toward the education of the general public, drivers and other special classes, and school children to the fact that safety first is the keynote of self preservation.

Headed by H. M. Crane, president of the Society of Automotive Engi- ... group of experts are studying mechanical safety equipment of the motor vehicle, the means by which this may be improved, the limitation of weight and size of trucks, the proper attention to the service conditions of the vehicles and other factors directly concerned with safe operation.

As these committees undertook their work, the need was seen for an eighth committee to plan means for placing before the states and communities throughout the country, where lies the real power for solution of the problem, the many recommendations that will come from the conference on street and highway safety. This committee, termed the committee on public relations, headed by George M. Graham of Cleveland, O., is drafting recommendations for improved organization of traffic safety measures and better cooperation between official agencies, private bodies and civic associations.

ENTERTAINMENT EVENING FOR ARCANUM CLUB OPENING

To mark the opening of the fall season of the Arcanum club a delightful entertainment was given in the club rooms on Webster Heights Thursday evening for the members, their wives and friends. Clement's Entertainment Bureau of Hartford gave a very pleasing programme of music, monologues and readings after which a buffet luncheon of ice cream, cake, wafers and punch was served and cigars were provided. The remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing, music being furnished by Swahn's orchestra.

The members and their guests were much pleased with the appearance of the club house which has undergone a number of improvements since last spring. New rugs have been placed in the front rooms which are used for reading and conversation. New oak floors have been laid in these rooms as well as in the hall which has a new covering in the shape of a rubber runner. The front stairs are covered with the same material and edged in brass, with brass plates to protect the woodwork.

New shades and portieres adorn the windows in the reading rooms. The billiard and pool room has been newly painted and the banquet hall and bowling alleys have been put in first class shape. The exterior of the club house has been newly painted.

The officers and committees of the club are as follows:

President, Dr. Franklin S. Wilcox, vice president, Dr. C. A. Spear; secretary, F. I. Royce; treasurer, F. B. Lathrop; auditor, C. D. Greenman.

House committee, C. A. Spear, J. N. Weymouth, Tyler D. Guy.

EFFICIENCY TALK ON GIVING TO CHURCH

The meeting in church efficiency week, held in Bushnell chapel, of the Central Baptist church, Thursday evening, was for church workers and Rev. Frederick A. Agar spoke on Giving. The speaker laid special emphasis on the importance of giving if the work of the church is to be continued and enlarged.

The proof of your love for your church is how you give of your money, he said, for no matter how much you say with your lips, it means nothing if you refuse to give of your money. You cannot say you love God and in the same breath say, "He cannot have any of my money because I cannot afford it." Every member ought to contribute something, make some pledge out of all that comes into his possession.

The address of Dr. Agar was followed by a discussion of the subject during which the speaker outlined practices in other churches, illustrating by examples how this every-member campaign is carried out.

ROTARIANS ENTERTAINED BY NORWICH LIONS' CLUB

Members of the Norwich Rotary club were royally entertained by the Norwich Lions club at the Wauregan House, Thursday noon, the meeting being the third of these joint meetings to be held by the clubs.

President George A. Finn of the Lions club, who presided at the meeting, welcomed the guests and said that meetings such as these tended to create better feeling among the members of both clubs and the community, adding that it was a fine thing to have two such organizations meeting in this way. President Hugh Campbell of the Rotary club responded for that organization, saying that the Rotarians were pleased to be guests of the Lions and appreciated all that this club is doing in the community. Through these combination meetings, he said, both clubs will be able to work together and do something for the good of Norwich.

During the dinner President Finn announced that as the entertainment of the day several of the soloists at the Lions club Minstrel Serenade would favor with solos. Frank Stienke rendered Macushla, given in fine voice, and he was followed by Edward T. Connelly, who in a most delightful manner sang Build a World in the Heart of a Rose. Several Rotary and Lions' songs followed and the clubs were treated to a rendition of the opening chorus of the Lions Minstrel Serenade. Mr. Connelly was again called upon, this time favoring with several of his popular Irish and darky stories. To add to the good time Lucius Briggs picked a story from his store of jokes and Doc Crab-tree, serenade director, favored with a darky story that was new to his audience. The entertainment closed with a tenor solo, In the Garden of My Heart, sung by Warren Kane, this number, like those preceding, being greeted with applause.

Secretary Carpenter of the Lions then read a communication from the district governor and the club voted to subscribe to the juvenile paper, the proceeds of which go to the blind children.

President Campbell announced that as next week would be Fire Prevention week the Rotarians were to have a special program under the direction of "Jim" Case. As this is a most important subject, the Rotarians extended an invitation to the Lions to be their guests at luncheon on Wednesday of next week. The invitation was unanimously accepted by the Lions.

As closing numbers the Madden Co., George and "Jim," and the Bliver Co., "Rue" and "Al," favored with a brotherly quartet selection "Till We Meet Again. Rotarians then stood and the assembly sang O-hi-o and Whose Izzy Is He after which the Lions roared out their cheer. The meeting closed with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner and the salute to the flag, having been a most enjoyable one for both clubs

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE FOR OPENING GAME OF SERIES AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Oct. 2.—The thermometer of excitement in Washington bubbled only a few degrees below the bursting point tonight. The unexpected discharges of attempted bribery by two members of the New York Giants added more kindling to an already excited city, and the national capital was prepared for almost anything after passing through a day in which rumor ran rife.

However, despite the hubbub, arrangements were carried forward for the opening here Saturday of the world series between the Senators and the Giants.

Excitement in the city could not have been more intense. To the news of the expulsion from the National league of the two men are coupled a statement from Manager Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates that they were only the go-betweens in the scandal, and another statement from President Ban Johnson of the American league that it might be advisable to call off the series.

Fans Clamor at Park Gates.

With this taking place, thousands of Washingtonians stormed in front of the gates at Griffith stadium clamoring for seats, and the internal revenue bureau got busy to suppress an epidemic of ticket scalping that was alleged to have broken out in the downtown section of the city.

In all the city apparently only two men retained their composure—Clark Griffith, president, and "Bucky" Harris, manager, of the Senators. At the ball park this pair were as if the pennants were won every day. Both expressed regret that any bribery again had developed among players in major league baseball and declared that Judge Landis should be complimented for the "fearless" manner in which he tackled the matter.

Throughout the day baseball fans from all parts of the country began to pour into the city. With Judge Landis and President Heydler already here, other officials of the game were en route to the city, and hotels were beginning to feel the pressure of the incoming crowd.

The Giants arrived tonight and added all that was needed to make Washington the center of the baseball world. They were hurried to Wardman Park hotel, which will be the team's headquarters here.

Judge Landis today inspected the grounds of Griffith stadium and placed his stamp of approval on the arrangements that have been made for the series. He examined the temporary seats which have been added at every available place in the park and pronounced all to be satisfactory.

Stadium's Capacity is 37,000.

Clark Griffith made another inspection of the park later in the day to speed workmen who are putting the finishing touches to the construction work that will give the stadium a seating capacity of 37,000. He said would be the largest in which a world's set despite th caddition of the temporary seats, the actual playing field championship was ever fought out.

Senators Have Workout.

The Washington ball club took a snappy workout in the afternoon. Manager Harris with much difficulty cleared several dozen cameramen from the field, and the Senators practiced about two hours. The Washington team announced that he had ordered the players in uniform for a morning workout tomorrow so that the field could be turned over to the Giants in the afternoon.

Harris pronounced his team to be in fine condition for the series. He said that the players were confident of victory but realized that it would be the toughest fight they were ever in.

Both Harris and Griffith pronounced the playing field to be in the pink of condition and said that as far as they knew everything was in shape for the series.

On Trail of Scalpers.

Officials of the internal revenue bureau declined tonight to say how many of their men had rushed to Washington to take up the trail of ticket scalpers. The bureau, it was announced, is prepared to prosecute speculators who sell tickets for fabulous sums if the sale is made by one not registered as a broker.

Although the internal revenue agents were seeking to round up scalpers, they also were powerless to touch brokerage firms registered under the internal revenue act. Several registered houses were reported to be selling choice seats at a big profit. One of the brokers said that tickets were bought from individuals at a profit of $5 and sold at the rate of $50 for grandstand seats. Internal agents were endeavoring to curb this practice by shutting off the ticket supply.

President Griffith today issued a statement denying that any favoritism had been shown in the distribution of seats. Some orders, he said, had been received as early as June.

Coolidge Donates to Johnson Fund.

President Coolidge, who yesterday led in the welcome home celebration for the team, again today showed that he couldn't keep his mind altogether on the government's business by contributing to a fund that is being raised as a testimonial to be presented to Walter Johnson just before he starts to pitch the opening game. The president also let it be known that he expected to toss the first ball in the series.

Dedication services Saturday for the unveiling of a monument to the heroes of the First division who lost their lives in France are to be held Saturday morning, but will be concluded before game time. President Coolidge will speak at the unveiling.

FAVORITES HAVE POOR DAY AT COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 2.—(By the A. P.)—Favorites went down to defeat in all four of today's Grand Circuit race program, consisting of three stake events and one class race.

Probably the biggest surprise of the afternoon came in the Arch City $3,000 stake for 2.10 pacers, Sparkle, which was made first choice, never won a heat, and LaPaloma, second choice, won only the first mile. Valley Day, a field horse, won the second mile and Bessie McKloy, the third choice, won the third and fourth heat.

Marmaduke was installed as a favorite in the Ohio Citizens' $3,000 stake for 2.07 trotters, but never won a heat, Tommy Murphy taking the event in straight heats with Emma Druien the second choice.

Largely on his performance of last week Jimmie McKerron was best liked in the Dispatch $3,000 stake for 2.03 pacers, but the event went to Hal Mahone in straight heats. Laughter of the Murphy stable was thought to have the 2.18 trot at her mercy, and she did win the first heat, but the next two and the race went to Peter A. Montgomery.

ORIOLES BEAT ST. PAUL IN OPENING GAME

Baltimore, Oct. 2.—With a thrilling rally in the ninth inning, the Baltimore Orioles came from behind to win the opening game of the "little world series" from St. Paul of the American association today, 4 to 3.

The contest was a great pitching duel between Lefty Groves, Jack Dunn's premier moundsman, and Cliff Markle, one of the association's brightest lights.

The Orioles opened on Markle as if they would drive him from the rubber. Maisel started the game with a home run over the left field fence, and another run followed on a single by Connelly, a pass to Jacobson, a double steal, and an infield out.

After that Markle tightened up and, backed by good fielding, held the Orioles scoreless until the last frame.

Groves fanned 11 men and Markle 5. The official attendance was 5,263 and the total receipts $7,247.12.

Score:

St. Paul	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	1	—3

ARGENTINE NAVY RIFLE TEAM IS SELECTED

Wakefield, Mass., Oct. 2.—The rifle team of the Argentine navy that will represent that country in the match with the United States navy team at the rifle range here on Oct. 10 was selected today after a competitive shoot. The five men chosen to defend the trophy that Argentine now holds are headed by Ensign Eliseo Villa, who proved by returning the highest score his right to the command which he held by appointment.

Those who qualified for the Argentine team, with their scores, were Ensign Elizo Villa, San Nichols, 1681; Crewman Aurelio Maranda, General Paz Corrientes, 1665; Crewman Angel Amallo, Buenos Aires, 1658; Conscript Leonardo Corgneall, Santa Fe, 1656; Conscript Francisco Manni, Buenos Aires, 1653.

The trophy was offered in 1914 by the Argentine naval commission, and was won by the Argentine team that year in the only competition yet held.

EPINARD IN KENTUCKY READY FOR RACE OCT. 11

Latonia, Ky., Oct. 2.—Epinard, the French champion thoroughbred, who will represent Europe in the third international race here Oct. 11, for the first time set his nimble feet on Kentucky soil today. With him came Ladkin, winner of the second international at Aqueduct, Diagram and Blind Play, from the August Belmont stable, and Idle Hour and Silver Slippers.

Eugene Leigh, American trainer, who brought Epinard to this country, was on hand to meet his great performer, and Louis Feustel, who trained Man o' War, was here to look after Ladkin. Both trainers reported that the horses were in excellent condition.

How should the infield play?

This situation calls for the infield to play in. They must play to cut off the runner on third at the plate in order to prevent him from tying the score. If the infield plays back, it greatly lessens its chances of cutting off this runner at the plate.

It is also advisable, when such a situation comes up, for the outfield to play in a little closer than usual. They can then handle short flies so the runner on third can be caught at the plate, if he tries to get home on them.

ORANGE COUNTY POLOISTS ELIMINATE CALIFORNIA TEAM

Westbury, N. Y., Oct. 2—The California polo team was eliminated from the tournament for the Monty Waterbury cup here today, failing to hold a handicap of four goals which it received from the Orange County horsemen and losing in the semifinal match by a score of 12 to 2. By virtue of its victory over the westerners, holders of the national junior and American open championships, Orange county will meet the Shelburne four in the final match for the trophy on Saturday, winding up the eastern polo season of 1924. Today, in the other semifinal on the international field Shelburne defeated the Hurricanes, 8 to 7.

The defeat of the Californians was one of the big upsets of the season.

CROSS COUNTRY RUN AT NEW LONDON ARMISTICE DAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 2.—Although football will still be the reigning athletic activity on Tuesday, Nov. 11, long distance runners from the four high schools entered in eastern Connecticut athletic competition will meet at New London and a course over hill and dale completing three miles will be run by cinderpath men. The running off of this long distance run will be an innovation in local or eastern Connecticut interscholastic athletic competition and in its first year. It is expected to be run off so successfully that it will be a permanent addition on the athletic calendar of events for the schools entered in the league from this section of the state.

The four high schools which will compete for honors are Chapman Technical High school of this city, Norwich Academy, Stonington High and Westerly High. Each high school is expected to send an able representative in this form of athletic competition, and the winner will no doubt be fully recognized in the hill and dale running by all college, prep schools and high schools. Long distance running is beginning to come to the fore, and it is especially being stressed by coaches of the higher institutions of learning. It seems as though the league's officers should have placed more emphasis upon this particular event in running off its annual track meet before this date, for it is really an important track event and for the winner carries much prominence and chance for further recognition in college.

RANGERS PLAY CAMPBELL TEAM ON SUNDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 2.—Making two rather valiant but unsuccessful attempts to gain a victory in the Connecticut Soccer league, the Rangers will face their third hard opponent in as many weeks at New London Sundya afternoon. The celebrated Clan Campbell eleven of Bridgeport will be the invading team to attempt to bowl over the locals in the third attempt this team has made to come out on top. The calibre of play of the Park City organization is not far from the best shown in the league games so far this season. Even though the season is early and the Rangers have made a depressing beginning, they will be doing good to stop the winning streak of the Clan Camupbell outfit, which has brought that team to within a stone throw of the top position. It looks as though the Whalers will be forced to accept another defeat, but then the fighting qualities may make themselves quite obvious in the next league contests and the playing of the winning kind may assert self on the locals' side instead of their opponents.

This visit of the Clan Campbell is not the first made by this team to this city, not by any means, for the Clan Campbell left last fall with the Rangers' scalp to their belt. A victory for the Whalers will serve several purposes of revenge. To defeat the Clan Campbell would mean a firmer footing in the league standing, and to avenge the defeat of last season would wipe out old scores. It is an opportunity that will hardly present itself again, at least in the immediate future, if at all. A reorganization of the team's personnel was made at the weekly meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening and all players are in readiness for this game.

WHITE SOX EVEN UP SERIES WITH THE CUBS

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Johnny Evers' White Sox evened the count in the Chicago city series today by bowling over the National league Cubs 12 to 7 in the second game of the series at the American league park.

It was a heavy hitting assault that brought the Sox their victory. The American leaguers banged out 14 hits off four Cub hurlers, and the blows were nicely bunched. The Cubs got 13 hits off Hollis Thurston and Mike Cvengros but could not bunch them when hits meant runs. Score:

Cubs	0	0	2	0	0	2	1	0	7	13 1
White Sox	1	2	0	0	5	0	2	2	—12	14 0

Kaufman, Keene, Wheeler, Milstead and O'Farrell; Thurston, Cvengros and Schalk.

WORLD'S SERIES WILL BE PLAYED REGARDLESS OF BASEBALL SCANDAL

Washington, Oct. 2—(By the A. P.)—The 1924 world's series will go on notwithstanding that baseball was shaken to its foundations today by a whirlwind succession of developments growing out of the attempt of Jimmy O'Connell, young New York outfielder, to bribe Heine Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, in the game that decided the National League pennant race for the Giants.

This was the declaration tonight of Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball. It was made after a hectic day during which fresh charges were flung by O'Connell, who has been banished for all time from the game, together with Cozy Dolan Giant coach, accused of instigating the bribery plot and during which prominent baseball officials, including President Ban Johnson of the American League and President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh Pirates asserted the series should be called off as a result of the scandal.

Unmoved, apparently, by the day's developments, and declining to amplify the statement he issued late last night in New York, the commissioner declared he saw no prospect of developments that would prevent the start of the championship battle Saturday between Washington and the Giants.

Furthermore, the commissioner indicated he had no new evidence calculated to widen the scope of the attempted bribery deal, a possibility brought to the fore today by O'Connell's reiteration that the Giants were "all in it," and the specific mention of three veterans, George Kelly, Frank Frisch, and Ross Young.

"So far as I am concerned, no cloud hangs over any member of the Giant team eligible to play in the world's series," the commissioner declared.

"They will go into the world's series with the Senators on Saturday."

Waving aside as "ridiculous" reports that the Giants would be disbarred as a team and Brooklyn, the runner-up, selected to represent the National League in the series, the commissioner emphasized that so far as he could foresee, no further finger of suspicion pointed to the National League champions.

Smashing his fist on a table when pressed by newspapermen to comment on the day's developments, the commissioner declared: "It seems to me to be time for those persons not clothed with responsibility to keep their shirts on.

"There was a clear case of bribery; it proved abortive; the guilty men have been punished. Why call off the series?"

Although John A. Heydler, president of the National League, in a long conference with newspapermen had asserted his belief that the case was closed, Commissioner Landis refused to commit himself as definitely on the subject.

"I have nothing further to add now to my statement, but I will say that in my opinion a case is never closed so long as interest in it remains," he said.

Pressed to make public the written confession of O'Connell and the testimony of Dolan, and others mentioned in the case, the commissioner said he would not do so unless and until he was convinced such a course would serve a useful purpose.

Charges and counter-charges flew thick and fast throughout the day, obscuring the real playing issues of the world's series and throwing the pre-championship atmosphere into turmoil. They culminated in the declaration at Chicago of Ban Johnson, American League executive, that the "series should have been called off," and that he would demand a federal probe to purge the game of its alleged crookedness.

In New York, O'Connell, former $75,000 "beauty," and center of the storm that has shaken the game as nothing else since the White Sox scandal of 1919, reiterated the charges he had made before Commissioner Landis implicating others of his teammates besides Dolan and asserting he was being made the "goat."

O'Connell not only insisted that Dolan was the instigator of the scheme of approaching Sand, but that Frank Frisch, George Kelly, and Ross Young veteran regulars, made it plain to him they were "in" on the deal.

"They were all in it," O'Connell said, adding he was told that the Giants were "all going to chip in and make up the purse of $500, which was the sum offered Sand.

Dolan answered O'Connell's accusations with a flat denial that he had any part in the scheme. Insisting that he knew of no reason why O'Connell should implicate him and asserting his belief that he also was being made a "goat," The veteran coach declared he "wouldn't cover up for anybody," and that no one could point to a "dishonest thing I ever did, in baseball or out of it."

Dolan, however, was made the target of a broadside by R. Dreyfuss, who in a statement at Pittsburgh charged the coach had tampered with "Pie" Traynor, star Pirate third baseman, a year ago, advising Traynor to "hold up," Dreyfus for a $15,000 salary this season.

Calling off the world's series would "not be too far to go to get the right results," Dreyfus declared, adding that he had brought before Commissioner Landis his charges against Dolan, in 1923, and that both Dolan and John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants "were warned at the time to keep away from other clubs."

McGraw's answer to this, made just before the Giants entrained at New York for Washington, was that Dolan simply commended Traynor upon the big year he was having and remarked that he ought to be worth $15,000 next year."

Baseball men from all parts of the country, gathering here for the world's series were stunned by the sudden development of scandal on the eve of what promised to be one of baseball's most brilliant classics. It came as a particularly hard blow to the capital city's fandom, keyed to a high pitch of enthusiasm by their club's first pennant triumph in forty years, and to the Washington players.

The most mystifying aspect of the whole situation, in the opinion of observers, is the motive back of O'Connell's action, coming at a moment when the Giants, at the height of a sensational finishing spurt, appeared certain pennant winners. They had just taken three straight from Pittsburgh, eliminating the Pirates from the race, and needed only two out of three games to outdistance Brooklyn, the remaining contender, providing the Robins took their remaining two games with Boston.

The McGrawmen were a game and a half ahead of Brooklyn before they took the field Saturday against the Phillies. That they clinched the pennant that day was due no less to their own victory than the fact that Brooklyn lost to Boston. Had Brooklyn won, the Robins still would have had a mathematical chance to overhaul the Giants, even though a slim one.

Thus, it is pointed out, the game Saturday was not figures before hand as the crucial test, a fact that was declared to make all the more unexplainable O'Connell's overture to Sand. Even if beaten, the Giants would have remained in a formidable position.

Baseball writers here who reported the game said today there was no question in their minds it was played on the level. Sand, they pointed out, played an excellent game, scoring the only run for the Phillies, who were beaten, they added. Simply because they were outplayed and unable to solve Jack Bentley, southpaw, who held them to four hits.

RECOMMENDS THAT CHARGES AGAINST FIRPO BE DROPPED

New York, Oct. 2—Immigration Commissioner H. H. Curran today recommended to Secretary of Labor Davis that the deportation proceedings instituted against Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, be dismissed.

Ellis Island officials said that this would entitle the pugilist to remain in the country provided the commissioner's recommendation is not overruled by Secretary Davis. Another action against Firpo, charging him with perjury in connection with his entry into the country last July, still is pending before United States Commissioner Hitchcock.

A new York newspaper was said by Mr Curran today to have been the figure behind the Firpo prosecution. The commission declared that Canon William S. Chase, who appeared as the ostensible prosecutor, had testified at a recent hearing before an immigration board, that he had waged his fight at the instigation of the newspaper. He also testified, he said, that the same publication paid counsel fees in connection with the case.

The clergyman, Mr. Curran said, had refused to give the name of the newspaper that had backed his crusade, nor did he name the sum paid by it to his attorney, Bernard H. Sandler. The canon denied he had been paid anything by the publication.

Canon Chase charged that Firpo had brought a woman to the United States for immoral purposes at the time he came here from Buenos Aires for his fight with Champion Jack Dempsey. The special board of inquiry that heard the case concluded "that there is no evidence upon which a recommendation to the Secretary of Labor to order deportation of the alien may be based."

"Five of us have been through the case with the greatest care," Commissioner Curran said, "and each of the five has separately come to this opinion. I have sent to the Secretary of Labor my recommendation that the warrant of arrest be cancelled and the deportation proceedings dropped.

"Canon Chase admitted under oath that he had stated to prospective witnesses at Ellis Island that 'if Firpo had good friends, they will tell him to get out before it is too late because there are five years staring him in the face.' This refered to the perjury proceedings instituted by Canon Chase and now before Commissioner Hitchcock.

"If Firpo's friends had successfully followed the canon's advice the result would have been Firpo would have jumped his bail. In doubt if this advice from the canon would be considered to be in the interest of law and order.

"This tid-bit of testimony as to motive is illuminating. The trouble with the rest of Chase's statements was that those that had any importance provided to be entirely without support in fact, although the statements were all made by Chase under oath.

"The proceeding itself was hampered throughout by the hip-hip-hurrah tactics of Chase."

Canon Chase is not in the city. He is understood to be in Middletown Springs, Vt., with his family. His attorney, Mr. Sandler, refused to comment on Commissioner Curran's statement that a newspaper had paid his fees. He characterized the commissioner's recommendation as a "somersault," adding:

"Curran applied for the warrant and now makes a finding reversing himself. I believe that it is the first time in the history of the department of labor that a warrant was issued and that the commissioner who issued it reversed himself. It's very strange."

LOCAL SILKMEN LOSE ON NEW LONDON ALLEYS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 2.—The Corticelli Silk bowlers from Norwich and this city convened at the Y. M. C. A. alleys this evening for the fire game in the intercity series. The Whaling quintet had an easy time, taking the entire three matches and pinfall. Chester was high man for the evening with a single of 106 and 297 for three strings. For the Rose City bowlers, Henry had high single of 101 but Eddie took high three with 279

LAWRENCE FIVE TAKES THREE FROM THREADMAKERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 2.—The Lawrence five of this city began its ascent to the top of the ladder in the league standing by making a clean sweep of the three games from Willimantic this evening. Giving the Threadmakers a rude jolt to any aspirations they had for the top position, the Lawrence five made the pins fall with the regularity of a clock, and although they had close calls in the first two games every man on the team hit over the century mark in the final string and the team total rose to the new local high mark of 531. But the Whalers had to hit 500 if they expected to gain a victory in the final string, for the Willimantic bowlers also topped the 500 mark.

The first two games went to the Lawrence five by a three and six pin margin, respectivey, and Tuneski was responsible for winning the initial string, getting a spare in his ninth box with four on it. The second game was also close, both Ryan and Stone helping to put the locals on top. The third and final game saw both teams hitting the pins with consistency. This game went to the Lawrence bowlers, and with it about $40 of Willimantic's money, wagered on the outcome of game.

Although Bosworth failed to spare in 26 boxes, he made a strong finish, getting a spare, strike, spare in the final string, and received high single for the evening with 113. Harry Noel of Willimantic hit high three strings for the evening with 308.

After the regular match was over, Bosworth and Rivers engaged in a special match for a side purse of $25. Rivers by getting an early start was able to forge out ahead of Bosworth. The final score was Rivers 110, Bosworth 104. The scores:

TO DEMAND FEDERAL INVESTIGATION OF SCANDAL

Chicago, Oct. 2—(By the A. P.)—Federal investigation to purge baseball of its alleged crookedness, will be demanded by President Ban Johnson of the American League as the result of the scandal involving Jimmy O'Connell, Giant outfielder, expelled from the game after confessing that he had offered a $500 bribe to Heine Sand, Philadelphia infielder, to throw last Saturday's game. Cozy Dolan, Giant coach, also was expelled as a result of the Giant outfielder's confession.

President Johnson declared that baseball, a national game, must be protected by the government, and that the present situation may represent a point of "covering up" which he said, the American League would not condone or accept.

"I will insist upon an investigation by the federal judiciary, so that we may know all the facts, and bring to the surface the individuals who have been guilty of this great misconduct and who are a positive menace to the integrity of baseball," President Johnson said.

The American league executive declared that in view of published statements, the world's series between the Giants and Washington should have been immediately declared off and added that from all accounts, it would appear "that the American League had been handed a championship club to compete with which is tainted in all things that it represents."

GIANTS GIVEN COOL RECEPTION IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Oct. 2—A handful of spectators gave the New York Giants an undemonstrative reception tonight when the National League champions arrived to prepare for the first game of the world series. The players, in charge of Hughie Jennings, assistant manager, went immediately to their hotel.

The trip from New York was quiet and restrained and the men were apparently curious about the nature of their reception in Washington which might indicate the public reaction from the scandal which followed Jimmy O'Connell's confession of attempted bribery.

Hardly a word was spoken as the players made their way from the train to the gates where faces peered expectantly.

John McGraw, leader of the champions, did not accompany the party but is expected to arrive tomorrow morning. Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan, the disbarred members of the squad, were the only other absentees.

CURRAN'S REPORT NOT YET RECEIVED BY DAVIS

Washington, Oct. 2.—The report of Commissioner Curran on the deportation proceedings against Luis Angel Firpo had not reached the department of labor tonight, and pending its receipt officials declined to discuss the case.

SPORTING NOTES

"Cap" Anson, whose Chicago club won three years in succession beginning with the year 1880.

Lee Richmond of Brown university was the first left-handed baseball pitcher to attain prominence. His success with the old Worcester National league team caused other managers to try to dig up southpaws.

George Wootton, England's oldest cricket professional, died recently at his home in Nottinghamshire, in his 90th year. Sixty years ago he was one of the most celebrated players in the British Isles.

In 1905 Oliver Faulkner of the Wilmington Athletic club baseball team pitched seventy-seven consecutive innings without a run being scored against him. This was almost equivalent to pitching nine straight shutout games.

Wade Lefler, the Worcester first baseman who finished at the top of the Eastern league batting list this season, bats left-handed and throws right. Lefler has been obtained by the Washington Senators for a trial in the big show next year.

A Queer Windmill

Near the town of Eureka, Calif. there is a windmill on the top of a 75-foot redwood stump. Originally there was a dense redwood forest covering the whole region, and the owner of the land saved this tall stump when the largest trees were logged off, in order to lift his windmill high enough to catch the wind over the surrounding treetops. Although all the orgical forest now has been cleared off, the convenience of the idea has continued its use, which, now that the second growth has become lofty, is again a necessity.

Oldest Baker

Carl L. Weber, of Marshall, Mich., asserts he is the oldest baker in the United States. He is ninety. He learned the baker's trade at the age of ten in Germany. In 1866 he came to Marshall and for two years baked for a railroad company. In 1868 he started in the bakery of John L. Evans and has labored in the same shop, working more than ten hours each day. In the fifty-six years he has had no vacation and only six weeks off on account of illness.

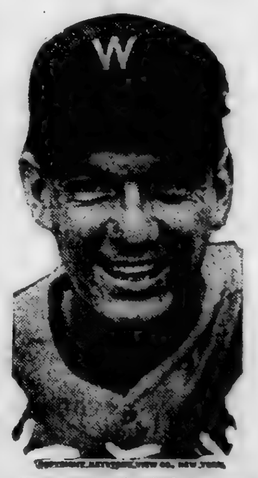
Best Back Stop In "Big Time"



Most anyone if asked the question would name "Muddy" Ruel, catcher of the Washington American team, as the best backstop in the big leagues.

FARM CROP CONDITIONS AND WHY

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

I've had occasion to do quite a little flivvering about my home town, the last month. Some of it has been on business; some to give the house visitress and the kiddies a drive; and some just to see what might be seen.

In all this driving about town almost solely devoted to farming I've naturally,—being an old farmer myself,—kept a sharp look-out for the condition of the crops. And one thing has impressed me most forcibly of all. So far as I have been able to look over the meadow lands I think it is a conservative estimate to say that not one-half have been mown at all. In this estimate I am corroborated by every other farmer with whom I have consulted.

Out of some seventy or eighty acres of good hay land which lie in sight of my windows, only about seventeen have been mown. The rest,—including one twenty acre patch of new seeding, in oats last year, in lush clover and young timothy, this year, remain uncut. A few have been turned into pasture. Over the rest the weeds and tall dead grass are waving in sickly wastefulness.

It's curious or at any rate suggestive now, in my part of the country, the weeds come in and take possession, just as soon as human attention is diverted elsewhere. They seem to be lying low and biding their time, season after season. A meadow which is mown in July will remain a meadow all through the fall, with some aftermath coming up but no great profusion of weeds. And the next year, under ordinary conditions, it will give a crop of comparatively clean hay. But leave that same meadow unmown till early October, and a cursory glance over it will seem to show about four times as many weeds as grass. Moreover, the grass will be dead and brown and broken down, while the weeds will stand up arrogantly, flaunting their superiority with an insolence peculiarly irritating to a thrifty farmer man. It seems as if Nature must love her weeds a little better than she does her useful plants.

She is all the time ready, with golden-rod and valerian and boneset and tittersweets and fleabane and wild asters and a score of other like growths, to step in and occupy the land, the minute Old Hayseed stops working it.

On some of my ledgy pasture lots I've long noticed a regular sequence in Nature's process of taking over abandoned areas. First come the weeds, as I have mentioned. Then, next year, or two, blackberries and raspberries, and wherever gate, still and the weeds have given place to a thicket of bush, birch, poplar, hazel, pines, beeches, and in another two years they will supplant the fox bean or hoop-pole. In another eight or ten years there will be more forest. Twice in my time I have cut my winter's supply of sixteen cords of wood from land that, twenty years before, had been good cow pasture. They have come through this process I've mentioned, first weeds, then berry bushes, then brush, then saplings, then trees. Others are going through the same now, especially since the aging farmers have made it impracticable for me to give them the attention I used to.

But to come back to our hay meadows. The areas annually mown have been slowly decreasing for several years. Fence rows and damp places which used to be picked out with the scythe have been neglected, and occasional fields, difficult of access or producing only small yields of indifferent quality, have been abandoned. But this is the first summer in my memory when half the really good meadows of the town, laden with average burdens of good grass, have been left uncut. They include not only back lots but level expanses in the intervales, right alongside state roads and as handy to get at as could be asked.

Along in real haying time, I noted that most farmers were leaving the "scatterings" unraked. The explanation they gave was simple enough and absolutely unanswerable: It cost more in wages to have the scatterings raked than they were worth or could be sold for.

But it wasn't till haying-time was past and corn-harvest was imminent, that I began to appreciate how many farmers had not only left scatterings but had left meadows unmown. Near the sight of brown or bleached scatterings left cluttering up an otherwise well-cared for meadow is a painful enough to a thrifty farmer. But the spectacle of hundreds of acres of good hay, newly seeded clover, rank timothy, fluffy red-top, left unmown to deteriorate into a swamp of ragged weeds,—that spectacle is one to make such a farmer tear his hair. What's the reason for it?

Well, I've talked with a few owners, and I've heard reports from quite a few others. The explanation is exactly the same in every single case which I've been able to get a line on: "Can't get help." From my knowledge of the situation I am confident that the same answer would be given in every single case, if every owner could be reached and questioned.

In aggravation of the general labor shortage which, with exorbitant wage demands, prevails in all farming localities, this particular town has been for two seasons in the grip of the road-makers. It is crossed by some nine or ten miles of state road. In accordance with the usual rule in state-built construction, after the state has paid a round price for having a good road laid, about two years' test shows that it must be torn up and rebuilt. All through the summer of 1923 contractors were at work laying cement surface on some three or four miles where the original macadam had broken up. All through the present summer contractors have been busy remaking some three or four miles more. The result has been a sweeping up of all the available labor in the town for this road work. Not only have all the day-laborers been corralled by the contractors, but at least half-a-dozen farmers with teams, finding themselves without any possibility of getting help in their farming operations, and also being offered bigger wages by the contractors than they could possibly earn working their farms, have "gone on the road."

If you can visualize such a state of affairs in a small, farming community, you'll have no difficulty in understanding, not only why scatterings were left unraked, but why hundreds of acres of meadows were left unmown.

A good many of the farmers are getting along in years and must rely on the hired labor of younger men to do the hard work. Others, who are still able to stand the burden and heat of the day, cannot be too sharply criticized if they temporarily abandon their hay-fields to earn, from a state contractor on the road, double the wages they could possibly get from longer and harder labor in the hayfield.

Perhaps, next year, when there seems no likelihood of any great amount of road work being required, these latter farmers will take up their proper work again. But they are in the minority. For the much larger number, who must rely on hired help to carry a season's farm work through, there isn't much hope visible. Men who have for two years been getting five to eight dollars a day on highway work are going to move on to some other town where such work is being done, rather than stay here at such wages as farmers can afford to pay.

I can't somehow, see any great hope for the ordinary small farmer in the labor situation. Congress has put a sharp and narrow limit on immigration. Well, you and I will both agree that we don't want this country of ours to be made any longer the dumping ground for the incompetents and paupers and imbeciles and bolshevists of Europe. There's been altogether too much of that, already. It is a great thing to live in a free country which is a "refuge for the oppressed." But it isn't so completely satisfactory when that country is turned into a combination poor-house and penitentiary for the reception of foreign riff-raff. I can't blame the popular sentiment for having turned against it, nor congress for having taken action to prevent.

But, speaking very humbly and diffidently, it does seem as if congress could have limited immigration in some wiser way than by fixing "quotas."

While we've had thousands of scal- awags dumped on us from European countries which were mighty glad to get rid of them, we've also received thousands of self-respecting, industrious and wholly desirable immigrants. It is just as absurd to comdemn all immigration as it is to throw the doors wide open. There are immigrants who are shipped to us like cattle, for us to support in lines of idleness or crime. There are other immigrants who come to us bringing with them energy and industry and a laudable desire to take advantage of the wider opportunities we offer. America owes more than it appreciates to immigrants of this type.

But the present immigration law takes no adequate cognizance of this hemispheric difference. It cuts the "quota" from all sources indifferently.

When the old time farmer had thrashed out his oats he set up the fanning mill and fanned sieved the thrashed pile till he had separated the grain from the chaff. The oats he put in bags and bins the chaff he pushed out into the barn-yard.

He would have felt himself and been universally regarded by others as a dumphool if he had simply shoveled a hundred bushels of the unsifted heap left by the flail into bags and thrown the rest away. What he wanted was a hundred bushels of oats, not a hundred bushels of oats and chaff, mixed.

In this immigration matter we want all the worth-while immigrants the older countries can spare us. We want them in our shops and our factories and on our farms. We are short of labor,—so short as to be next door to a labor famine. But we don't want a mob of ne'er-do-wells, who couldn't support themselves in their old homes and who come here to sponge on us.

It would seem as if a congress composed of really patriotic and statesmenlike men could have devised some scheme by which the desirable grain might be sifted out from the worthless chaff. This could be done and ought to be done on the other side.

Applicants for admission to Amer- ican residence and possible citizenship ought to be subjected to at least as careful examination as that which many states require before granting an operator's license to drive a car. Those who are physically, mentally or morally unfit for the responsibility should be refused a license to sail. And if, after arrival, they violate the provisions of their license, it should be revoked and they deported, instanter.

Sometime, perhaps, we may have a congress composed of men who will regard the safeguarding of their country as deserving of more attention than the securing of their own re-elections. They will consider the welfare of the whole great land as more important than the votes of this, that or the other "bloc" in their respective districts.

But, before that time comes, we, the voters, will have to show a good deal more interest in picking them out than we do, now.

Tries Kellogg's Bran—restores health after 12 years of intense suffering

Mr. Firth writes that he suffered for 12 years from constipation and his friend for 10 years—a total of 22 years' suffering permanently relieved by Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

Gentlemen:

For 12 years I had been troubled with indigestion caused mostly by constipation. Until about a year ago, I would suffer from 4 to 20 weeks at a time.

I happened to see your Krumbled Bran in a store, purchased a package and got almost immediate relief. I am still eating the Krumbled Bran every day.

The most wonderful results obtained with your Krumbled Bran I will now relate. A gentleman who has been taking medicine for about 10 years for constipation could not find anything to give him relief. Three weeks ago I advised him to try Krumbled Bran, as I had told him what wonderful results I had gotten from it. The gentleman in question purchased a box, and he told me that for the first time in ten years he is regular without taking medicine.

Yours for success,
William Firth, Jr., 66 Velas St., Merchantville, N. J.

Eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to relieve the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. The flavor is delicious. Try it in the recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

		Number	DOUBLE-FACED List Price
Valse Sentimentale (Schubert-Franko) Violin Solo / Valse Staccato (Ravina-Piastro-Borisoff) Violin Solo	Mischa Elman / Mischa Elman	1034	$1.50

Schubert's quaint and wonderful old waltz, set for the violin and played with great breadth; then Ravina's concert-waltz, with deft bowing and plenty of contingent harmonics.

Rosalinda (Eduardo S. de Fuentes) In Spanish / Mi viejo Amor (My Old Love) (Mexican Song) (A. E. Otis) In Spanish	Tito Schipa / Tito Schipa	1030	1.50

Popular songs in Spanish, the second one a Mexican tango song with a bit of human heartbreak in its melody and general style. Schipa's clear, ringing tenor infuses vivid beauty into both of them.

Concert Songs and Instrumental

Non me lo dite! (Tell Me Not That!) (Panzacchi-Tosti) In Italian / Penso! (Pensive) (Pagliara-Tosti) In Italian	Dusolina Giannini / Dusolina Giannini	45427	1.00

Tosti songs, a bolero and a simpler melody, by the young American soprano who recently created such a furore in conservative England. A beautiful voice, pure and fresh as youth, in beautiful numbers.

Wreck of the Old 97 / The Prisoner's Song	Vernon Dalhart / Vernon Dalhart	19427	.75

Genuine songs of the Southern mountaineers, given with all their original lyric crudeness and their vigorous quaint melody. The fiddle, the guitar, and the mouth-organ figure in accompaniment.

Vienna, Vanishing Fairy City—Waltz / Vienna, City of My Dreams—Waltz	Victor Schrammel Orchestra	19401	.75

There never was anything in the world like the old Vienna waltz, with its variable time and clipped third beat, its inspired melody and deep harmony. These are superb modern examples, and the string tones are especially fine.

Light Vocal Selections

Main Street Wasn't Big Enough for Mary / Why Live a Lie?	Henry Burr Lewis James	19432	.75

A popular pathetic ballad of a country-town girl who left home and met, not love but tragedy; and an excellent companion song in similar style. Both great tenor numbers.

You'll Never Get to Heaven With Those Eyes / Dumb Dora	Aileen Stanley-Billy Murray / Billy Murray	19431	.75

Two timely hits—a duet with dialogue passages and clever lines; and a brilliant mock-Spanish comic song

Dance Records

Where the Dreamy Wabash Flows—Fox Trot / Follow the Swallow—Fox Trot	Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra / George Olsen and His Music	19428	.75

A heavily scored number with plenty of go and lots of odd effects; and another fox trot in similar style.

Adoring You—Fox Trot / Biminy—Fox Trot	Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra / George Olsen and His Music	19429	.75

Fox trots from the Ziegfeld Follies of 1924—a dashing number you may dance, if you choose, in half time, and a scurrying dance with an extraordinary exhibition of saxophone technique.

Mississippi Shiver—Fox Trot / Nickel in the Slot—Fox Trot	Zez Confrey and His Orchestra	19430	.75

The first has odd cross-rhythms and is ideal for dances like the Collegiate and the Clothespin Doll; the companion number is a snappy one in direct contrast.

DEM. GUBERNATORIAL NOMINEE MORRIS ADDRESSED PARTY RALLY IN EAST HAVEN

New Haven, Oct. 2—Charles G. Morris, democratic candidate for governor, speaking at a democratic rally in East Haven tonight said in part:

"Many years ago I first began to appear before legislative committees at Hartford to have the game and bird law improved. I drafted and urged one of the first of the constructive and thorough game laws that this state has adopted. It also protected the non-game birds.

"Now what is the purpose of the game law? It is to preserve, for the benefit of all the people of the state, both healthful outdoor sports and the more valuable bid for life. It makes no distinction of race or creed so long as the hunter is a citizen. Neither does it give the hunter any special privilege. Such a law, with all its restrictions, is thoroughly democratic, for it aims at equality of opportunity, preservation of natural resources, a good of all the people alike.

The reason I am a democrat is because I do not believe in special privilege. It may be for the good of the people of the state to grant a monopoly to a railroad or a telephone company. The service such a monopoly can give us may in a few industries be far better than the service we could get from a lot of competing units. But we democrats insist that with such centralization of power must go adequate regulation for the public's protection. Competition is far better where competition is possible. Open competition is the surest guarantee of adequate service for the price. But when monopoly will give better public service than competition it should be granted. That grant of power should, however, always be accompanied by adequate and far-sighter public control. The principle of public control of public utilities instead of the republican habit of unbridled abandonment of public utilities to big business, or the socialist dream of public ownership and operation of such utilities—the truly democratic principle in private management under public supervision. The principle has its difficulties in execution but it involves far less acute danger of exploitation of the people either by selfish capitalistic management or by selfish political management than either of the other systems."

"Regulation of monopolistic public utilities was a democratic doctrine which republicans first opposed and later adopted as a matter of course. Many other democratic doctrines have been first opposed, then adopted and enlarged by the republicans when they in time became the party in power. All too frequently, however, they have been distorted by the process of adoption. Regulation of monopolistic public utilities, not for the benefit of the political party in power, but for the benefit of all the people alike, is a proper and democratic thing.

"But the party that believes that it is proper to use taxation in the form of a tariff to protect and enrich its naturally cannot be expected to consistently cannot be expected to conserve public utilities such as water powers for the benefit of all the people alike. The republican policy as we have seen it practiced, works out in substance to give such public utilities or other governmental factors as will make good republican business managers prosperous. This is done with the stated expectation that they in their gracious and generous mercy will probably permit prosperity to trickle down also to their employes. That theory has been developed at least to its logical conclusion in the woolen Schedule K of the tariff. By placing an enormous tariff on wool and woolens the farmers were to be made prosperous by the republicans and the woolen manufacturers were to be made prosperous by the republicans and it was predicted that part of their prosperity would trickle out of their overflowing hands into the channels of our common welfare. We know how the farmers' hands have overflowed with prosperity so we can dismiss that part of the plan.

"It was a great mistake, somewhere, that wages had to be cut in the woolen mills just before a presidential campaign. But no republican orator, has heard of it yet. Have you heard of any republican orator in this campaign featuring the benefits of the woolen schedule?

"Special privilege, governmental favor, always appeals to its immediate beneficiaries. But it always weakens them in the end. Every tariff schedule that is intentionally put under the shoulders of an American manufacturer is like a crutch put under a man's arm. The early idea of a protective tariff was that we were ready to pay for the crutches because they would protect our lame industries till these industries could walk by themselves. But every one of them in the natural course of events became a chronic invalid shortly after the protective tariff crutch was placed under their shoulders and wept for finer and better crutches. Now a howl of anguish and grief at their anticipated pain goes up every time this nation tells the billion dollar steel industry or the sugar barons or the knights of the woolen industries that for the good of the consumers of this nation it is time that they accepted crutches that will cost the consumers of this nation less. You and I are paying for these crutches. In the long run, the consumer pays every tax. The proper and legitimate place to lay a tax is where it most easily can be paid in the first place at the least cost of collection. For that purpose an inome tax or a tariff tax which is merely a revenue measure has great advantages. It is possible to so frame them that they can easily and cheaply be collected. But in the long run the consumer pays every cent of revenue any government gets. Don't delude yourself into thinking otherwise.

"In the case of the tariff your payment of it may be inconspicuous; in the case of the income tax in may be even less so, but in the long run, the consumer pays every tax either in increased price for what he consumes or in decreased opportunity for purchasing what he needs or desires.

"Did you ever stop to think what the kaiser's name means? William Hohenzollern? That means William High-Tolls. The tolls referred to were the tolls taken at the gates of the Hohenzollern cities. In other words the revenue from high-tariffs. His ancestors believed in a protective tariff for producing their revenues. His people today, in poverty and defeat are paying the penalty for following Hohenzollern high tariff reasoning. The American development of that family, tradition and policy has not hit us hard yet. Germany was very prosperous before the war—all except her farmers and some groups of her working people. America today is very prosperous—all except her farmers and some groups of her working people.

"Maybe we have here a thought about high tariff that the American nation will find worth thinking out to the end."

OCTOBER

A blue haze o'erhangs the distant mountains,
The sun gleams opalescent o'er the plain;
The leaves, of gleaming gold and russet,
Whisper low October's sweet refrain.

The oak, frost touched, rustles back in chorus
To the softer music of the gurgling brook;
Chestnut burrs, wide spread, drop toothsome morsels,
Whene'er the passing wind their branches shook.

Chattering squirrels, with pouches laden,
Store brown October's treasures all day long;
While through the flaming aisle of sunlit forest
The late birds send their farewell song.

The nights, a mystery of lights and shadows,
Of beauty, that, alas! must fade too soon;
A world filled with joy and God's own blessing
Sleeps peaceful 'neath a silver harvest moon.

Month of frosted leaves and golden harvests,
Treasure trove, last of a departing host;
Goes forth to greet a blustery November
With knightly mein to offer up the ghost.

—Edith P. Bossard, in Philadelphia Ledger.

PREDICTS FIVE HOUR WORK DAY FOR BUILDING WORKERS

New York, Oct. 1—The average working day of the building craftsman of the future will be about five hours, James Hartness, former governor of Vermont, who now is president of the American Engineering Council, predicted today.

Successor to the counsel leadership formerly held by Herbert Hoover, Mr. Hartness delivered the principal address before the board of governors and executive commitete of the American construction council in session at the home of Franklin D. Roosevelt president.

He advocated greater "team work" between employers and workers. Elimination of "industrial wars over the fruits of labor," should end, he said, adding that the time thus turned to good account would enable the industrial world to produce as much as it now does in half the working time or it could double its output while maintaining the present workday.

Mr. Hartness forecast an era when capital and labor would arrive at a fair division of the fruits of industry based upon actual performance for he said, "anyone who takes larger pay than his just due is actually robbing everybody else.

"The public should oppose every move that exacts large pay when not due for services rendered. A square deal, through teamwork should be obtained without interference of interruption of production."

UNITED MINE WORKERS HAVE SENT PROTEST TO COOLIDGE

Fairmont, W. Va., Oct. 2—In a telegram sent to President Coolidge officials of the United Mine Workers in the Northern West Virginia field protested against what they said was an attempt by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to reduce wages and enslave miners at Dakota and Barrackville near here.

The fessage, signed by Van A. Bittner, international representative of the Union said the corporation had repudiated the contract signed in Baltimore by reducing wages approximately 20 per cent., and that attempts were being made to "throw defenseless men, women and children out of their homes."

The corporation, the message continued, "has imported armed guards and installed machine guns in the mining camps to terrorize the miners and their families."

The union will resist any wage cut "with every ounce of strength" it possesses, the president was told. "Any assistance the government of the United States can give us to compel the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to observe our wage agreement and to comply with the laws of the United States and the state of West Virginia will be appreciated," the message concluded.

A similar telegram was sent to Attorney Samuel Untermeyer, of New York, said to be a large stockholder of the corporation.

TWO UNGRATEFUL SONS NEGLECTED THEIR MOTHER

Cambridge, Oct. 3—A mother's complaint that two sons had refused to provide for her after illness had forced her out of work in her sixty third year resulted in sentences of thirty days each in the municipal court here today against Dr. John H. Gutteridge of Arlington, a dentist and Robert Gutteridge of Arlington, manager of a store. They appealed and gave bonds for appearance later.

Mrs. Katherine Gutteridge, in widow's weeds, told the court that she had worked as long as she could, that she was put out of the homes of each, and that one of the sons had struck her.

Counsel for the sons sought to introduce testimony that Mrs. Gutteridge "stayed out late nights" and had been in court for thefts of coal, but the court refused to hear it.

With the statement that Dr. Gutteridge admitted an income of $5,000 a year, the court rebuked the sons and ordered them to pay her $8 a week.

THEY MUST BE SATISFACTORY

WESTERLY

In the republican state convention in Infantry Hall, Providence, Thursday the first ballot for governor of Rhode Island stood for Pothier 248; for Representative Samuel H. Davis of Westerly 24, for Ambrose Kennedy of Woonsocket 6.

On motion by the nominators of Mr. Davis made by Herbert W. Rathbun, chairman Westerly delegation and Mr. Kennedy made by William A. Needham, the choice of Mr. Pothier was made unanimous.

Mr. Pothier had been indorsed by the state executive committee, but the contest for the nomination was fought until the first ballot was taken. Friends of Mr. Davis and Mr. Kennedy were busy up to that time trying to gain support, but their efforts met with little response.

Wednesday night Mr. Kennedy, who had originally stated that he would accept the nomination but not contest it, unexpectedly issued a statement saying that his name would be placed before the convention Thursday. This development furnished the one element of uncertainty to give the convention some spice of excitement, but the flat failure of Mr. Kennedy's effort soon removed this.

The only other contest came over the Klan which the resolutions committee decided to denounce by name, thus reiterating the declaration of the G. O. P. State organization against the Klan of last spring.

When Speaker Philip C. Joslin of the House of Representatives, presiding over the convention, delivered his keynote speech, the delegates warmed up and outbursts of applause were frequent.

Jesse H. Metcalf was unanimously nominated for United States Senator and former Governor Aram J. Pothier, by an overwhelming majority, was named the party's candidate for Governor.

From the floor of the hall, although invited to the platform, Judge Herbert W. Rathbun of Westerly followed Mr. Sandager to nominate Mr. Davis for Governor. He declared it was time for the South County to be represented in the Governor's chair. On the strength of his record, Judge Rathbun said, no man is better qualified to run, win and serve than Samuel H. Davis.

The nomination speech for Nathaniel W. Smith, a representative citizen of Washington County and from South Kingston for Lt. Governor was made from the platform by Roy Rawlings of Hope Valley, town of Richmond, who said: Two years ago a popular wave swept into high office in our state, men who though they had taken oath to support, it tore our constitution as though it were a mere scrap of paper. These officials, claiming to represent a majority of the people of the state, attempted to coerce those representing a majority to pass legislation against their convictions. To accomplish this not only was our fundamental law brushed aside but every legislative and parliamentary rule, that did not serve their purpose, was ignored; until the State of R. I. has bowed her head in shame from the ridicule throughout the nation.

But dark as the cloud has been, hanging over us for two years it has a silver lining. It has brought out men—the highest type of men to lead our fight for personal liberty.

It is with a feeling of pride that South County offers a son, not from the ranks of politics but a leader of men in the business world, impelled by the need of the hour to sacrifice his business, respond to the call and offer his fair minded services for an office which has been greatly abused.

A native born Rhode Islander, educated in its public schools, gaining his college and law degrees while supporting himself, and establishing a reputation for fair-play while winning success among his business associates, this native son stands ready and capable to preside over the Rhode Island senate with dignity, fairness and justice.

Through a long line of American ancestry he inherits a respect for law and order and defense of that personal liberty for which his forefathers fought.

It is with the greatest confidence as well as local pride that I offer for nomination for the office of Lieut. Governor the name of Nathaniel W. Smith of South Kingstown.

G. Benjamin Utter, a member of the Westerly delegation, seconded the nomination a platform speech and declared that Felix A. Toupin, present Lieut. Governor and democratic candidate for Governor of Rhode Island had been relegated to the political junk heap.

Davis nomination was seconded by Walter D. Briggs of East Greenwich, who said he was not a political expediency but represented an enlightened electroate with no selfish ambitions and no political differences.

The poll for governor which was completed at 2 p. m., stood, Pothier 248, Davis 24 and Kennedy . the Davis votes being ward 6, Providence 1, out of 6, the balance for Pothier; East Providence 1; the remaining 7 per Pothier Little Compton 1, remaining 3 for Pothier; East Greenwich the entire four Exeter, the entire four; Foster 2, remaining 2 for Pothier; Hopkinton, 3, remaining 1 for Pothier; Westerly, the entire 6 West Greenwich, 2, remaining 2 for Pothier. Kennedy vots were Cumberland 3, remaining 3 for Pothier, North Smithfield 3, remaining 1 for Pothier. All other votes were for Pothier, but one ballot being taken.

John J. Dunn of Westerly was the second to second the nomination of Ernest L. Sprague for secretary of state.

Wednesday $50,000 worth of Christmas seals and health bonds were received in Providence and the Rhode Island Tuberculosis Association started planning for the sale of the stamps.

Willis E. Chandler of the association states that with the death rate from tuberculosis in Rhode Island still remaining the highest of that in any of the New England and North Atlantic States (excepting Delaware), the appeal to the public to oversubscribe this year's seal quota for Rhode Island has more than ever the force of a dire need behind it.

As in former years, the receipts from the sale of the Christmas seals will go for the tuberculosis work of the nursing and tuberculosis associations in the state. The supplies will be distributed among the agencies during the month.

Miss Elizabeth Rae and Miss Bessie M. Gavitt leave Westerly tonight (Friday) for a vacation trip to Savannah, Ga.

Daniel Watson of Wakefield was in Westerly Wednesday evening.

Max Raithel left Westerly by automobile for New London, where he will take steamer Shinnecosset of the Sunset route to Sag Harbor, Long Island, and motoring to Huntington, will continue to New York and witness a world's series baseball game before his return home.

A regular session of the Third District Court is to be held in Westerly this (Friday) morning, Judge Michael J. Turano on the bench.

The work of installing the sewage system at the Westerly Hospital, which has been going on for the past two weeks is progressing well, although a considerable quantity of rock was encountered as the work continued up Wells Street. The work began at the top of Peleg Clark Hill, Beach street, where progress was stopped when the strike started and where operations now make a one-way highway.

The family of C. Sai Likme, who have been occupying Norman Hall, Ocean View road, Watch Hill, returned to New York after closing their house at the beach.

Interested observers on the South County shore of Rhode Island, who have anticipated seeing the navy air service dirigible ZR-3, German-built sister ship to the Shenandoah, which was scheduled to start for the United States about October 6th, were disappointed to hear of the postponement of its sailing date. Early Sunday morning observers from the Shore of New London and Washington counties recalling seeing the ZR-4 as it turned at Watch Hill light to head for Montauk Point.

Mrs. E. Arthur Mallette after three months' visit with relatives in Pawcatuck and Westerly has returned to her home in Ardmore, Pa.

Everett Davis of Pawcatuck was a visitor in Boston Thursday.

Miss Doris Burdick and a friend from Boston are visiting at the home of Miss Burdick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Burdick, in District No. 6.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., set at work some years ago to find a real internal Pile remedy. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It's easy to take, and can always be found at Lee & Osgood's, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

NEW LONDON MEN DRANK ALCOHOL IN SKULL-AND-CROSSBONES BOTTLES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 2.—Judge Prince, in the police court this morning, sent three drunks where they will have a home for 40 days. They made up the gang responsible for the injury of Policeman Clyde Murphy yesterday. The gang are known as "smoke" drinkers, the liquid they absorb being denatured alcohol, which they get at hardware stores and garages. The stuff is contained in bottles marked with skull and crossbones and telling in bold type that the alcohol will render blind anyone who drinks it. The inscription on the bottles also points out that death may come to anyone who uses the alcohol internally. Yet the bummers and smoke consumers dilute the alcohol and drink it. The gang sent to jail today are of that class. They went to court each with an excuse, but as two of the gang had been in court within a day or two, excuses did not pass.

Mrs. Charles Coles of Blinman street, Mrs. F. Francis and infant son, Terrace avenue; Mrs. Adam Bulaban, Jefferson avenue; Robert and William Johnson, Lyme; Walter Holmes, Crystal avenue; Mrs. Charles Kenyon, Hopkinton, R. I., patients at Lawrence hospital, were dismissed today.

The funeral of John Reinacher, former crossing tender in the employ of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad was held this morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Alexander Weilschinger. The bearers were Andrew Morris, Dennis Doyle, Jeremiah Guinan and Patrick Kane. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, Mystic.

The funeral of Mrs. Hannah, widow of Winfield Page, who was found dead in bed at her home, 485 Williams street last Tuesday morning, was held at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church this morning at 9.15 o'clock and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Daniel O'Callaghan. The bearers were Samuel Mehaffey, Dr. William J. Murray, John M. Mallon, Raymond White, George E. Fisher and Patrick Murphy. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The Guarantee Title & Trust company, New York, administrators of the will of James D. Lynch, today disposed of five building lots at the Pequot. Two lots were acquired by John Eliionsky and Harry Ellon on Parkway; John C. Geary purchased a parcel on Parkway; Viana Tetreault bought a tract on the east side of Parkway and Michael L. O'Connell purchased a tract on the southerly side of Lower Boulevard.

Twin boys born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. James McCarty, 53 Prest street, died within a few hours after birth, one child dying during the morning and the other during the early evening. The infants were buried this afternoon in St. Mary's cemetery. Mr. McCarthy is employed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

Patrolman John Clifford in making his rounds early this morning on Tilley street discovered the lock of the rear entrance of the New London Paper and Supply company smashed. Investigation revealed that entrance had not been gained to the place, it being believed that the thief was scared away.

An automobile owned by the Salvation Army and operated by Frank Murphy, connected with the organization, collided this afternoon on Main street with a machine owned and operated by William F. Isbell, stationed at the submarine base. The latter's car was damaged. Murphy was arersted by Patroiman Graham and charged with operating a car with defective brakes and not being possessed of an operator's license. He will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning.

Donald C. Beaney, 29 Linden street, complained to the police last night that his automobile was damaged earlier in the evening on Bank street when it was backed against by a car bearing registration N-3791 and that the driver of the colliding machine speeded away without stopping to ascertain the extent of the damage occasioned. Beaney asked for the arrest of the driver on a charge of evasion of responsibility. Investigation by the police showed that the car is owned by Mary Reagan, 9 West Colt street, but she claims that the car was not out of the garage after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and that her brother, who operates the machine was at his home throughout the evening.

Tonight George Murphy, 11 Chappell street, appeared at the police station and stated that his car bumped Beaney's machine. Murphy was ordered to appear in the police court tomorrow morning when Beaney will be a witness against him. Murphy stated that Beaney was insolent and even abusive last night, so much so that Murphy declared he struck Beaney. Murphy alleges that he offered to pay for any damage that had resulted and that Beaney was acquainted with him and could have learned the identity of the driver had Beaney desired to do so.

Mrs. Ellen Tillman, colored, of 25 Chappell street, was robbed of $169 in a peculiar manner about two months ago and recently she instituted a personal search for the thieves. A few days ago she visited the Hartford police station and there identified the pictures of two negroes in the rogues' gallery as being the men who took her money. The Hartford police have advised the New London authorities that the men identified were apprehended there for theft and were held for trial before the superior court, but were discharged in the high court because of a lack of evidence.

Mrs. Tillman was walking along Broad street at the time of the alleged robbery. According to the woman she was stopped by the two negroes, whom she had never seen before and requested to allow them to lodge at her home. During the conversation, Mrs. Tillman declares, she was asked if she had any money about her, and she exhibited her savings to show that she did. One of the men asked her to give him the money, which she did, and the strangers then disappeared. Mrs. Tillman did not report the alleged theft to the police until about ten hours afterwards, although she admitted that she realized she had been robbed.

There is a probability that the strike at the Edward Bloom silk mill, Garfield avenue, will be ended within a few days, or today Miss Anna Weinstock, representing the conciliation division of the department of labor at Washington, arrived in New London and will use her efforts to bring about an adjustment of the differences existing between the strikers and the officials of the silk company. The strikers, about 100 some of them women, quit work a fortnight ago when their demand for an increase of wages of three cents per yard was refused.

There is a possibility that the property of the Goddard estate, on State street, will be sold within a few days, for it is understood that a New York concern has taken an option on the property. James M. Graves, agent for the estate, this afternoon refused to affirm or deny that the property might be acquired by the New York concern, stating that he was not in a position to reveal the facts of the negotiations, which are known to have been progressing several weeks. The property is located on the south side of State street, between Green and Main streets and is occupied at present by the Far East restaurant and by the C. W. Strickland store.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rudd are spending a few days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. John McConville have returned home, having spent a fortnight in Quebec.

Lillian Lewis, 2, daughter of County Detective William Lewis, 1772 Jefferson avenue, has returned home following several weeks' treatment at a local private hospital where the child was operated upon for an infected bone in the leg.

The annual meeting of the Harbor club was held last evening and the following officers chosen: President, Herbert J. Huntley; vice president, Frank I. Rogers; secretary, William H. Nott; treasurer, Henry W. McMahon; member of executive committee, three years, Harry E. Hasty.

Silas Maxson Jr., has sold a building lot in Flanders to George L. Maynard.

Frank U. Engman, stationed at the United States Coast Guard academy, and Miss Emily E. Bentson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bentson, 30 Thames street, Groton, were married last evening at the parsonage of the Groton Heights Baptist church by Rev. George R. Atha. Herman Debensky was best man and Miss Edith Bentson, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. Upon their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Engman will reside at 30 Thames street, Groton.

Funeral services for Susan C., widow of Henry A. Brown, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her residence, 34 Montauk avenue. Rev. Horatio J. Chase, pastor of the Montauk Avenue Baptist church, conducted the services. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Bernard S. Carroll, Edgewater, N. J., master of the speed launch Dick, owned by Eugene O'Brien, Brooklyn, which was captured by the revenue cutter Tampa, off Block Island, a week ago and which, it was believed, was a rum-runner, was released from custody when United States Commissioner Earl Mathewson of Norwich this afternoon ordered Carroll discharged because of lack of evidence. Carroll was charged with having proceeded on a foreign voyage without having filed manifest or obtained her clearance papers. The Dick, a new craft of 1400 horse power and 60 feet in length, is still in possession of the government agents, but will probably be delivered to her owner within a short time. When the craft was seized her crew of seven, other than Capt. Carroll, were not held. The Dick was seized when sighted coming from the direction of the rum fleet, but when she was overhauled and boarded no signs of liquor were found.

Misses Loretta and Lillian Dorsey, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Dorsey, have returned to their home on Park avenue, after having visited relatives in Providence.

An automobile operated by Clayton Greenleaf, 65 Pleasant street, Groton, and a machine owned and operated by Joseph Syracusa, 133 Jefferson avenue, were in collision late this afternoon on State street. Both cars were damaged. Greenleaf was arrested by Patrolman Michael Dorsey for failing to have an operator's license. He will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning.

A public meeting was held this evening in the Second district hall, Groton, and at which Levi Garrison, of Willington, superintendent of schools, addressed a large gathering. The meeting was to stimulate interest in the proposed plan of consolidating the Groton school districts. Mr. Garrison will address another meeting to take place at Noank Friday evening. Taxpayers of Noank are opposed to the consolidation plan, while the taxpayers of Groton borough have failed to indicate any interest whatever in the movement. The matter will be settled at the annual election next Monday.

This afternoon a citizen informed the police that a gang of ten bootleggers were on Railroad avenue and that they were possessed of a considerable quantity of liquor. Sergeant Nelson Smith and four patrolmen hustled to the avenue, to find seven or eight local men participating in an out-door drinking affair. The gang was dispersed, but that did not end the party, for an automobile was commandeered and the gang proceeded to the outskirts of the city, where the stock of liquor was consumed.

GETTING TOO FAT? TRY THIS — REDUCE

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating, or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or send price direct to Marmola Co., 729 General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be able to reduce steadily and easily and pleasantly, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise. Start taking them today and get slender.

ARE WOMEN 100 PER CENT. EFFICIENT?

How many women do you know who are 100 per cent. efficient? That means every nerve and sinew of the body pulsating with life and health as nature intended. Do you not know more who are half dead and half alive, with aches, pains, nervous, irritable and despondent, making themselves miserable and every one around them? Women in this condition should let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound rebuild and restore them to a normal healthy condition which will make them 100 per cent. efficient and life worth living. There are women in every section of this country who testify to its merits.

REV. JOHN J. M'GRATH GIVEN FAREWELL PURSE OF $900

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 2.—Rev. John J. McGrath, formerly assistant pastor of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, whom was recently transferred to Hartford, to St. Peter's church, was pleasantly surprised at a reception in his honor in the basement of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church tonight when he was presented a purse of approximately $900 by parishioners. The presentation was made by Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley, pastor of the church in the presence of many parishioners. Rev. Father McGrath replied in grateful words that showed his appreciation of the gift. Prior to the presentation Father McGrath was tendered a dinner at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Forester, at Ocean Beach, by members of the Crowley club.

GALES FERRY

Noyes B. Allyn passed his 86th birthday, Monday, Sept. 29, at his home here, in comfortable health. The anniversary was noted by many friends, both far away, and local. Mr. Allyn received callers during the day, a large basket of flowers from the altar decorations of the M. E. church the Sunday previous, a shower of post cards, with greetings, interesting letters, and gifts, including the birthday cake. Mr. Allyn spent a part of the day tabulating gifts to the permanent fund of the M. E. church the past year, which number 400 ranging from five cents to fifty dollars. The whole amount not fully tabulated at this time. Mr. Allyn is the promoter and collector of this fund, and it has been the work of 19 years. By Mr. Allyn's persistent effort and unflagging zeal the sum raised is over $2,000.

Pupils of the Gales Ferry grammar school, Miss Evelyn E. Whipple, the teacher, perfect in attendance for September, were Robert Allyn, Joseph DeRusha, Louis Jennings, Frank Jennings, Edward McQuaid, J. Edmund Norman Jr., Oliver Nylen, Ernest Nylen, Ruth Allyn, Helen DeRusha, Rose Norcross, Margaret Parker, Eleanor Smith. Children excused: Harold Hurlbutt, Jay Pierce and Anna May Duffy. Pupils of the primary grades, Mrs. Rufus W. Hurlbutt, teacher: Bernice Coman, William Davidson, Robert Duffy, Barbara Hamilton, Edith Hartung, Elvin Harting, Ruth Hurlbutt, Enid Latimer, Elizabeth Main, Ruth Main, Francis Maynard and Carl Norcross.

Mrs. E. P. Sills of Chicago, who has been the guest of Mrs. Frank A. Aplin at her Preston farm, and at her Gales Ferry residence, left here for New York Monday.

Miss Jennie G. Perkins, clerk in the Thames National bank, Norwich, who is having a vacation, left here Thursday, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Dudley C. Perkins, for Philadelphia, where they will be guests of Mrs. Perkins' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Perkins.

Miss Daisy Stark, of New London was a caller on Mrs. Fanny A. Melthrop Monday.

Miss Sarah T. Latimer is a guest this week of Mrs. Alice P. Mitchell of Montville, at her summer home at Poquyogh Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Bartlett of Norwich were dinner guests recently of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt, at Woodlawn Farm.

Andrew P. Miller of Boston, who has been with his family here, returned to that city Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison T. Chapman of Middletown are guests of Mr. Chapman's nephew, Courtland E. Colver and family, at the Submarine Base, and were callers on relatives in this place Wednesday.

During the wind and rain storm of Tuesday, a large limb from one of the great trees in front of what was known as the Mathewson place, now the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Dimmick, was twisted off, falling inside the front fence, just escaping the house. Telephone line 1887 was put out of commission but other lines and the electric light wires weathered the gale.

Miss Mary Birch left Wednesday to visit Mrs. Lyle West in Hanover, a former classmate of Miss Birch at Norwich Free Academy.

Walter M. Buckingham, assistant cashier of the Thames National bank of Norwich, resumed his duties Monday, after spending a vacation of two weeks at his home here.

Mrs. J. Otis Winchester and Mrs. Charles H. Winchester of Norwich, spent several days the first of the week at the summer home of the former, at Perkins place.

The public library attendants for September were Mrs. Delphine Fish, Mrs. Fred E. Richards, Miss Mary J. Birch.

Miss Caroline B. Freeman entertained Wednesday evening for her guest, Miss S. M. Ferguson of San Diego, Cal., who is spending a month at The Bowerie, the home of Miss Freeman. The affair was a nonsense party. Rhymes were sung, grotesque character dances were given and an especially amusing feature was the singing by the men's quartette of Glad Rags. The effective autumn decorations of the rooms were by Miss Laura A. Perkins. Twenty-five guests were present.

Mrs. Arthur F. Blackledge of Norwich was a guest of Miss Caroline B. Freeman, Wednesday, and over night, to attend the nonsense party.

Miss Dorothy Wulf of Norwich was the week-end guest of Mrs. E. W. Jones at her summer home.

Recent callers at the home of Mrs. J. A. Birch were Charles Harrison and his daughter, Mrs. Lyle West and her son, Harwood West of Hanover.

EAGLEVILLE

The C. E. society held a social in the hall last Friday night.

Mrs. George Reynolds and son Howard, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wilcox of Merrow, spent Sunday at Hills Grove, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hamer and son Paul spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Warren, at Flanders, South Coventry.

Edw. Warren and Rudolph Real are enlarging their poultry houses.

Harry Hopkins and family have moved to their recently purchased a home, formerly the Gurley farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Goodman and children of East Hampton and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lillibridge of West Hartford were at Edw. Warren's on Sunday.

A number from this vicinity attended the convention of the Ashford Baptist association, at Dunham Memorial church, Mansfield Depot, on Tuesday. The women of the entertaining church served dinner and supper, which were much appreciated by all.

Mrs. Emil Landen is ill.

Rancher Sees White Deer.

White deer, a buck and doe, have been seen near Bomers Ferry, Idaho, recently, according to reports from several sources. George La Fountain, a rancher, said the doe was entirely white while the buck had two brown spots, each about six inches in diameter, on his back.

If you want anything told, tell it to a woman and tell her not to tell it.

STYLES NOW — IN THEIR FRESHNESS AND NEWNESS

If you haven't, come in today. We have just received some new ones, and they are smarter than any we have seen this season. You'll love the long slender lines of these frocks, broken only by a bit of a cape, a new sleeve, or a slight smart flare concealed somewhere in the skirt.

The new fabrics are lovely—rich satin-finished fabrics, ribbed effects and reps. These are just the kind of frocks you need for dress, for business or for street wear.

SILK FROCKS
35.00 to 59.75

For street, for afternoon, for dinner or for evening wear, made of crepe back satin, georgette, bengaline, and other weaves, in the straight line models or the new tunic effects. Some show touches of fur, and some of the most beautiful are beaded in exquisite designs.

Silk and Wool Dresses
15.00 to 29.75

A special group of new Fall Dresses, in models representing the latest style developments. Within this range of prices you will find many beautiful frocks of satin crepe and charmeen — dresses of quality and style which would sell usually for much higher prices.

FLANNEL AND JERSEY DRESSES ..... 9.75 to 15.00

Clever models—just the thing for street, office or school. The new fancy flannels are exceedingly attractive, many striking effects being produced. All of the frocks are finely tailored, and priced very reasonably. Come in and see them.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS IRREGULAR

New York, Oct. 2—Heavy selling of the local public utility issues brought about sufficient liquidation and bear selling in other sections of the list to check effectually the upward movement of prices in today's stock market, leaving closing quotations irregularly lower. The unfavorable interpretation placed by some professional trades upon recent political developments also was a factor in the day's selling.

Extraordinary strength of the grain market and a rally of approximately one cent in cotton futures also served to divert speculative interest from the stock to the commodity markets. However, more than a score of issues attained new peak prices for the year including such widely diversified stock as United States Distributing common and preferred, Commercial Solvents A and B, Montgomery-Ward, Railway Steel Spring, St. Joseph Lead, Foundation Company, Radio Corporation, Simmons Bed common, and preferred, Goodyear Tire preferred and Spicer Manufacturing.

An opening gain of more than 6 points in Frisco preferred which touched a new high at 73 1-2, in reflection of the inauguration of dividends was the outstanding feature in the railroad group. The stock eased later to 71 7-8. The common, which touched a new top at 31 eased nearly a point from the high. Missouri Pacific preferred and Gulf Mobile & Northern preferred also bettered their previous top prices. Most of the other rails moved within rather narrow limits, "Soo" preferred standing out with a gain of four points on one sale.

American Can closed a point lower at 132 and most of the other standard industrials yielded fractionally. While the liquidation of local gas stocks gave rise to all sorts of rumors the selling appeared to be due to the announcement of new financing by the Brooklyn Edison Company.

Sales of Montgomery-Ward at the highest price in several years reflected, record breaking September sales. Equipments held firm on reports of large railroad orders. Higher earnings also accounted for the strength of United Distributing common and preferred at 31 3-8 and 120 respectively.

High priced specialties for which there is a thin market, reacted rather sharply when pressed for sale. Nash Motor broke six points and losses of two or more points took place in General Electric, American Water Works common, Du Pont, Associated Dry Goods and General Baking.

Call money held steady at 2 1-2 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged with business quiet.

Foreign exchanges reacted in reflection about 3-4 of a cent lower around $4.45 5-8 and French francs were quoted just above 5 1-4 cents. Brazilian Milreis rallied sharply on a denial of revolution rumors.

BOND MARKET

New York, Oct. 2—Heavy buying of Frisco Railway issues, based on the inauguration of preferred dividends by the road, was the outstanding feature of today's bond market. Price fluctuations generally were narrow, with a firm undertone prevailing.

A spirited demand for the Frisco income and adjustment 6s followed the sharp rise in the preferred shares to a new high record.

Gains of several points were scored by these issues, the advance being accentuated by the announcement that directors were considering declaration of an initial payment on the common stock.

Buying of other western railroad liens early in the day was counteracted later by profit taking, giving the rail list an uneven appearance. Wabash and Peoria & Eastern issues responded to favorable merger reports.

Preliminary plans for flotation of a $25,000,000 bond issue by the Brooklyn Edison and Brooklyn Union Gas bonds yielded to pressure. The new Brooklyn Edison issue will consist of 25 year 5 per cent. obligations which will be sold to retire the present 7s and to reimburse the treasury for capital expenditures.

Kuhn, Loeb and company announced today the purchase from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company of $50,000,000 forty year 5 per cent. bonds which will be offered to the public through a nation-wide syndicate at 98 1-2 to yield approximately 5.10 per cent.

CURB MARKET

New York, Oct. 2—Uneven price movements characterized today's curb market with independent points of strength developing in all groups.

Stocks of oil refining and producing companies held relatively steady on reports of a further decrease in crude production, but the pipe line stocks continued heavy in further reflection of recent dividend cuts and omissions in those issues.

Standard Oil of Ohio jumped 14 points to 317 on a few odd lot sales and net gains of one to two and a half points were made by Vacuum, Angelo-American Oil, Prairie Signal and Magnolia Petroleum.

Gillette Safety Razor (old stock) added five points to its recent gain. Increased activity in Ginter Stores, which advanced 2 1-2 points followed favorable dividend action on the common stock. Ward Baking, class B, the most active issue in the industrial list, moved up to points to 35 1-8.

Public utilities fell back on profit taking, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore eased fractionally after selling around the record high. Middle West utilities broke 4 points and United Light & Power class A common, sagged 1 1-2.

There was little interest in the mining group.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Oct. 2—For the first time since 1921, wheat today rose above $1.50 a bushel, the May delivery here soaring to $1.51 1-2. Urgent foreign demand for breadstuffs gave a big lift to all grain values, rye especially. Maximum jumps in price today were 8 cents for rye and five cents for wheat. The wheat market closed strong, 3 1-4 to 4 7-8c net high, December 146 1-4 to 146 3-8 and May 151 1-4 to 151 3-8, with corn 2 1-2 to 4 1-8 cents up, oats showing 2 1-2 to 2 7-8c advance and provisions a gain of 25 cents to 50 cents.

It was estimated that as much as $4,000,000 bushels of wheat was ready for shipment to Europe from the United States and Canada. About 800,000 bushels of rye was also purchased for trans-Atlantic use.

Scarcity of rye was said to be so acute that five days of foreign buying at the recent fast pace would exhaust the entire available domestic stock, aside from new crop receipts. Even barley came into view today as a possible substitute, and went above $1.00 a bushel in price, some barley selling at $1.01.

Unusual activity on the buying side extended to all the grain pits, and new high price records for the season were scored not only in wheat but for rye and barley as well. Heavy profit taking sales failed to check the upward swing of the markets, and in some quarters it was contended that the trade was apparently just beginning to realize how serious the crop year has been outside of the United States.

Favorable weather today kept the corn market relatively easy. On the other hand, oats were in brisk demand owing to comparative cheapness and to prospective enlarged export call.

Increasing stocks of lard and increasing cost of hogs sent provisions upward with grain.

PLANS OF ARGENTINE WORLD FLIGHT AVIATOR

Shanghai, Oct. 3—(By the A. P.)—Major Pedro Zanni, Argentine world-encircling aviator, will leave China and its civil war behind him and fly to Kagoshima, Japan, tomorrow (Saturday) he announced late last night.

The Argentine still is determined to fly across the Pacific this year, although aeronautical experts rave been trying to persuade him that it is too late in the season for the trip. Final decision on whether to continue is to be made after Major Zanni reaches Kasumigaura Tokio air base. Major Zanni reached here Wednesday from Foochow, Fukien Province.

MAY ATTEMPT TO FORCE MINORITY STOCKHOLDERS

New York, Oct. 2—Reports that the Van Sweringen interests would attempt to force minority stockholders of the Erie, Pere Marquette, "Nickel Plate," Chesapeake & Ohio, and Hocking Valley Railroads to accept the terms recent outlined in the proposal for unification of the five roads were denied by representatives of the Cleveland interests in New York today.

Rumors that the Van Sweringen's were shaping plans for a drawn battle in the courts, coupled with generally coercive measures aimed at possible minority claims, were branded as "absolutely without foundation." No statement suggesting a hostile attitude toward non-depositing shareholders or touching upon any plans regarding plans withheld had been authorized, it was added.

The merger proposal, said the Van Sweringen representatives had been placed before 41,000 stockholders in the United States and Europe, and a large number of them had deposited their shares without questioning the terms.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

There is to be an open meeting of the Current Events club in library hall Monday evening. Mrs. J. D. Griffiths, who was a delegate to the bi-ennial convention of the general federation at Los Angeles, is to give a report of the convention. There will be special music by Mrs. T. F. Mullen and Mrs. Lincoln G. Luce.

Ralph Patten left Wednesday for Billerica, Mass., where he has entered the Mitchell School for Boys.

Mrs. Henry Howard of Brooklyn, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. Thomas Chopin, on Grant avenue.

Oliver L. Wickes, 54, of Stafford Springs, died at the South Manchester hospital Wednesday afternoon after an illness of several weeks, pneumonia being the cause of death. Mr. Wickes came to Stafford Springs about five years ago and purchased the Eaton drug store, where he and Mrs. Wickes have since conducted a general pharmacy business. He was born in Elgin, Ill., and moved to South Manchester when a young man. He later moved to Wethersfield and from there came to Stafford Springs. He has been in the drug business since he grew to manhood. Besides his wife Mrs. Ethel Wickes, who was associated with him in business he leaves his mother Mrs. Nellie Wickes. He was a prominent Mason and belonged to the Blue lodge chapter and Commandery in South Manchester and Hartford.

Miss Dorothy Turner of Staffordville is attending Bay Path Institute, Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gordon have sold their property on Edgewood street to Benjamin Campo. They will leave town next week for East Hampton where they will make their home.

News was received here Wednesday night of the marriage of Judge Joel H. Reed and Mrs. Grace W. Perrin of West Haven. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John A. Bell, district superintendent of the Methodist church: Mrs. Reed was for fifteen years superintendent of the Florence Crittenden mission at New Haven. Judge Reed was for sixteen years a judge of the superior court, having been retired in January, 1920, when he reached the constitutional age limit of 70.

WARNING
ANNUAL TOWN MEETING

The legal voters in Town Meeting of the Town of Norwich are hereby warned to meet in Annual Town Meeting in the Town Hall in said Norwich on Monday, Oct. 6th, 1924, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the following purposes:

To hear and act upon the annual report of the Selectmen and their recommendations, the reports of the Town Treasurer, the Sinking Fund Committee, the Town Health Officer, the Town School Committee, and the Trustees of the Otis Library; to fix the salaries of the Town Officials, to lay a tax to meet the lawful expenses of the Town, including the expenses of the public schools, for the ensuing fiscal year, and to fix the compensation of the Tax Collector

Also, to determine whether the Town will authorize the Selectmen to borrow a sum not to exceed the amount of Three Hundred and Twenty-five Thousand ($325,000) Dollars at such times and in such amounts during the twelve months next ensuing as they shall deem proper, to defray the debts of the Town accruing before the next Annual Town Meeting, and to deliver the notes and other obligations of the Town therefor as shall in their judgment be for the best interests of the Town.

Also, to authorize the Selectmen of said Town to sell a certain piece of land about twenty (20) feet square located upon Laurel Hill road, in said Town, and formerly occupied by a watering trough, and to deliver a proper deed of the Town to the purchaser thereof.

Also, to see if the Town will amend the resolution appropriating One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars to erect a new school building on land of the Town of Norwich in East Norwich, so-called, and authorizing the Selectmen to borrow the said sum and to issue interest bearing obligations of the Town therefor adopted at the Town Meeting held the 24th day of June, 1924.

Also, to authorize the issue and sale of bonds of the Town of Norwich to an amount not to exceed OneHundred and Seventeen Thousand ($117,000) Dollars for the purpose of refunding this amount of the issue of Court House Bonds maturing Jan. 1st, 1925.

Also, to see whether the Town will appropriate the sum of Four Thousand Five Hundred ($4,500) Dollars to be used for current expenses of the Otis Library.

Also, to consider and act upon the following petitions presented to the Board of Selectmen with a request that they be acted upon at this Annual Town Meeting:

A petition requesting that the Town appropriate a sum of money not to exceed Sixty-five Thousand ($65,000) Dollars to relieve the parents or legal guardians of children resident in said Town and students at the Norwich Free Academy from the payment of the term fees of said Academy for the school year 1924-25.

A petition that the Town appropriate a sum of money not to exceed Ten Thousand ($10,000) Dollars for the purpose of providing medical inspection and health work for the school children of the Town of Norwich.

A petition that the Town appropriate a sum of One Thousand ($1,000) Dollars to help defray the expenses of the dedication of the Soldiers' memorial on Chelsea Parade.

A petition that the Town appropriate the sum of Eight Thousand ($8,000) Dollars for the purpose of continuing the preparation of a tax map of the Town, said sum to be spent under the direction of the Board of Selectmen and Board of Assessors.

A petition that five (5) street lights be installed and maintained by the Town on Julian street, so-called.

A petition that the Town install and maintain electric lights on the west end of Maple street and on Pine street, so-called.

A petition that the Town establish and maintain three (3) street lights on the highway leading from the Norwich and Colchester turnpike in the Village of Yantic to Wauwecus Hill.

A petition to accept the private way known as Germania street, in the Village of Taftville, as a public highway and thoroughfare.

A petition that the Town appropriate a sum not to exceed Two Hundred ($200) Dollars for the purpose of installing a hydrant at Peck's Corner, so-called.

A petition requesting that the voters consider whether or not they will direct the Town School Committee to commence the morning session of the schools during the coming school year at 9 o'clock Standard Time.

A petition requesting the appropriation of a sum not to exceed One Hundred and Fifty ($150) Dollars for the installation of a hydrant on West Town street, near Wauwecus street.

A petition requesting the installation of street lights on McClellan avenue, so-called, at Norwich Town.

Also, to do any other business proper to come before said meeting.

Dated at Norwich, Conn., this 25th day of September, 1924.

Field Secretary Hicks who is always heard with interest in the places he visits throughout the state in promoting Christian Endeavor activities, etc., is to be a supper guest at the home of the Misses Hyde and their brother, George F. Hyde of Washington street.

At the Versailles Methodist church this (Friday) evening, Field Secretary Hicks is to be present at a social gathering and will give a talk. He will go to Providence Saturday to attend a conference, remaining overnight there. Sunday morning in one of the Providence churches he is to give an address along his line of work. He will return here in time to attend the service Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock, at Goshen Congregational church, where a union C. E. service will be held, with Liberty Hill Congregational, Lebanon Baptist and Lebanon Congregational churches, uniting, and he will have an important part in the service.

There is to be an executive meeting of Norwich Christian Endeavor union, Monday evening at the home of Miss Jessie E. Hyde, on Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry who have made their home for the past year with Mr. and Mrs. William Whittle of East Town street, returned this week to their home near Providence, where they expect to remain. Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Whittle are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bayens and son, John, Jr., for several years residents of Washington street, moved Wednesday to an apartment on lower Washington street, formerly the Blackstone homestead.

Miss Gertrude Stark Avery who was recently commissioned a missionary to India, and who is to sail in company with other young women from New York Saturday, left her home in Norwich Town Thursday evening. This company of four or five women will visit educational centers in England and points of interest in France, en route to their respective stations in Mission lands.

Miss Avery, who is to be under special care of the Eastern Connecticut Branch of Woman's Board of Missions, leaves her home town, with the good wishes and prayers of a host of interested friends, as well as many relatives and friends in surrounding towns.

LEFFINGWELL

Mrs. Mary G. Beebe of New London is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Beebe.

Mrs. Robert Albert of Corona, L. I., has returned home, after spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Taylor.

Mrs. Albert Ross has returned to her home after visiting relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chappell and Mr. and Mrs. Pearl W. Ross, of New Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rathbone visited Putnam relatives last week.

Jerome Taylor and son, Russell are erecting a galvanized iron silo.

Mrs. N. E. Whiting and Mrs. A. H. Beebe were in charge of a Ladies' Aid society supper held in the vestry on Tuesday evening. Although the night was stormy a pleasant evening was spent. The supper menu consisted of baked beans, potato salad, scalloped potato, brown bread, rolls, coffee, cake and ice cream.

Mrs. Francis is ill with grip at the parsonage.

Farmers here are filling silos this week and the hum of the engines can be heard from every direction.

Wednesday afternoon the missionary meeting was held with Mrs. S. Clinton Rogers at her home on Wauwecus Hill.

A trusted paying teller of the National City Bank's Wall Street branch, New York and his friend were arrested, charged with the forgery of the name of Ann Nichols' playwright, to a $2750 check.

LEBANON MAN SUES TO RECOVER PROPERTY HE DEEDED TO HIS BROTHER

Ernest L. Martin of Lebanon has brought suit in the superior court to recover a 13 acre tract of land in Lebanon, valued at $4,000, which he conveyed to his brother, the late Anderson O. Martin on May 9, 1902, and which Anderson Martin occupied with his family until his death Jan. 13, 1924.

The suit is brought against his brother's widow, Annie K. Martin of Lebanon, and four nephews of the plaintiff, Hayward C. Martin of Lebanon, Anderson O. Martin Jr., of Haworth, N. J., Ralph E. Martin of Highlands, N. J., and John W. Martin of Casper, Wyoming.

The plaintiff alleges that at a time when he was sick and weak minded and without knowledge of business affairs, he took the advice of his brother, in whom he trusted, and conveyed the property to his brother because the latter induced the plaintiff to believe that he was in danger of having all his property taken away from him by claims that were to be presented against him.

This, the plaintiff claims, was a fraudulent representation, he received nothing for the property and never received anything from his brother for the use of the property, said use and profit being worth $200 a year.

Since the death of Anderson O. Martin the real estate has been probated by the administrator, Hayward C. Martin, as part of the estate of his father, and the administrator and the widow have refused to restore the property to him.

The plaintiff sues to have the warranty deed to his brother set aside and title to the property vested in the plaintiff, that persons in possession be ejected and he be put in possession.

The suit is returnable before the superior court in October.

Linwood Massey of New London sues for divorce from Catherine Ley Massey of New Haven on the ground of desertion Oct. 27, 1920. They were married Sept. 16, 1911.

Foreclosure of a mortgage for $4,500, dated Aug. 27, 1921, on which $4,100 is still due, is sought by Andrew L. Jensen of Lisbon in a suit against Zacharia Sacks of Brooklyn, N. Y., et al. The property consists of about 35 acres in Preston, known as the James Barnes homestead. The Jewish Agricultural Society, Inc., claiming a second mortgage of $1,000 is named as a party defendant.

DENIES NON-SUIT IN SUIT FOR $10,000

Judge Leonard J. Nickerson in the superior court at New London Thursday heard the trial of the suit of Henrietta Natzel of this city for $10,000 damages against the estate of Miss Mary P. Huntington of this city. Motion for a non-suit was made by the defendant after the plaintiff had rested, but was denied by Judge Nickerson, and the case proceeded with one witness for the defense. After the arguments by Attorney J. Greenstein for the plaintiff and J. P. Huntington for the defendant, Judge Nicherson took the papers and reserved decision.

The suit is brought for what are alleged to be permanent injuries to the right arm of the plaintiff which she claims are the result of a fall she had Sept. 26, 1921, at the Broadway home of the defendant. She was employed there as a domestic and the accident happened on the night of the first day she went to work, being caused, according to the plaintiff's claim, because her employer refused to have any light for the stairway where she fell.

Suit was brought during the lifetime of Miss Huntington and after her death the executor of her estate was cited in to defend the suit. The defendant's attorney raised the point that in the plaintiff's employ as a domestic in the house it was part of her duty to provide lights and there was negligence if she did not do so.

Witness for the plaintiff's side of the case, besides herself, were Dr. W. K. Tingley and Dr. J. S. Tennen, both of this city. The witness for the defendant was Dr. Jean Keiffer of the Norwich state hospital, an X-ray specialist.

RAYMOND SHERMAN SPOKE AT NTL. SAFETY COUNCIL

At the annual congress of the National Safety Council in session in Louisville, Ky., R. B. Sherman, employment manager of the U. S. Finishing Co., of this city, presented a prepared address on "Planning for Safety" before the Textile Section of the Council on Tuesday morning, Sept. 30 at the Brown Hotel. In this address Mr. Sherman explained the method used in accident reduction work with the finishing company which has greatly reduced the number of accidents in that plant, giving much credit to the fine attitude of the management and overseers in safety work for the 60 per cent. reduction in accidents which has taken place this year.

Following the address a lengthy discussion took place regarding the address and many questions were asked Mr. Sherman regarding the safety work which he is directing.

ACCEPT INVITATION TO DEDICATION IN NORWICH

John Coleman Prince post, American Legion, met Wednesday night at the state armory at New London with two visitors from Fletcher post of Norwich. They were District Commander William A. Anderson and J. L. Johnson, chef de guerre in the county Forty and Eight.

The post voted to accept an invitation to participate in the exercises and parade in Norwich on Armistice day when dedication of the new war memorial will be held.

In the City Court

In the city court Thursday morning three men charged with violation of the local traffic ordinances had their cases nolled on payment of $5 each. The reckless driving charge against Arthur G. Parker was nolled. Mr. Parker was involved in an automobile accident at the corner of Thames and High streets about 11 o'clock Wednesday night.

Two men were fined for intoxication.

The man who tells a lie and sticks to it may think it is as good as the truth, but he never really believes it.

FORMER NORWICH WOMAN DIES IN LYNN AT 92

Mrs. Hannah West, one of the oldest women in Lynn, died there Monday at the age of ninety-two years at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Milton R. Osborne. She suffered a fall a short time ago, injuring her hip. She was a native of Liverpool, N. S., and her father was David Dunlap. She lived in Norwich, Conn., for a time and went to Lynn fifty-two years ago. She was the wife of the late James P. West, a sea captain, and one of the founders of the First Methodist Church in Lynn, and a member of the Hamelin Lodge of Odd Ladies of Boston. Surviving Mrs. West are five daughters and two sisters.

FALLS COMPANY MILL RESUMES FULL OPERATION

After having been closed throughout the summer months the Falls Company this week resumed operations in all departments. The mill has a number of orders on hand and it is expected that by the first of the year it will be running full capacity. Agent Arthur C. Brown had arranged to develop the striped awning trade so that any desired color combination may be had. Heretofore the woven stripe has been made only in one or two color combinations.

Cities are full of eminent lawyers, but there is still plenty of room in the pre-eminent class.

WILL START CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS ON LAND

Condemnation proceedings will be started within a month on behalf of the state to acquire property adjoining the Seaside sanatorium at Crescent Beach, on which an addition to the overcrowded institution for tubercular children will be erected. Acting State Treasurer Anson T. McCook, representing the McCook estate, owners of the property, has steadfastly refused to sell or give an adequate portion of the property to the state.

For months the situation has been hanging fire, but Attorney General Frank E. Healy now declares that action will be taken as soon as he disposes of all of the appeals of eclectic physicians.

The attorney general has been considering the engagement of special counsel to handle the Crescent Beach proceedings, but it is now said that he will try the action himself.

In Charge of Grotto Contests.

Clarence E. Day, who formerly resided in this city and is now past monarch of Bela Grotto of Springfield, Mass., is in charge of the band and patrol contests that will take place at the Grotto field day in Springfield Friday and Saturday of this week.

September Rainfall

The rain and wind storm of last Tuesday night gave only .63 of an inch of rain, according to the measurements taken by the water office. This made the total rainfall for September 3.97 inches.

ARRIVED IN CALIFORNIA IN SEVENTEEN DAYS

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Meyer of Lisbon, who with William C. Kendall of Norwich and Edward L. Burdick of New Bedford, Mass., have been motoring across the continent, arrived at Vallejo, Cal., their destination on Sunday. While there they will be the guests of Mr. Kendall's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Goodrum and they will also visit Mr. Meyer's brother, Charles Meyer in Oakland, Cal., and Mrs. John Dunse and family of Bakersfield, former Taftville residents.

The party left Taftville Sept. 12th, and made the entire trip in 17 days with no punctures or other tire trouble, and without renewing the air in their tires. They made a stop at Niagara Falls, and their journey took them through Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Idaho and Oregon. They took a northern route to escape bad roads, but made a trip through northern Utah where they visited the Mormon tabernacle at Salt Lake City.

After spending several weeks touring to places of interest on the Pacific coast, the party will begin the journey home, taking the Southern route making stops at various places along the way.

FAMILY MARKET

Market Conditions for Norwich, Oct. 2, Furnished by The Market Reporter of the State Board of Agriculture to The Norwich Bulletin.

MARKET CONDITIONS

The demand is active for lima beans, tomaoes, cauliflower, corn, grapes, apples and for native eggs. Native eggs are meeting active demand, the range of prices on them is from 58 cents to 62 cents per dozen. Tomatoes are coming marketward in large supplies. Prices remain steady. Native potatoes are coming in the market in fairly large quantities. Shedd & Dawley of Preston Plains have large quantities of them, a large demonstration is to be held there Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Now is the time to store away a good supply, as prices are around the dollar mark and are about as low now as they will be.

Meats hold about steady, lambs, however, are quoted on a lower basis this week, due to a large supply available. Pork markets are showing lighter receipts this week, prices this week are about $1.00 higher per 100 pounds.

STREET LIGHTS LARGELY RESTORED IN CITY

Heroic work and long hours on the part of N. C. Pierce in charge of the repair work of the city electrical department had restored the largest part of the street light service by Thursday night although there were spots where the lamps on the poles were dark. By another night all the lights should be in running order and the city will be out of its two nights of lightless streets, due to the devastation in Tuesday night's storm.

But one circuit of the six or seven which control the street lighting system was unbroken in the storm of Tuesday night. The circuit supplying the Preston side of Greeneville came through the storm without a break and that section had street lights while all the rest of the town and city was dark because of not only one but several breaks in practically every street light circuit. In several sections of the city the house lights were out also, but these were all restored by about 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

General Manager C. W. Taggart who had been to Providence on a business trip Wednesday and was returning Wednesday night observed that the Narragansett Power Co.'s territory had been hit the same as Norwich and the lights were out in the Rhode Island towns.

Animal Rescue Work

More than 28,000 small animals were rescued from the New York city streets by school children last summer, says the annual report of the director of the department of humane education of the American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. This work by children shows that the teaching of humaneness, which is now a part of the curriculum of the schools, has had practical results, according to the director. Establishment of this subject in the curriculum has been largely the result of efforts by the state department of education, which has frequently advocated this step. Humane societies have been organized in about 100 schools of the city. Many school magazines have devoted occasional numbers to humane activities of pupils.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Young and Miss Edith Young were guests recently in the week of Mrs. J. W. Follett, of Windham.

Miss H. Louise Fuller reached home Wednesday evening, having visited relatives in England since early in August.

Mrs. Irving W. Page motored from Springfield, Mass., during the week for a brief visit with Mrs. Elmer P. Page of Washington street.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Crowley of Williams street, have returned from a motor trip, spending several weeks at Lake Placid in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. Hugh C. Murray, who visited in Norwich and at Auburn, N. Y. after spending the summer abroad, has opened her home on Turner street, Willimantic, until going south for the winter.

TO UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO WAR-TIME FIRST DIVISION

Hundreds of Men Who Led the Way to France Have Assembled in Washington to Attend the Exercises Today—Tall Granite Column, Upon the Base of Which Appear the Names of Those Who Paid the Great Sacrifice—President Coolidge is to Make the Principal Address.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Men of the war-time First division, which led the way to France, were gathered here tonight in reunion, prepared to pay highest honors tomorrow to their many dead comrades in whose memory they have erected in the nation's capital a tall granite memorial column.

Mingled with the veterans were relatives to those dead whose names appear on the roll of honor that forms the base of the stone tribute to their valor, all will take their part in the homage the living comrades will confer tomorrow when the mourners is unveiled.

The First division were occupied today only with sightseeing and organizational reunions in the evening. There was one mission which they came to perform, however, that they entrusted to a little group of high officers of the war-time division or of the division as it now stands on the army rolls, and that was to testify to General John J. Pershing, first commander of the division, the loyal devotion his comrades still feel toward him.

The testimonial took the form of a handsomely mounted sabre. It was presented to General Pershing in his office by Major General Robert Lee Bullard. Engraved on the scabbard was an inscription saying that it was presented as a token of the division's admiration, affection and loyal devotion" to its war time chieftain, now himself retired.

With General Bullard came Major General Summerall and Brigadier General Parker, all of whom commanded the First division in France in turn, and Brigadier General William mS. Graves, present chief of the active First division of the regular army. There were in the group also Colonel James A. Drain, new national commander of the American Legion, a First division veteran, and representatives of various branches of the division society.

General Pershing was visibly moved as General Bullard laid the sword in his hands saying that he could add nothing to the legend already inscribed upon it by the men of the First division.

In answer, General Pershing said that the First division had stood as a model throughout the war for "all that was worthy of a soldier," and that it would so stand always "if ever we should have to call forth an army again."

"I would that I could in some way present this token to the memory of those men we are gathered here to honor," General Pershing said with his head bent above the sabre as he talked. "Remembering what it represents, let us never draw it except in defense of right and justice."

Aside from the parade and dedication exercises tomorrow, at which President Coolidge will make the principal address, the program for the veterans calls only for a Sunday pilgrimage to Arlington to pay homage at the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Tomorrow night, however, a business meeting of the First Division association will be held at which it is possible that a reorganization of the association will be effected in order to make it a more permanent and enduring memorial to the days in France.

DAMAGING TESTIMONY AGAINST ROLAND POTHIER

[illegible], Wash., Oct. 3.—Roland [illegible] on trial in federal court here [illegible] charge of having murdered Ma- [illegible] Alexande, Cronkhite at Camp [illegible] in 1918 told Thomas J. Callahan of Providence, R. I., that he killed the officer, Callahan testified today.

Callahan who is an agent of the [illegible] department of justice, said Pothier declared:

"I was the man who shot Major [illegible]."

Callahan's testimony was the first [illegible] brought during the trial to fix [illegible] responsibility for the death of Major [illegible].

Pothier first said that the shooting [illegible] accidental Callahan testified. He [illegible] that Pothier first told him that [illegible] trying to take a shell from his [illegible] when he accidentally discharged the bullet striking Cronkhite.

A legal battle over the admissibility [illegible] testimony of William P. Conley, [illegible] Haven, Conn., was terminated this afternoon when Judge Cushman [illegible] a motion by Defense Attorney Maurice Langhorne to strike the testimony on the ground that Conley had obtained certain admissions from Pothier on promise of a reward.

Conley, a railroad detective, testified concerning his efforts to induce Pothier to make a statement regarding the major's death. He told of three visits to Pothier's home and of conversations with the defendant on each occasion. Conley said he posed as a representative of an insurance company, seeking information concerning Cronkhite's death in connection with life insurance policies carried by his company.

During the second visit, Conley said Pothier told him that Major Cronkhite was shot while shooting at a man in [illegible]. He said that the major missed the man the first two shots but got him the third time, exclaiming "I got it that time, captain."

Recalling that, Pothier told him, Conley continued, he turned to look at Captain Robert Rosenbluth, now awaiting trial also on a charge of murdering Major Cronkhite, but did not see him.

While his head was turned, according to Conley's version of Pothier's alleged account, there was a fourth shot and the major exclaimed: "My God I've been shot."

Discussing the third visit, Conley said Pothier asked him why he was following the matter up.

"I told him," Conley continued," it was a matter of bread and butter with me and I would make a nice piece of money if I could get the truth. He replied that the only split he would get if he told anything would be a trip to jail. I said that this seemed to show there was something wrong, and if there was, why couldn't he be a good fellow and tell me about it. He replied suddenly 'No matter how it was, it was an accident, and they can't hang a man for an accident.'

"I saw he was getting nervous and changed the subject."

Conley, on cross examination by Attorney Langhorne concerning visits he made to Pothier, admitted he had told Pothier that he would split a bonus with him if he could prove that Major Cronkhite met his death in such manner that his company would not have to pay the insurance which Major Cronkhite had carried.

CANDIDATES NOMINATED BY HARTFORD REPUBLICANS

Hartford, Oct. 3.—Candidates for state senator from the three senatorial districts of Hartford were nominated by the republicans tonight. They are: First district, Senator Samuel C. Doty; Second district, Mrs. Alice Pattison Merritt; Third district, Joseph B. Griffin. Louis B. Samuels and Mrs. Mary M. Hooker, a former representative, were named the republican candidates for the house.

NEGOTIATIONS UNDERWAY FOR THE GERMAN LOAN

London, Oct. 3. (By the A. P.)—Continued progress of the negotiations going on between Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the reichsbank; Dr. Hans Luther, German finance minister, and American, British and continental bankers regarding the 40,000,000 pounds sterling German loan, was indicated by a statement issued by J. P. Morgan & Co. today.

The head of the Morgan firm declared that his company had already satisfied itself concerning the underlying security and has been requested by the British, French and Belgian governments to facilitate placing the loan by issuing a portion of it for the American market. The statement says:

"While it is known that approximately 50 per cent of the issue of 40,000,000 pounds sterling will be placed in America, 35 per cent in England and the remainder on the continent, considerable speculation has been rife as to the interest yield and other details. But it is unlikely these will be finally arranged until preliminary matters have been settled.

"The favorable results of the preliminary conferences already has had an effect in London where a pronounced hostility was displayed against the loan a fortnight ago. This now appears largely to have been mitigated by assurances that the American experts see little difficulty in the way of the successful flotation of the same."

REMOVED AMERICAN FLAG FROM LAFOLLETTE AUTO

Meriden, Oct. 3.—Roused to a high pitch of resentment at what they considered to be a breach of flag etiquette, Cap. John R. Feegel and Lionel Delesdernier, respective commanders of the local American Legion and Veterans of Foreign War posts, removed the Stars and Stripes from the hood of an auto containing LaFollette-Wheeler campaigners here this noon.

Passersby noticed that a flag was draped over the radiator of the machine, which was parked in the business district, and there were many comments that a seeming disrespect was being shown, however unintentional. Feegel and Delesdernier, both of whom were decorated for valorous service in France, happened along and their attention was called to the incident.

John A. Hopkins, chairman of the "committee of 48," one of the men on a motor tour of the state in the interest of the LaFollette ticket, and Miss Genevieve Park, a secretary, were seated in the auto. They resented the request to remove the flag, saying no disrespect was intended.

While Hopkins went for a policeman the two veterans removed the emblem, folded it and handed it to the woman in the car. The police refused to act on Hopkins' complaint, and likewise the city prosecutor, to whom he appealed.

FUNERAL OF JUDGE REED TO BE IN STAFFORD SPRINGS

Stafford Springs, Oct. 3.—The body of Judge Joel H. Reed, state referee and former bench of the superior court bench, will come from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., today and will be taken to his late home in East street. The funeral service will be on Monday afternoon from the home.

Judge Reed died of acute indigestion late yesterday. He was on his bridal trip, having been married in New Haven on Tuesday.

WHISKEY SEIZED FROM NAUTICAL SCHOOLSHIP

Philadelphia, Oct. 3—Seizure of four cases said to contain whiskey while being unloaded from the Pennsylvania Nautical Schoolship Annapolis, which docked here today with 66 cadets after a 10,000 mile cruise, was followed by issuance of a warrant for a complete search of the vessel by Magistrate Pennock.

Federal Courts Need Additional Judges

Congested Conditions Lead to Many Violations of the Volstead Act.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The condition of business in the federal courts throughout the country requires the creation of additional judgeships, in the opinion of federal judges who have been in conference here three days with Chief Justice Taft.

After a careful review of the dockets in each of the district court, it was the decision of the conference today that the congestion in the federal courts could only be relieved by additional judges. The conference found that in the larger cities and other districts where conditions lead to many violations of the Volstead act, the congestion in the criminal business has increased notwithstanding the recent increase in the number of district judges.

It was also found by the conference that the increased volume in civil business could not be adequately handled by the present force of judges. The conference declared that the present volume of business of all kinds was more than sufficient to demand the attention of all federal judges now available.

The conference considered recommendations for the amendment of the bankruptcy rules, and approved with some modifications and exceptions the suggestions made at the meeting in Baltimore last spring of federal judges with various creditors associations and the American Bar Association committee.

The conference will submit to the judiciary committees of the two houses of congress an amendment to the bankruptcy act by which the distinction between "petitions to revise" and "appeals" would be removed, and all such proceedings would be embraced in "appeals" only. This, the conference decided, would materially contribute to expediting bankruptcy business.

Arrangements were made by the conference, so far as practicable for the interchange of district judges between the circuits, but it was evident to the conference, Chief Justice Taft stated, that the additional judges recently appointed were needed in their own circuits and the transfer of district judges from one circuit to another must in the future be sharply restricted owing to the increase of the volume of business in their home circuits.

Another important act of the conference was the adoption of a resolution recommending that district judges should change the rules of their courts with the object of expediting business. Among the changes in the rules of district courts which the conference proposed the most important was that which would confine the examination of proposed jurors as to their qualifications to such questions as the court itself might ask, counsel to have the right to suggest questions to the court, but to be excluded from otherwise participating in the examination.

LITTLE GIRL KILLED BY TRUCK IN TORRINGTON

Torrington, Oct. 3.—Mary Batters, the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Btters, of Pearl street, was instantly killed this afternoon when she was run over by a truck owned by the Torrington Creamery and driven by Roy Bradley. The truck had backed to the curb to deliver ice cream to a store and when the operator started to drive away he did not see some children playing in the street. He stopped his machine when he heard screams. One of the wheels had passed over the little girl. Bradley was detained by the police during the investigation by the coroner but was later released pending an inquest.

DAWES HAS CLOSED HIS THIRD MID-WESTERN TRIP

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 3—Charles G. Dawes, republican candidate for vice president, closed his Indiana tour and his third mid-western trip with an addressed here tonight in which he characterized the La Filette independent candidacy as an endeavor to drive the ship of state from its constitutional moorings.

"Don't lose your moorings," he advised his audience. "For one hundred and thirty-five years the ship of state has sailed with the constitution as a compass. It has not sailed by the wind as the politicians do. It has made us a great, happy and peaceful country. All things depend upon it."

Entering the state at Terre Haute, the home of Eugene V. Debs, national chairman of the socialist party which is supporting Senator La Follette, Mr. Dawes traveled eastward and northward, speaking at Terre Haute, Brazil, Limedale, Crawfordsville, LaFollette and in this city.

50 Cattle Killed Near Houston Tex.

Part of the Program to Eradicate the Foot and Mouth Disease.

Houston, Texas, Oct. 3.—Five hundred cattle, most of them Brahmas, were shot and killed in an operation near here today as a part of the program of foot and mouth disease eradication.

After the first consignment had been destroyed a second trench was filled with 900 range cattle. A third trench of an adjoining pasture was waiting for approximately 400 cattle, the remainder of the infected herds.

LIQUOR VIOLATION CASES IN COURT IN MIDDLETOWN

Middletown, Oct. 3.—Five persons charged with from one to four counts of liquor violation were put to plea before Judge Arthur F. Ells in the superior court here this afternoon after state police armed with bench warrants had rounded them up.

All were released under bonds for trial next week with the exception of Otto Lindberg, proprietor of the Castle inn at Cornfield Point, who pleaded guilty to one count and was sent to jail for thirty days in addition to a fine of $200 and costs.

THE ADVERTISED GOODS

There is a legend that elephants are afraid of mice. Circus men will tell you the elephant pen is not a safe place for a mouse. But the fable lives as persistently as another fiction—the one that advertised goods cost more than those not advertised. Here, too, the truth is the other way around.

As a matter of fact, manufacturers who advertise increase the demand for their goods, which naturally increases their production. This reduces production costs and means they can sell for less.

Merchants who advertise bring crowds of people into their stores. The more customers the quicker the merchant's stock is sold and the sooner his cash is available for reinvestment. All this means he can afford to do business on a smaller margin of profit than the man who depends on fewer sales to pay expenses and give a profit.

If you want to buy economically buy advertised goods and patronize merchants who advertise. Read the advertisements that appear daily in The Bulletin's columns.

PRINCE OF WALES TO RIDE WITH MYOPIA HUNT CLUB

Hamilton, Mass., Oct. 3.—The Prince of Wales is coming to Massachusetts north shore in two or three weeks to ride with the Myopia Hunt club in one of its famous fox hunts. For years Myopia, a club with a membership of only 100, has been known among its intimates as the "Mother of Sport," fox hunting, polo, golf and horse racing.

Wales will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Baynard Truckerman, Jr., at their new home "Savin Hill Farms," a place reputed to have cost close to a million dollars. His visit will renew an acquaintance begun on the hunting fields of England last year when Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman, James W. Appleton, master of hounds at Myopia and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hays formed a party tht took hunting horses abroad, leased an English estate and hunted with the crack packs of Quorn, Belvoir and Cottesmore.

DECISION ON THE GERMAN-AMERICAN MIXED CLAIMS

Washington, Oct. 3.—A decision handed down by the German-American mixed claims commission today holds that Germany under the treaty of Berlin is responsible to American heirs of estates in Germany for the depreciation in value of the properties between 1917 when war time legislation was passed in Germany prohibiting the transfer of any property belonging to enemy aliens and payments in cash to the United States, and 1920 when such legislation was repealed.

Twenty-eight awards were also rendered in Lusitania cases by the commission. The awards constituted a total of about $478,000.

AIRPLANE LAUNCHED FROM DIRIGIBLE IN MID-AIR

Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 3—(By the A. P.)—Characterized by Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the United States air service as having written a new chapter in aviation, an airplane for the first time in history was launched in mid-air at Wilbur Wright field today and got away under its own power. The experiment was made with a Sperry messenger plane, hooked underneath the car of the army dirigible TC-5, as a stunt for the second day's program of the international air races.

It was intended to show primarily how in war time dirigibles can transport planes. The plane is hooked on a trapeze and may attach itself back on again. At Langley Field recently a plane made contact with a dirigible for three minutes but was not hooked on.

Jane Shygaski, of Portland pleaded not guilty to one count and was released in $500 bond.

Rose Baldyga, of Portland, pleaded not guilty to four counts and was released in $800 bonds.

Herman Ackerman, proprietor of the Moulin Rouge roadhouse pleaded not guilty to four counts and was held in $1,000 bond.

Gardner Murdock pleaded not guilty to four counts and was held in $1,500 bond. He selected a trial by jury while the others chose a court trial. The bench warrants were issued at the request of State's Attorney Ernest A. Inglis.

DELAYING FULFILMENT OF DAWES REPARATION PLAN

Temporary Agent-General Owen D. Young Informs the Reparations Commission That Execution of the Plan is Not Maintaining the Speed and Punctuality With Which It Started—All Conditions Were Scheduled to be Fulfilled by October 6—It has Been Decided to Extend the Period Seven Days.

Paris, Oct. 3 ((By the A. P.)—A report from Owen D. Young, temporary agent-general for reparations under the Dawes plan, to the reparation commission, read at this afternoon's meeting of that body, shows that the work of putting the experts' report into execution is not maintaining the speed and punctuality with which it started.

The London conference decided that the experts' plan would be considered by the reparation commission as having been put into execution of the commission could announce the fulfilment of certain conditions by Sept. 1, and certain others by October 6. The commission was duly enabled to make the first announcement on time. It was decided to extend the period from Oct. 6 until seven days later.

Mr. Young's report begins by recalling that under the London agreement the reparation commission should by Oct. 6 be in a position to announce five things: First, that necessary laws had been voted and promulgated; second, that the executive and controlling bodies provided under the Dawes plan had been installed; third, that the new German bank and railroad control had been constituted; fourth, that certificates representing the railway bonds and industrial debentures had been deposited with the trustees, and fifth, that the contracts had been concluded assuring subscriptions of the 800,000,000 gold mark loan.

After recalling that the London protocol gave the reparation commission power to advance or refuse these dates, Mr. Young's report continued:

"The agent-general herewith reports for the information of the commission that, in his judgment every effort has been made to carry out the measures above prescribed so as to enable the commission to make this announcement.

"Although the legal examination necessary to enable the report to be made, both to the commission and to those negotiating the loan, has required more time than originally contemplated, great progress has been made in all respects toward completing arrangements for the loan."

The report concluded by saying that this postponement would mean so far as the agent-general's duties were concerned, an extension of the transition period by seven days.

COURTS MUST DECIDE RADIO BROADCASTING

New York, Oct. 3.—Federal Judge Knox ruled today that the courts must decide whether radio broadcasting concerns may broadcast copyrighted musical compositions without the consent of the copyright holder.

The ruling was contained in Judge Knox's denial of a motion by the General Electric company to dismiss the complaint of Jerome H. Remick & Co. seeking an injunction against the broadcasting of certain of the concern's copyrighted musical numbers. Judge Knox held that he "could conceive of conditions under which the unauthorized broadcasting of a copyrighted musical composition would be nothing else than its public performance for profit."

"But in any such inquiry," he continued, "I think it necessary to ascertain whose performance was broadcast, was it that of the broadcaster or was it that of another person who may have been authorized to perform the copyrighted composition publicly and for profits? If the latter, I do not believe the broadcaster is to be held liable. By means of the radio art he simply makes a given performance vailable to a great number of persons who, but for his efforts, would not hear it."

HARMONIOUS DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS IN BRIDGEPORT

Bridgeport, Oct. 3.—Not a ripple of dissent was apparent at the democratic city convention executive board meeting and Twenty-second senatorial convention tonight. John J. McGuinness was named town chairman for the third time and Senator John L. Harter was renominated.

Lawrence J. Gill was renominated for assessor; Louis Schweidtle and Dr. Clifford J. Buckley were named candidates for the board of education, and James Small, Howard McCabe and George Smith were nominated for selectmen. A resolution on the death of Sealer of Weights and Measures William H. Beloin was adopted.

For the first time tonight an equal number of women and men were named to the democratic executive board. This board will now be composed of 12 men and 12 women instead of 12 men only.

FLEEING PRISONER IN NEW HAVEN RECAPTURED

New Haven, Oct. 3.—Genaro Cicarelli, who was convicted of the theft of an automobile in superior court today, made a dash for liberty while being returned to the county jail this afternoon but was recaptured after he had run a few blocks. Cicarelli with three other prisoners were in a jail van in charge of Deputy Charles Malie and Deputy James D. Sheriff. When Cicarelli stepped from the van he slipped off his handcuffs and dashed out of the gate. Reaching the street, he stopped an automobile, telling the driver his mother was dying, and asking for a ride. The autoist refused to take him in and the prisoner boarded another automobile. In the meantime, Noel Dudley, driver of the van, and Police Sergeant Ferguson had taken up the chase and soon Cicarelli was captured and returned to his cell.

DIRECTOR BUTLER VOICES PRAISE FOR MAYOR KENDRICK

Philadelphia, Oct. 3—Declaring that "no one will come between the mayor and me again," General Smedley D. Butler, director of public safety, in an address to his police lieutenants at City Hall, today made it clear that he is desirous of remaining in this city in his present position.

The director referred to his recent reconciliation with Mayor Kendrick in cordial terms, and praised Mr. Kendrick as a "fine man,—a man of good purpose and fine balance."

$4,000,000 SUIT AGAINST EMERGENCY FLEET CORP.

Boston, Oct. 3.—Suit for $4,000,000 was begun in federal court today against the United States shipping board emergency fleet corporation by the Atlantic corporation of Portsmouth, N. H., a writ of attachment being served on United States Attorney Robert O. Harris. The action is based on a contract which the plaintiff alleges was made by the emergency fleet corporation for the building of ships in 1917 and 1919.

EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS AGAINST JOHN WESLEY DE KAY

London, Oct. 3.—(By The A. P.)—Somewhat of a sensation was created today by the resumption of the hearing in the extraditions proceedings brought by the United States government against John Wesley De Kay formerly of Providence, Rhode Island when De Kay's counsel requested permission to produce evidence to show that the American government was prosecuting the case, not on account of the transactions alleged, but to punish De Kay for his political activities and his pacificism.

The United States government is endeavoring to have De Kay returned to the United States on a charge of participation in the commission of the crime of fraud by a banker or the officer of a company" in connection with the failure of the Atlantic National bank of Providence, Rhode Island, in 1913.

James D. Cassels, member of parliament, who is counsel for De Kay indicated that it was his intention to call important witnesses to substantiate his allegations. He said also that light would be thrown on the action of the American government in delaying for more than ten years the prosecution of De Kay. Sir Henry Maddocks, counsel for the United States government said that he must make a report to his client. He opposed the introduction of political considerations into the case.

A lengthy discussion followed, and the magistrate ruled that under the extradition act he was bound to hear all evidence tending to show that the prosecution was in fact brought to punish De Kay for his political activities. He invited Mr. Cassels to open his case at next Wednesday's hearing.

ALL SEVEN PLACES MAY BE FILLED ON VOTING MACHINES

New Haven, Oct. 3.—According to indications all seven places allotted to the political parties on the standard voting machines in use in New Haven will be occupied for the first time this fall for there are that many parties in the field in Connecticut this year. The four parties which are now entitled to places on the ballot until they have secured the required number of signatures of voters are working hard to secure names which must be filed before next week.

The republicans, democrats and socialists are entitled to places on the ballot without filing signatures. The LaFollette-Wheeler party has already turned in nearly enough names to entitle it to a place and the socialist labor party is hard at work collecting the required signatures. The workers party also will very likely win its fight for a place but the prohibition party, which has collected less than 50 names, may lose out in its effort to get on the rolls.

THREE PERSONS INJURED IN COLLISION OF AUTOS

New Haven, Oct. 3.—Three persons were injured today when two automobiles came together at Norton and Maple streets. One of the machines was overturned, two of the occupants being pinned underneath.

Mrs. Irma Wolsard, of this city is in St. Raphael's hospital, suffering from internal injuries and minor lacerations about the body and a slight shock. Mrs. Evelyn Lallier, sister-in-law, of Mrs. Wolsard, is in the hospital suffering from a chest injury, two fractured ribs, and minor cuts about the body. Dr. Henry H. Wolsard, the husband of one of the injured women and operator of the machine, also was taken to the hospital and received treatment for a cut on the knee and minor cuts on the head and arms.

THREE BOYS ARRESTED FOR MAIL POUCH THEFT

Beacon Falls, Conn., Oct. 3—Three boys, none of whom is over 13 years of age, have been rounded up by detectives in the employ of the New Haven road for the theft of a pouch of first class mail which was taken from the platorm at the local railroad station September 20. The pouch was found in the hollow of a tree on the island in the northern part of Beacon Falls. It had been cut and letters and envelopes were found torn open. The boys are said to have procured a small sum of money from the letters but ignored the numerous checks. The matter has been turned over to the federal authorities for action. As the lads involved are under 13, their names are withheld from publication.

WILLIMANTIC

With the issuing of the annual report of the officials of the town of Columbia, resident and non-resident taxpayers are overjoyed at the prospect of holding property in a Town which is almost free from debt. Under the efficient administration of Selectmen Joseph N. Clark, Ralph H. Buell and Henry B. Hutchins the town debt has decreased since 1922 from $9,956.68 to the small sum of $3,955.-78 making the present indebtedness the lowest the town has carried in many years. In 1922, when Joseph N. Clark became first selectman with the other two members mentioned a movement was inaugurated to decrease the liabilities. The budget for the fiscal year was drawn to as low a margin as possible and included $1,000 to be used in paying off part of the debt. At the 1923 elections Selectmen Clark and Buell were re-elected with Clair L. Robinson as the third member to replace Mr. Hutchins and the board followed the same procedure, appropriating another $1,000 toward the debt. The town business was so arranged that there was a surplus of receipts over the liabilities and when the 1924 fiscal year ended in September, it was made known in the annual report that in two years $6,000.90 had been paid off of the indebtedness $3,-319.95 in 1922-1923 and $2,480.85 in 1923-1924, leaving the total debt but $3,955.78.

There appears but a half-hearted degree of interest regarding the town elections the coming Monday. The only noticeable contests will be for the offices of assessor for three years at a salary of $500 a year and for town tax collector. In past years the salary of the tax collector increased each year as the grand list grew, he being paid at the rate of three-quarters of one per cent. of the amount collected, thereby receiving over $1,600 annually. This compensation, however, received a cut, but the salary remains large enough to merit attention. Russell A. Andrews, democratic incumbent is the choice of both parties for re-election thereby eliminating any chance of a contest. Charles Larrabee, republican and David P. Ahern, democrat will oppose each other for second selectman Bert F. Moore, democrat and present second selectman and Ex-Alderman Fred J. Ray, republican are candidates for the tax collectorship. John M. Bransfield, democratic present incumbent and George H. Spencer, republican will contest for the "thank you" job of agent of the town deposit fund. There is the usual interest in the election of members of the town school committee. There are nine members of the board and each serves a three year term. Three members are elected annually. Due to the resignation of Postmaster Walter R. King last spring, Raymond A. Parker was chosen by the board to fill the vacancy and Mr. Parker's name is placed on the republican ticket as candidate for a two-year term. Former City Sheriff Robert O. Snow, democrat, will oppose him. For the three year terms Dr. Frank E. Guild and Mrs. Harriet B. Fenton have been chosen on the republican ticket to succeed themselves. Their democratic opponents will be Joseph F. Gaudreau and John Reilly, the latter having been chosen by the board last spring to fill the unexpired term of the late Mayor Hormisdas Dion, whose term would have expired this fall.

The American Thread Athletic Association is planning an American Minstrel and Dance at the state armory in November, under the auspices of Company C, 169th Infantry, Connecticut National Guard. The services of Willimantic's own director, George A. Bartlett, have been secured.

For August there were fifteen deaths recorded at the office of Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton as follows:

1. Emma B. Stearns, 73, myocarditis.
4. Mildred Moriarty, 23, multiple sclerosis spinal cord.
5. Catherine Shannahan, 84, carcinoma of neck.
6. Mary Dennehy, 60, myocarditis.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tandwin of Providence returned home Monday after visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Greene for ten days.

JEWETT CITY

John Havey was thrown out of a top buggy when the horse he was driving ran away Friday morning. When the horse turned the corner at Slater avenue the carriage tipped over. Mr. Havey's head and hand were cut, but not seriously. This is the second runaway accident within a few days, and it looks as if the horses were not going to let the automobiles get ahead of them in the accident line.

Mrs. Arba Browning entertained the Harmony club Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Masse and three of their children, Gerard, Marianna and Louis were recent guests in New Bedford, of Mrs. Masse's sister, Mrs. Napoleon Masse.

Mrs. James B. Palmer, mistress of the famous Round Hill farm in Lisbon, is one of the few that is able to locate the fast disappearing fringed gentians. She knows where they grow, as proof of which, she presented a friend in the borough a bouquet of 76 dainty blossoms Friday.

Last fall a local game warden sort of overlooked an infraction of the game law, when a duck hunter brought home a great blue heron, which he had shot. These birds are now protected by law. For years such was not the case. Along toward the close of the summer, or in early autumn, every year, five or six of these great birds, all males, came to this section to stay until cold weather. It is worth a trip to their haunts on the east shore of Tadpole pond, to watch the few that are there today, as with head drawn in and legs trailing on behind, they flap slowly over the water.

They stand in the shallows of the swamp, on one leg, silent, unmovable and alert. A passing fish or frog seldom escapes the lightning thurst of the spearlike bill. Bull-head fishermen report them as feeding by night; wading with noiseless caution, placing one foot slowly after the other, so carefully that no ripple breaks, to alarm their passing prey.

Frank I. Ray, superintendent of the Jewett City cemetery, formerly known as the Lower Yard, is having much trouble because of people who drive in and do damage there. Wednesday, some unknown person drove all over several private lots, breaking one stone off its base, and left it lying on the ground.

Mr. Ray declared Friday that he would be compelled to lock up the gates, unless such abuse of the privileges now allowed cease.

Two duck hunters on the upper Aspinook Friday proved themselves to be of the sort that some should be taught to be. While lying in cover on the bank, seven pheasants walked safely along the river path. No sound of gun was heard. It seems like a fairy tale, but there were witnesses. The close season does not end until Oct. 15.

WESTMINSTER

A very interesting program is being prepared for the next fellowship-meeting probably Oct. 4, at Ekonk, of the South Windham conference, this being its fifth anniversary to be observed as a jubilee. No Vibration
At Any Engine Speed

Willys-Knight with Lanchester Balancer ushers in a new day of enjoyable motoring.

The Willys-Knight is a revelation to motorists. It gives them a new conception of riding ease, a velvet smoothness of operation that surprises and delights.

Much was expected of the car. The ten years it has been in production have been years of progressive leadership. Willys-Knight conquered noise with its quiet sleeve-valve engine,—conquered engine deterioration, conquered carbon and valve trouble, conquered the problems of lubrication, clutch, steering and every detail of mechanical construction. It seemed to approach the pinnacle of possibility.

But Willys-Knight still advances. This year it tops its record with another triumph —it solves the universal problem of engine vibration. The Lanchester Balancer, which eliminates vibration, introduces car owners to a new comfort and pleasure in driving.

The Willys-Knight with Lanchester Balancer awaits your inspection.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

A motor truck owned by A. A. Chase & Sons and driven by A. A. Chase poked its nose against a trolley car in Furnace street at about 8:20 Friday morning and caused a flurry of interest for a few moments. The trolley car appeared to emerge from the affair with more damage than did the truck, which was pushed over against a fence bordering the property owned by Mrs. E. J. Humphrey.

The Chase truck was on its way out of the alley between the Danielson inn and the Humphrey property when the trolley car, operated by Leo J. Gauthier and returning without passengers to the carhouse at the Dyer dam, came along. The trolley caught the impact of the truck broadside. A section of the side of the newly painted car was raked by the truck and the compressor on the trolley car damaged. It was later estimated that the damage to the trolley car amounted to about $75. The damage to the truck apparently was much less than that. Chief John McFarland took the necessary information relative to the affair.

One man who drives a big red roadster with a Massachusetts registration must have been impressed with the speed with which news travels, when he was halted at the state police barracks here while he was north-bound and given a well deserved bolling out for racing across Bishop's Crossing in Plainfield ahead of a passenger train a short half hour before—and then turning around in his car and giving the locomotive crew one of those supercilious grins that indicate more about one's mentality than may be set down in print.

The Massachusetts man tried his stuff at Bishop's Crossing with the same train and the same locomotive crew that figured in the accident in which a Norwich poultryman was killed at the same crossing a few days ago. As his machine flew across, inches ahead of the locomotive, he turned about and grinned at the horrified railroad men in the cab. They got his number and when the train reached Danielson the irate fireman handed it to Chief McFarland. The chief immediately communicated the information to the state police barracks and when the driver of the red roadster came breezing past the barracks he was held up and told something that ought to do him good. He was allowed to proceed after a generous amount of admonishment. If a member of the engine crew had to deal with him, he might have had something else to remember.

Less than 30 days will be required to complete the new filling station of the Standard Supply company at the corner of Main and Academy streets. Work being done on the property is now beginning to show results. Construction of the building was under way Friday.

A vaudeville bill added to the usual nightly picture program attracted the usual extra attendance at the Orpheum theatre Friday evening.

In the superior court for Windham county at Putnam Friday morning, Mrs. Emily J. Burlingame, a resident in the eastern section of this town, was granted a divorce, on the ground of desertion, from Daniel Burlingame, a resident on the West Side. Although the case was uncontested, Mr. Burlingame was in court, occupying a seat close to the bar rail.

Each of the four officers of the Service battery has a basketball team, made up exclusively from the enlisted personnel of the outfit, at the present time. During October these teams will play each other with a view to making places on the battery team, which should be mighty good. Such teams as the Submarine Base and Manchester of the national guard will be on the battery's playing schedule when the season really hits its stride.

Stenographer-typist and typist examinations, under the auspices of the United States civil service commission, are to be held in Danielson in October. These examinations will offer an opportunity for successful participants to spend the winter in Canada. What the government is after is qualified persons to fill vacancies in customs and internal revenue services, U. S. veterans' service, war and navy departments and the immigration service at Montreal, Quebec, Halifax and St. John's, N. B., and in branches of the government service in New England.

The supply of qualified male eligibles is always far short of the demand in these departments of service and the supply of female eligibles rarely ever equals the demand. Postoffice officials here will tell interested parties more about these positions.

Isaah K. McNally of Putnam has been elected president of the S. N. E. T. Employes' association, Frank McGorty of Danielson vice president and Mrs. Abby M. Hopkins secretary-treasurer. For representatives on the conference boards of the district the nominees are, in the traffic department: Miss Mary Merriam, Miss Alice Joy, Miss Jessie Macdonald, all of Putnam; commercial department, Miss Elizabeth Dunn, Danielson, Miss Effie Daggelson of Putnam and Fred Kingsbury of Putnam; plant department, Frank McGorty, Osario J. Warner, both of Danielson, and Howard Cole of Putnam. Misses Elizabeth Dunn and Susan Collins of Danielson and Miss Helena Gibney of Putnam are named as members of the refreshment committee, and Miss Jennie Williams of Danielson and Miss Jessie Macdonald of Putnam as members of the entertainment committee. The members of the divisions represented in the foregoing elections and nominations held their meeting in American Legion hall here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Andrews and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Perry make up a motoring party that are in Maine for a visit. Members of the Andrews family are former residents of Maine.

Edward McBride has been spending a few days at Brockton fair, paying special attention to the races carded.

Those who have not been made voters in Killingly and who desire to be in time to participate in the state and town elections on the first Tuesday in November will have an opportunity to file their applications with the registrars meeting in the different districts, Tuesday of next week.

For huntsmen today will be a day of "trying out the dogs' against the coming of the open season for hunting next Wednesday. Of course, a few who always try to beat the game will be out trying to knock off a few birds before the crowd gets on the job. Game officials will do their best to get these men, and all honest hunters have their best wishes for success.

Practically all the damage done by the storm of Tuesday night to wire service lines in this territory had been restored, insofar as allowing the usual service to the public was concerned, by Friday.

Many gallons of gasoline were burned and much service given cars Friday afternoon by those who found the opportunity to be out and enjoy one of the as nearly perfect days this fall is likely to bring.

PUTNAM

Judge William M. Maltbie presided at a short calendar session of the superior court in Putnam, Friday morning. One uncontested divorce case was heard and the petition granted.

Emily J. Burlingame of Killingly, was granted a decree from Daniel Burlingame on the ground of desertion. She testified that she was married November 16, 1895 in the city of Providence. She said her husband only worked enough to get money for himself to spend and did not support her. She had to work out and with her son's aid work the farm. Her husband twice left her for short intervals. In February, 1921, without trouble of any kind, her husband told her he was going away. He had not lived with her since, nor spoken to her, although she had seen him pass the house.

The fact that her husband had not lived with her for three years was corroborated by her son and a neighbor.

A foreclosure of mortgage was granted William E. Wheaton, administrator of the estate of his father, Edgar M. Wheaton, on the so-called Wheaton farm, south of Putnam, a part of the farm being in the town of Killingly.

Mr. Wheaton said that a note for $10,000, the maker of which was George A. Foley, was secured by a mortgage on the farm. The note was dated January 28, 1920 and was payable on demand four years from date. He testified that the principal had been reduced $1500. No interest had been paid on the note since January 6th, 1922 and that insurance amounting to $190 and taxes amounting to $447.62 had not been paid by the mortgagee. The witness said in his opinion the place was worth $10,000. The decree of foreclosure was granted and the law day fixed as the first Monday in November.

It now seems assured that Putnam will have two banking institutions, the Citizens' National Bank, a federal banking institution, and the Cargill Trust Company, a state banking institution. Contrary to the insinuations that the citizens' committee has not been holding frequent meetings the committee not only has been holding meetings but has been acting along the necessary lines to bring about the desired result. The actual work has been and is being done to a great degree by a sub-committee of four. They have been visiting various cities, consulting prominent bankers, and seeking advice and counsel in their important undertaking. The committee feels assured that the new banking organization will soon become a reality as evidenced by the following statement authorized by the committee, Friday:

The citizens committee is doing everything within its power to secure a charter for the new National Bank on conditions which will safeguard the interests of the shareholders and depositors as well as make for the best interest of the community. They have reasons to believe that the Citizens' National Bank will be ready for business within a few weeks.

"Not an hour has been lost in this work. Four of the most active members, named as a sub-committee, have spent nearly every day for the past two weeks and most of the nights, seeking counsel and advice from bankers of experience, who have the confidence of their public, as to the best way to meet the requirements imposed by the comptroller of the currency before granting a charter, or as to what modifications may be necessary.

"These gentlemen have been in Boston and Worcester and spent Wednesday in Providence in conference with executives of two of the strongest banks of New England. Representatives of these institutions have been in Putnam and one of them met with the general committee, Thursday evening. The sub committee made a report of the result of its activities and investigations and the visiting banker placed a thorough analysis of the situation before the members. They were also given assurance of further expert counsel as well as substantial aid.

"A complete and detailed statement of the steps taken by the committee from the day it was organized, of the obstacles that have been placed in its way, and for what purposes, will be submitted to the public. It is believed that the action of the committee will meet with almost universal approval.

DENNIS SHEA IS DEAD; INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

(Special to the Bulletin)

Putnam, Oct. 3—Dennis Shea, about 50 years of age, died early Friday morning from internal injuries suffered in an automobile accident late Thursday afternoon when a Ford car in which he and two companions and a dog were riding collided with a Ford truck parked beside the highway near Keach's pond on the Putnam-Providence pike. At the hospital shortly after the accident it was said that Shea was not in a serious condition, although it was stated that he had a broken leg and scalp wounds. He developed internal injuries during the night and died before daylight.

The car in which the men were riding was proceeding toward Putnam. The dog in the car was killed.

REV. RICHARD D. HATCH RECTOR AT ST. PHILIP'S

(Special to the Bulletin)

Putnam, Oct. 3—Rev. Richard D. Hatch of Brooklyn has accepted the invitation of Bishop Acheson to become rector of St. Phillip's church, Putnam. Mr. Hatch expects to move his household effects to Putnam at once and will occupy the former home of G. Harold Gilpatric, in Seward street. St. Phillip's church has been without a rector for more than a year. The organization has been kept intact and when no clergyman was available a lay reader conducted the services. That the church is to again have a rector is pleasing to the congregation. Mr. Hatch will conduct the morning service, Sunday and there will be the celebration of Holy Communion.

Rev. Mr. Hatch is a graduate of Princeton and New York General Theological seminary. Among his parishes have been Stonington, Willimantic and Southport all in Connecticut. Since leaving the Southport parish he has resided in Brooklyn with his father, a retired New York business man.

RUMORED REAM SHOOTING BRANDED AS A FAKE TALE

(Special to the Bulletin)

Putnam, Oct. 3—State's Attorney Charles E. Searls, acting as counsel for the Ream family of Thompson, issued a statement, Friday afternoon, branding the stories that Mrs. Louis M. Ream had attempted to shoot her husband as malicious and false. The statement is as follows:

Referring to sundry reports which have been current in this community within the past few days to the effect that there has been an affray in Thompson, or Pomfret, or elsewhere, in which an attempt was made by Mrs. Louis M. Ream to shoot her husband, also to reports that [illegible] Slatski, (Miss Marion Ream) had attempted to shoot her husband, one report evidently being the outcome of the other, I am requested by the Ream family to say, as it's counsel, that each of said reports is false, absolutely and in substance. Nothing has occurred justifying the remotest degree any such slanderous and malicious reports or any reports reflecting in any way upon either of the persons named."

The reports to which the denial of Attorney Saries alludes to have been current in Putnam since Wednesday morning. Metropolitan dailies have sent out reporters to investigate the stories. The stories have lacked details and have not been generally credited in this section, nevertheless have been broadcasted and openly discussed.

The late Norman B. Ream, multi-millionaire, built Carolyn Hall, the fine place in Thompson where he spends his summers. The estate is one of the largest and most beautiful in this section. Mrs. Ream, now in ill health, occupies the place.

Miss [illegible] married Count [illegible] Slatski. Through that marriage [illegible] received considerable publicity. Louis M. eRam with his family in Thompson while engaged in business in Worcester. His wife was Miss Mary Weaver of Thompson.

Maxwell is One of the Staunchest Cars Built Today

At all vital points, you will find that metals and construction of the good Maxwell are the same as in cars costing three to four times as much.

In proportion to its weight and power, it is actually stronger than the most expensive cars built today.

That's a big thing for us to be able to say about a car of the good Maxwell price; and it is one of the Chrysler superiorities that put Maxwell so far ahead of its own field.

Yet it is only one of the sound, fundamental superiorities which make us proud to be factors in its production. You have probably heard about Maxwell pick-up—how in a flat 8 seconds, it accelerates from 5 to 25 miles an hour.

You are also probably acquainted with the fact that the simple device of a platform spring under the front end of the motor, combined with the balancing of reciprocating parts to the fraction of an ounce, practically eliminates any sense of vibration.

Are you aware, however, that all the way through the Maxwell chassis, you find chrome nickel or other high grade alloy steel for those parts which must stand heavy stress and strain—just as in cars of highest price?

The front axle, and all the parts on which depends the control of the car, are almost unreasonably over-strong.

A bull-dog for powerful pulling—this car; but it can't pull too hard for transmission and rear axle.

The steering knuckles, and the king pins upon which they turn, are of chrome nickel steel, heat-treated.

The thoroughness of good Maxwell strength is well illustrated by the frame, which is unusually deep, and braced by six stout cross members.

Good Maxwell strength, in a word, is a match for Maxwell performance and dependability.

All these are a part of that complete and unusual goodness which scores of thousands of owners declare makes the good Maxwell the most care-free and economical motor car they have ever possessed.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan.

THE COMING TOWN MEETING.

The townspeople will do well to remember that the annual town meeting is called for Monday night, and inasmuch as it is the year when no town election is held in Norwich, the meeting will be held as scheduled instead of being postponed for a week or ten days as is customary on the night of an election.

Town meetings are important. The selectmen have made a good statement of their stewardship and have outlined what will be required for the conduct of the town's business during the ensuing year. In addition to the actual town accounts there is the even larger item of expense involved in the maintenance of the schools, while there are numerous matters that have been petitioned for and which must come under the head of extras.

There is sufficient business to come before the annual town meeting to warrant a large attendance of citizens and taxpayers. It is the opportunity that is presented to the townspeople to express themselves and while certain matters which are regarded as important, such as the provision for the tuition for town pupils at the Academy and the contribution to the Otis library, ought not to be overlooked or neglected.

If there hasn't been a perusal of the warning for the town meeting it would be well to spend the time and look it over; take into account what is asked for and come to the realization before the meeting that you want to be there and give expression to your feeling instead of waiting until after the meeting has acted and claim that its importance wasn't realized, or that "I would certainly have been there had I known about it."

The laying of the tax will not be done until next spring, but the appropriations which the tax will be based will be made Monday night, and it is a matter which ought not to be neglected.

KEEP ELECTION OUT OF CONGRESS.

Chairman Butler of the republican national committee has made the charge that there is a coalition between the democrats and La Follette forces, particularly in western states, and warns against the possibility of having the election thrown into congress because of it.

When Chairman Butler makes that charge it is to be presumed that he has the evidence to back it up. It is no secret that there was an interesting combination of democratic and forces of La Follette type in the recent session of congress. It is no more than might be expected that they would pull together now. But whether there is a coalition or not, there are good and sufficient reasons why the voters of the country should devote their efforts to the prevention of those results that might be expected to follow any such undertaking.

Those who gave any attention whatever to the activities of congress are fully aware of the effect upon legislation of the manner in which the democrats and the insurgents played into the hands of each other for obstruction purposes. It must be clear also that should the election by the manner in which the voters cast their ballots or fail to go to the polls, be thrown into congress it will be this same combination that will be required to pick the next president of the United States. Any such combination concerning a matter of that kind would be highly deplorable. The very nature of the situation calls for the anticipation of such a possibility and the manifestation of that degree of interest that will make it impossible.

What Chairman Butler is endeavoring to do is to place the voters on their guard before the question of selecting a president gets out of their hand. It has been correctly pointed out by the New York Herald-Tribune that "A vote for La Follette is a vote for Bryan. A vote for Davis is a vote for Bryan. A vote for Coolige is a vote for Coolidge."

The very fact that Bryan is a possible presidential result of the election through a coalition, or a lack of interest by the voters, justifies the attention which Chairman Butler calls to the situation in the west. By all means keep the election out of congress.

CHANGING NAMES.

Frequent are the instances where those coming from other countries seek to change their names, so that instead of making it possible for those with whom they come in contact or do business to get an idea of their nationality, from their name they seek to benefit through the adoption of a good American name. Invariably the excuse offered is that their own name is a business handicap, the desire being to make the change to increase their business chances. They also offer as a reason the difficulty in the pronunciation of their correct names.

There is a case of this character before the Massachusetts courts at the present time where a man named Korkaf Darakdgeian wants to change his name to Coombs, and the application is being opposed by members of the Coombs family who maintain that he should not be given a name which would indicate relationship to that family.

The opposition is only what has been displayed on numerous occasions. If the man was in any way entitled to the use of that name, or any other American name through the use of the American meaning of his name the situation might be different. There could be many instances stated where those seeking to change their names pick out names which have no relationship to their own and actually refuse to accept a shortening of their own name which would overcome the objection to the unpronouncable feature and would furnish the desired simplifications.

In this particular instance the Waterbury American properly says: "Why cannot this man take the name of Korok Darak, perfectly simple to pronounce, euphonious, and to which no one can object?"

The impression is gained that the name would not Americanize him in the way that George Coombs would but it is quite evident that it would not be trespassing upon the rightful possessor of the name George Coombs. There could in fact be no objection to George Darak.

AUTOMOBILES.

According to figures which are presented by the bureau of public roads of the department of agriculture there were on the first of July 15,552,077 motor vehicle registrations in this country, meaning that number of cars in active use. This means a car for every 6.6 persons in this country and shows how rapidly the automobile industry has been pushing along. It was not long ago that there was a motor car for every 13 persons. Thus there is speed in manufacture as well as speed in operation.

This development of the automobile means employment for a large number of hands, and the number is by no means confined to those engaged in the automobile factories. Automobiles have put great armies to work in various directions. They have caused the change from horses to motor cars, but think of the work that is involved in the building of the good roads which are demanded by motorists, the great business that has been built up in the making and distribution of gasoline, the sales forces, the garages, the repair men, the service stations, the chauffeurs that have all sprung up because of the automobile, while there is no small number of hands employed in the manufacture of the various parts of cars and the accessories.

From time to time there has been a feeling that the point was being reached where no more machines would be required. There is nothing today to indicate it. Rather does it seem more probable that the day is not far off when everyone will have some kind of a car. The used car market is making this more and more of a possibility.

THE WORLD SERIES.

Sporting interest will today be centered upon the opening game of the series between the Washington team of the American league and the New York team of the National league for the world championship.

That the interest has been blunted by the disclosures made relative to two who were connected with the New York aggregation is certain, but that will not result in any great number of empty seats.

For the first time Washington, will contend in such a series. It comes to its place as league leader after a hard fought season and finds itself pitted against not only one of the greatest of baseball aggregations but one to which participatin in the world series is no novelty. The New York Giants may well be termed veteran contenders for the coveted honor.

Washington will arouse particularly interest this year because it is the team that has pried the championship contest away from the exclusive participation of New York city teams. It is a team that has played consistent ball, with certain stars but excellent team work. It is most unfortunate that the new scandal has come at a time when it cannot fail to have its detrimental effect upon the game, but it cannot fail to have the effect through the publicity it has received of excluding any possibility of such activity in connection with the series that opens today.

The desire of fandom is always that the best team should win. Nevertheless there will be plenty of favoritism displayed up until the time the last ball is pitched.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Have you notified the registrars of voters that you plan to be made a voter?

Even if the flight around the world was a success no attempt will be made this year to fly to the moon.

Even the dry season hasn't decreased the crop of weeds, regardless of what happened to the other crops.

There's no chance that the cutting in the price of gasoline will go so far as to cause the consumers to complain.

The heavy damage to the apple crop reported from Maine should mean just that much help to the cider output.

No one is chiding Washington for its exuberance over winning the pennant. The accomplishment justifies the enthusiasm.

That earthquake in Maine was probably the belated reaction of the democrats following the recent election in that state.

Give a bit of consideration to the meaning of Fire Prevention week, which opens Sunday, and the movement will be helped.

The former kaiser is quoted as being confident he will yet be recalled to the German throne. What a bump of self confidence!

Does it mean anything for safety to have the price of gasoline lowered during the month which has the most accidents of the year?

The man on the corner says: How much would O'Connell have offered to a Washington player to throw one of the games in the series?

THE MAN WHO TALKS

One can hardly escape the feeling when passing by the charming location of The New London county fair grounds that it is a pity that this extensive piece of territory cannot be utilized during the major part of the year. The annual exhibition held on these grounds for three days at the beginning of September of each year is of the utmost importance to the people at large. It is a great educative institution to say nothing of its social features. No one for a moment would think of discontinuing these annual exhibitions. But three days take in the outward activities of this county fair. While it may not be feasible, it certainly is not economical to let this extensive property lie idle and unproductive for three hundred and sixty-two days in the year. Can it not be used for some public purpose with the financial side reduced to a minimum?

What would one think of a college or university with a course of study lasting only three days? Even summer schools usually extend over a period of six weeks. Perhaps the writer is not justified in offering these remarks without saying something constructively. Would it not be feasible to use these grounds for athletic purposes? Baseball is the great national game that is here to stay. At present Norwich has no really suitable places for baseball, or football. As the fair grounds are ample would it not be possible to utilize them for this purpose. A commodious place with the usual facilities might be the means of putting baseball before the people on a larger scale than heretofore? It would not interfere with the annual three days devoted to agricultural purposes. It would certainly put what is now for the most part dead property to a needed purpose.

In May of this year, President Coolidge called a national conference on outdoor recreation in Washington. One hundred and nine national organizations respond sending more than 300 delegates. Theodore Roosevelt, at that time assistant secretary of the navy, but now the republican nominee for governor of New York, presided over the conference. Among other pertinent things, he said the following in his opening address: "In another fifty years another 50,000,000 will be added to our population. Unless we plan and act with our eyes on the future, our people will not have the out-of-doors to which we are accustomed and which is so essential to Americanism." Every phase of out-door life was considered in this conference by experts. The preservation of wild life was emphasized, because even some species have become extinct. National and state parks and forests were duly considered, and special emphasis was put on city parks and playgrounds. The conference was voted a great success.

We hear a great many adverse remarks about the foolhardiness of attempting to scale Mount Everest, the highest peak on earth, and sometimes called "the roof of the world." This giant mass is 29,000 feet above sea level, and though situated in the latitude of New Orleans is so cold in its upper reaches as to be almost beyond human endurance. But are these attempts to reach the top altogether foolhardy? Does it not challenge the intrepidity of man? May it not have a great scientific value? From such a height may not the altitude of the earth's atmosphere be determined? Has it not already been shown that 30,000 feet perpendicular is the utmost limit for human life? Were it not for this splendid daring on the part of man you and I would not be now enjoying the fruits of these great discoveries.

A revolution on a small scale has been created in retail distribution by the rapid rise of the chain-store. It may be rather hard on some lines of trade that are wedded to the old way of doing things. It is inevitable that when progress forges ahead that it is going to hit the unprogressive amidship, and somebody is going to get hurt in the wreckage. The first printing of The London Times from movable types almost led to a riot when the old-fashioned workmen found that their trade was gone. It was hard on them, but the world at large was the winner. The chain-store has hit hard the old archaic system of buying and selling. Probably this new process of doing business has not reduced the cost of selling, but there is a far more rapid turnover. This system has made an accurate survey of the commodities that people buy, and hence do not keep from year to year tons of dead stocks. How refreshing it is to buy cereals that are wholly free from cobwebs and maggots!

How persons and things come and go—and are quickly forgotten! On October 4, 1822—just one hundred and two years ago today Rutherford B. Hayes, the 19th president of the United States, was born. Hayes was an able lawyer, and so brave in the Civil war that he rose to be major general. Later he was sent to congress; was three times made governor of Ohio, and in 1876 was elected president of this republic. While his administration did not have the vigor and dash of Roosevelt's, yet he made a good president. Still he is nothing more than a name to the rising generation. How easily can a conspicuous man drop into obscurity! On October 4, 1890 the first electric street railway in Newark, N. J., was built. For a period of twenty years the electric railway spread over the country like wildfire. But now more are being torn up than built. How persons and things come and go—and how soon forgotten!

Preventable fires and reckless driving ought to be put into the same category of criminal offenses. Both offenses are absolutely needless and that simply means that both are wholly inexcusable. The figures showing the loss of property in the United States annually from fires is simply staggering. But the annoying fact is that a great majority of them was due to sheer carelessness. The main cause was from the smoker who did not use due caution with his cigarette stub or his lighted match. During the long drought earlier in the season these fires were positively alarming in number and extent. As to the matter of preventing fires this country can sit at the feet of Germany and Great Britain and learn a few elementary lessons. In smoking, as in driving, don't be reckless!

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Col. Thomas W. Miller, who has been chosen president of the Inter-Allied Veterans' Association, an organization with a membership of 16,000,000 World war veterans resident in all parts of the globe, is an American with a remarkable record of public service for one who has not yet reached his 40th year. Col. Miller hails from Delaware, which state he was representing in the lower house of Congress when the United States entered the war. After receiving some practical training at Plattsburgh he enlisted as an infantry private and was sent overseas. He served nearly a year in France and received citations for gallantry in action and especially meritorious conduct. He returned with the rank of lieutenant-colonel and some time later received appointment to the important Federal position of Alien Property Custodian, which he still fills. Col. Miller was one of the organizers of the American Legion.

WHERE CHINA'S CIVIL WAR IS BEING WAGED

Manchuria, Peking, Shanghai, and many other place names that appear in reports of China's civil strife are well known to Americans. Not so Chekiang, home province of Tuchun Lu and a large part of his forces who are defending Shanghai.

"In some respects Chekiang is the Indiana of China," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of National eGographic society. "Indeed its area approximates that of the Hoosier state, though it has a population as dense as that of Rhode Island. Like Indiana, also, it has diverse industries and is not dominated by any one great city as is the case with Kiangsu, to its north, where Shanghai overshadows provincial life.

White Silk in American Stores

"True, Chekiang has Hangchow, ancient Chinese Capital and erstwhile center of statecraft and learning. And, although Hangchow's white silk is the prize goods of America's fashionable shops, the city's principal interest for the traveler is in its scenic beauties and historic shrines.

"Beside Hangchow, Chekiang also has Shaohing, famed for a liquor brewed from the waters of a local lake; the waning treaty port of Ningpo; mountain-bound Huchow, scene of a three-year siege by Taiping rebels, and Kashing, celebrated egg center. Poultry, like silk, essentially is a home industry and some families use an artificial process to hatch 50,000 or more eggs a year.

"From the Kashing region of Chekiang comes pitan, esteemed by epicures from all over China. Pitan consists of ducks' eggs preserved in a mixture of lime, salt and rice hulls, during which process the white of the egg solidifies and takes on a greenish black color and a taste which is conceded to be incomparable, both by those who like it and by those who do not.

Fighting Often a Dilettants Procedure

"A peculiar feature of the fighting of Chekiang troops reported in dispatches is the firing of rifles and artillery into the skies. The Chinese are believed to have invented gun powder, but they still use it more effectively for fireworks than for projectiles. In war, as in peace, the Chinese are philosophical. In a previous war between a Hangchow army and their northern neighbors history records that it rained on the day of a scheduled battle. The Hangchow commanders sent a request to the opposing general asking that fighting be postponed until the weather was more favorable. The arrangement was mutually agreeable.

"Chekiang is the third most densely populated province of crowded China, and the burden of supporting its seventeen millions is thrown on the fertile plains of its north. Its people thin out appreciably among the mountains in the west and south. These wooded mountains, many rivers dotted with groups of tiny islands, and the Grand Canal which terminates at Hangchow, all go to make the province one of the most picturesque in Eastern China.

Farmer Outranks the Soldier

"The farmer, and even the farmhand, of Chekiang is highly respected. Cultivation is intense but modern implements or fertilizers have small chance of adoption because the farmers are too poor to buy them. In the social scale of Chekiang the soldier ranks below the farmer. Frequently the soldier is a family outcast and the haphazard character of much of the fighting in the present skirmishes may arise from the fact that the discipline of the army is much less rigorous than that of the soil.

"Both farming and fighting are handicapped by the complete absence of any roads. There are only paths, worn by plodding oxen, carabaos, and coolies.

"Here and there in Chekiang's fierce struggle for rice to eat and silk to sell traces of its ancient aristocracy remain.

The "Cabarets" of Hangchow

"West Lake, just west of Hangchow, retains the natural beauties which won high praise from Marco Polo. There, of an evening, a Hangchow gentleman entertains his friends on a sumptuous house-boat, as they lounge on divans, and eat dishes of a kind which, in all probability, Marco Polo tasted. For the chefs of these floating cabarets pride themselves on serving menus that were famous in centuries long past.

"The ceremony for an evening's entertainment has an etiquette as rigid as the tea ceremony of Japan. At certain points in the lake tour the host must acclaim the charm of the 'Beautiful Views.' This is not a spontaneous matter at all the views are numbered and named. Their names lend poetry to what seems a perfunctory method of enjoying natural scenery. One is 'The Winding Hall of Fragrant Breezes'; another is 'Willow Bay Where Eagles are Heard.' Number Ten is 'Two Cloud Piercing Peaks.'

"The host also must engage entertainers. These are the 'Sing-Song Girls.' No more in Hangchow than in New York would an 'artist' walk to a dinner party when she was to perform. But her 'taxi' gives the western guest a moment's surprise. She arrives at the water's edge astride a coolie's back.

Coolie Is Cheapest Carrier

"Though Hangchow has streets the coolie still is the more economical carrier. His two-wheel carts can handle from two to four tons, depending on the bulk. His back can bear a corpulent merchant, so that a run across with a dainty 'Sing-Song Girl' is a welcome relief. And he, with his wife and his children, are cheaper than donkey engines to operate the locks on the Grand Canal. For boat power he and his oars compete only with the cost of sails to catch the winds.

"Not only the Grand Canal, but many lesser ones, traverse Chekiang and carry rice from the plains, tea from the mountains, and silk from everywhere, along with lesser quantities of cotton, indigo and sugar. These reed sheltered channels also support innumerable duck farm and bear many house-boats and sampans.

"Hangchow, is reputed to have been the first Chinese soil where American Missionaries set foot. It's libraries are famous, but they often constitute a principal point of attack for native revolutionaries because the peasantry believe they contain more secrets than Heaven meant men to know. Students of Chinese art early will hear much of the 'Chekiang School,' so named for Tai Chin, a native of the province, and the Titian of a Chinese Renaissance in painting, which occurred about the time of the European awakening in art."

Bernhardt Forced to Be an Actress

Having seen the collapse of an emaciated actress who visited the convent where she was staying, Sarah Bernhardt fought against her mother's suggestion that she follow a theatrical career.

Born in Paris and reared in Amsterdam, at 12 she was sent to the Grand Champ Convent, Versailles. In a miracle play she showed no special histrionic talent, and she conceived an intense desire to be a nun.

Despite that she argued strongly against her mother's plan, she was sent at 14 to the Paris Conservatoire, winning prizes in comedy and tragedy. At 17 she made her first public appearance at the Comedie Francaise, playing a minor role without any special success.

After a brief retirement she appeared at the Gymnasie and the Porte-St. Martin in burlesque. At 22 she essayed the role of Cordelia in King Lear, at the Odeon and won recognition. Her personal popularity also grew, especially when she became a nurse in the Franco-Prussian war.

After peace had been restored, her success in Ruy Blas led to her recall to the Comedie Francaise, and she was made a life member. Then came clashes with the manager over the roles assigned. She quit the stage and devoted herself to sculpture. Her first effort, After the Storm, won honorable mention at the Salon.

Appearing in London she received an ovation. Then came triumph in Denmark and Russia. Her voice was described as a "golden" and her beauty and acting pronounced "faultless."

At 57 she married Jacques Damala, a handsome Greek actor, but divorced him in a year. Later when he was attacked by tuberculosis, she took him to her home and nursed him until his death.

America applauded her art. A tour of the world was a series of ovations. She scored in Theodora, Fedora, La Tosca, Cleopatra and later in Hamlet, appearing in nearly 200 parts. She suffered from numerous ailments, her right leg had to be amputated, she was forced to play on one tour, in tents and halls and she suffered other hardships, but she continued to act almost to the time of her death at 77.

Madame Bernhardt accumulated riches, she was made a member of the Legion of Honor and was acclaimed by the world as one of the greatest actresses of her time.

SUFFERED FIVE YEARS FROM STOMACH TROUBLE

Rochester Man Says Tanlac Brought Relief.

"What it takes to give a man muscle and strength to stand hard work, Tanlac certainly has it," recently affirmed Samuel Cooper, a well known blacksmith, 1520 Lake Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

"Stomach trouble had caused me misery for five years. After meals especially I would almost double up with pain. I was also subject to bad dizzy spells and headaches that would hang on for days at a time. Nervousness and loss of sleep helped to drag me down and I felt tired out all the time.

"I have taken three bottles of Tanlac now and am feeling like a brand new man. In fact, my health is fine and I can say that Tanlac certainly does the work."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT
By DAVID CORY

Pilsated Woodpecker

"Dearest me" cried the bunny boy, "what a wonderful place is the Shady Forest. It has so many strange people, some in feathers, some in fur and others in a coat of mail, like Prickly Porcupine. Where shall I go now" and he scratched his ear with his left hind leg and hopped over a tiny toadstool.

Just then Billy Breeze began to sing:

"It soon will rain, it soon will rain.
Until the sunshine comes again
You'd better hasten to hop back
To your cosy bramble shack."

"Oh, I will, Billy Breeze," quickly answered the bunny boy.

"Maybe I'd better take an umbrella," and he picked up the tiny toadstool. "If it rains before I reach home I'll hold the toadstool over my head," and away he hopped clipperty clipperty, clop, skipperty, skipperty, skipperty skop, until pretty soon, not so very far, he reached the tiny gate in the white dear Old Bramble Patch to keep out naughty people like Danny Fox and Old Man Weasel. But not Hungry Hawk, Oh dear, no. That Old Sky Robber could swoop down from the sky without even unfastening the latch on the tink white gate in the Old Bramble Patch.

Here comes bunny boy" sang the pretty canary from her gold cage on the front porch:

"Home again, home again.
Just in time before the rain.
Close the windows and the doors.
We won't care how hard it pours."

"Hello, what's that noise?" asked Little Jack Rabbit, as he hopped out of the last story into this one, and then deeper into the Shady Forest. "Chuck, chuck, chuck!" There it came again, not so very far away. Was some one hammering in the woods? Maybe Squirrel Nutcracker is building a new bungalow," thought the bunny boy, and on he hopped, until, all of a sudden, he stopped right in front of a dead spruce tree. Yes, there at work was a little feathered carpenter, in a red cap.

"Chuck, chuck, chuck!" My, how fast went his long, wedge-shaped bill into the tree, the chips falling to the ground at every chop. He was a big bird, seventeen inches in length dressed in a dull black feather coat, with much white on the neck. But, Oh what a wonderful high pointed crest of bright red he wore on his head. So like the cap of red wool called a "pileus" and worn by the Roman soldiers in olden times, that this bird carpenter is named the Pileated Woodpecker.

"Chuck, chuck, chuck!" went his chisel-like bill, until, all of a sudden, out darted his long, spear-like tongue to pull out the worm from the dead wood. Then, with a ringing call of delight, he flew away, being too shy to even talk to the surprised little rabbit.

Rest in God

The first vessel built on this continent was named The Unrest.

Ruskin once looking out upon the ocean exclaimed: "How shall we follow its eternal changefulness of feeling! It is like trying to paint a soul."

Yes, an unsaved and unregenerate soul; which is said to resemble "a troubled sea which cannot rest." But when a soul is saved it is safe, and then it is calm. "Return unto thy rest, O my soul, for the Lord hath dealt bountifully with thee!"

What restlessness there is out of God. Such a soul is like a sick man tossing with a burning fever in the night like the wandering Jew going up and down the earth without a place to rest his feet—like those black sea gulls outside the Golden Horn which on account of their apparently ceaseless motion and unending restlessness the sailors have named "lost souls."

But, on the other hand, what restfulness there is in God. There is mental rest, physical rest, spiritual rest, soul rest, the rest of pardon, the rest of adoption, the rest of faith, the rest of assurance that all things will work together for good both for this world and for the next—all these and more have we when we find our rest in God.

DR. AGAR SPEAKS AT YOUNG PEOPLE'S RALLY

A young people's supper and rally, with an attendance of about 100, at the Central Baptist church Friday evening at 6.15 was the closing event of the week's meetings in Norwich churches conducted by Dr. F. A. Agar of New York, who is the church efficiency worker in the Baptist denomination.

Young people from a number of the churches were in attendance, listening with close attention to an earnest address by Dr. Agar upon the young people's part in church life and activities.

A social with a programme of games closed the evening, which was one of the most successful of Dr. Agar's visits and a large measure of praise is due Miss Edith Ellis, pastor's assistant at the church for the plans that resulted in such a gathering of the young people.

Dr. Agar left for New York Friday night and will be on a southern and western trip from now until Thanksgiving, conducting efficiency meetings in a number of churches.

BROOKHART RULED HIMSELF OUT OF REPUBLICAN PARTY

Des Moines, Oct. 3—(By the A. P.)—The Iowa republican central committee today decided that Senator Smith W. Brookhart had ruled himself out of the republican ranks when he denounced President Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes, republican nominee for president and vice-president.

The committee itself did not directly declare Senator Brookhart out of the party, but stated that his statements of the last few days, "is a repudiation of and a bolt from the republican party."

Senator Brookhart, who opened his campaign for re-election at Emmetsburg today with a vigorous attack upon President Coolidge, declared that because he "was nominated by 200,000 republican voters" it was he who represented the republicans of Iowa rather than the present republican organization, which, he said, was controlled by "a small group of crooked and irresponsible dictators set up by the non-partisan league of Wall street."

The committee declared that the heads of the LaFollette party inspired Senator Brookhart's actions "for the malicious purpose of attempting to turn the attention of the voters from the real issues of this campaign" and "defeat the right of the people to elect a president at the polls," thereby throwing the election into congress.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Annie Edmond of Waterbury has been visiting Mrs. L. H. Buddington of Greeneville.

Miss Elsie Hyde of Norwich is visiting her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sikes, Jr., at Ellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin J. Roath of New London, spent Friday visiting in Norwich, where they resided for many years.

Mrs. James Hughes and daughter Bertha of Westerly spent the day with their cousin Mrs. John S. Hartle of Roath Street.

Mrs. Mabel Spinney of Louisville, Ky., has returned to her home after a week's stay with Mrs. L. H. Buddington of 47 Eighth street.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Frank S. Reynolds.

Following an illness of several months, the life of Phebe Geer, widow of Frank S. Reynolds, came to a close Friday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John I. Ross, of Boxrah, Lemingwell, in her 80th year. Mrs. Reynolds had been very active despite her many years and took great interest in reading. She had been confined to her bed for several months past.

She was born in New London March 28, 1835, the daughter of Sheubel and Mary Fitch Geer, and in 1854 in that city was united in marriage with Mr. Reynolds. Mrs. Reynolds was a member of the Ledyard Congregational church and during her youth was an active church worker. Surviving her is one son, Edward E. Reynolds, and a daughter, Mrs. John I. Ross, with whom she resided. Of loving and kind disposition, she possessed many friends who will learn of her death with profound sorrow.

Mrs. Frank Ralph Wilson.

Death came unexpectedly Friday morning at 2 o'clock to Angeline H. Bates, beloved wife to Frank Ralph Wilson, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Bates, of Long Society, Preston. Mrs. Wilson had not been in good health for the past five years, being in a weakened condition since an attack of influenza.

She was a woman of fine Christian type and her friends were many. She was also a competent accountant. In the death of a loved one her family has the sympathy of a host of friends.

Born in Long Society, Mrs. Wilson received her early education in the public schools of Norwich. After taking a business course, she was employed for a number of years at the office of John A. Morgan & Son. At the home of her parents in Long Society Nov. 18, 1918, she was united in marriage with Frank Ralph Wilson. She was a member of Sachem chapter, No. 57, O. E. S., and of the Greeneville Congregational church.

Mrs. Wilson is survived by her husband, her parents and a brother, Henry B. Bates, of Long Society.

Dr. Arthur F. Howard

The death of Dr. Arthur F. Howard at the age of 70 occurred Friday night at the Hartford hospital where he was taken last Monday for a minor operation following which his condition became critical. For a week before he went to Hartford his health had been poor and he had been confined to his home at 47 Linden avenue. His wife and his daughter were with him in Hartford.

Dr. Howard was a practicing dentist in this city for many years, but retired from active practice some time ago, becoming interested in the A. C. Swan Co., automobile dealers, of which he was secretary at the time of his death. He was a business man of progressive spirit was also interested in other lines, and was a loyal supporter of civic and community enterprises.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Miss Lucille L. Howard, a brother in New Haven and a sister in Rockville.

FUNERALS

Orrin Bromley.

Orrin Bromley, 74, a native of Griswold, died in Norwich Tuesday. His funeral services were held at Pachaug Friday morning, Rev. J. P. Richardson officiating. Burial was in the family lot in Pachaug cemetery, relatives acting as bearers. A brother from New Bedford, a sister from Waterbury, and relatives from Taftville and Griswold were present. Church & Allen of Norwich were the funeral directors in charge.

BRIDGEPORT SPEAKERS AT W. C. T. U. COUNTY CONVENTION

An address upon Peace and Arbitration, illustrated with posters, by Miss Eastman of Bridgeport, was the feature of the morning session of the annual convention of the New London County W. C. T. U., which was held with the Montville union Friday in the Uncasville Methodist church, with an attendance of 54.

In the afternoon session the principal address was by Mrs. Charlotte B. Joyce of Bridgeport, vice president at large of the Connecticut W. C. T. U., who spoke upon Hold High the Torch, following which there was a solo, Hats Off to the Flag, by Mrs. William Aston of Massapeag, who was in charge of the music.

Mrs. Lillian Slocum of New London, county president, called the convention to order and presided. Welcoming addresses were given by Miss Nellie Starr, president of the Montville union, and by Rev. Charles Smith, pastor of the church, to which response was given by Miss Mary Day of Colchester, where the county union was organized forty-three years ago.

The treasurer's report by Miss Harriet G. Cross of this city showed a balance of over $100 on hand. Mrs. Gavitt of Pawcatuck gave the report on anti-narcotics, Miss Starr on the summer school, and Mrs. J. J. Fields of this city on the county fair work, in which 500 Signals, 200 Crusaders, 10,000 leaflets and 2,000 drinking cups were distributed.

Lunch was served by the Ladies' Aid society of the church and in the afternoon session there were reports from the presidents of unions, a demonstration of Loyal Temperance Legion work by Co. C of Uncasville and a report on the work by the L. T. L. superintendent, Mrs. Fields. She stated that there was a membership of 200 included in two companies at Uncasville, two at Palmertown and one at Massapeag. She has spoken to 559 children in the year.

County officers were re-elected as follows: President, Mrs. Lillian Slocum, New London; vice president, Mrs. Anna C. S. Fenner, New London; secretary Miss Rosalie Rogers, New London; treasurer, Miss Harriet G. Cross, Norwich.

Mrs. Slocum was appointed the county representative to the national convention at Chicago in November with Mrs. Augusta Cutler, Mystic as alternate.

BIRTHDAY GIFTS FOR GRACE CHURCH RECTOR

There was a pleasant gathering on the Grace church parish house lawn in Yantic Friday evening at which a hot dog and corn roast was enjoyed by members of the choir. The rector, Rev. Robert B. Day, was surprised by a large birthday cake and was also the recipient of a $5 gold piece which was presented by the choir in honor of his birthday. Songs were sung around the camp fire and a good time was enjoyed by all.

LIONS' MINSTRELS SERENADE GIVEN WITH FINE EFFECT BEFORE BIG HOUSE

The Minstrel Serenade with the musical comedy Alice! Where Art Thou? presented by the Norwich Lions club at the Broadway theatre Friday evening, was somewhat out of the ordinary and delighted a capacity house. The entire production rehearsed, staged and equipped by Harrington Adams, Inc., under the personal direction of Doc Crabtree was new and novel and through its presentation the Lions club has made a fine entrance into the entertainment life of the city, at the same time realizing money which is to go in its entirety to charitable work in the state and city.

Clever Minstrel Serenade.

The Minstrel Serenade opened with Bert Caron, as King of Melody Land, surrounded by his aides, court jesters, court balladists, harmonists and serenaders, stage effects and costuming adding much to the splendor of the court. For over an hour joy and laughter reigned supreme in Melody Land, the audience getting many a laugh at the expense of some well known Norwich people who came in for good natured knocking at the hands of the court jesters.

The first musical number was How Ya Gonna Keep Your Mind on Dancin', sung by Fred Watson, with chorus ensemble, and after more fun with the jesters William Mitchell most pleasingly rendered Memory Lane. Big Boy, sung by "Smiling" George Madden, was followed by the pretty ballad, Where the Rainbow Ends, sung by Warren Kane, who was called back for encores several times by the delighted audience. Other musical numbers followed in rapid succession and jokes and local cracks were interspersed with them. Another song number of this group which merited the applause given was Boy of Mine, most pleasingly rendered by Pete DeVito. Other ballads sung during the serenade were Life of a Rose by Tyler Stanton, Shipmates of Mine by Frank Steinke, a baritone solo rendered in fine voice, and Mandy Lee sung by Edward T. Connelly, the chorus with duet, Connelly, Kane, "Doc" Thompson and Steinke. Another feature which was received with pleasure by the audience was the dancing specialty by "Chip" Dugas, who gave American buck dancing and solo dancing to Swanee River.

Pretty Yum Yum Girls.

The second act opened with a dainty divertisement of terpsichorean artistry by the Lions Club Yum Yum Girls, ten pretty misses dressed in costumes of blue and gold, a dainty dance number which met with instant approval. This was followed by a medley of popular song hits by D'Atri's Wauregan Hotel orchestra, executed in pleasing style. We Don't Know and We Don't Care, a negro comedy talking act by Eddie Connelly and Doc Crabtree, was one of the hits of the evening, a clever act which gave both artists a chance to display their ability to entertain. Tula Lu, Hawaiian jazz song, by Doc Crabtree and Till We Meet Again, sung by Eddie Connelly, in unison, proved a novelty song feature which resulted in their being called back to the stage for several encores.

Musical Comedy.

The closing act, Alice! Where Art Thou? a musical comedy woven about the married life of a pretty girl, partner for life of a young chemist who saw nothing but science, was cleverly enacted. The story of the play centered about the life of Duncan, a young chemist, whose eyes had never been opened to love, played by Tyler Stanton and Beatrice, a modest primrose, wife of Duncan, charmingly played by Rosanna Peloquin. The scene is laid in the arbor at Duncan's home and on the wedding anniversary of the couple. Duncan working at chemistry is assisted by Dick, a Cupid's derelict, and Beatrice's boy sweetheart, played by William Mitchell, who kept the audience in laughter with his lovesick actions while pestering Beatrice who had long since tired of him.

Nothing seems to awaken love in Duncan's heart until Alice, a charming widow and Beatrice's school chum (Eunice Taft) comes into his life bringing with her her brother, Jack (Warren Kane), a sculptor, who worships beautiful things, especially girls. Jack immediately pays court to Beatrice, coached by his sister, also to members of Beatrice's Wildflower girls, 17 pretty maidens.

The play ends when Duncan's eyes are opened to see the beauty of his wife and Beatrice gains the love she desires and Alice captures for herself Beatrice's guardian, Angus (George Madden) trustee for Duncan, while Jack finds himself spurned by the girls when he tries to win them over.

The musical numbers are well arranged and add much to the beauty of the presentation. Of especial beauty are the numbers Once Upon a Time, sung by Beatrice and Wildflower Girls, Make Believe, by Beatrice and Jack, and the tender ballad, Sweetheart Lane, sung by Beatrice and Duncan. Another catchy number which met applause was Widders, sung by Alice, Angus and Duncan, and Flirtation, featuring Jack, Dorothy, Madge, Lillian, Ethel, Wildflower Girls and Yum Yum Girls.

Beautiful bouquets were presented Miss Peloquin and Miss Taft for their pleasing work, while D. Markoff received a bouquet of green corn from an admirer.

The entire production is to be repeated this (Saturday) afternoon and evening and large audiences are certain to enjoy a pleasant entertainment.

HARRY CAMPBELL'S PARTY ROBBED IN WORCESTER

Special to the Bulletin))

New London, Oct. 3—Harry Campbell, train dispatcher in the local office of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, formerly of Norwich and a party of friends were the victims of thieves the earlier part of the week, the theft resulting in the party, who were on vacations, being relieved of much of their belongings. They left New London by automobile for a visit to Canada. When they reached Worcester the machine was parked while the recreationists visited a restaurant, the doors of the car being locked. Taking this precaution the party believed their effects were secure. However, the party forgot to see that the windows were raised to the top of the doors with the result that a thief managed to work the window on one side of the car down its full length and then remove coats and suits cases containing apparel belonging to all members of the touring party.

AMERICAN LEGION VOTES TO SECURE CAPS

With Commander Herman A. Bruckner in the chair and with a good sized attendance a regular meeting of Robert O. Fletcher Post, No. 4, American Legion, was held Friday evening in the Legion rooms. The regular reports of officers and committees were heard and accepted. The matter of securing official American Legion caps inscribed with the American Legion insignia, the word Connecticut and the number of the post was taken up and as a result all present expressed their intention of purchasing caps and the order for the caps will be sent to the official manufacturers in time to receive the caps so that they may be worn in the Armistice Day parade.

Another important matter taken up was that of the play to be given some time this fall by the post. John Cunningham was appointed general chairman of the theatrical committee and those who will serve with him are as follows: William Anderson, Webster D. Copp, Percy Chapman, Harry W. House, Samuel Jennes, J. C. Broadhurst, Frederick Geer, B. C. Pullen, Charles Cassidy, Frank Chase, Warren Wilcox and Joseph Bellefleur.

County Commander Anderson announced that there will be a county meeting next Wednesday evening at the Army and Navy club in Taftville. A meeting of the New London County Voiture will be held at the same place and time.

Following adjournment of the post meeting the theatrical committee held a meeting and organized by electing Joseph Bellefleur, vice chairman; William Anderson, secretary, and Webster D. Copp, treasurer. Sub-committees were appointed and a number of important matters in connection with the proposed play were discussed.

VOLUNTOWN MAN SHOWS WHERE THE DUCKS ARE

Byron Sheldon of Voluntown, who knows the hunting country hereabouts like a book, was the guide to a small party of duck hunters on the opening day of the season, leading them to a pond at no great distance from this city. The two who profited by his expert advice, Peter Sellas of this city and Apostol Nicholson of Stafford Springs, were ready to hand him the palm when they returned with a bag of fifteen after a great day of sport.

Called for Sister's Illness

Rev. Charles H. Ricketts was called Friday to the bedside of his sister, Mary Ricketts Sexton, who has been taken suddenly ill at Stafford, Conn. Mrs. Sexton, was preparing to return to her winter home in Florida where she has spent the last twenty-one winters, when she was taken sick. Mr. Ricketts returned late Friday afternoon.

One need not be much of a mathematician in order to figure in a sensation.

SCHOOL NURSES' WORK SHOWS GREAT IMPROVEMENT

The work of the school nurses, under supervision of the health department, has been carried on in the past year in twenty-four Norwich schools, twenty public and four parochial, with 6,100 pupils enrolled.

What the scope of the work has been is shown in the following annual report of the school nurses:

The year 1923 has seen great improvement in the school nursing work in Norwich.

Conforming to the requirements of the state board of education, the children have been examined by physicians appointed by the health officer. Parents have been notified of all defects found, and through the follow-up work of the nurse in the homes a larger percentage of these defects have been corrected than in former years. These defects consist mostly of enlarged and diseased tonsils and adenoids, defective vision, lung, heart and skin disorders.

The nursing staff consists of three nurses and is a twelve months' service.

There are twenty-four schools under the supervision of the health department, twenty public and four parochial, with 6,100 pupils enrolled. The school work of our town and city is divided into three districts, each nurse having her own territory. The territory covered is about 29 square miles.

Children who are absent from school for five days must have a certificate to return from their family physician, or may obtain one from this office, where a nurse is on duty from 1 to 2 each day. Each school is visited once a week regularly, special visits are made when requested by the health officer for inspection of contagious diseases or calls put in by the teachers. The nurses' work consists of inspecting each child as they pass in line for skin eruptions, cleanliness, pediculosis, sore throats and other minor ailments.

All schools are equipped with scales for weighing and measuring children, and the aim is to weigh them bimonthly. Talks are given teaching the proper health habits in food, rest, sleep, fresh air, weekly baths, etc. Special attention has been given to the underweight child, emphasizing the importance of the value of milk as a food. This problem is partially solved by having milk served at school. One more school was added to the list of the previous year where children could obtain milk for a small sum and it is gratifying to note the increasing number who took advantage of this and the splendid results.

The summer work consists chiefly of follow-up and corrective work. This summer 100 children were accompanied to the Backus hospital for tonsil and adenoid operations and cared for by the school nurse. The same number of children were accompanied to the dentist for corrective work.

The prophylactic work of the teeth during the school year is being taken care of by the dental hygienist.

The work is carried on in close cooperation with the other health agencies of the community such as the the neuropsychiatric clinic and the tuberculosis clinic of the United Workers.

As we look back upon the past year's work the committee feels that even more has been accomplished than was planned at the beginning of the year. We consider that the two hundred cases of tonsils and adenoids and dental work must mean that two hundred children are equipped better to do their school work and that it will mean a better attendance. Through the interest of one of our dentists, fillings and extractions have been done in the schools, beginning in the spring term for which a moderate fee has been charged. The parents responded to this opportunity and also gladly paid a minimum fee for having the teeth cleaned. Such fees were used to assist those who could not pay even a moderate charge.

An educational dental film was shown at two of the moving picture houses through the courtesy of the managements and was seen by a large number of persons. Health talks were given by one of the nurses to the Camp Fire Girls of the United church.

The Red Cross most generously gave a donation of money toward the tonsil and adenoid work and placed scales in Elizabeth street school. The Rock Nook Home committee of the United Workers again paid for the milk in one of the schools. This assistance is most gratefully acknowledged by the committee.

The nurses and dental hygienist took advantage during the year of opportunities to visit other centers of health work and to take part in discussions with other workers. The committee feels that they have put their very best into the work and that they have maintained a high standard. In view of the large number of school buildings and pupils and the very large territory to be covered it is felt that another nurse is an imperative necessity, the expense for which accounts for the increase in budget asked for this fall. With this assistance we shall endeavor to carry out an enlarged piece of work.

The hospital, as before, co-operated in every way. The doctors also have shown great interest in the children. Our chairman, Dr. Brophy, has found it necessary to give up his position as town health officer. The work has progressed rapidly and thoroughly through his counsel and direction and the committee regrets deeply his decision.

For the committee.

ADA R. CHASE,
Secretary.

JOHNSON TO OPPOSE Mc MILLAN IN OPENING OF WORLD'S SERIES TODAY

Washington, Oct. 3.—(By the A. P.) The 1924 World's Series between the Washington Senators and the New York Giants will start tomorrow under circumstances which had had no parallel on the eve of the game's greatest classic.

Tonight the playing issues of the struggle came back to the limelight after having been obscured for two days by the sensational charges of bribery involving the Giants and causing the banishment of two members of the club, Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan.

The eleventh hour cloud of scandal that has thrown the baseball world into turmoil and threatened to set a match to the whole framework of the game, had not entirely vanished. Tonight, however, in the absence of any fresh sensation, the talk that was heard on every corner, the topic of conversation in all of the capital's varied walks of life, was chiefly of the game, not the suspicion that has been aroused by the pribery plot.

The nation's capital was preparing to come into its own in baseball for the first time in its history and from President Coolidge, who will throw the first ball, down to the youngest born worshipper of "Bucky" Harris and Walter Johnson, the city's population will pay its tribute to their champions.

Only the physical limitations of the Washington park, which accommodates 37,000 with all extra space utilized, will prevent the majority of the city's population from viewing its heroes in their opening bid for triumph. High government officials, and members of the diplomatic corps will join baseball men from all parts of the country and the lucky minority of fans holding pasteboards in what promises to be one of baseball's most dramatic spectacles.

The hope apparently uppermost in the minds of Washington's fans tonight was that Walter Johnson, their pitching idol, would reach the summit of his remarkable career of eighteen years in major league baseball by pitching the Senators to victory Johnson, the hero of every street urchin and the admiration of the whole city, will carry their hopes and fears in his powerful right arm.

Groh Will Not Play

The American league champions will go into the opening game with the full strength of the forces that carried them to the pennant, but the Giants will be handicapped by the absence of their veteran third baseman, Heinie Groh.

In Groh's place will be Freddy Lindstrom 18 year old Chicago schoolboy, playing his first year in the majors. If Lindstrom comes up to expectations, the Giants will lose little. If any of the infield strength, which, with the return of Fresch, is expected to be one of their chief bulwarks.

Teams on Even Terms

There is little to choose between the two teams. Washington, credited with a more powerful pitching staff, a speedy and versatile attack, will be an aggressive foe, while the Giants, possession probably a stronger attack and pitching that may be unexpectedly strong, will rely on the veteran strategy of their leader, McGraw who this year gained hi stenth pennant victory since 1904.

Washington has in Johnson the outstanding moundsman of either club, a pitcher who, in his eighteenth successive season with the Senators, has brought one of his greatest records. The Senators' ace is prepared to pitch two and possible three game and the club's hopes revolve largely around his ability to muster the stamina for his greatest test.

Batteries are Chosen

Walter Johnson and Muddy Ruel will be the battery for the Washington Senators for the first contest in the World's series and the indications tonight were that Manager John McGraw would name Hugh McQuillan and Hank Gowdy to be in the points for the New York Giants. McGraw, however, rarely tips his hand in selecting his boxmen and if the New York manager should name a southpaw to take up the burden it would cause no surprise, though McQuillan is in tip-top form.

McGraw knows the three heaviest hitters on the Washington club swing their bats from the left sideplace, Goslin and Judge—and he has been priming Art Nehf and Jack Bentley, two lefthanders to stop them.

The New York manager, in his contests with the Yankees, always figured that if he could keep Ruth from hitting, the rest of the Yankee club would stop dead, and there were suggestions tonight that McGraw was planning to keep Goose Goslin under subjection, for Goslin is the Senator's heaviest and most dangerous hitter.

The probable batting order:

Washington	New York
McNealy, cf	Lindstrom, 3b
Harris, 2b.	Frisch, 2b.
Rice, rf.	Young, rf.
Goslin, lf.	Kelly, cf.
Judge, 1b.	Wilson, lf.
Bluege, 3b.	Terry, 1b.
Peckinpaugh, ss	Jackson, ss
Ruel, c.	Gowdy, c.
Johnson, p.	McQuillan, p.

Umpires—Connolly at plate; Klem, first base; Dineen, second base; and Quigley, third base.

HARRIS THINKS SERIES WILL NOT BE SHORT

Washington, Oct. 3.—(By the A. P.) —Manager "Bucky" Harris of the Senators expressed confidence tonight that his team would win in the World series which open here tomorrow with the New York Giants, but added that he shouldn't be surprised if it took seven games to tell the story.

Coupled with Harris' statement came an announcement from Walter Johnson, pride of the Washington team, that an 18-year old desire to win a world series game for the Senators would be back of his efforts tomorrow.

Harris said "it's foolish" for people to talk of the series being decided in four games.

"When two strong teams like the Giants and the Senators hook up in a series," he added, "neither can win out in four games unless aided with an unprecedented number of breaks."

"The Senators are expecting a long hard series," Harris continued, "and the team realizes it must go the limit to win, but we feel confident that we can do it."

After a snappy workout in the morning, Harris announced that the Senators would not don uniforms again until just time for a short limbering up before the game. He said the team couldn't be in better shape.

Harris, to get baseball off his mind, this afternoon attended the Washington and Lee-Maryland football game.

Johnson said he realized tomorrow's game would be the biggest of his life.

WINDHAM SCORES TWO TOUCHDOWNS OVER WESTERLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, Oct. 3.—In a gruelling gridiron conflict Friday afternoon at Recreation park, Windham High's eleven stood the hardest test of the season and romped home a 13 to 0 victor over the strong Westerly High aggregation before a crowd of 800 people, many of whom were visiting followers. Though the local lads maintained the cleanliness of their goal line, Westerly was ever threatening and on several occasions had the ball within scoring distance but their punch was not sufficient to overthrow Windham's staunch line and her equally staunch second defense.

Opening the game, Westerly kicked off to the opposition. Windham pushed the ball up-field for six first downs and a score. Meikle went over for the touchdown. On a line rush Wilkinson rushed the ball over for the extra point. The remainder of the game was fairly even. With the ball on Windham's thirty yard line, in the third period, Storrs fell back and receiving a pass from Hernberg tossed to Usher who romped fifty yards for a touch down.

The visitors outweighed the Windham team but nevertheless the local line showed a decided superiority over the opposition's while the Crimson and Blue backfield was by far the fastest of the two. Nichols and Meikle ripped hole after hole in the opposing machine.

Fiddes was the outstanding star for Westerly. The visiting fullback played a whale of a second defense game.

The lineup and summary:

Westerly		Windham
T. Capalbo		Usher
	Right End
Milby		Johnson
	Right Tackle
Edmonds		Cohen
	Right Guard
Larson (Capt.)		Hernberg
	Center
Rossie		Storrs
	Left End
Lucetti	(Capt.)	Burton
	Left Tackle
DeRocco		Sawicki
	Left Guard
Turco		Nichols
	Right Half Back
Grills		Meikle
	Left Halfback
R. Merkle		Prater
	Quarterback
Fiddes		Wilkinson
	Fullback

The score by periods:

Windham	7	0	6	0	—13
Westerly	0	0	0	0	— 0

CHAPMAN TECH OPENS WITH STONINGTON TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 3.—The opening contest of the Eastern Connecticut Interscholastic League will find the Whaling City favored to get the league off to a good start this season, and Chapman Tech's crew of gridsters will and expect to have an easy time with Stonington High at Morgan Park. While Saturday afternoon will find a majority of the fans basking in the sun in front of th ebaseball bulletins reading the outcome of the first World's series games, the Red and Black is expected to have its first victory of the season tucked away by sundown.

WHITE SOX WIN ANOTHER FROM CUBS

Chicago, Oct. 3.—The White Sox made it two straight from their Cub rivals today by winning the third game 6 to 3. "Red" Faber, star spitball twirler of the American Leaguers, had his opponents baffled most of the way, and only in the late innings did he become unsteady.

A DOUBLE HEADER, FANS!

Managery Longhran has made special arrangements so that the World Series game between Washington and New York at Washington will be given out, play by play, and you can follow the plays on the new score board on the third base line. Big World Series game will start at 2:00 sharp. Little World Series game between Willimantic and Moosup will start at 3:15.

There's Going to Be a Mob — Come Early for the Double Header.

WORLD'S SERIES WILL BE MEGAPHONED BY BULLETIN

As has been the custom for many years the World's Series games will be megaphoned, play by play, from the Bulletin office window. The Bulletin will have a special A. P. service direct from the playing field at Washington and from the Polo Grounds. The games will start at 2 o'clock (Eastern Standard Time) each day. Stephen P. Coffey, who has been announcer for the past 15 years will officiate at the megaphone.

How It's Done In the Majors

By Frank Frisch

Seventh inning. Score 3 to 1, favor of team in the field. First two batters reach base safely.

What play should the infield look out for?

Study the situation of the team at bat here. They want to take the lead, or at least to tie the score, at this stage of the game. So most managers instruct the next batter to hit the first ball, knowing that a single will not only put them in a fine position to take the lead, but to win, as well. So the infield moves about halfway in, playing for a double. If the batter fails to hit the first one, a bunt is the next thing to look for, as any manager will play then to get his runners on second and third so they can both score and tie the game on a single.

MERRITT HOLDS ORIOLES AND ST. PAUL EVENS SERIES

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 3.—(By the A. P.)—Helpless before the sweeping southpaw curves of Miles Merritt, of St. Paul, the Baltimore Internationals were whitewashed in the second game of the "Little World Series" here this afternoon, 6 to 0. Only three Orioles hit safely and after the first inning when an error and a walk put two men on bases with none out, the Birds had no real chance to score. This game makes the series stand one all.

Dressen of the Saints was the batting star of the game. He drove in St. Paul's first four runs, getting a single in the fourth inning, a home run with one on in the 6th and a single in the 8th. Boone drove in the final two runs in the 9th.

The Birds already weakened by an injury to Catcher Cobb, were further handicapped when Catcher McCarthy had a finger on his throwing hand badly smashed by a foul tip in the fourth. He was replaced by Otto Freitag, who was borrowed from Jersey City.

MATINEE RACES AT WILLIMANTIC TRACK

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, Oct. 3.—Peter Daw and Just Harry, Class B horses will probably be the feature attractions at the big matinee horse race to be staged at recreation park here this Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Willimantic Track club. Twenty-seven entries in the three classes had been received by the management Friday, the horses coming from Norwich, Willimantic, South Coventry, Danielson, Storrs, Hartford, Manchester and Lebanon. Among the best known animals who will turn the turf at the park today are, Peter Torment, Bates, Norwich; Bessie Coastman, Lincoln, this city; Roan Boy, Youngs, South Coventry; Goldenrod, Carpenter, this city; Bonny's Baby, Burke, Norwich; Famous Nutwood, Flood, Danielson, in Class A and Peter Daw, Thread City Driving club; Sally Ann, Smith, Norwich; Justin, Connecticut Agricultural college; Just Harry, Sears, this city. Class C, Lucy Chatham, Sodom Social club; Red Kendall, Lakeside Driving club; Baby Hagan, Mrs. Robinson, South Coventry; Peter Bates, Maynard, Lebanon.

RACING CLOSES AT AT COLUMBUS TRACK

Columbus, O., Oct. 3.—(By the A. P.)—Favorites swept the card in the final day's racing of the Fall Grand Circuit meeting. The feature event of the afternoon, the free-for-all trot proved the best race of the day. Czar Worthy prohibitive favorite, won the first heat in impressive fashion, but Ethelinda won the second half by trotting the second half of the mile in 1.00 and overcoming Czar Worthy's big lead. Cox tried the same tactics with Ethelinda in the third heat, but could not reach Czar Worthy.

Russell Onagale, won the 2.08 pace in straight heats, not being extended in any heat. The Favored Fairway proved the best of the big field which started in the 2.09 trot, while Billy Burke won the 2.13 trot.

MOOSUP CLASHES WITH WILLIMANTIC IN SECOND GAME OF THEIR BIG SERIES

What is expected to be the best game of the season in Eastern Connecticut is slated for the Carpet Grounds at Moosup on Sunday afternoon when the Moosup club clashes with their old rivals from Willimantic, the Threadmakers.

The game with Willimantic promises to be all the heart of a real fan could desire; Willimantic has beaten Moosup by a 6-1 score in a previous game, and a real battle of baseball skill is likely. Moosup will put two batteries on the available list so with West to help out the reliable "Chick" Davis the boys from the Thread City will have to step some.

The Willimantic game will be followed by a game with Webster. These two games will close the season and Moosup is out to win both. A victory over Willimantic and the championship pennant of Eastern Connecticut flies over Moosup.

Mgr. Loughran is deserving of credit for having built up a crack club; he knows ball players when he sees one and has an even dozen on the roster now. Moosup never had brighter prospects of scoring a win over her two bitterest rivals than now. Moosup has not won from Webster in nine years and Mgr. Loughran says he is out to get those birds proper. With two able batteries, West of the Baltimore Orioles pitching to "Bill" Reddy and "Chick" Davis and Allard, Moosup need have no fear from this part of the outfit. "Lefty" Varin will play at first, Eddie Burns, 2nd, Kendricks ss, Jack Sank 3rd, Moore lf, Mills cf, Strike rf. Frechette and Mangold utility men.

Willimantic will oppose Moosup with Pete Wood, a brother of "Smoky" Joe Wood and "Rube" Richards of the late Fisk Red Tops as pitchers and Flaherty, also of the Red Tops and Welch of Herrups as catchers. The other Willimantic players will include Couillard, late of Moosup club, on 1st, Normandy 2b; Paul Johnson of Torrington ss, Walch 3b, Smith (former Mgr. and Capt. of Red Tops) lf, Harry Noel cf; "Babe" Adams, rf. For utility men they have "Bud" Thorpe and "Joey" Hamel.

The game will be in charge of umpires "Hank" Moran at the plate and Govern on bases.

A big league scout has notified Mgr. Loughran that he would attend the game next Sunday.

Weather permitting, radio returns of the World's Series game will be announced play by play at the Moosup-Willimantic game at the carpet grounds Sunday. A radio loaned for the occasion by Foster Burgess of Central will be in charge of a competent operator.

McQUILLAN REPLIES TO LOUGHRAN'S PEPPERY LETTER

Sport s Editor of the Bulletin:

Manager Loughran's unbounded confidence in the ability of his team to toss the Willimantic club for a farethe-well in the game at Moosup Sunday afternoon, as expressed in his communication to your valuable paper recently, is perfectly natural and he is well within his rights to convey his convictions in such a manner, whether they be sincere or not, but I believe his personal warning to me is entirely irrelevant. I have assembled a team of Eastern Connecticut luminaries of known ability who are qualified one and all to take care of themselves. Willimantic has never failed to provide all that Moosup cared to handle and on various occasions has accorded to Moosup the harsh treatment which her manager would have doled out to us Sunday. Let it be known that the City of Thread takes a beating without a whimper and in the same measure accords due credit to her conqueror. This cannot be said of Moosup. Manager Loughran's aggregation, styled Moosup's All-Stars, came to this city earlier in the season brimful of confidence and returned home toting a 6 to 1 defeat, as Mr. Loughran stated. Evidently, the pangs of defeat are enduring as far as Moosup is concerned, judging from the outcry in your paper from that direction. I believe also that in addition to a thirst for revenge Moosup fans harbor a feeling of respect for the diamond athletes from Willimantic which is not at all apparent from Manaer Loughran's letter.

For Sunday's game, I have selected Mathewson for mound duty, that same individual whose offerings baffled Moosup's hopefuls last year on the Carpet Grounds. "Joe" Belair is to do the receiving. My club is to play in Moosup Sunday and I consider poppycock the statement that "I have got it in for you and your ball club and am going to prove it Sunday." We'll do our level best to triumph—and I feel that we will experience no difficulty in so doing, umpires notwithstanding. Moosup will have to get a better club than it has now to be returned the winner.

Yours very truly,

JOHN McQUILLAN.

Mgr. Willimantic B. B. Club.

ACADEMY TO CLASH WITH CONN. AGGIES TODAY

The Norwich Free Academy will open its season with the Conn. Aggies Freshmen today at Storrs.

The Academy with several of its players crippled will meet stiff opposition from the Aggies Freshmen with a line averaging 190 pounds and a backfield of reputable players.

Much depends on the work of Hinrichs, fullback, McGowan, left half; Capt. Haslam, center, and Scott and Carlin, ends. "Marty" Gilman is the other veteran on the line. "Jimmy" Williams will call the signals. The rest of the team are for the first time playing scholastic football.

Coach Bill Aitken, center of the Wesleyan varsity last year has been drilling the squad very hard during the past week and despite injuries much is expected from the red and white griders.

From the spirit shown in practice it seems that the old time determination and confidence are dominant and the wearers of the red and white are due for a stron comeback this season.

Hagberg teams up well with Gilman at guard and with Lukoski and Busch as tackles the Aggie Freshies will find some real opposition.

This game will prepare the squad for the more important games in the Interscholastic league.

The following schedule has been arranged by Martin Gilman, president of the N. F. A. Athletic Association:

Oct. 4—Conn. Aggie Freshmen at Storrs.
Oct. 11—Chapman Tech at New London.
Oct. 17—Westerly High at Westerly.
Oct. 25—Stonington High at Norwich.
Oct. 31—Westerly High at Norwich.
Nov. 8—Bulkeley at Norwich.
Nov. 11—Plainfield High at Norwich.
Nov. 15—Chapman Tech at Norwich.
Nov. 22—Stonington High at Stonington.
Nov. 27—Alumni.

BULKELEY PLAYS AT ANSONIA THIS AFTERNOON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 3.—Bulkeley's path will be anything but a flowery one on Saturday, for the team after suffering heavy losses by injuries and suspensions of its star players, will sojourn to Ansonia where the Ansonia High School eleven nemisis in general to Bulkeley's aspirations for betterment in high school standing in this state in football will be met. All the tricks and mannerisms of a football team leaving the Whaling City as the Orange and Black gridiron players will egress, will have to be kept in force on the field of battle. Bulkeley meets one of its toughest teams and will have to play real football to come back to this city a winner.

A total of 24 players, not including the coach and manager will make the trip which will be made by automobiles.

BASE ELEVEN PLAYS WORCESTER A. C. TODAY

((Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 3.—After opposing the potent Springfield College eleven last Saturday and although losing the game by a six to nothing score, the Submarine Base eleven is ready for them all now. Possessing college football experience behind their able play in the great autumn out-door sport, the gobs are out to play real hard and smashing football in their future contests. Surprising even their most intimate admirers upon putting up such a fine exhibition of football, which was marred only by the blocking of a punt which lost the game for them, the sailors are doubly confident of putting all future opposition to rout in short order.

Following the policy of one game at home and the next away, the Base will play its third game of the season Saturday afternoon at the Base pasture overlooking the Thames river. The Worcester A. A. considered an opponent of unusual skill and merit will tackle the "Playing Gobs." But it is expected that the gobs will not fall so easy when the visitors begin tackling, for the recent trip the local seamen made to the Bay State has taught them a few tricks which they expect to use for themselves, against their future opponents.

Taking all in all into consideration, tomorrow will furnish plenty of thrills for those who would much rather witness a gridiron battle than be silent spectators at the world's series. While the visitors are unknown quality, from the reputation they have gained judging from the advance newspaper write ups they have it looks as though the navy men will meet their masters.

For some reason or other, Baldy Locke has been excluded from the Base lineup which is expected to begin against the Bay State aggregation on Saturday. He may get into the game later, but to keep Locke out entirely would lose some of the navy color and back ground which is very much in evidence when Locke is in there to do his best.

The teams will probably lineup as follows:

Sub Base		Worcester A. A
Thompston		Lagorse
	Right End
Andrulot		Dignan
	Right Tackle
Mays		McGourty
	Right Guard
Hart		Harmons
	Center
Wickwire		Toleskas
	Left Guard
Robbins		Brady
	Left Tackle
Murphy		Davis
	Left End
Kelley		Courille
	Quarterback
Anctil		Savage
	Left Halfback
Meska		Winn
	Right Halfback
Cary		Clough
	Fullback

GAMBLERS TRIED TO BUY FIRST WORLD'S SERIES

Chicago, Oct. 3.—(By The A. P.)—President Ban Johnson of the American League tonight made public a hitherto secret affidavit revealing that crookedness was attempted in the first world's series ever played, when in 1903, Lou Criger, famous catcher with the Boston Red Sox, contesting with the Pirates, was offered $12,000 to throw games.

The affadavit relates that the attempted bribe was made by a professional gambler, introduced to Criger two years previously in the presence of John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and Wilbur Robinson, pilot of the Brooklyn Nationals.

BAN JOHNSON REFUSES TO ATTEND SERIES

Chicago, Oct. 3.—President Ban Johnson, of the American League tonight wired Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, declining to attend the world series between the New York Giants and Washington opening in Washington tomorrow.

Johnson in his message said the New York Giants should have been disqualified from competing in the series because of alleged bribery attempts involving two club members and that Brooklyn should have been substituted in the place of the Giants for the series.

WEATHER BUREAU PREDICTS FAIR WARM DAY TODAY

Washington, Oct. 3.—The weather man tonight cast his eye to windward and predicated a fair warm day tomorrow for the first clash in the World's Series. Walter Johnson, told of the promise of an Indian summer day, said that was all he asked and would buzz his speed ball through with a hop to it.

"Pitchers need the heat," said Johnson, "to get the old wing working right, and I'm glad the prospects are good for a warm day."

The weather bureau thought that Sunday might bring rain but that probably would not put in an appearance until tomorrow night.

Slattery Gets Verdict.

New York, Oct. 3.—Jimmy Slattery, sensational Buffalo middleweight, earned a judges' decision over Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, Conn., in a fast six round match at Madison Square Garden tonight. The Buffalo lad came from behind in the last two rounds and virtually jabbed his way to a voctory over the man who dwafed the pugilistic ambitions of Paul Berlenbach.

Hartford, Oct. 3.—The financial report of the State Athletic Commission for the first quarter of its use—from July 1 to October 1—made public today shows receipts of $4,444.24.

TO COORDINATE LEAGUE'S DISARMING COMMISSION

Geneva, Oct. 3—(By the A. P.)—Before adjourning this evening, the council of the League of Nations adopted resolutions whereby, in preparation for next year's conference on reduction of armaments, the league's disarmament commission will be transformed into a commission of coordination. It will simultaneously be revised and enlarged so as to include all the representative groups fundamentally interested in the success of the conference.

Although no plan was adopted whereby the United States will be invited to participate in the work of the new commission, league officials said tonight that the question of collaboration of non-member states would be decided at the next meeting of the council which will be held in Rome in December.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre.

Every once in a while a screen star whose work has reached a definite standard of artistry, is presented in a feature, in which he outdoes all his former efforts. That is precisely what Rudolph Valentino does in "Monsieur Beaucaire," the photoplay which brings him back to the silver sheet after more than a two years absence. Time has but added to his irresistible fascination so that if the feminine hearts flutter more violently Sunday night at the Broadway theatre, where the picture is shown for four days, there will be a mighty good reason for it.

The production has a thousand points of interest. It is one of the most extravagantly mounted historical romances, yet preserves its distinction by satisfying the eye in the matter of lavish settings and marvelous costumes without permitting them to overshadow the dramatic value of the story.

As notable a cast as was ever assembled is seen in support of the star. Bebe Daniels, Lois Wilson, Lowell Sherman, Doris Kenyon, all featured, and others too numerous to mention appear in the all-star cast.

The story by Booth Tarkington is too well known to need retelling. It is enough to say that Forrest Halsey, who adapted it to the screen, has preserved its essential appeal and flavor. Sidney Olcott, who produced the picture version, has reason to feel proud of his efforts. "Monsieur Beaucaire" is the biggest feather in his cap, which already is adorned with "Little Old New York" and "The Humming Bird."

Added attractions will include a comedy and new Kinogram.

We advise you to come early to be assured of a seat.

Palace Theater

Last time today: May McAvoy and an all-star cast in Tarnish, Tel. Girl, Pathe news, Sport Light and Overture.

Starting Sunday night at 7:30 and twice daily thereafter, 2.00 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. John Barrymore in Beau Brummell.

Who is the greatest lover on the screen?

He is John Barrymore, whom Miss Meers supports in Beau Brummel, now nearing completion.

John Barrymore can well be crowned the Great Lover of the Screen.

Beau Brummel, which comes to the Palace theatre is the screen adaptation of the famed Clyde Fitch play, made into a Warner Brothers' classic of the screen. It is the well-known story of the climb to power of the Beau through his friendship with the Prince of Wales; of the Beau's coldness to beauties of the day; his romances with mirrors and admiring ladies, and his subsequent fall to poverty and disgrace.

A wonderful cast supports John Barrymore. They are Mary Astor, Willard Louis, Irene Rich, Alec B. Francis, Carmi Myers, Rose Dione and others.

Our Gang in their latest two reel comedy Derby Day, Pathe news, Aesops Fables, augumented orchestra Sunday night. No advance in prices.

Next Week at United Congregational Church.

The Missions department of the Woman's Guild meets at the Community house, Tuesday afternoon, at half past three. The speaker of the day is to be Mrs. Franklin Warner, president of the Woman's Board, who will tell of her recent trip to educational centers in the Orient. All Congregational women of Norwich are most cordially invited to hear Mrs. Warner and to enjoy a social hour to follow.

The first session of the Norwich Training School for Religious Education will be held in the United Church School rooms at half past seven Tuesday evening.

All women of the organization are invited to the fall meeting of the Eastern Connecticut Branch, W. B. M., to be held at Woodstock, Wednesday, October 8th, with sessions at 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. The speakers will be Mrs. Franklin Warner, and Miss Margaret Wellles, of India. Transportation from Putnam will be arranged for. Basket lunch.

The Haviland class will meet on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Kampf, 33 Division street.

Mid-week worship, Thursday evening at 7.45. Mr. Abbott will lead.

Alexander's Shoe Store Reopening.

Announcement has been made that today the newly renovated store of Alexander's Shoe Store, Inc., at 128 Main street, will take place. The old Brockton Sample Shoe store, so well known in this vicinity, is no longer, the business being incorporated under the firm name of Alexander's Shoe Store, Inc. The store has been completely renovated so that today it is one of the most up-to-date shoe stores in this vicinity. The decorations are most neat and attractive and the stock of shoes are so arranged that the customers can be more easily handled. Several special lines of shoes have also been added to the already complete list of well known makes. Residents of this locality will be more than pleased when they visit this store and see for themselves what a great change has been made. The new store is to be under the management of R. Alexander, a young man of many years' experience in this business and the same courteous treatment that built up the business of the Brockton Sample shore store to such proportions will be assured to old patrons as well as new patrons. Today souvenirs are to be given out to visitors to the store and a cordial welcome is extended to all to visit the completely renovated store.

Albert J. and Elizabeth Senft have sold through the agency of Francis D. Donohue their property located at No. 93 Boswell avenue to Tressa Vendolo. It is a two tenement house situated on large lot on corner of Arnold street and Boswell avenue. Mrs. Vendolo will occupy one of the apartments.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater

A woman revealing her own past, baring to the world a secret which robbed her of her good name and imperiled her future, all for the sake of another woman.

That is one of the powerfully dramatic situations in First National's The Woman on the Jury, which is coming to the Breed theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. It is based on Bernard K. Burns' Broadway success, and was directed by Harry O. Hoyt.

Sylvia Breamer plays the part of the woman who braved the scorn of the world for another. Bessie Love playing the latter part. Both had been the victims of George Wayne (Lew Cody,) a "cheater of women" who cast aside his conquests when he had tired of them. One of the women had taken the repulse calmly; the other, facing a serious situation, had brought about a tragic climax to her love adventure.

Fate placed a woman on the jury which was to try her for murder—and that woman was the only person in the world who could save her. How she accomplished this forms an episode of high dramatic power.

In addition to those named, the cast of The Woman on the Jury, consists of Frank Mayo, Mary Carr, Hebart Bosworth, Myrtle Stedman, Henry E. Walthall, Roy Stewart, Jean Hersholt, Ford Sterling, Arthur Lubin, Stanton Heck, Fred Warren, Arthur S. Hull, Kewpie King, J. Heward Davis and Leo White.

Other pictures on the bill include Topics of the Day, and a Pathe news.

Today's bill consists of Lillian Gish in The White Sister, William Duncan in The Fast Express, the Pathe news and Hodge Podge. Continuous show today from 1:30 to 10:30.

MANHATTAN LADIES' SHOP DISPLAYS CHINESE APPAREL

In one of the show windows of The Manhattan on Main street is an unique display of ancient Chinese wearing apparal and room furnishings valued at approximately $100,000. The display which is part of a collection owned by Robert Sterling Brent of New York city, well known Oriental play producer, was brought here for exhibition in the window by Harold Cohen, who has recently taken over The Manhattan Ladies' Shop.

A feature of the display is a Chinese mandarin coat, at least 500 years old. The life story of the Chinese woman who wore it half a thousand years ago is woven on the hem of the sleeves in beautiful colors made from vegetable dyes. The coat itself is a wonderful piece of work. Chinese characters woven by hand in vegetable dye colors tell the life story of the owner from the time she was engaged throughout her married life to the death of her husband.

There are also shown a beautiful Chinese wall drapery, all hand woven in colors, and a Chinese bed spread, with a large peacock hand-woven and in colors. Other articles shown are an old Chinese smoking pipe, a real Chinese Mah Jong set and there is also a valuable Buddha ring showing the "four corners of the earth" with the sun on one side and the moon on the other.

Mr. Cohen also has on display a picture of a $20,000 Chinchilla coat which he designed for Peggy Hopkins Joyce. Mr. Cohen before coming to this city was with Russeks, one of the largest ladies' shops in New York city where he was employed as a designer and outfitter. For a number of years Mr. Cohen has designed and fitted gowns, some of his recent designing being done for the Keep Kool show. He has wardrobed Peggy Joyce in all her shows and has wardrobed other New York theatrical productions.

Mr. Cohen was a member of the National Vaudeville artists besides being affiliated with various other clubs in New York city. He intends to make The Manhattan Ladies' Shop the most modern and elite ladies' shop in Norwich.

The Norwich Music Association.

The Norwich Music Association will open its tenth season on Tuesday evening, October 7th, at Slater Memorial hall.

The schedule for the winter includes seven recitals, and save for the October meeting the programmes will be given on the first Monday of each month.

The programme for the October meeting, next Tuesday evening, will be given by Miss Clara Shear, a coloratura soprano. Miss Shear is a Massachusetts girl who has recently returned from two or three years of training in Italy, and has already been engaged to sing a leading role with the San Carlo Grand Opera company. This seems like a number that can not well be missed.

Membership is open to anyone interested in good music. The desire to be in at this sort of thing is the necessary qualification. The membership fee of $2 admits to all seven recitals. The officers advise that applications should be made to William H. Collins, 63 McKinley avenue, enclosing check, and Mr. Collins will see that tickets are returned promptly, or have them prepared and ready at the door on Tuesday evening. Action now will prevent unpleasant delay on Tuesday evening.

Will Open Studio In Hartford.

Earle L. Sparks director of the Waterman Piano School for New London and Windham counties with headquarters in Norwich, will shortly open a studio in Hartford which will be under the supervision of Harry Katz, pianist and leader of the orchestra at Le Bal Tabarin in the capitol city. Mr. Sparks is manager of the New England territory for the home school which is located in Los Angeles, Cal. The Waterman School advertises in many of the best magazines and has branches in all principal cities. The method has been taught by high class musicians throughout the country since 1903 and is recommended and boosted by the music trade.

Attractive Meeting at Y. M. C. A.

The opening Sunday meeting of the fall season at the Y. M. C. A. will be held on the coming Sunday at 4 p. m., when the programme will include moving pictures of a helpful character. Two reels, "Along the Moonbeam Trail," and two reels showing Indian life which will be of real interest.

In addition to the pictures Hugh Kinder will render vocal solos and Secretary Edwin Hill will give a ten minute talk.

To this interesting meeting men and boys 15 and over are cordially invited.

WESTERLY

Funeral services for Howard Rich Tucker were held Friday afternoon at his home in Wakefield. The services were in charge of Rev. Mr. Talty, the pastor of the First Baptist church in Wakefield. Committal services were conducted by Narragansett Commandery No. 27, of Westerly, Eminent Sir Arthur E. Thompson, commander, in the absence of Prelate Thomas McKenzie, Past Eminent Sir Samuel Girven conducted that office. An escort of eight members of Hope lodge of Wakefield, accompanied the Knights Templar to Wakefield cemetery. The bearers were Daniel Watson, Samuel Gould, James Nall, Geo. Holly, James Wright and Edward Coleman, all members of Narragansett Commandery.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Sullivan, was held Thursday morning from her home on Liberty street, Westerly. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at 8.30 o'clock by Rev. J. J. Keans, assistant pastor of St. Michael's church. Burial was in St. Michael's old cemetery.

Mrs. Sullivan was the widow of John M. Sullivan and was born in Pawcatuck Dec. 5, 1852. She was the daughter of John and Bridget Murphy. Her father, John Murphy, was a veteran of the Civil war. She was a lifelong resident of Pawcatuck and member of St. Michael's parish, and mass was read at her home on Stonington road before the completion of the present St. Michael's church. She was a charter member of the L. C. B. A. of St. Michael's parish.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

CONNECTICUT COUNCIL CATHOLIC WOMEN.

The annual meeting and luncheon of the Connecticut council of Catholic Women is to be held in Hartford at the Hotel Bond, Saturday, November 1. The business meeting will take place at 10 a. m. and reports will be given on the development of the work throughout the diocese by the chairman and the county representatives. Right Reverend John J. Nilan, will address the meeting. Lady Armstrong, wife of the British Consul General, will speak on "The Big Sister Work." Lady Armstrong has been active in the work of the Big Sister organization of New York ever since its inception twenty-one years ago.

MOOSEHEART LEGION.

A successful whist was given by the Women of Mooseheart Legion at the Moose home on Thursday evening with Mrs. Vera Sterry in charge. The scorers were Miss Gertrude Kaminski, Mrs. Teresa Watters and Mrs. Margaret Rogers. The prizes were won by Mrs. John McCarthy, first ladies'; Miss Honor Furlong, second ladies'; Miss Mary Walz, first gentlemen's; George Morse, second gentlemen's; consolations—Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Murdock. The prize cake was won by Mrs. John Foley. The lodge is planning to hlod a whist at the Buckingham the 17th of October.

MACCABEES.

W. B. A. of Maccabees held their regular meeting Wednesday night at Buckingham Memorial with Commander Eckstein in the chair. After the regular routine of business was over there was an interesting talk by State Deputy Emma Haas. The members are to hold a harvest party at their next meeting, every member to bring two friends and to be dressed in country clothes. Everyone is expected to have a good time as there will be lots doing.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

The third and fourth degrees were worked for Bozrah grange, No. 161, at its meeting Wednesday evening by the degree team of Norwich grange, No. 172. The work was put on in the usual fine form that makes the appearance of this team a feature wherever it is seen. Worthy Master Arthur W. Avery of Norwich conducted the Bozrah grange meeting in the absence of the Bozrah master because of illness. An excellent supper was served after the meeting.

CATHOLIC LADIES OF COLUMBUS

The special initiation planned for last Tuesday night in Steiner hall by Mercier Assembly, No. 12, was prevented by the terrific storm of that evening when the street lights were put out and everybody stayed home who could do so. It is expected now that the initiation will be carried out on the regular meeting night, Oct. 21.

Plans for the banquet on Oct. 30, at the Wauregan house are proceeding under the direction of Miss Mae Riley, chairman, and her committee members. The banquet will be attended only by members of the assembly as the membership is too large to make it possible to include guests, but it will be followed by an invitation dance for their friends.

EAGLES

At the weekly pinochle evening held at the Eagles Club the following were high: John Callahan 7555, Timothy Field 535, John Peirich 7285.

The committee in charge of these pinochle contests is still waiting to hear from some of the champion pinochle players about town. It would like to arrange a series with the West Side pinochle club.

Telephone Eagles club any evening after 7 p. m. Telephone 1950-2.

JUNIOR MECHANICS.

Buckingham council, No. 14, met in regular session on Wednesday evening with Junior Past Councillor F. B. Shappee presiding. Routine business was transacted and one new member obligated into the order.

The newly elected state board is to meet in Stamford this (Saturday) evening. At this time also a farewell reception is to be given former State Secretary Dauchy, who is moving to another state. Several auto loads from this city are planning to attend.

At the close of the business meeting the council was addressed by State Secretary J. W. Wellington, who in part spoke of the prizes soon to be offered by the national council to the members securing the most candidates. One of these prizes is in the form of a trip to Chattanooga, Tenn., where the national council will convene this year. Another prize is a trip to the National Orphans' home of the order located in Tiffin, Ohio.

Plans are also going forward to erect a branch home in North Carolina. A site of three hundred acres has been secured and $500,000 already pledged for this purpose.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Next Tuesday evening the newly elected officers of White Cross Council, No. 12, will be installed by District Deputy, John F. Hennen, of Jewett City. Following the installation a smoker will be held which promises to be a big time for all.

L. Z. Chesebro of Middletown was a recent caller here.

Mrs. Joseph DeCarlo of Boston is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Deveau.

Mrs. Mary C. Latham and Mrs. Bertha Ashcraft are the delegates to the national convention of the D. of A. from Liberty council. The trip is to be made by automobile with Mrs. Melville Daboll.

R. Clark was a business caller in Westbrook recently.

Mrs. George Cutten is visiting relatives in Boston. She was accompanied there by her uncle, Thomas Stackhouse, who had been visiting her.

Mrs. Anna Wagner has gone to Buzzards Bay for a visit with her son.

Miss Dodge and Miss Treadway of Meriden were recent callers on Mrs. John Fitzpatrick.

Mrs. Emma White has returned home after several weeks' visit with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Baker, of Colchester.

Thursday Miss Lola Mildred Butson became the bride of Peter J. Shandoer, the wedding taking place at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butson, of High street. The bride wore a gown of white, wore a veil, and carried a bridal bouquet. Her two cousins, Miss Hamilton and Miss Marion MacDonald, were her bridesmaids. The matron of honor was Mrs. Clifford Phelps. The little flower girls carried baskets of flowers. Joseph Jesse was best man. There were many guests present from New Haven, Long Island and New London. The bride received many beautiful gifts. Mrs. Shandoer has been teacher in the Noank grammar school in the fifth grade. Mr. Shandoer conducts a store in the village. They have a newly furnished home on Pearl street.

Frank Bishop and family of New Haven are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacDonald.

Mrs. L. W. Beebe of New London was a recent caller on friends in the village.

POLITICAL MESSAGES DELIVERED TO COOLIDGE

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Coolidge received several visitors today bearing further messages of republican gains in the campaign.

Senator Edge, of New Jersey, a luncheon guest of the president, said the national ticket would sweep that state by an "overwhelming majority."

William P. Jackson, national committeeman from Maryland, told Mr. Coolidge there was "more than a fair change" of republicans capturing that state.

Tomorrow the president intends to devote his attention to outside activities. At noon, he will deliver an address dedicating the monument to the First Division of the A. E. F. Later in the day he will throw out the first ball at the opening game of the world series.

In his discussions with visitors today, the president took occasion to denounce rumors and reports which had been unverified, calling attention that one had come to him as to his alleged connection with the indictment of a sheriff in Logan county, West Virginia. Mr. Coolidge said he not only had not known of the indictment but he had had no knowledge of the facts leading up to it or other persons involved. This was given, the president said, as an illustration of many undergrounded reports which are apt to crop up during a campaign.

A working model of Niagara Falls has been constructed for use in studying the effect of power development on the flow over the falls.

Rodent Pest Controlled.

Arizona farmers and stockmen increased their profits by $526,830 during the last year as a result of rodent control carried on under the bureau of biological survey and the agricultural extension division of the University of Arizona, according to an estimate recently issued.

SHORT COURSE

Teachers Wanted — Putnam and Danielson Still Open—Act at Once.

FOR BEGINNERS, PLAYERS, TEACHERS, INSTRUMENTALISTS, AND SINGERS
A COURSE FOR EVERYBODY, NO MATTER WHERE YOU SIT.

FORM PLAYING

Teaches Everything You Have Dreamed About and Longed to Do.
Absolutely Covers the Whole Realm of Piano Playing.

A SURPRISE FOR YOU!

Our advertisements have led you to believe that we had an exclusive Jazz-System. You will be surprised to learn that a Classical Department is INCLUDED with our Popular Song Course, without additional cost. A short-cut in Classical playing has been considered impossible, heretofore. Our "System" absolutely accomplishes this result, NOW.

"But," you say, "I'm not interested in the Classic. All I want is Jazz." Listen! To be a well balanced entertainer you must do BOTH, and well. Your repertoire should be large and varied and memorized. How tiresome it is to listen to an all-classic pianist. Likewise a bore to hear Jazz, alone. A REAL player serves you with a consistent variety. This pianist delights. Our Course teaches you Classic and Jazz, quickly, easily. Do both. Why Not?

Classical music is hard to read and hard to play. The technical demands are severe. This means a wonderful field of beautiful music is absolutely closed to the ordinary pianist. Most "note readers" cannot improvise. Few memorize, readily. Most of these, after several years tutoring, have a repertoire limited to five or six compositions, well played.

The price in learning the piece by note, is too severe for the ordinary work-a-day mortal. If he can play the high-class music acceptably, carrying correct melody and harmony, he's satisfied. Music to him represents a pleasure, a great BIG JOY—not a life's-blood nightmare of technical torture. Now these classical melodies may be played acceptably and artistically by Form. The pupil acquires a taste for the highest type. The naturla student is led irresistibly to the best in music.

The conclusion then is, that thousands of people may now play Standard Melodies by Form, where only a select few may play them by Strict-Note-Reading. Since thousands DESIRE this type of music, why deny them? Should you say: "After ten years of note reading and intensive technical training, you may play these things, and not before!" Emphatically no. It is a blessing they have an easy way of performing the best.

For social gatherings, or even ordinary home entertaining, the following Standard Melodies are imperative:—

Morning Mood, Op. 46 No. 1—E. Grieg
Nocturne, Op. 9, No. 2—F. Chopin
Prelude, Op. 3, No. 2—Rachmaninoff
Salut D'Amour, Op. 12—E. Elgar
Traumerie, Op. 15, No. 7—R. Schumann
Berceuse, Op. 57—F. Chopin
Evening Star, "Tannhauser"—R. Wagner
Good Bye—E. Paolo Tosti
Idilio—Theodore Lack
O Sole Mio—Di Capua
Liebestraume, No. 3—F. Lisst
Elegie, Opus 10—J. Massenet
Humoreske, Op. 101, No. 7—A. Dvorak
Serenade, Standchen—F. Schubert
Barcarolle—J. Offenbach
Maghie—Butterfield
Aloha Oe—Queen Liliuokoiani
Melody in F—A. Rubenstein
Warum, Why?—R. Schumann
La Colombe—Yradier
Then You'll Remember Me—Balfe
Cradle Song—Hauser
Etc., Etc.

The above listed pieces are actually given you FREE. No matter which Course you take, you receive everything at the first lesson. Nothing is held back. There is no more to buy. Our instruction includes everything vitally necessary for your complete development, from the simplest elements to the most complex forms of Standard and Syncopated Music. We can carry you just as far and just as deep as you want to go. Make no mistake about this point.

Our Popular Song Instruction includes 67 styles of Bass, 180 Syncopated Effects, Blue Harmony, Oriental, Chime, Movie and Cafe Jazz, Trick Endings, Clever Breaks, Space Fillers, Sax Slurs, Triple Bass, Wicked Harmony, Blue Obligato, and 247 other Subjects, including Song Writing and Musical Invention all listed in Synopsis of Course, a copy of which is free for the asking. Beginners can become good pianists by learning just a FEW of the above subjects. Advanced Players will cover all material as rapidly as possible; same being fundamentally exhaustive.

Ours is not a System of numbers, colors, letters or freak charts; those ideas are foolish and unmusical. We teach Form Playing—the Free Style—which is opposed to strict-note-reading. The instant any deviation is made from the printed version, that moment you are knowingly or unknowingly following the harmonic structure taught in this System. Why experiment blindly with songs? Why grope in the dark? Get a FOUNDATION for conscious improvision. Learn the principle back of it all. Then breathe two words: "At last."

Our Instruction is GUARANTEED, and during the past 15 months not one student has desired to take advantage of our guaranty. Why? We can refer you to satisfied local pupils of all ages. All lessons private. No contracts to sign. Day and evening appointments. A demonstration (which is in reality a free lesson) will not obligate you in any way, but it will convince you as it has convinced others.

THE WATERMAN PIANO SCHOOL WILL BEAR THE TEST OF EXACT CRITICISM. INVITES IT—AND IS GETTING IT. I THANK YOU.

TO THINK WE ARE ABLE IS ALMOST TO BE SO

MY NEW ENGLAND

When "Home Sweet Home" is playnig
'Tis then my heart is thrilled.
To me it means New England.
With love for her I'm filled.
O land of Yankee here stock.
Connecticut to Maine.
All loyal sons and daughters
Her glory will maintain.

CHORUS

O New England, dear New England.
From mountain top to sea,
You're my dream land,
You're my home land,
You've always stood for truth and right
Just as you did in the Concord fight
O, New England, Fair New England,
You're the land of lands to me.

O hills of my New England,
We vow before your shrine,
The faith we hold shall fail not,
Our hearts are ever thine
"The tune embattled farmers sang,"
Still echoes 'round the world,
Still rocks old Freedom's Cradle,
With Stars and Stripes unfurled.

"FEELIN' FINE"

"Feelin' fine," he used to say,
Come a clear or cloudy day,
Wave his hand, an' shed a smile,
Keepin' sunny all the while.
Never let no bugbears grim
Git a wrastle-holt o' him,
Kept' a-smilin' rain or shine,
Tell you he was "feelin' fine!"

Feelin' fine," he used to say
Wave his hand an' go his way.
Never had no time to lose
So he said, fighting blues.
Had a twinkle in his eye
Always when a-goin' by,
Sort of smile up into mine,
Tell me he was "feelin' fine!"

'Feelin' fine"—I hope he'll stay
All his three score that-a-way,
Lettin' his demeanor be
Sech as you could have or me
Ef we tried, an' went along
Spillin' little drops o' song,
Lettin' rosebuds sort o' twine
Over th' thorns and "feelin' fine."

AUTUMN

Now that my way is toward the setting sun
I enjoy that Autumn time and I seem one
And looking back along the ripened years,
All way more fair than this, to me appears

Spring was sweet and gay with blushing flowers,
Full oft the storms of youth—its April showers,
And summer, with maddening moonlit skies,
Brought kisses and left hot tears within my eyes.

But Autumn like the mellowing touch of time,
Comes with gentle fingers—peace
Thoughts like tinted leaves of Cold and cold.
As the year and I grow

ENJOYING VISIT IN CALIFORNIA

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I would like to have you all enjoy California with me, so will tell as much as I can about it. The days are perfect. It gets quite hot during midday, and as the sun goes down the evenings are so comfortable to go out in, on always needs a wrap. They tell me here that I came the wrong time of the year to see California at her best, as the hills are brown instead of green, but I love to see the harvest so do not mind so much. I think any one with any energy at all would make a living here for the soil goes back to you treble for your labor. There are miles upon miles of gardens of everything you can think of all irrigated. Then the fruit trees are just breaking with fruit. There are oranges, plums, apples, apricots, peaches, prunes, pears, figs, nectarines, quinquats, persimmons, berries and quince, beside the English walnut and almond. Then there are the chicken ranches and great fields of alfalfa, which is cut three times a year. Just now the gardeners are getting ready to plant peas, both sweet and vegetable, besides other kind of vegetable and flower seeds as they expect their rainy season in October. Then everything comes up finely. You have to work here as elsewhere but you get results. There are things to fight against, but it is worth it I think. It seems all the sweeter when you succeed.

I went to see the Passion Play which is held in an outdoor theatre built in a natural bowl in the hills—a perfect setting for the life that was enacted there. It is to be acted every every year for five years by the people that are hired for this work and after that it is to be given to the city of Los Angeles to carry on forever. Truly a beautiful gift to any city.

I've been through the mountains and through the valleys and watched the sun sets and looked at flowers until my head is full and it is all so beautiful. I went to San Francisco last week on a daylight trip. It took twelve hours to go but the wonders I saw! We went through orange groves, the sun kist lemon grove and miles of apple trees loaded with fruit. They picked from these same trees last year six thousand carloads of apples and saw this year it will be more. Then we came to the prune trees loaded just the same. They were picking and drying prunes. We followed the Pacific coast for one hundred miles and the color of the ocean was a perfect jade. It was beautiful. The farther we saw the great sand dunes where the great picture the Ten Commandments was taken, also the oil being pumped right out of the sea. Then we went on up through the mountains, through long tunnels and to look down from such a height made one think a little. We saw the old San Miguel Mission. Those missions have a great fascination for me. Then on to San Francisco. I went across to Oakland to stay a few days, had some splendid rides there over in Berkeley, went through the university and up over the skyline boulevard. Then another day we went across the bay again to San Francisco, went over to the Presidio, a great military reservation, then up over Twin Peaks and that is where I was frightened stiff. I thought the mountain was going to tip over with me, but it is there to stay. Then we continued on down to Golden Gate park up to the Cliff house to see the seals and saw the most beautiful sun set in the world. It was truly gold. I could not describe it. Now we are getting ready to go for two days to Santiago. Los Angeles is truly an American city, a city of homes and such lovely homes. I never saw any where such healthy happy children as there are here and there are plenty of them too. I'll soon be home now and can tell you much more.

Very best wishes to all,

CODY.

UNUSUALLY PLEASANT SUMMER

Dear Editor and Friends of the Social Corner: I saw my name in the roll call but was just starting for a trip with friends and thought I could write something more interesting if I waited until I reached home again as the monotony of my quiet home does not tend to give one many very fresh ideas.

My summer has been unusually pleasant although saddened by the passing of some very dear friends.

My first trip was a visit to friends in Easthampton, friends from my earliest girlhood long years ago and who I am hoping to see again ere winter shuts me in. After my visit there, friends from Willimantic came for me and took me and we went through Mohegan park, which was my first visit to that place and from there we motored to Jewett City, then to Taftville to a ball game and there we had our lunch which my dear friend knows just how to fix up for her good friends and which for a picnic lunch could not have been outdone at the Waldorf Astoria. We then took in the ball game between Taftville and Moosup and they could kick up more dust than any two sets of fellows it has been my fortune to witness but as far as I know they all came out alive and right side up. From there we went to Groton and over the new bridge to New London and up the other side of the river, eating our dinner on the way home which we reached in the early evening, having had a fine time and lovely day.

Next day towards evening we went to South Windham and listened to a band concert and the next day spent the evening with friends in Lebanon. We also had a day's trip to Springfield and Amherst and altogether I felt when I reached home again that I had been going some.

A few days later I was again invited by the some dear friends and we went to Jewett City, from there to Narragansett Pier and on to Point Judith where we had another fine lunch. We then made short calls at the different beaches all the way along Matunuck, Kittemaug, Pleasant View, and Atlantic Beach, then to Watch Hill and once more I saw the breakers come rolling and booming in. From there we started on our way home, having dinner beside the road near Westerly and getting home again by daylight, another lovely day and trip.

I think this is all there will be room for this time as the roll call has brought out so many good letters that it won't do to take up too much space and my late visit to Massachusetts must wait until I come again.

With kindest regards to all Cornerites I am as ever,

JERUSHY SPICE.

LESS THAN 100 HAVE RESPONDED

Dear Social Corner Members: How nice to have a list of our big family! I knew there were over one thousand less than one hundred have responded. I well remember some of the names that were so familiar when the Corner first started. Have looked in vain for Mother Hubbard's name in the list. She used to write such excellent letters. Perhaps she too has several names.

I have enjoyed reading Rose Lee's and California Poppy's letters very much. I do not think I should like perpetual summer or winter either. Think the fall and spring the best seasons. Soon we will have the bright October days the glittering month of the year. The dandelions are now blossoming all around the house. Have three strawberry plants in blossom and two green berries on one. Hope to see them turn red before freezing weather. They are wild plants that came up in my flower garden. Before this is printed we will begin our good times at the Buckingham, but hope the good letters will keep coming and more of them.

I fully appreciate the kindness of the editor in giving us the list.

Best wishes fro—

JOAN (Oct. 13.)

FINE TIME AT NORTH WINDHAM.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I went to the Social Corner in North Windham and had a lovely time. We had a fine dinner. Alfara and Tuny Ann certainly know how to get up a good dinner and the day was fine. We certainly did enjoy ourselves. Priscilla tried to take our pictures and I think we must have broken the camera, for she said her camera wouldn't work, so we took off our smiles and pleasant looks and scattered. After the picnic was over Theoda and I took the trolley to Mr. Fraser's on Windham road and visited his dahlia garden. He has some lovely specimens, the loveliest shades and colorings I ever saw. Mrs. Fraser was very kind to show us around and explain the different kinds and give names of each. My son came after us and so ended a day full of enjoyment. I am late in answering the roll call, but Twice Twenty says I must, so here I am present.

HOW TO PRESERVE CITRON, BEANS, CABBAGE AND SAUSAGE

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I have been asked to send my recipe for candied citron, so will do so now.

Cut citron in pieces, or large squares, and boil in water one hour or until they can be pierced with a tooth pick, drain and boil with equal weight of sugar until cooked down thick. Spread on plates and dry in oven. Orange peel and watermelon can be done the same way.

1492: I hope you will be successful and can keep it this time. It certainly makes good confection.

I will also reply to Rainbow's question in regard to canning green shelled beans. I have canned them for years with good success. I shell and wash them, fill the jars, add one teaspoon of salt to every quart jar, fill up with cold water, partly seal and boil or steam three hours. Then seal. I find them handy in winter to either bake or serve in any way. They are like freshly picked ones. I do think it pays for the trouble and expense one goes to to get them. I am planning to can cabbage this year. I can't eat old cabbage in the winter, it doesn't agree with me, so shall can it in this way, while it is new right from the garden. After looking it over thoroughly wash and parboil about 20 minutes, blanch in cold wate. Then fill jars not too solid, add one teaspoon of salt to a quart jar, then fill with water, partly seal and boil or steam three hours. I have 112 jars filled already this season, but can't take all the credit myself, on account of my disabled wrist. With willing help of Biddy and Popover I have all but done. I have made four quarts of mustard pickle this morning. No doubt I will get to the 150 mark as I shall can meat and sausage later on.

To can sausage I do it in this way. I make little cakes, partly fry them, have jars hot and with fork fill the jars. Then pour in about one-third full of fat and seal, invert jars until cold, then the fat will be on top, it helps to seal. I get 7 and 8 cakes in a jar. They keep a long time if you don't use them.

Potlatch: Your splendid letter received. Will write some day. The letters are very interesting and I hope the interest will keep up now the roll call has been called.

Lo: I haven't seen you out here yet. I suppose you are busy as well as the rest of us.

Theoda: Let me know when you go on your vacation.

Well, it will soon be time to close the house and keep a fire going. I hate to see Jack Frost take all the flowers. They have only just got to blossoming good. I have had some lovely asters this fall. If I don't stop the editor will shut me off. With all best wishes from AUNTY NO. 1.

TO REMOVE FRECKLES.

Dear Sisters: Here is something that will eradicate freckles: Corrosive sublimate, eight grains; witch hazel, three ounces; rose water, three ounces. Corrosive sublimate is very hard to dissolve so it is better to let a druggist prepare this lotion for you. Have it plainly marked "Poison! For External Use Only. I know that it is perfectly harmless to the skin. Touch the freckles with it several times a day. This remedy will eradicate freckles as it removes the outer skin and the freckles are just under the skin. It also causes moth patches to fade away.

Mrs. G: Are you sure that your shoes fit you well? Tight shoes and also loose shoes will cause corns. You say you don't want the trouble to rub your corns with vaseline or oil for six months. I can give you a quicker remedy but if you do not take great care it will burn your skin. I never have tried this remedy for I would rather use the oil even if it does take six months. The oil cured two of the most painful corns that ever existed and they have never returned.

A corn cure recommended by an old physician is to take several pieces of sticking plaster, pasting them one over the other until there is sufficient to have the top above the corn. A hole the size of the corn is cut and the plaster put on so that the corn is surrounded but exposed. In the hole then is put a drop of saturated solution of caustic soda and a piece of plaster pasted over to hold the liquid in. This is repeated daily for ten days when the corn is usually eaten out. Mind, I say is eaten out. The soda, as its name says, is caustic, burning soft skin, so great care must be exercised with the solution. I would think they would come again, but do not know the first thing about whether they will or no. The doctor says it is a sure cure but, remember, I write that I have never tried it. I do know the solution of caustic of soda will burn.

Many, thanks for my check, or slip of yellow paper. I really feel pleased as it came so unexpectedly, but always welcome.

GOOD EFFECT ON CORNER PAGE

Dear Sisters: The roll call has certainly had a good effect for the Corner page. Last week's paper shows evidence—full and overflowing. I was glad Julie responded and sent in such a nice letter. I agree with her sentiments.

Don't stay at home yourself from our Corner meetings because you are not acquainted, but come in and join with us and have a good time. Can't you plan to come to Willimantic, Franklin Hall, near Woolworth's store on Wednesday, Oct. 8th? I am sure you will receive a hearty welcome and I for one will se that you have an enjoyable day. I want ot thank Sister Rainbow for the words of the song, A Perfect Day also Hope Cobweb and Bachelor Maid who kindly responded to my request. The perfect days may be few and far between, but when they do come, they mean so much in memory during the hours of anxiety and impatience, which make up so many of our unhappy days.

Sister Foxglove has sent in an account of the picnic at North Windham, but I will add a few more items. As she has said the weather was ideal. Yes, indeed, one of those perfect days of beautiful September. The little hall where we met, was a very pleasant and cheerful place, with a good fire to keep the chill away. Alfalfa and Tuny Ann, certainly did their part as hostesses, which was much appreciated. I think we had at least 50 sisters and guests who stood to the tables, while the doxology was sung before being seated for dinner. As usual the eats, were up to the standard reputation of the Social Corner. We did not have a special entertainment, but enjoyed a social visit, making new acquaintances, and exchanging our Social Corner books, to add new addresses. Some of the sisters brought along their fancy work and kept busy during the social time. We did not have to stay in doors, for it was so warm outside we enjoyed the sunshine and fresh air. Like all other good times we had to part, bid each other good bye, and express our hopes of meeting again.

I received a card from Sister Cady from Los Angeles, Cal. Best wishes for the success of the corner.

SOME REQUESTED RECIPES

Dear Corner Friends. I have sent my pie crust recipe to the Corner several times but for those who have lost their recipe, I will send it again, three cups of flour, one tablespoon of sugar, one teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons of baking powder (scant) and sift three times. Then work in 1 cup lard until it is just like meal. Wet up with 1-2 cup of top milk (scant). This recipe makes three small pies or two large ones. Rub the top crust with melted butter with a little milk.

Orange Marmalade (requested). Take eighteen ripe oranges (sweet) grate the yellow rind of four of them and peel the other carefully, removing the inner white skin as well as the yellow. (This may be accomplished by placing the orange in boiling water and let stand fifteen minutes). Slice the oranges, removing all seeds, put the pulp and grated peel in a porcelain kettle and boil steadily until reduced to a smooth mass, take from the fire and put through a colander, stir in six pounds of best granulated sugar, return to the fire and boil fast, stirring constantly for half an hour or until thick.

Green Tomato Pickle (requested): Slice one peck of green tomatoes and six large onions, place in a crock in layers sprinkling with salt and using a cup of the latter in all. Cover with a plate and cover that with a weight, and let remain over night. In the morning drain thoroughly, boil twenty minutes in a mixture of two quarts of water and one quart of vinegar, drain again through a colander, then make a mixture of four quarts of vinegar, two pounds of brown sugar, two tablespoons each of cloves, cinnamon, ginger and ground mustard, one teaspoon of cayenne pepper and 1-2 pound white mustard seeds. Put all together and cook 15 minutes. The spices may be tied if preferred.

WAY TO HELP ORGANIZATIONS

Dear Social Corner Friends: I have enjoyed reading the many pen names in the roll call, 1030 in all if I have counted rightly. We have quite a flower garden among them. I am sure no Flower Lover could ask for a better variety of blossoms. I thought Club No. 4 was to have a Japanese Lilac and hope we shall when someone reads this.

Aunty No. 1: We are glad to hear you and uncle are better. Mr. Primrose and I have not forgotten the nice time we had at your home.

Kingston Brown: You recipe for dark cocoa cake is fine. Just what I had wanted for a long time.

Airy: You ought to gone to Twice Twenty's picnic. You would have met some old friends and found out "who is who" in the town where you live.

Rural Aunty: I take it you don't like thunder showers and neither do I. If you don't believe me, ask Anne D.

Twice Twenty: I was pleased that you remembered the little gathering at my home. I also keep the Social Corner page and find it interesting to look over the letters occasionally, some of which bring to mind pleasant incidents almost forgotten.

There is always some society in need of money. Here is one way for the ladies to help. Send to each member a small bag made of yellow cheese cloth with the following lines enclosed:

If there's sunshine out of doors
Drop a penny in the bag.
If there's sunshine in your heart
Drop in two.
If the sunshine of God's love
Fills your heart and home with joy
Drop in pennies till the bag is full.

PRIMROSE.

A HAPPY PICNIC

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Here I am saying present to the roll call.

Theoda: Lis and I are planning to call on you before long. Will let you know.

Anona: Have plenty of tomatoes if you want any.

Wild Geranium: Had a fine visit but went and came tired. Have the canning nearly done. So glad you received a yellow slip. Now do try and come to some of the meetings and bring R with you.

This has been a very busy summer for me as I have had so much company.

The most that I had at one time was 20, the Sunday before Labor day. The autos began coming Saturday evening and kept a coming the next morning, until I began to wonder where I was going to put them all.

Instead of setting two tables for dinner, we packed all the good things into the largest auto and went down near the river under a large spreading oak tree, where we sat down and had a regular picnic.

This is what our dinner consisted of: Sandwiches, Parker house rolls, chicken, corn, tomatoes, pies, cakes, tea, ice cold lemonade and watermelon.

After we had our pictures taken and spent most of the afternoon there, we came back to the house where we had ice cream, cake and candy.

Those that had to, then started for their homes and the rest the next day, all thinking what a happy time they had at the home of

BUSY MOVING TO WILLIMANTIC

Dear Social Corner Friends: I presume you are all busy with canning and housecleaning.

I have not done any of the former but plenty of the latter, and more too, for we are moving to Willimantic. So with a ten room house to clean and goods to pack for storage, we have been quite busy. We expect to be in W. during this fall and then we may be glad to follow the birds to a warmer climate.

I shall hope to meet with Clubs No. 1 while in W. and in the spring we expect to locate there permanently and be near our many cousins and friends.

Alfara: I was sorry that I could not attend your party for N. W. You know was my birthplace and my father and mother are buried in the little cemetery near the church and schoolhouse.

Maine Lover: I called on Trottie about two weeks ago, just after you were there, and found her very poorly.

My sympathy to all in sickness or sorrow, and greetings to all.

RESPONDS THOUGH NAME WAS MISSED

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I think the roll call an excellent idea. Am going to paste all names in a book to keep. I think it good of the editor to bother so much. I looked in the S list for my name but I did not find it so think it must have been overlooked, so thought I would write just the same. I always read all the letters and enjoy them even if I don't get time to write very often.

Have been busy canning and have just finished a quilt made of woolen pieces. It will be warm for cold winter that's on its way.

Bon Ami: You must get up to see us soon. The little one has grown some since you saw her last and is into mischief more than ever.

Mary 'Gusta: Your name always looks so natural because I have a little girl by that name. I have one of the fashionable colds so don't feel much like writing or doing anything, so will ring off, I remain

SWEET WILLIAM.

PREPARING FOR THE EIGHTH

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Editor: As my name appears in the roll call, will say Present with a capital P. Am sorry to say we will not be able to attend the meeting in Norwich this week. Am disappointed but disappointments will come to us all and one more or less will not make much difference. Have just returned from my vacation of two weeks which I spent with my son in Boston. Had a very fine time. Visited the theatre two or three times and the movies as many times, also visited a very old burying ground 300 years old. A caretaker was there to explain to visitors anything they wished to know. The stones are so old one can hardly distinguish the names thereon.

I sincerely trust the 8th of October will be a nice day as a big crowd looks good. I understand the meeting is a reunion that means a lot of work and as a hostess am very green, so I am leaning very heavily on the sisters to help and I know I will not be disappointed.

I have sent postals to the sisters I wished for special help.

Priscilla: Thank you very much for your offer to help. It was very kind of you, and I shall be glad to accept your offer.

Cretia: Will look for you Wednesday. Hope you will be able to be there.

White Clover: Am sorry you will not be with us Wednesday as your card stated. Hope you will have a good time in New London.

Will ring off now as I want to get this in the mail. We are cut to two trains a day, one north and one south.

WHIRLWIND. (Oct. 17.)

STARTING FIRES WITHOUT KINDLINGS.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: It has been some time since I wrote to the Corner, as I am not much of a writer, but it is a pleasure for me to answer present at the roll call. I have enjoyed many pleasant gatherings of the Social Corner, and have found many good recipes and other helpful things in the letters.

I will tell you how to start a coal fire without wood or kindlings. In place of kindlings for a wood fire use newspapers. Take ten or twelve sheets of newspapers and roll up from the side edges, when all rolled up, flatten out, and tie in a single knot. Six of these in my range, will start a coal fire in a few minutes. I have not bought any wood or kindling since I heard of this way of starting fires and it is quite a saving to those who have to buy these things:

White Clover: Many thanks for the birthday card you sent me. I think you have a birthday yourself soon.

Whirlwind: Am sorry I can not be at the next Social Corner meeting to help you, but as I have to get dinner for four now that go to school I cannot get away.

Red Cedar: I did not see your name in the roll call. Where are you? Best wishes to all.

HONEYSUCKLE.

A MEMBER FOR SEVEN YEARS

Dear Corner Members: Had not thought of writing again but after reading Twice Twenty's letter changed my mind. The letter was a good one and deserved the prize it won. I am proud to have been present at the first meeting of Club No. 4 and I insist upon having all the honor due me. The first letter under the name of Happy Go Lucky was printed April 14, 1917 and as the meeting with Primrose was not held until June 5, 1918. I was a "real member" at that time. Furthermore if the sister will read her report of that gathering on the Corner page of June 15, 1918 she will see she acknowledged me as such. If more evidence is needed I call upon Keziah Doolittle and Saturday Eve to testify in my behalf.

Mary Gusta: Am thinking of drafting a pattern for a "bunnit" soon so as to be ready to make the real article right up in style.

Zany: I can go you one better, have attended three picnics and had a glorious, good time. Shouldn't think it strange if I met you at one of them. Don't think I have ever been properly initiated myself. Perhaps we can ride the goat at the same time with Mary 'Gusta to marshal the procession.

"A little fun now and then is relished by the best of men."

HAPPY GO LUCKY.

THE CHANGING SEASONS

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: Now the beautiful summer is gone, and the mild summery weather of soft eyed September, is gently and quietly passing into the sportened days of October. The month comes with bright blue skies, and brilliant autumn leaves, her mellow golden days, and now and then a hazy atmosphere, her harvest moon, her fruits and nuts and withall a touch of frost and chilly mornings to remind us of the waning year. One cannot but enjoy the various changing of the seasons. We would soon weary of the monotony, if the days passed on without the variety which the changing seasons bring. Although I always dread the winter, there are many pleasant things to look forward to, and I try to look on the bright side of it.

As I am never able to go out, I have learned to keep busy and entertain myself in a pleasant and profitable way. I enjoy reading the various communications of my pen and ink friends. A few of the sisters have sent me cards. Please accept thanks. I will try to respond soon.

I am sending in a short poem entitled Autumn. With best wishes to all from

PALMLEAF.

PLEASED WITH GREETING AT NORTH WINDHAM

Dear Editor and Sisters: You are guessing right, Twice Twenty, the neighbors on the south are quiet and peaceful. In truth, I have good neighbors on all sides.

Let me thank all the sisters who gave me such a pleasant time and cordial greeting at North Windham, and 1492 for my invitation; also Mr. and Mrs. Lilac Lady for a delightful drive. I think the closing act for the 24th should have been a vote of thanks for Alfara and Tuny Ann ending with a rousing cheer for our editor.

As I was looking at the yellow ribbons I thought, wouldn't it be nice to have an emblem pin or button, to wear at all times. We often meet a sister and would be glad to exchange greetings where other wise we would be strangers. Tell me what you think of the idea sisters.

CARO.

SOCIAL CORNER RIGHTLY NAMED

Dear Social Cornerites: I would like to tell you what a good time we had at the picnic in the North Windham hall. Twice Twenty, 1492, Caro and myself, with friend husband as chauffeur, arrived about twelve o'clock. We were greeted very cordially and I think the Corner is rightly named for certainly everyone was social. I am sure every one had a good time talking anyway, for Mr. L. L. said it sounded like a hornet's nest in the hall. After singing the doxology we all sat down to a bountiful dinner. I am sure we all thank Alpaca and Tuny Ann for having the picnic.

I think we are having the best time of the year, nice days and beautiful sunsets.

Rock Moss: Do you ever make "hash" for the doctor?

Zany: I wonder if you live up to your name?

Rural Delivery: Are you still guessing? I wonder if you give everyone compliments like the one you gave me.

Long live the Corner.

LILAC LADY.

WATCHING AND WAITING

Dear Social Corner Friends: Time waits for no man is a very true saying. I have been trying to catch up with it this summer but find myself away behind.

Would have answered the roll call before this but with company and being away most of the time could not make it convenient to do any writing except what I had to do.

It is most three years since I sent in my first feeble contribution. Can't remember the date, but do remember that Twice Twenty and K. D. were the first to welcome me into the circle.

K. Doolittle: Did not see you at East Killingly Old Home Day. Where were you?

I had a delightful time at Twice Twenty's. —My first picnic. It is a very beautiful and convenient place to hold a picnic. And Mr. and Mrs. T. T. made an ideal host and hostess. It was very hot and as usual can't stand heat from the sun. Always gives me the headache so I came away early.

I liked the Willimantic team for they all pulled together, and hope to meet them in their home city some future day. The Social Corner sister who is in St. Joseph's hospital, Willimantic, please accept my sympathy. Your name has gone from me. Some time has elapsed since I wrote the above, in fact it is three weeks.

Have been ill and unable to do but very little. Am wondreing when I shall get up and be round again. So many of the members have cars and can ride out every pleasant day, while I sit by the window and wish some one would stop and ask me to go out for a ride.

But we can't have everything. Even the people who have plenty are not satisfied.

It some times happens that some much desired object is long withheld from us. We seek for it and work for it and pay for it.

It is still withheld and at last weary with watching and waiting, we bury hope and faith and lo when patience has its perfect week the Angel of Mercy drops the long desired boon at our feet.

Kentucky Wonder: Hope to meet you and your sister again. You better have a picnic at your home, a fine place and central.

Here is a conundrum for all to guess: What is that which is above all human imperfections and yet shelters and protects the weakest and wickedest as well as the best of mankind?

My best wishes to all who are ill and shut in.

PICES.

PLEASED WITH CORNER'S MANY GOOD LETTERS.

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Brothers: How are you this nice cool morning. I am sorry to see the flowers go. They have been very nice this summer I think. What fine letters we have had in the Corner. I read every one and some of my neighbors call for the paper before I get through with it myself oftentimes. I hope you will keep it up.

Kitty Lou: Your letters are fine. I look for your name first thing. Have missed you, Calla Lily. I am glad you "spoke up."

Nellie Bly, Theoda, Rural Aunty and others: I agree with you in regard to the scenery of Connecticut. I think it is fine in October after the frost has turned the leaves such beautiful colors.

Rosy Posy: I thank you for the card you sent me on my birthday. I wish all would sign the date of their birth with their name.

Biddy: Was glad to hear from you again and also that Aunty No. 1 is able to be out. Think you had a fine time visiting old friends. I have met Mrs. Ella Weaver and Mrs. Cora Nye. I am glad to see so many brothers interested in the Corner.

Sulass Wylie: Think it is about time you stopped horse trading. You had hard luck.

Uncle Charlie: I wish you lived up this way. I would have engaged passage to Norwich for Oct. 1. Hope your Ford won't suffer like the one hoss shay.

Rural Delivery: Isn't it wonderful to be able to "listen in" as you did when the world fliers passed over Connecticut? Some of my friends were listening, too.

It will soon be cold weather. Hope all the sisters are well by this time.

Franke Lynn: How are you?

Will ring off with best wishes for a successful season for the Social Corner.

MAVIS.

HOW TO CAN BEANS

Dear Sisters: It has been a long time since I have written for the Social Corner. I keep putting it off and one never gets anywhere that way. My name was not in the roll call so did not answer it.

Honeysuckle has just been calling at my home. She cannot help the sisters who asked her for she has six in her family with four of these at school and all come home to dinner.

My vacation was spent in Wallingford and New Haven. I went to many interesting places. New Haven is a fine city.

Amy asked me if my pen was getting rusty. I think so for I cannot find it at all.

I have not been able to go on all the picnics. Went once to Ocean Beach and had a good time. I hope to be able to go to Franklin hall for the next meeting.

Rainbow: I will tell you my experience canning beans. After I get them all boiled I put them in pint jars, put one teaspoon of salt on top and seal tight. They taste in winter as if they had just come from the garden.

If you could visit my cellar you would say someone has been busy. Will ring off now hoping to see the dear sisters Wednesday, October 8.

RED CEDAR.

WISH TO LIVE ON ISLAND BEING GRATIFIED

Dear Corner Sisters: I have not written for a long time, but we moved some time ago and I did not see The Bulletin for quite a while. A sister told me my name was in the roll call so hope I'm not too late to say present.

Neighbor Eveready: I think this place would interest you. The longer one stays the more interesting things they learn about it. There are nice beaches and not so many people, so I like it really better than Watch Hill and the beaches that way. Perhaps you may see it sometime sum-

AFTER AN OPERATION

Mrs. Wilke Couldn't Get Back Her Strength Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rochester, Minn.—"I had a very serious operation and it seemed as if I could not get my health back after it. I suffered with pain almost constantly. My sister came to help take care of me, and she was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nervousness and a run-down condition. She had me try some of it, and in a very few days' time I began to feel better. In two weeks I hardly knew myself and after taking a couple of bottles more I was up and helping around, and now I am strong and healthy again and am still taking it. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you, and I hope that many other women who are suffering like I was will find out about your medicine. I will give any information I possibly can."—Mrs. James Wilke, 938 E. Center Street, Rochester, Minnesota.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of fifty years of success among American women.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

mer. I have been doing a lot of canning, as most of the other sisters seem to be doing, so won't write much about it. Am glad to get it done. I will be getting cold here soon, as I expect the wind will blow all right as it always does near the water.

I had always thought I should like to live on an island but never expected I would, so now I will see what I think about Fishers Island, this winter when the wind really does, begin to blow. They all tell me it is really winter over here so I shall see for myself. No doubt some of the visitors have been here as a great many do come here for the summer.

Well, my letter is getting long, I hope my name has not been crossed from the list. Best wishes to all the Corner sisters.

DEW KIST.

OLD WRITERS RECALL OTHER DAYS

Dear Social Cornerites: I saw my name on the roll call list so thought I would send a line. I haven't missed reading the Corner once although I haven't written recently.

It seems good to see some of the old timers. I enjoyed Glenwood's words of praise for Connecticut. How I would like to see her and have a visit with C. S. and K. D.

How much like old times it was to see Faye Verna's name on the page.

Then Papa's Boy has sprinted up lately and chatted cheerfully.

I have a few helpful suggestions which I will pass on.

How many use an old coffee or tea pot for which to melt paraffin and pour onto jelly?

Try removing road oil or grease of any kind from wash materials by rubbing mechanics soap paste on the spot before wetting.

Apply the mechanics soap liberally several times, rubbing hard each time if the grease spot is stubborn. Then wash it out with hot water and launder.

When fruit jar rubbers persist in not lying flat do not discard them just turn them over and they usually stay put.

Best wishes to all from

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

News of unusual nature filled the columns of The Bulletin in 1874, the attention of the public being drawn by the county fair in progress. The fair was one of the largest ever held in Norwich, exhibits being so large that judging in some classes was put a day ahead to make room for others to come.

Some of the items taken from the files of the Bulletin of that years are in part as follows.

Monday, September 28, 1874—The following judges have been named for the race between Messrs Murphy and Heridan and Meests. Draper brothers, to take place this afternoon on the Thames river; John Leahy, Bernard Carroll, Thomas Comstock, William Nelson. Edward E. Hardy has been elected as referee.

Messrs J. M. Huntington & Co., of Norwich are loading their fine brig George with another cargo of white oak shooks, heads, lumber and other merchandise for the West Indies. We are glad to know that this branch of the enterprise of our Norwich neighbors is so obviously prosperous.

The city will be full of strangers this week to attend the county fair which opens tomorrow. Wednesday will be the "big day," and, in addition to the attractions of the fair there is a grand concert by the Barnabee troupe to take place in Breed hall.

The Flyaways defeated the Actives of Roswell avenue last week by a score of 25 to 11. They further added to their laurels by defeating the Resolutes of eBan Hill by a score of 3 to 0.

A. M. Sherman has sent to this office a Grant Redstreak apple measuring 13 1-2 inches in circumference and weighing one pound and one ounce.

Tuesday September 29, 1874—Tomorrow two thousand shares of the new stock of the Norwich & Worcester railroad will be sold in Boston. A share of the proceeds will go towards paying for the new viaduct in Worcester and there will be cash in the treasury after that is paid for. Probably the new extension of the road to Groton and the other talked-of-improvement will be begun by the help of this remaining sum. The building of this new extension will be an easier matter than first expected. Three surveys have been made this summer and an excellent route has been discovered along the shore the whole way. At the Navy Yard it passes just behind the yard between it and the bluff, requiring little heavy work in construction. The frosts of another autumn should find the Norwich and Worcester locomotives in Groton.

The annual meeting of the board of education was held last evening all of the two members being present. James Greenwood was reelected chairman and Costello Lippitt, secretary. The following committees were elected: Heating and examining, Messrs. Cassell and Davies; auditing, Messrs. Learned, Gilbert and Lippitt; buildings and supplies, Messrs Greenwood and Gilbert.

Thursday, October 1, 1874—Agricultural fairs further north have been successful this year and our own county fair is no exception. Good weather prevailed and hundreds visited the exhibition halls and watched the racing. In apples alone there were 40 different entries, in all about fifty varieties. Salem, Montville and Lyme sent in fine teams of oxen, in fact so many entries were made by private parties that it was necessary to judge private teams yesterday, one day ahead of scheduled time, to send them off and make room for newcomers. The poultry department seemed lacking in something, justice not being done here. A feature of the fair was the display of ancient articles, books, coins, stamps and tokens.

A feature of the fair today is to be bread making and the Norwich girls are planning to show the ruralists just how bread should be made.

Two thousand shares of the Norwich & Worcester railroad were sold in the Boston market yesterday for 117 3-4 and 118 1-2.

Banks, public schools and the Academy close today to give the employes and pupils a chance to attend the fair.

Friday, October 2, 1874—A very fine game of quoits between Henry Stanley, J. E. Towns, Thomas Openshaw, Marvin Herbert and William Poole, was played yesterday behind William Poole's premises on Franklin street to compete for the ownership of a gold medal presented by our fellow townsman and social friend, Mr. Poole, himself. The medal was won by Thomas Openshaw who defeated Messrs. Town and Herbert 31, 18 and 13 respectively.

One of our Norwich farmers recently, with a new patent thresher and cleaner, threshed and cleaned 125 bushels of oats in an hour and twenty-five minutes. In the good old days this job would have employed two smart men for seven full days.

A walking match at the fairgrounds is announced for 3 o'clock this afternoon between George Thurber and Tommy Mack and a purse of $100 has been raised for the winner.

The largest catch of bluefish reported yet has been made by two local men, who landed 174 in two hours at Allyn's Point.

Secretary of State Sanger made a short trip in town yesterday.

As cool nights set in the number of lodgers at the police station continues to show an increase.

Saturday, October 3, 1874—Chief Engineer Joseph B. Carrier left town last evening for St. Louis, where he goes to attend the convention of the chief engineers of the United States and Canada. He leaves the department in the hands of Assistant Engineers Greenburg.

Horse cars will leave the square Sunday afternoon at 2.30 to accommodate the friends attending the funeral of David L. Gale. No fares will be collected.

The fire department is to turn out this afternoon for a wash and Tubb's band will furnish music.

Three separate currents of air which met over this city for a time Friday evening produced a windstorm of some proportions. The first warning came when blinds began to slam. Looking up one saw a dark cloud, the upper part lit up by the setting sun, the lower part inky black, while in between the cloud was as tumultuous as the surface of the ocean in a storm. The aerial jangle and the flaming spectacle lasted but a few moments.

MYSTIC

With an attendance of twenty-three at the meeting of the Garden club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George S. B. Leonard, Mrs. Charles H. Davis read an interesting article on Old English Gardens as well as several short poems on gardens written by Kipling, Mrs. Annie Atwood Dodge of Stonington, and Miss Mazie V. Caruthers, of Norwich. Mrs. Frank W. Batty read an article relative to the effect which some personalities have on flowers, while Miss Elizabeth T. Mallory read a newspaper clipping in regard to the beautifying of the landscape along railroad property. The exhibit of bouquets of seeds, berries, etc., which [illegible] ter the program elicited much comment and were full of interest to the members. Mrs. Louis P. Allen and Mrs. Alden Fish divided the honors for the best looking collection and arrangement of seeds, berries, etc., the prize being a glass basket. Mrs. George H. Miner was awarded the prize for the greatest variety of seeds, having about twenty-eight which she had collected in her own yard, and received a Japanese box of tea, with two tea cups. Miss Violet Allen Story received the prize for the most original arrangement of a bouquet of wild asters and her prize was a glass vase. The prizes were donated by Mrs. Mark D. Stiles, Mrs. Annie D. Gates and Mrs. Story. The judges were Miss Annie B. Greenman, Mrs. Annie D. Gates and Mrs. Esther Copp Smith.

The October meeting of Fanny Ledyard Chapter, D. A. R., was held on Wednesday afternoon in Masonic Temple, Mrs. John P. Gray, regent, presiding. Announcement was made that Miss Clemmie J. Henry, of Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn., will be present at the November meeting and speak on the activities of that institution which carries on a splendid work for the education of the mountaineers of that section, this being work to which the local chapter is a contributor. At the conclusion of the business meeting Mrs. Fannie P. Fish played a piano number most acceptably, and Miss Emily F. Denison read two sketches of bygone days, one of special interest being entitled A Colonial Wedding, the description of a wedding which occurred at what is known as "Whitehall" on the Old Mystic road and the incidental festivities, which lasted three days and to which the whole neighborhood was invited. Refreshments were served by the following committee: Mrs. Minnie B. Phillips, Mrs. Elsie H. Lathrop, Mrs. Katherine A. Fairbanks, Mrs. Mary B. Denison, Mrs. T. Aletta Holmes, Mrs. Ellen H. Noyes, Mrs. Martha B. Stinson and Miss Emily F. Denison.

Dr. J. K. Bucklyn is having a cupola on his house repaired, as well as having other repairs made to the roof.

Mrs. J. Eugene Wilcox has left for Malden, Mass., to get her mother, Mrs. James Noble, and bring her to her own home to stay. Mrs. Noble has been in failing health for some time and has been living with her son, but has not been as well of late so it has been deemed best by Mrs. Wilcox to bring her mother here where she can care for her and she has engaged a nurse to assist her.

Mrs. Arthur Paine is at Memorial hospital, in New London, where she recently underwent an operation for appendicitis from which she is steadily recovering.

Mrs. Conrad Kretzer is improving from her recent illness and is now able to ride out.

Miss Grace D. Wheeler of the Road district is the guest of Mrs. Hiram C. Clift.

VOLUNTOWN

The keen rivalry existing between the Ashland and Voluntown teams drew a crowd of 300 fans to the local grounds Sunday afternoon to witness the final game of the season, resulting in a shutout for the visiting team 8 to 0. The great work in the box by A. Dupont and the splendid fielding and team work of the whole nine was accountable for the result. Local fans were highly elated. Large numbers came from Jewett City to cheer their team, who although outclassed, put up a great fight for the honors.

Miss Bertha Gallup of Voluntown and Henry C. Congdon of Moosup, who were married Saturday by Rev. J. P. Richardson at the Congregational parsonage at Pachaug, will reside in a newly furnished home at Moosup.

Very little damage was reported in town as a result of Tuesday's severe wind and rain storm.

Duck hunters were out bright and early Wednesday morning enjoying their favorite sport.

The registrars of voters are to be in session on Tuesday. Those persons wishing to be made voters to take part in the November election must present their names on or before that date.

The republican caucus to be held on Tuesday evening next to select candidates for representative and justices of the peace.

PENDLETON HILL

Harris Boardman and sister Juliet were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Blackman at their summer residence, Belleport, L. I.

Dr. and Mrs. Wesley Hale of Springfield, Mass., are spending a few days at Dr. Hale's place here. They motored from Springfield Saturday afternoon. Dr. and Mrs. Hale were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton B. Thompson.

A large number of cards have been received by friends here from Willis Miner showing the beautiful scenery on his way to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cook and daughter Charlotte have moved to Jewett City where Mr. Cook is foreman and estimator for the Gilbert contractors. Charlotte Cook will enter school in Jewett City.

Thomas E. Wheeler has a flock of fifty turkeys, white and Narragansett grays. These respond instantly to his call and are as fine a sight as one could see in the line of turkeys in this part of New England. Mr. Wheeler also has a flock of thirty or more sheep and a good sized herd of cows. There is a good deal of business going on at the old Babcock place, where Mr. Wheeler is located.

Of interest to people is the announcement that Miss Bertha A. Gallup of Voluntown and Henry C. Congdon of Moosup were married by the Rev. J. P. Richardson at the Congregational parsonage in Pachaug on Saturday afternoon. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. Noyes Wheeler and family, which includes a son and a daughter of Willimantic, are frequent visitors Sunday with Thomas E. Wheeler. Mr. Wheeler is in the employ of the Swifts of that city.

Prospective buyers are visiting the farm formerly owned by Elmer E. Cook.

Miss Cecile C. Palmer was unable to teach last week owing to a severe attack of tonsilitis. She returned to her school at Apponaug Monday morning.

Much sympathy is felt for James Brooks of North Andover and Pendleton Hill, who has seriously injured his leg, necessitating some time in the hospital. Mr. Brooks is much better and hopes to resume his work in Lawrence the coming week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bliven and son, Samuel, 2nd, of New London, were callers at the Palmer homestead and also at Mrs. Jennie Thompson's Sunday afternoon. They motored by way of Brooklyn, Conn., the home of Mrs. Samuel Bliven, well known in the prohibition and anti-cigarette campaigns. Samuel Bliven 2nd is employed as receiving teller in one of the New London banks.

Edwin C. Maine is busy filling silos for hill folks. With a large force of men Thursday he was working for Willis S. Almy.

Avery C. Chapman was able to attend Sunday morning services for the first time in several weeks. Mr. Chapman has always been one of the most regular of church attendants.

Fall in all its beauty along a woods road may be seen by leaving the state highway at the Gallup turn, driving past the Gallup homestead, George Palmer and Thomas W. Wheeler's and returning to the main highway at John Geer's. This is an excellent country road with one exception, a hill just below Mr. Wheeler's which has been washed somewhat by recent rains.

J. Morton Cook has left the New London hospital and returned to his home. His mother, Mrs. James M. Cook and sister, Mrs. Byron Dawley, of Pensacola, Florida, are with him.

So far frost has not affected the hill farms, although lowlands have suffered somewhat.

CANTERBURY GREEN

The pastor is planning a Rally day at the church, Sunday.

The young people's club is to meet at the parsonage Monday evening.

James Lathrop, who has been ill with a severe cold, is improving.

Mrs. Arthur Bennett, with her children John and Helen, and her mother, Mrs. Hale Bennett, started Monday on a motor trip to Merrimac, N. H., where they will visit relatives, Rev. and Mrs. John Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Graves moved Thursday from New London to their newly purchased home on the green.

A lively grange meeting was held Wednesday evening. A poverty social was the entertaining feature and many were the poverty-stricken wearers of costumes seen. Fred Hicks carried off first prize for men in having achieved the best scarecrow effect. Milo Appley received second prize. Among the women members Miss Helen Nelson received first prize and Mrs. Grace Towne second. Hulled corn and milk and biscuits were served. A dance followed with music furnished by Mr. Perkins of Jewett City with a lady accompanist.

POETRY

OCTOBER.

The yellow woods that yesterday were still
Are stripped by angry winds, and everywhere
A flaming splendor, an immense despair
Await the work of winter's ancient will.
Great battles thunder through the sky; until
Among the cornfields, desolate and bare,
The laborers pause to listen, unaware
That angels stand above the burning hill

And when the storm is hushed, they take no heed
Of Gabriel banding near an orchard close;
Where one lone robin lingers on a wing;
Or that more softly than the winged seed
A Word has fallen; but the torn earth knows,
And all the Autumn meadows dream of Spring.

—Thomas S. Jones, Jr., in Boston Transcript.

ARACHNE.

I watch her in the corner there,
As, restless, bold and unafraid,
She slips and floats along the air
Till all her subtle house is made.

Her home, her bed, her daily food,
All from that hidden store she draws;
She fashions it and knows it good,
By instinct's strong and sacred laws.

No tenuous threads to weave her nest,
She seeks and gathers there or here;
But spins it from her faithful breast,
Renewing still, till leaves are sere.

Then, worn with toil, and tired of life,
In vain her shining traps are set,
Her frost hath hushed the insect strife
And gilded flies her charm forget.

But swinging in the snares she spun,
She sways to every wintry wind;
Her joy, her toil, her errand done,
Her corse the sport of storms unkind.

Poor sister of the spinster clan!
I, too, from out my store within
My daily life and living plan,
My home, my rest, my pleasure spin.

I know thy heart when heartless hands
Sweep all that hard-earned web away;
Destroy its pearled and glittering bands,
And leave thee homeless by the way.

I know thy peace when all is done.
Each anchored thread, each tiny knot,
Soft shining in the autumn sun;
A sheltered, silent, tranquil lot.

I know what thou hast never known—
Sad presage to a soul allowed—
That not for life I spin, alone,
But day by day I spin my shroud.

—Rose Terry Cooke.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Grocer—These are home-grown berries, ma'am.

Bride—But haven't you any of the hothouse kind?—Life.

I owe $250 to the president and fellows of Yale University.

I'm square with the president, but I owe $200 to the fellows.—Yale Record.

Pa, a man and his wife are one, aren't they?

Yes, my son.

Then it doesn't take two to make a quarrel, does it?—Exchange.

He—I'm sure I've seen you somewhere before.

She—I wonder. You're not the boy who proposed to me last evening, are you? — London Passing Show.

What is that string round you finger for?

To remind me to post a letter for my wife!

Have you posted it?

No, she forgot to give it to me!—Klods Hans Copenhagen.

Teacher—Name one bird of prey.

Pupil—The robin.

Teacher—Are you sure? Think now.

Pupil—I'm just as sure as the early worms are.—American Legion Weekly.

Little Johnny had been sent to the bakery to buy a cocoanut cake, but when he arrived at the bakeshop the word "cocoanut" had completely slipped his memory.

Please, lady, my mother wants a two layer noodle cake, he said.—Chicago News.

He took her hand in his and gazed proudly at the engagement ring he had placed on her finger only three days before.

"Did your friends admire it?" he inquired tenderly.

"They did more than that," she replied coldly. "Two of them recognized it."—Good Hardware.

KALEIDOSCOPE

There is no true cactus species native to the old world.

The wood used in making "cedar chests" comes from a species of juniper.

Many snakes have rudimentary leg bones, hinting at a possible lizardlike ancestry.

The Australian duck-billed platypus, a webfooted mammal, lays eggs, but suckles its young with milk.

Gadshill place, famous as the last home of Charles Dickens, has been transformed into a boarding school for girls.

British and Portuguese East Africa have areas of land suitable for cotton production twice as great as the cotton lands of the United States.

A scraggy-looking Rhode Island Red won the Wiltshire county council egg-laying contest in England by laying 312 eggs in 308 days—one each day of the forty-four week contest and two on each of the four national holidays occurring during the period. She had laid an egg every day for two weeks before the contest started, continued to lay each day for five days after it closed, and her name is Lulu.

One of the strangest trees in existence is the ambash, growing in the shallow waters of Lake Chad, in Africa, a body of water which, when at its maximum extent, covers 10,000 square miles, and yet has, on the average, a depth of only six feet. The ambash tree grows so rapidly as to attain its full size, 25 feet high, with a trunk of a foot in diameter, in two years. The wood when dried is unrivaled in lightness, its density being only two-fifths that of cork.

Arghan, a fiber plant found wild on the richer lands of Colombia and other tropical American countries may prove a valuable addition to the world's fiber crops. Experienced spinners at Belfast have produced from it a string stronger, weight for weight, than flax, jute or hemp. Moreover, it has an elasticity of one inch a yard, presents extraordinary resistance to salt water, and takes dyes easily. It can be spun with flax spinning machinery without difficulty. The ultimate fiber is from 2 to 2.25 inches long.

BOGUS ADVERTISING AGENT OUT ON BAIL AT NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Oct. 3.—A young man, giving his name as Frank White, and his residence as New Haven, was arrested here this forenoon and the police are of the opinion that they have in custody one of a gang of fake advertising solicitors. White is being held on a charge of being a suspicious character. The New Haven police have been requested to look up White's record and as those he alleges to have been associated with in New Haven are known there to have been engaged in business ventures of a questionable nature, White is believed to be only one of a gang that pursues fraudulent methods to obtain an easy livelihood. White was not taken into custody until he had given the police a chase through State street, shortly before noon.

Some time ago a fellow representing himself as Arthur Crompton appeared at the drug store of Nichols & Harris, State street, and solicited from H. F. Harris treasurer of the concern an advertisement which was to appear in the New England States News. A contract for the insertion of the advertisement was signed by Mr. Harris and the price agreed upon was $25. This morning White appeared with the contract, the amount to be paid the News having been changed from $25 to $147. Mr. Harris refused to acknowledge the legality of the contract and during his controversy with White the conversation was overheard by Ira M. Comstock, president of the drug concern. Mr. Harris notified Traffic Officer Frank Linehan of his suspicion. White on emerging to the street started on a run through State street. Traffic Officer Linehan put chase and finally overtook the alleged crook near the post office.

Early this evening the New Haven police informed the local authorities that White had used a fictitious name and was a crook. White's correct name is William Murphy. Later a New Haven attorney communicated with Prosecuting Attorney Cronin and arranged for Murphy being released, the attorney assuring Prosecuting Attorney Cronin that the bail would be provided within a day or two. Murphy's bond was fixed at $300 and he was released at 7:30 o'clock, boarding the 7:55 o'clock train for New Haven.

James Scott of Groton; Harold Ferguson, Ivoryton; Master David Kerridge, Post Hill place; Mrs. Adam Cowonski, North Bank street, patients at Lawrence hospital, were discharged today.

The funeral of Mrs. Jennie Anna Alling, wife of Charles E. Alling of Thamesview Park, Waterford, was held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. Rev. Alexander Wolischlager celebrated a mass of requiem, a large number of mourners attending. The bearers were Clarence W. Thompson, Harry Rogers, Bernard Tirolo, Charles Bailey, Louis Phillips and George Capwell. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Katie Dahl, wife of Axel J. Dahl, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her residence, 33 Eighth street. Rev. Myron E. Genter, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, conducted the services. Relatives of Mrs. Dahl acted as bearers. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Walter A. Reynolds, 8 Cottage St., Groton, reported to the New London police this afternoon that while he was driving his automobile between New London and Groton shortly after 1 o'clock a spare wire wheel and tire were lost from the rear rack of the car.

Joseph Cables, 8 Union street, informed the police this afternoon that he had found a coat on State street. In the pocket was found a letter addressed to William Meunrich, 218 Montauk avenue, this city. The coat was turned over to the police to await a claimant.

Frank Murphy's knowledge of the operation of a motor vehicle brought a fine to him that he did not anticipate. He was about the Army and Navy hotel in the Neptune building, which is the headquarters of the Salvation Army, and there a disabled truck, or one with a defective brake, was located. Murphy was sent with it to the repair shop, but on the way he backed into another automobile, without doing any damage, however. He was seen by a police officer and was called to account. His operating license was demanded but he did not have any to show. He has not possessed one since last February, when the one he had expired, and he did not seek to renew it, as he did not intend to drive any more. He admitted his mistake and told a frank story in the police court today, so he escaped prosecution for operating a truck with a defective brake. He was fined $10.

Clayton Greenleaf, a youth residing in Pleasant street, Groton, was found by the police to be operating a truck without having a license in his possession. He had such a paper but he did not have it with him. (He was fined $3. This is the second time Clayton has been prosecuted under the automobile laws and twice he has paid the penalty.

George J. Murphy was presented for being concerned in an accident and failing to disclose his identity. The infraction was not one of consequence so, as Murphy agreed to pay for any damage he did to a car with which his machine was in a mixup, the complaint was nolled. Murphy backed into a car at the curb near Perkins Green. He stopped and he and the operator of the car collided with had some words. Murphy finally left, the other man getting only the number of the Murphy machine. This he took to the police station and complained that Murphy failed to let it be known who he was. Today both men were willing to call matters settled and to have Murphy pay for the slight damage to the other fellow's car.

The strike inaugurated at the Bloom silk mill in Garfield avenue a week or more ago, or at least the walkout that took place, has not been settled. The weavers decline to go back to the looms unless paid more wages than they have been receiving. The difficulty has resulted in some 300 operatives being without work and a cut in the amount of money paid weekly to the employes of about $10,000. The management of the mill is now willing to grant some concessions, it is understood, but will not pay the wages demanded. He says that to pay such wages would mean a loss in the conduct of the mills and he has decided that rather than operate the plant under such conditions he will allow it to remain practically idle. Raw silk is now very expensive, something the employes do not take into consideration when they make a demand for more pay, so the management has decided that until the weavers become reasonable in their demand the idle weavers will remain idle, insofar as the Bloom mills are concerned.

The warm weather of today increased the number of pleasure automobiles in use, and the street curbs in the business center were lined with the machines, afternoon and evening.

Eastern Star chapter had a large attendance at a supper this evening in Brainard lodge temple.

James Marooney, a veteran conductor on the New Haven railroad, who has for years been in charge of the Washington express leaving here about 11 o'clock a. m., is now in charge of the train that gets into New London at 7.34 in the evening. He leaves again at 2 a. m., going only as far as New Haven. Mr. Marooney is a New Londoner and in point of service is one of the oldest conductors on the line.

After a period of eight months since fire destroyed much of the Rodewald building on Bank street, near Pearl, the owners, the Hollandersky brothers, are demolishing what remained of the wooden structure and will have a new building erected there. It will probably be a two-story structure, as the cost of construction is now so high and the demand for rooms for offices is so light that a larger building is said to be out of the question. The Woolworth company intends to erect only a building that will go two stories in height on the site of the Garfield building, State street. The owners are of the opinion that a larger building would not be a paying investment at present, though the structure will carry in foundation that will bear up a larger building whenever such a building is demanded. Whenever the cost of construction gets back to prices that are near where they were before the World war there will be a building boom in this city.

New London, though a seaport, is said not to stipply its residents with any but iced fish shipped in here from the Boston and New York markets. There was a time when there was a fleet of sixty sails of halibut and cod fishing schooners and sloops in the fishing industry from this port, but there is hardly a vessel of any size owned here now that is employed at fishing. The boats in the business now are power boats that run out of and into the harbor daily, but they only catch the smaller fish such as blacks, flats, mackerel, weakfish and some cod that are captured around Montauk. The fishing vessels get market prices for their fish, too, as they retail nearly all they catch at the public pier and they have a considerable trade. It seems a most unusual situation that a port that had fishing as one of its great industries some two generations ago should now not have a vessel in the business but is getting its supply of fish elsewhere. Even the menhaden vessels, and there was a considerable fleet of these which supplied the oil and fish works at Fisher's Island and at Black Point, now deliver their fish at other ports. This is a fishless port, no mistake!

Eileen Potter, 14, daughter of Mrs. Nora Potter, 166 Green street, sustained painful injuries late this afternoon when struck by an automobile owned and operated by George Clerk, 233 Howard street. She was taken to Lawrence hospital, where her wounds, comprising cuts and bruises, were treated, after which she was taken home. The girl was riding a bicycle and at the corner of Reed and Blinman streets she rode in front of the automobile. Before Clark could apply the brakes the wheel was struck.

Several New London fans left tonight by train and on the steamer for New York to be on hand Monday to witness the first game in the metropolis of the world series between the New York Giants and Washington Senators.

At Nathan Hale grammar school, Nameaug and Winthrop schools, which opened this week for night sessions, 118 people have enrolled.

Howard E. Meadon, an annual summer visitor at Pleasure Beach, died Thursday at his home, Blue Point, L. I. Mr. Meadon is survived by his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tucker, 13 Waller street, have started for Chattanooga, Tenn., where they will remain a fortnight, with relatives. They are making the trip by automobile.

The condition of Ray Lewis of Williams street, who was injured a fortnight ago by being struck by a passing automobile while alighting from his team on that street, is reported as improving rapidly at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson have returned to their home, Lee avenue, having visited friends in Glastonbury.

Alfred Lloyd, formerly of New London, now located at Santa Barbara, Cal., is in this city for a lengthy stay.

Miss Ethel Markow has returned to her home in Brooklyn, N. Y., after having visited for several weeks with her brother, Louis Markow.

Miss Marjorie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Smith, School street, formerly employed at the New London public library, is now in the public library at Providence, R. I.

Miss Jane Riley, surgical nurse at Lawrence hospital, has resigned and has gone to her home in Holyoke, Mass.

Mrs. Jane Chapman, a patient at Home Memorial hospital, was able to return to her home in Old Lyme today.

An automobile owned and driven by John Whitelaw, 459 Williams street, and a machine owned and operated by Earl J. Darrow, 173 Shaw street, were in collision this evening on Huntington street, corner of Federal street. Both machines were damaged.

The following regional managers of the United States Veterans' Bureau were appointed yesterday by Director Frank T. Hines, Dr. Horace C. Dodge, Denver; Dr. Leslie J. Paul, Salt Lake City; Robert R. Gibson, Albuquerque, N. M., and Chester L. Greedy, Casper, Wyoming.

PAY FINE OF $50 FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

There was but one case in the city court Friday morning, Dennis Patterson of No. 76 State Street, New London, was presented on a charge of reckless driving. He figured in an accident Thursday evening on Boswell avenue, near the city line between his car and a machine owned and driven by John Depinto of No. 245 Franklin street. Patterson's car crashed head on into the other machine and he was way over on the left side of the street at the time. He had one Norwich girl in the seat with him and two others standing on the running board, one of whom had a bad cut in the thigh.

He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $50 and costs, a total of $62.77 which he paid.

Antonio Caffarella, sitting in the shop in Malden, Mass., that he was going to open for shoe repairs, was robbed of his life savings by a masked man at pistol point.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS UNSETTLED.

New York, Oct. 3.—Stock [illegible]28 reacted sharply in today's market on what was widely described as a "political scare." Recessions in standard issues ran from 1 to 2 1-2 points with losses of 3 to 5 1-2 points in some of the high-priced specialties.

Senator Brookhart's speech attacking President Coolidge provided bear traders with an excuse for an attack on the general list, this selling being augmented by the extensive liquidation of pools and professional traders, apparently prompted by a desire to lighten their committments pending further indications of the draft of political sentiment.

Commodity markets again attracted the major interest of the speculative element. Further advances in wheat and rye were followed by extensive profit taking sales, bringing about substantial recessions from the high prices.

There was nothing in the day's trade news to account for the selling securities. The weekly mercantile reviews reported further irregularity but stated that the main trend of business was upward with the decline in September commercial failures the largest in several years. The Texas Company advanced the price of heavy Smackover Crude from 5 to 25 cents a barrel. The American Woolen Company announced the withdrawal of women's wear worsted fabrics shown by two of its largest mills, the entire production for th eapring season having been sold.

United States Steel common fluctuated within a range of about one point, closing 1-4 lower at 107 7-8. American Can, American Sugar Refining, Baldwin, Cuba Cane preferred, Dp Pont, Studebaker, United States Cast Iron Pipe, United States Industrial Alcohol and Utah Copper were among the many issues hammered down 1 to 3 1-2 points.

Despite the marked heaviness of the general list, nearly a dozen issues, most of them obscure specialties, attained new high levels for the year. They included Postum, Montgomery Ward, St. Joseph Lead, United States Hoffman Machinery and Wells Fargo Express. General Motors seven per cent. preferred touched a new at 99 1-4 while the new common sold at 59 1-2, a new low.

Selling pressure in the railroad group was directed chiefly against Lehigh Valley, which was forced down to 60 1-2 and then rallied to 61 1-4 off 1 3-4 on the day. Lackawanna, selling ex-dividend $1.50, made up its dividend on the first sale, advanced to 140 and then fell back to 137. Losses of a point or more also were recorded by Rock Island, Atlantic Coast Line, Chicago Great Western preferred, Chicago and Northwestern, Gulf, Mobile & Northern, New York, Ontario & Western, St. Louis Southwestern and Texas and Pacific.

S. S. Kresge broke 10 14 points to 425 on one sale. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, which enjoyed a sensational advance earlier in the week, fell back 5 1-2 points. Other weak spots were General Baking, Goodyear Tire preferred, Pierce Arrow preferred, Nash Motor and Railway Steel Spring, off 3 to 5 points. Fisher Body was one of the few strong spots, gaining 3 1-2 points. Call money held at 2 1-2 per cent. all day. Time money displayed a firmer tone, and although rates held steady offerings were in smaller volume. The commercial paper market was quiet with rates unchanged.

Foreign exchange rates were firm with business quiet. Demand sterling rates held around $4.46 and French francs were quoted just above 5 1-4 cents. A further advance in South American rates was based on the expectation of an increased foreign demand for grain, due to the high prices prevailing here.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Oct. 3.—Bond prices drifted irregularly lower today in sympathy with the reaction in the stock market. Scarcity of time money offerings and waning public interest contributed to the easier tone.

Many semi-speculative railroad issues, which have displayed independent strength in recent sessions, yielded to profit-taking today. Frisco adjustment and income sixes attracted buying orders in the early trading but were unable to hold their gains, closing the day with fractional net losses. Other rail bonds which lost ground included Denver and Rio Grande refunding 5s, St. Paul convertible and refunding 4 1-2s, Seaboard refunding 4s, International Great Northern adjustment 6s and Northern Pacific refunding 4s which showed average declines of about a point.

The keen investment demand for new railroad obligations was reflected in the ready absorbtion of the $50,000,000 Pennsylvania Railroad issue offered today. Books were closed on the offering a few minutes after the opening which indicated over-subscription.

Foreign bonds held relatively firm, with Swiss 5 1-2s and Dutch Indies 5 1-2s of 1953 representing the chief points of strength. Liberty bonds were depressed by the tighter money situation. Prices of public utilities and industrial liens were little changed.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Oct. 2.—Stock prices received a sharp setback in today's curb market, net losses in the active issues ranging from 1 to 3 points.

Pipe Line shares were the hardest hit in the oil group, Buckeye, Cumberland and Prairie dropping one to 2 1-2 points. Producing and Refining Company stocks offered better resistence to pressure, Vacuum sagging 1 1-2. Standard Oil of Kentucky one and the others yielding only fractionally.

Public utilities were in free supply with some of the selling traceable to banking sources. Middle west utilities broke an additional 3 points to 75 while Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, American Gas and Electric, American Power and Light, Commonwealth Power and Western Power sold down one to two points.

The features of the industrial group was a drop of eleven points to 434 in Ford Motors of Canada, reflecting speculative disappointment over the failure of the directors to increase the annual dividend of $10. Other weak spots in this group were Gillette Safety Razor, Grand Stores and National Tea, off two to three points. Jones Radio touched a new high at 9 1-3 and then fell back to 8 3-4.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Big selling to realize profits over-balanced the grain market today, and brought about a setback after an exciting advance that upset numerous high price records. On today's pinnacle, wheat to be delivered next May was worth $1.53 7-8 cents a bushel.

Closing prices for wheat were very unsettled, at 1-2c to 1 1-2c net decline, December $1.45 5-8 to $1.45 3-4 and May $1.49 7-8 to $1.50. Corn finished 1 7-8 to 2 5-8c down, oats 1-2c to 1 1-8c off, and provisions varying from 23 cents drop to 35 cents gain.

Wild rushes to the buying side of the wheat market took place immediately on the opening of business, and appeared to be largely a result of new estimates of the world supply indicating 54,000,000 bushels less wheat available than a month ago. Besides unofficial figures which were current put the total world supply on October 1 at only 3,560,000,000 bushels as against 4,430,000,000 bushels the corresponding day in 1923. With fresh export buying that ran up to 1,000,000 bushels of wheat today and 500,000 bushels of rye, the markets climbed rapidly until wheat showed 2 5-8c and rye exactly five cents a bushel advance.

Tumbling of prices ensued when a battle royal in the wheat pit demonstrated that for at least the time being the volume of selling had broadened to an extent which the buying power although of extraordinary force was insufficient to withstand.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat, corn being also weakened by summer-like weather.

Hogs at the highest prices in two years lifted the provision market, but the effect was interesting more or less offset by the fall of grain.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Stafford Springs people were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Judge Joel H. Reed, which occurred in Poughkeepsie Thursday afternoon from acute indigestion.

Judge Reed left town apparently in the best of health Monday evening and Tuesday afternoon married in New Haven Mrs. Grace W. Perrin of that city. They were on their wedding trip by automobile when he was stricken.

Judge Reed was born in Eastford Jan. 10, 1850. He was educated in the graded schools in Union and at Monson, Mass., Academy and studied law with Dwight Marcy, in Rockville. He was admitted to the bar in 1874 and began the practice of his profession in Stafford Springs. In 1878 he moved to Colchester where he remained in the practice of the law until 1885 when he returned to this town. He was county health officer in 1893-1894 and for many years was state's attorney for Tolland county. He represented Stafford in the legislature during the session of 1901.

He was appointed a judge of the superior court in 1904 and served until 1920 when he was retired by reason of having reached the constitutional age limit of 70.

Judge Reed was an active member of the Methodist church in Stafford Springs and of Wangen lodge No. 32, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. He was vice president and director of the Stafford Savings bank.

On Oct. 25, 1872, he married Mrs. Lydia Willis, of Union, who died two years ago. He leaves one son, Attorney Willis H. Reed, clerk of the Tolland county superior court, and two daughters, Mrs. Alice Walker of Orleans, Mass., and Mrs. Edna Haines-worth of Norfolk, Va. He is also survived by his second wife, whom he married last Tuesday. A brother, Morgan L. Reed of Union, also survives him.

Judge Reed had always been affiliated with the republican party in politics.

Edwin L. Dimock, 80, died at his home in West Stafford, Thursday night, after several months' illness. He was a son of Abner and Mary Luther Dimock and was born in the Crystal Lake section of Stafford.

He is survived by his wife, a son, La Vergne Dimock, and two grandchildren. For a number of years he kept a meat market in Stafford and was widely known as a market gardener. For many years he was one of the largest exhibitors of farm and garden produce at Stafford fair

William H. Spalding, 69, died at the home of his brother, Ephraim H. Spedding in Lowell, Mass., Thursday afternoon. Mr. Spedding spent many years in Stafford Springs where he was a clerk in the Stafford Savings bank. He is survived by a brother, E H. Spedding of Lowell and two nieces, Mrs. Gertrude Spedding Cole of Boston and Mrs. Alice Hilton Williams, of Wollaston, Mass. Mr. Spedding retired from active business a few years ago after spending a good part of his life as an insurance adjuster in New York. He spent several months in Stafford Springs during the past spring nad summer.

Albert Camorelli, age 11, of Stafford Hollow was committed by Judge Heald of the juvenile court to the reform school at Meriden, Friday morning. The boy has been a general mischief maker in the Hollow. On several occasions he has broken into stores and not long ago he entered the store of H. F. Cady and stole a sum of money. He was before the court about two months ago and was then paroled in the custody of his father, Louis Camorelli, who told the court that he couldn't control the boy and requested that he be sent away.

The republican probate convention for the district of Stafford which includes the towns of Stafford and Union, renominated Judge M. D. O'Connell for judge of probate at the convention held at the Springs House Friday morning. The delegates from Stafford were Lewis McLaughlin, F. L. Upham, E. D. Kinsman and George M. Barlow. The Union delegates were H. L. Howard, L. M. Reed, Mrs. Ida G. Moore and Mrs. H. R. Town. After the convention the delegates were the guests of Judge O'Connell at lunch at the Liberty restaurant.

WARNING
ANNUAL TOWN MEETING

The legal voters in Town Meeting of the Town of Norwich are hereby warned to meet in Annual Town Meeting in the Town Hall in said Norwich on Monday, Oct. 6th, 1924, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the following purposes:

To hear and act upon the annual report of the Selectmen and their recommendations, the reports of the Town Treasurer, the Sinking Fund Committee, the Town Health Officer, the Town School Committee, and the Trustees of the Otis Library; to fix the salaries of the Town Officials, to lay a tax to meet the lawful expenses of the Town, including the expenses of the public schools, for the ensuing fiscal year, and to fix the compensation of the Tax Collector

Also, to determine whether the Town will authorize the Selectmen to borrow a sum not to exceed the amount of Three Hundred and Twenty-five Thousand ($325,000) Dollars at such times and in such amounts during the twelve months next ensuing as they shall deem proper, to defray the debts of the Town accruing before the next Annual Town Meeting, and to deliver the notes and other obligations of the Town therefor as shall in their judgment be for the best interests of the Town.

Also, to authorize the Selectmen of said Town to sell a certain piece of land about twenty (20) feet square located upon Laurel Hill road, in said Town, and formerly occupied by a watering trough, and to deliver a proper deed of the Town to the purchaser thereof.

Also, to see if the Town will amend the resolution appropriating One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars to erect a new school building on land of the Town of Norwich in East Norwich, so-called, and authorizing the Selectmen to borrow the said sum and to issue interest bearing obligations of the Town therefor adopted at the Town Meeting held the 24th day of June, 1924.

Also, to authorize the issue and sale of bonds of the Town of Norwich to an amount not to exceed OneHundred and Seventeen Thousand ($117,000) Dollars for the purpose of refunding this amount of the issue of Court House Bonds maturing Jan. 1st, 1925.

Also, to see whether the Town will appropriate the sum of Four Thousand Five Hundred ($4,500) Dollars to be used for current expenses of the Otis Library.

Also, to consider and act upon the following petitions presented to the Board of Selectmen with a request that they be acted upon at this Annual Town Meeting:

A petition requesting that the Town appropriate a sum of money not to exceed Sixty-five Thousand ($65,000) Dollars to relieve the parents or legal guardians of children resident in said Town and students at the Norwich Free Academy from the payment of the term fees of said Academy for the school year 1924-25.

A petition that the Town appropriate a sum of money not to exceed Ten Thousand ($10,000) Dollars for the purpose of providing medical inspection and health work for the school children of the Town of Norwich.

A petition that the Town appropriate a sum of One Thousand ($1,000) Dollars to help defray the expenses of the dedication of the Soldiers' memorial on Chelsea Parade.

A petition that the Town appropriate the sum of Eight Thousand $(8,000) Dollars for the purpose of continuing the preparation of a tax map of the Town, said sum to be spent under the direction of the Board of Selectmen and Board of Assessors.

A petition that five (5) street lights be installed and maintained by the Town on Julian street, so-called.

A petition that the Town install and maintain electric lights on the west end of Maple street and on Pine street, so-called.

A petition that the Town establish and maintain three (3) street lights on the highway leading from the Norwich and Colchester turnpike in the Village of Yantic to Wauwecus Hill.

A petition to accept the private way known as Germania street, in the Village of Taftville, as a public highway and thoroughfare.

A petition that the Town appropriate a sum not to exceed Two Hundred ($200) Dollars for the purpose of installing a hydrant at Peck's Corner, so-called.

A petition requesting that the voters consider whether or not they will direct the Town School Committee to commence the morning session of the schools during the coming school year at 9 o'clock Standard Time.

A petition requesting the appropriation of a sum not to exceed One Hundred and Fifty ($150) Dollars for the installation of a hydrant on West Town street, near Wauwecus street.

A petition requesting the installation of street lights on McClellan avenue, so-called, at Norwich Town.

Also, to do any other business proper to come before said meeting.

Dated at Norwich, Conn., this 25th day of September, 1924.

TAFTVILLE

Edward Gauthier, U. S. A., has returned to Fort Totten, Staten Island, N. Y., after spending several days in town, the guest of his mother, Mrs. Azarie Gauthier, of South Second avenue.

The Aowakiya Camp Fire Girls held their weekly meeting Thursday evening in the parlors of the Taftville Congregational church. Officers were elected as follows: President, Melba Monty; vice president, Selina Adams; secretary, Mary Martin; treasurer, Betty Archibald; scribe, Florence Lukoff; song leader, Louie Unsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Metcalf returned early in the week to their home in Hartford after a short stay with Mr. and Mrs. Terence M. Buckley of South C street.

Cordwood appears to have become a drug on the market, as there were a great many farmers, some coming all the way from Canterbury, in town Friday, unable to sell their wood. Several Lisbon farmers have a number of choppers busy on their woodland, and the supply is quite plentiful.

A ceremonial meeting was held Friday evening by the Ocowasin Camp Fire Girls in the vestry of the Taftville Congregational church, in charge of the guardian, Mrs. Edwin G. [illegible] and the assistant guardian, Mrs. John Volkman.

Miss Anna LaPlante has resigned her position with the spinning department of the Ponemah company.

Members of the local members of Nemaha M. to V. P. E. R., of Norwich, motored to Springfield, Mass., to attend the big field day and exhibition which the order staged on Friday evening and today (Saturday).

Notices are being sent out to all the members of the Taftville Congregational church school notifying them that Sunday is Rally day, and the official opening of the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Laroche of Brockton, Mass., have been spending several days with relatives in town.

Matthew J. Hatton of Providence, R. I. was a visitor for a short time in the village this week.

Motorists passing through the town remark on the wonderful foliage of the trees along the Shetucket and Quinebaug rivers. The woods bordering on the Newent road in the town of Lisbon are also highly colored this year. The Lisbon side of the Shetucket river, opposite the Occum road, cannot help but attract attention of tourists on that road.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Linderson are occupying the house at 46 Providence street.

Miss Helen C. Aberg of the Willimantic State Normal school is passing the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel L. Aberg, of North Third avenue.

The residence of Henry Troeger on Highland street has been completed.

Miss Dorothy Wood of Willimantic is spending the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wood, and family of South Second avenue.

Miss Marie Rose Couchon has returned to her home in Arctic, R. I., after spending a week with friends on Norwich avenue.

MAPLEWOOD

Ludwig Krumholz's new store at the end of the car line is nearly completed.

Last Sunday Charles Davis of Stonington was a caller at the home of his niece, Mrs. Emily Ennis.

C. P. O'Neil found a twenty pound winter squash in his fine crop of pie timber.

Recent callers at the home of Mrs. Ed Reynolds were Mrs. John Adams and her daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Bunnell.

Miss Hattie Holt accompanied by her father took a spin to Watch Hill to view the huge breakers after the recent storm.

Since taking possession of the handsome residence of William Lathrop, John O. Johnson has built a garage on the place.

Mrs. May Newsom recently visited her aunt, Miss Martha Palmer at Abington.

Little Barbara Binns gave a party to celebrate her sixth birthday last Saturday.

Fred Fish is carpentering for William Lathrop.

After having passed her vacation near Old Orchard, Me., and at the home of Mrs. R. M. Harding, Miss Minnie Bergman returned to her duties as secretary of Labor Temple in New York.

STANDARD TIMERS AIMING TO FIX HOUR FOR SCHOOL OPENING

That the fight here against daylight saving time, particularly in relation to the schools, is not dead yet is indicated by a petition to the schools, that is included in the call for the annual meeting of the town of Norwich next Monday night at the town hall. Proponents for the petition will endeavor to have the meeting pass a vote that will tie the school board hard and fast to 9 o'clock, standard time, as the hour for opening the schools.

The petition, which is headed by the well known standard timer, G. Warren Davis, and is rubber stamped with his familiar standard time clock, is contained in the list of so-called extras, and reads as follows:

The undersigned legal voters of the town of Norwich, Connecticut hereby request and petition the board of selectmen of the said town of Norwich to incorporate in the warning for the next annual town meeting an item which will enable the voters of the town to determine whether or not they will direct the school committee to operate the public schools for the ensuing year in obedience to the time-honored law of custom and in obedience to the statutory laws of the state already enacted; that is to say: to operate the public schools on standard hours of standard time, beginning morning sessions at 9 o'clock statutory standard time.

The fifteen names signed to the petition are: G. Warren Davis, Mrs. G. Warren Davis, Harriet D. Austin, C. R. Davey, Eugene H. Nafle, Sr., F. E. Baker, O. G. Chase, Mrs. E. H. Nafle, A. Clayton, Ralph W. Chapman, Geo. F. Raymond, George M. Ellsworth, Nellie A. Chapman, Mrs. Hattie L. Liepold, C. H. Liepold.

Signers of the petition apparently have not yet awakened to the fact or else they choose to ignore it, that there is no statute enactment setting an hour for the opening of schools at 9 o'clock or any other time, as has been repeatedly stated by the secretary of the state board of education.

The other so-called extras in the call for the meeting for which petitions have been presented, are the following:

Appropriation of $65,000 for term fees at Norwich Free Academy. This was $60,000 last year.

Appropriation of $10,000 for medical inspection and health work in the schools. This was $8,500 last year.

Appropriation of $1,000 towards expenses of dedication of Soldiers' Memorial at Chelsea parade.

Appropriation of $4,500 for Otis Library expenses, the same as last year.

Appropriation of $8,000 to continue the tax map. This was $6,000 last year.

Appropriation of $300 for hydrant at Peck's corner and $150 for hydrant on West Town street, near Wauwecus street.

Petitions for five street lights on Julian street, lights on the west end of Maple street and on Pine street, lights on McClellan avenue, Norwich Town, and three lights on the highway leading from the Norwich and Colchester turnpike in Yantic to Wauwecus hill.

Petition to accept Germania street, Taftville, as a public highway.

The call for the meeting also calls for a vote to authorize the selectmen to borrow $325,000, as it may be needed, before the next annual town meeting; a vote to authorize the selectmen to sell a 20 foot square of land on Laurel Hill road that was formerly occupied by a watering trough.

There are two items in the call concerning bond issues, the first for an issue of $100,000 bonds to cover the cost of the new East Side school house, and the second for an issue to refund the $117,000 of court house bonds maturing Jan. 1, 1925.

CONNECTICUT METHODS MODEL FOR SAFETY

Commissioner Robbins B. Stoeckel of the Connecticut State Motor Vehicle Department, in an address before the Thirteenth Annual Safety Congress at Louisville, Ky., Friday stressed the operators' license system as an important factor in promoting better driving of motor vehicles. He pointed out that the District of Columbia and eleven states, including Connecticut, are now requiring examinations for all "new" operators, that fourteen jurisdictions examine applicants for chauffeurs' licenses only and that eleven have only the age requirements.

The twelve which require examinations for all applicants are: District of Columbia, Maryland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Michigan, New Jersey, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and Washington. Those which examine applicants for chauffeurs only are: Alabama, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Minnesota, Montana Virginia, Texas, Utah, Ontario and Quebec.

Anyone over 12 years old may operate a motor vehicle in South Carolina, which has the lowest age limit. In California, Kansas, New Mexico and West Virginia, the limit is 14 years; in Maine and South Dakota, 15 years; in Nebraska and North Carolina, 16 years, and in Wyoming, 17 years. No examinations are required in any of the states mentioned.

Arizona, Arkansas and Ohio have no requirements for operators' licenses and Georgia and Mississippi require only the filing of statements of information.

No state has higher requirements than those of Connecticut.

A large exhibit covering the multitudinous activities of the Connecticut department, including the system for keeping a record of each licensed driver, was provided for the conference.

TWO WIVES SECURE DECREES OF DIVORCE

Two wives secured divorce decrees Friday morning in the superior court at New London when their cases came before Judge Leonard J. Nickerson.

Hattie E. Crandall of Ledyard was granted divorce from Louis E. Crandall of Ledyard, whom she married Oct. 29, 1913. The grounds alleged were habitual intemperance for more than a year past and intolerable cruelty since May 1, 1923. She was given change of name to Hattie E. Lamphere.

Mrs. Madelia W. Clyde, Mrs. Helena Willet, Mrs. Leah Musante and Mrs. Rosa L. Maynard corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Crandall, that her husband was very frequently intoxicated and Charles Flint testified that although he had known Crandall for a long time he had seen him sober only on two occasions. Crandall, according to this witness, became intoxicated every time the opportunity to do so presented itself.

Marion W. Farrell Prather of New London secured divorce from Don Carlos Prather of San Francisco, Cal., on the ground of desertion, on Aug. 12, 1919. They were married June 18, 1914 at Old Point Comfort, Va. The wife was given the custody of a 9 year old daughter.

Testimony of the wife, substantiated by that of other witnesses, showed that Prather, following discharge from the army for disability, not incurred in the line of duty, deserted his wife on Aug. 12, 1919, and went to California.

REAPPOINTMENTS FOR TOWN HEALTH OFFICERS

County health officer Hibberd R. Norman has just reappointed the following town health officers:

Dr. Edward J. Howland, Colchester; Dr. G. H. Jennings, Jewett City; Charles Gray, Ledyard; and Everett P. Barnes, Preston.

Adventist Biennial Convention

Seventh-day Adventist leaders throughout the New England States will attend the biennial convention of the General Conference of the denomination in DesMoines, Iowa, October 14 to 23.

Under the leadership of Rev. E. K. Slade, president of the Atlantic Union Conference, every local conference president in New England and New York State will go, together with representatives of the educational and medical institutions in this territory. Every one of the several hundred local churches in these states will be represented.

William Nowsome, of Boston, for 33 years identified with the United Fruit company, has been elected as president of the Fruit Dispatch, a transportation adjunct of the fruit company.

British Premier's Son Tours New York Unobserved

UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N. Y.

While all New York has been in a ferment over the visit of the son of the nominal head of the British Government, the Prince of Wales; the son of the real head of the British Government, Malcolm MacDonald, has been quietly visiting in the city, unnoticed by press and public. Premier Ramsay MacDonald's son came here from Canada as English representative of the Oxford Union, which is to have a series of 17 debates with teams representing colleges in the U. S. and Canada, and is also writing a series of special articles for a London and a Montreal paper.

SUPPER AND SOCIAL PRECEDES RALLY SUNDAY

As a preliminary to Rally Day which occurs Sunday, the Sunday school of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Universalist, held a rally supper Friday evening in the parlors of the church. There were ten tables, those at each table providing their own menu, table decorations, songs and stunts. A. S. Comstock and E. A. Tracy acted as judges and selected as the two best tables Mrs. Walter Bussey's class and Mrs. Minnie Boon's class, the former for their stunt programme and the latter for the decorations.

During the supper Miss Gladys Hiscox and Miss Annie Stockdale, violinists, and Miss Bertrice Green, piano gave a pleasing concert programme. Mrs. A. N. Foster was in general charge of the arrangements for the evening.

FOLEY PILLS REACHED THE SORE SPOT

Mrs. Ellen Reighard, South Fork, Pa., writes: 'I had been suffering with my kidneys and nothing seemed to touch the aching spot until I procured Foley Pills, with wonderful results." Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, gently and thoroughly flush and cleanse the kidneys and help to eliminate poisonous waste matter. Try a bottle today and you will be well pleased with the relief obtained. The use of Foley Pills increases kidney activity. Lee & Osgood Co.

Warning Against Pencil Peddlers

Headquarters of the American Legion has issued a warning against men who are out selling lead pencils. The note with each pencil represents the men as members of the National Disabled Soldiers League. The warning states that the pencils are worth less than 25 cents. "The high-priced chocolates in the low-priced box" is passing out of the home

Box worship

BEAUTIFUL boxes certainly add attractiveness to fine gift chocolates. We don't deny it. But for high-grade home chocolates—well, that's entirely different! You certainly want high-grade chocolates — but a simple inexpensive package will do just as well as the fanciest box obtainable.

That's why Lowney's Gold Stripe Chocolates have become the fastest selling of all fine chocolates. They are "The High-priced Chocolates in the Low-priced Box." Made of fine, pure ingredients. Offered in three attractive assortments:

Buy a package and you will immediately understand why Lowney's Gold Stripe Chocolates have become the most popular of all packaged candy. They have the same high-priced chocolate and the same high priced centers which you find in other chocolates costing 80c or $1.00 a pound.

Standard Chocolates and Bonbons
Brittles, Cheweys and Nugats

If you don't believe in box worship in your home, ask your druggist or candy dealer for Lowney's Gold Stripe Chocolates.

PRICE FIXING CHARGED ON HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS

Federal Trade Commission Acted in Response to Senate Resolution—Finds Control is Exercised by Patent Pools Among Manufacturers of Washing Machines—Questionable Tactics of Leading Manufacturers of Aluminum Cooking Utensils.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Fresh charges of price fixing and question about the practices of manufacturers of household furnishings, are made in a comprehensive report on the industry, by the federal trade commission acting in response to a senate resolution.

Two outstanding features of the report, says an announcement by the commission, "are the control exercised by patent pools among manufacturers of washing machines, the elimination of new competition in the vacuum cleaner industry; the questionable competitive tactics of the leading manufacturer of aluminum cooking utensils, which is affiliated with the Aluminum Company of America, the monopolistic position of the latter company which has apparently engaged in various practices including a judicial decree under the Sherman act; the dominating position of the Singer company in the sewing machine industry; the efforts of trade associations in the refrigerator and other industries to enhance the prices of their products; and the questionable methods of retail dealers in kitchen utensils and domestic furnishings."

According to the commission's announcement its report deals in detail with the subjects mentioned but more at length with the Aluminum Company of America which has received severe attacks. The Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company affiliated with the Aluminum Company of America, the report says, has been practicing price discrimination between customers and has been active in maintaining resale prices, while receiving special discounts itself for the Aluminum Company of America which owns 30 per cent of its stock and "exercises a substantial control over its policy.

At the same time, the commission's report says, independent manufacturers of aluminum utensils have been embarrassed by delays in deliveries of materials from the Aluminum company, or by no delivery at all of some materials, while in other cases the Aluminum company, the report says, "has dumped embarrassing large quantities of metal on independent manufacturers to whom shipments have been delayed."

STATEMENT BY PRESIDENT OF ALUMINUM COMPANY

Pittsburgh, Oct. 5.—Roy A. Hunt, vice president of the Aluminum Company of America, tonight issued the following statement with reference to the report of the federal trade commission, mentioning that company, which was made public in Washington today:

"I have learned that the federal trade commission has given to the papers for publication Monday morning, a summary of a report in which the Aluminum Company of America is criticized. This report is supposed to comply with a senate resolution passed by the 67th congress in the summer of 1921, to meet an alleged emergency then thought to be existing, and directs the commission promptly to report on price conditions in the house furnishing goods industry and grade. The report is now made, over three years after it was ordered, to a congress which has long since ended, and to a senate not in session. It comes out one month before a presidential election. To say the least, the time of its issuance is peculiar.

"I cannot make a reply to what the report may contain until I have had a chance to see it."

PRESIDENT'S LETTER TO COLONEL ROOSEVELT

New York, Oct. 5.—The republican state committee today made public the following letter from President Coolidge to Colonel Theodore Roosevelting, accepting his resignation as assistant secretary of the navy:

"My dear Colonel Roosevelt:

"Since you are not leaving the service of your country in resigning as assistant secretary of the navy but merely transferring your activities into another, perhaps more important field, I shall not express any regret but only add my good wishes to the thousands which you have already received. Your activity an denergy have served as an inspiration to those who were associated with you in the conduct of your office.

"In accepting the call of the republican party in the state of New York to be its candidate for governor you will be entreing a field which is not new to you, for you have been reared in an atmosphere of practical political action. This has given you the training and equipment which the people of New York state may well wish to call to their service by choosing you for their chief magistrate.

"I wish to express to you my congratulations at the honor which is implied in the confidence bestowed upon you by the paryt, and the new opportunity which lies before you for public service.

"In order that you may be entirely free to discharge your new duties, I accept your resignation to take effect the first day of the coming October.

"With every wish that your future efforts may be crowned with complete success, I am "Very truly yours,

"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

ARGUMENT RESULTED IN ASTABBING AFFRAY

New Haven, Oct. 5—Domenick Lombardi, of this city, who was stabbed in the head with a knife alleged to have been wielded by John Coppola yesterday, is in a serious condition in New Haven hospital, it was reported by hospital officials tonight. The stabbing was the outgrowth of an argument, according to the police, but the cause of the dispute has not been definitely determined. Coppola is alleged to have scratched Lombardi's face, then beat him over the head with an iron bar and then assaulting him with a pocket knife.

Coppola, it is said, tried to escape after the struggle, but was placed under arrest and held under $1,000 bonds. Lombardi is at present under bonds to appear in superior court at this term to answer to the charge of theft of an automobile.

TRAIN WAS HELD UP BY REBELS IN MEXICO

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Oct. 5—The rebels Turio Karam and Jose Zacunas today held up a train on the Isthmus line between Piedras Negras and Jochim. Five soldiers of the train's escort and two women passengers were killed. The bandits robbed the express car of a shipment of money and also of funds which were being forwarded to pay off the troops of General Topete. The amount stolen was about 40,000 pesos. The bandits also carried of passengers, presumably to hold for ransom.

DETAILS OF BALL GAME FLASHED TO COOLIDGE

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 5—Detailed reports of the game between the Senators and Giants were flashed to President Coolidge and his party aboard the Mayflower this afternoon while the yacht was off the Virginia capes. When the final inning showed the American leaguers had won, the president immediately despatched a radio message of congratulations to Manager Stanley Harris.

ELECTRICIANS IN VERA CRUZ REMAIN ON STRIKE

Vera Cruz, Oct. 5—All industries which use electricity are paralyzed through the strike of elections which begun several days ago. The city is virtually in darkness and without newspapers. Special meetings of the city council called in an effort to end the strike have brought no results, and another meeting is set for tomorrow.

WOMEN IN IDAHO NOT ELIGIBLE FOR JURY DUTY

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 5—Idaho women, even though electors of the county in which they reside, are not competent, under the Idaho law, to act as jurors, This was the decision of the state supreme court yesterday in the case of Robert E. Kelley, convicted of possession of intoxicating liquor by a jury of twelve women. The judgment was reversed.

FRELINGHUYSEN PART OWNER OF NEWARK PRESS

Newark, Oct. 5—Former United States Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, heading a group of men whose names have not been revealed, has purchased the controlling interest in The Press, a tabloid newspaper which entered the daily field in Newark two weeks ago.

ANATOLE FRANCE SUFFERS FROM ANGINA PECTORIS

Tours, France, Oct. 5.—The condition of Anatole France is again causing alarm. The improvement shown after the attack of angina pectoris last August has not been maintained, and the writer is growing steadily weaker. The end it is feared is imminent.
